COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1959.

143rd of the General Assembly.

Vol. 36.

HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1959.

No. 92.

SENATE

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1959.

The Senate met at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, RABBI GERALD I. WOLPE, of Temple Beth El, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, this day is a marked moment in history. On our shores has stepped the ruler of a powerful and ambitious nation, the symbol of our amalek and the prophet of our ruin. We pray, Almighty Father, that the faith of our people, the grandeur of our land, the wisdom of our actions and the strength of our determination will turn his heart from destruction to peace, from duplicity to forthrightness and from hatred to love.

Thy children have suffered the scourge of war and human madness throughout these bitter years. Bless this as a mission of understanding, that from it will come a greater knowledge of Thee and that all Thy children will draw closer to Thy holy mountain as a brotherhood of all men under the kingdom of Thy merciful rule. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceeding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceeding session, when, on motion of Mr. BERGER and Mr. FLEMING, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 59

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was read as follows and referred to the Committee on Rules:

CONGRESS MEMORIALIZED TO INCREASE THE MINIMUM WAGE

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1959.

The economic well being of the people of this Commonwealth depends upon the retention and increase of its industrial strength and the provision of adequate employment for its citizens.

In recent years certain industries, especially the "soft-goods" industries, have been enticed to move to other states by the prospect of cheap labor, with a resulting loss in employment for Pennsylvania workers in these industries.

It is in the interest of this Commonwealth to sustain the standard of living of its citizens, protect its industries and workers, and combat unemployment in every possible manner.

An increased Federal minimum wage is the only means by which the unfair competition of cheap labor can be equalized; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate Concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorializes the Congress of the United States and calls upon it to increase the Federal minimum wage to $1.25; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the President of the Senate of the Congress of the United States of America, and to the President of the United States.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 59 REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

He also, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was read as follows and referred to the Committee on Rules:

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY LAWS RELATING TO THE EXERCISE TO CONDEMN PROPERTY FOR PUBLIC PURPOSES

In the House of Representatives, April 20, 1959.

There is widespread dissatisfaction in this Commonwealth with the present laws relating to the condemnation of private property for public purposes and with the procedure in effect thereunder for determining the amount of damages to be awarded in connection with such takings. This dissatisfaction is increasing because of highway extension programs, suburban expansion, urban redevelopment, municipal growth and public authority activities. It has been heightened further because of the lack of uniformity in law and procedure as evidenced in the multifarious laws under which the various condemnors in this State must now act. The courts have been handicapped in developing satisfactory procedures to aid in arriving at substantial justice between the parties involved because of these statutory variances and because of judicial precedents which originated largely during the agrarian period of the Commonwealth's history and which fail to take into consideration the problems created by a changing economy, the expanding population and a revised concept of what constitutes public use.

A thorough and exhaustive study of all statutes on the subject of eminent domain now in force in this Commonwealth should be made, and, in addition, comparable legislation of other states should be examined, for the purposes of:

(1) Developing a single procedure, if possible, to provide for a determination of compensation to be paid in all cases regardless of the identity of the condemnor;

(2) Providing for the use of court-appointed appraisers, but permitting the parties to offer additional testimony if they so desire;

(3) Providing for payment to condemnors and other interested parties of a percentage of the value of the property taken, as determined by the court-appointed appraisers, within a definite period of time following the filing of their appraisal report in court;

(4) Developing a more workable and modern definition of "just compensation" which shall be applicable to all condemnors alike;

(5) Defining "time of taking" so that it shall be uniform in practice for all condemnors;

(6) Requiring condemnors to institute proceedings for determination of damages payable within a definite period of time following the taking;

(7) Requiring such damage proceedings to be instituted against the owners of all the property taken;

(8) Requiring that notice be given to all owners of property taken within a definite period of time after the taking;

(9) Requiring that personal or mailed notice of taking be given to tenants, mortgages and other lienholders of record of the property taken;

(10) Giving tenants, mortgages and other lienholders the statutory right to intervene and participate in damage proceedings to protect their respective interests in the damages to be paid;

(11) Requiring that a description of the property taken be recorded in the Recorder of Deed's office;

(12) Requiring that a notice of taking be filed in the Recorder of Deed's office, indexing the condemnee's name in the grantor index and the condemnee in the grantee index;

(13) Requiring that the Commonwealth be made liable, as other condemnors are, for consequential damages;

(14) Prohibiting condemnors from acquiring base fee interests in the property taken; and

(15) For making such other improvements in the law and procedure pertaining to this subject as may after such study prove to be equitable and just; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate exhaustively the law and procedure relating to the exercise of the right to condemn property for public purposes in Pennsylvania and for the payment of damages therefor, with a view toward proposing a complete revision and codification thereof into one statute in order to eliminate present inconsistencies, produce uniformity in practice and procedure, assure just and equitable treatment between all interested parties and in general improve the administration of justice in this field of law; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations and submit thereto a draft of codifying legislation which carries into effect such recommendations.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 82
REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was read as follows and referred to the Committee on Rules:

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE A STUDY OF THE "FIRE AND PANIC ACT"

In the House of Representatives, June 9, 1959.

The laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating to the safety of persons employed, housed or assembled in public buildings and other buildings and structures which accommodate a number of persons are in many instances obsolete and badly in need of revision.

Due to the advances which have been made throughout the years in the design and construction of buildings and the means of protecting such buildings and the persons therein, the same cannot be adequately governed by an act adopted over thirty years ago; therefore, be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring) That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a thorough study of the act of April 27, 1927 (P. L. 465), sometimes referred to as the "Fire and Panic Act," and the amendments thereto, and related laws, for the purpose of recommending an extensive revision and modernization thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 97
REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was read as follows and referred to the Committee on Rules:

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE A STUDY OF THE LAWS RELATING TO MINING

In the House of Representatives, July 28, 1959.

As a result of its investigation into the Knox mine disaster, the Joint Committee created by the Senate and House of Representatives has recommended that the laws relating to mining be revised and codified; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission make a thorough study of the laws relating to anthracite, bituminous, metallic and non-metallic mining, and prepare a revision and codification of such laws. In preparing the revision and codification the Joint State Government Commission shall give particular attention to the report and recommendations of the Joint Committee to investigate the Knox mine disaster, and shall in so far as possible utilize the assistance and advice of the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries, the United States Bureau of Mines, mine operators, representatives of miners and professional mining engineers; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission make a report of its study, together with its draft of a codification of the mining laws, to the next General Assembly.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 100
REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was read as follows and referred to the Committee on Rules.

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE STANDARDS USED BY THE COMMONWEALTH TO PROVIDE FINANCIAL AID TO NONPROFIT HOSPITALS

In the House of Representatives, August 4, 1959.

Whereas, The procedures employed by the Commonwealth to make available financial assistance to non-profit hospitals in order to facilitate the care of the sick and the injured poor have not been comprehensively reviewed within the recent past; and

Whereas, Alternative procedures have been suggested; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission investigate and evaluate the standards and procedures currently used by the Commonwealth to provide such financial aid, and that currently used procedures be compared with alternative procedures proposed as regards Commonwealth costs and operating efficiency; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report its findings and recommendations, together with drafts of such legislation as may be necessary to carry its recommendations into effect, to the next regular session of the General Assembly.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 102
REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was read as follows and referred to the Committee on Rules:

STATE COUNCIL CIVIL DEFENSE CONSULT WITH ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION ON DEFENSE MEASURES

In the House of Representatives, August 5, 1959.

It has long been evident that the rulers of international Communism are determined to spread their godless doctrine to every part of the globe by any and all means, including war if other means fail.

The people of the United States and of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may one day be subjected to the supreme trial of an all-out atom and hydrogen bomb attack.

Such an all-out attack against us is less likely to come if we bring our military and civil defense preparedness to a high level.

The continuity of State government and protection of its key personnel will be of vital importance during an atomic attack.

The General State Authority is now designing a second underground parking facility to be built adjacent to the State Capitol Building in Harrisburg; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the State Council of Civil Defense, in cooperation with the General State Authority, be directed to consult with the Atomic Energy Commission in Washington, D. C. on the feasibility of extending the use of the projected underground parking facility to include (1) a fallout shelter for government employees; (2) emergency operational headquarters to be used by the Governor and the Council of Civil Defense, or both, and study such other Civil Defense uses as can be made of the structure; and be it further

Resolved, That the State Council of Civil Defense report its findings to the Legislature; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the State Council of Civil Defense and to the General State Authority.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WHALLEY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1175, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 26, 1949 (P. L. 1846), entitled "An act fixing the salaries of State mine inspectors under the jurisdiction of the Department of Mines and the expenses incident to their office," further regulating the salary of mine inspectors.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

Messrs. RUTH and SCOTT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1176, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 17, 1919 (P. L. 1798), entitled "Law Fixing Annual Charge on Forest Lands," providing of fixed charges on certain parks.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

Messrs. STIEFEL and WEINER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1177, entitled:

An Act providing that a married woman shall have a cause of action to the same extent now possessed by a married man for expenses which the wife may be obligated to pay as a result of injuries to the husband, including compensation for loss of a husband's society, services and assistance, including consortium.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. STIEFEL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1178, entitled:

An Act providing that every civil or criminal judicial proceeding, either in law or equity, with or without a jury in all courts of the Commonwealth, the judge shall have the discretion to award as part of the costs to be assessed against either, both or any parties to litigation reasonable counsel fees or all or any part of the actual counsel fees incurred by the party or parties to the litigation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

Messrs. BERGER and WEINER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1179, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 8, 1957 (P. L. 569), entitled "Korean Conflict Veterans' Compensation Act," deleting the requirement that certain veterans be residents of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on the effective date of the act to be eligible for compensation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am about to present a resolution, on behalf of my colleague, Senator Silvert, and myself. However, I believe a prefatory word would be most helpful so that we will not encounter any opposition.

This is a resolution of commendation, paying tribute to one of the agencies of our State Government; namely, the Pennsylvania Fish Commission.

In the hustle and bustle of our Session, we have overlooked the fact that a most magnificent map of the aquatic life of Pennsylvania has been circulated in two instances. I do not know of any agency—and I checked upon it—which has published such a magnificent map. For this reason, I feel that we ought to express a word of commendation for the Fish Commission.

I am, therefore, offering this resolution, and hope that it will be immediately adopted.

SENATE RESOLUTION

COMMENDING THE FISH COMMISSION FOR THE PUBLICATION OF "WATERS-HIGHWAY MAPS"

Messrs. STIEFEL and SILVERT offered the following resolution (Serial No. 67), which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, September 15, 1959.

Whereas, fishermen's maps that would be complete as to the waters of the Commonwealth and how to reach them have long been sought by the many fishermen in the Commonwealth, and

Whereas, the Pennsylvania Fish Commission has instituted a project to fill the need by creating and instituting the publication of such maps and entitled them "Waters-Highway Maps," and

Whereas, the maps have been drawn on a sufficiently large scale to contain and name all waters that could contribute to hook and line fishing; yet, by limiting the coverage of each to one or two counties, they remain small enough to be carried and used afield, and

Whereas, the physical features on the maps have been limited to those essential for the special use to which they will be put, with each feature—waters, roads and State-owned lands—printed in a different color, thus making them truly functional and easy to read, and

Whereas, by careful planning their production costs have been kept sufficiently low to permit the project to be self liquidating at per map costs within the reach of most fishermen, and

Whereas, the conception, development and production of these specialized maps represent a service that, in significant respects, is entirely now among the conservation agencies of the nation, therefore be it

Resolved, that the Senate of Pennsylvania commend the Fish Commission for these original, useful and distinctive publications.

REPORT CONCERNING OMNIBUS ROAD BILLS

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent to make a committee report in relation to the so-called omnibus road bills.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I think it will be of interest to all the Members of the Senate that in years past we have had three so-called omnibus road bills; one changing township highways, another borough highways and the third, city highways. These bills were introduced in the House some time ago in skeleton form.

Mr. Comer, the Chairman of the Highways Committee in the House of Representatives, is now taking amendments to write into the bills. I hope that all Members of the Senate will get their amendments to Mr. Comer because one is a rather large bill and if all of the amendments are included in one printing, it will save us considerable money.

Mr. Comer's office is located at Room 521, on E Floor on the House side, and he will be glad to take into consideration any amendments to the three omnibus road bills.

CONSIDERATION OF EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent for immediate consideration of the nominations reported at today's Session.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

A motion was made by Mr. FLEMING and Mr. BLASS, That the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon the nominations reported at today's Session.

Which was agreed to.

The nominations were read as follows:

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

September 14, 1959.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Clifford Taylor, 114 Main Street, Wattsburg, Erie County, for appointment as Justice of the Peace in and for the Borough of Wattsburg, Erie County, to serve until the first Monday of January 1960, vice Evert L. Pringle, resigned.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE

MEMBER OF THE ATLANTIC STATES MARINE FISHERIES COMMISSION

September 9, 1959.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Maurice K. Goddard, State College, Centre County, for appointment as a member of the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission, until November 16, 1961, and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, to fill a vacancy.

MEMBERS OF THE ADVISORY BOARD ON PROBLEMS OF OLDER WORKERS

September 9, 1959.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate the following for appointment as members of the Advisory Board on Problems of Older Workers for the term of four years or until their successors are appointed and qualified:

William E. Blankenstein (Republican), 23 Alice Street, Crafton, Pittsburgh 5, Allegheny County, vice William T. Piper, Lock Haven, resigned.

Harold P. Fleming (Republican), 1710 Memorial Avenue, Williamsport, Lycoming County, vice William J. McCafferty, McKees Rocks, resigned.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

A motion was made by Mr. FLEMING and Mr. BLASS, that the Senate do advise and consent to said nominations.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 141, Printer's No. 1166, on concurrence in House amendments, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 356, entitled:

An Act amending the act of February 28, 1956 (P. L. 1154) entitled as amended "Incompetents' Estates Act of 1955" providing for evidence of mental condition to be submitted by deposition or affidavit of a physician or psychiatrist of any city-owned hospital or institution.

which was returned from the House of Representatives with amendments.

Said amendments having been twice read, and printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

SENATE CONCURS IN AMENDMENTS MADE BY THE HOUSE TO SENATE BILL No. 356

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in the amendments made by the House to Senate Bill No. 356.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1032, Printer's No. 1216, on final passage, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

THIRD READING CALENDAR APPROPRIATION BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 13, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for payment to the Borough of Ebensburg for defraying the Commonwealth's share of expenses and charges in connection with capital improvements to the Ebensburg State School.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Is this bill part of the over all picture for a disposal unit which is being planned in your county, with this institution hooking into this over-all picture, or is this a separate unit in itself?

Mr. WALKER. This is the new hospital being built right out of the borough of Ebensburg. It was requested by the Administration and has been approved as such.

Mr. WEINER. I wish you would answer my question. It would help me with my next question.

Is this part of the over-all disposal unit being put into the county, or is this a separate unit being built just for this hospital?

Mr. WALKER. This sewer unit, to which the hospital is going to connect, is one used by the borough of Ebensburg. This is the proportionate share arrived at between the department and the officials of Ebensburg Borough.

Mr. WEINER. Is this going to be also a part of the amount of money which is being reimbursed to the county by the Federal Government in connection with this unit?

Mr. WALKER. I cannot answer that, Mr. President. However, I do not think that it is.

Mr. WEINER. I want to thank the gentleman. He has been very kind.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the problem which troubles me about this bill—and one which I think we should give some consideration to—is that there is presently in the budget about $4,000,000 which returns the money to the local units on a two per cent amortization basis, in order to encourage these units to build this type of plant. If the county has received Federal money, which also goes to reimburse the area, plus this two per cent over a fifty year amortization period, and they are also receiving, I believe, $225,000 here to do this work, it appears to me they are not only being paid to do this work, but you are then adding that money back into the over-all gross price or cost of doing this and then reimbursing them on this amount. It would appear to me that the unit will make a profit. Perhaps "profit" is a bad term, but they will be overpaid for the amount they actually expend, which goes beyond what the original purport of this bill was, the purport of returning the money to the particular local unit.

If that is happening, what we are doing, in effect, is over subscribing State-aid to the local effort. Therefore, they are receiving money above and beyond what they actually had expended. In all fairness to Senator Walker, with whom I have not had an opportunity to discuss this matter at any length, I think I would like to have an answer to this question in order for me to better understand it so that I can vote on this measure with those facts in mind.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I might remind Senator Weiner that the two per cent does not go toward construction. That is applied after the system is in operation. No part of it is construction costs. This item, included in this bill, was the item arrived at by the Administration, with the borough of Ebensburg. It does not include any rebates, any grants or any funds which might be returned. This is the agreed share of the Commonwealth in participating in this sewer project.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if I stated that the amount of $225,000 goes toward construction costs, I meant to do so. This will be the over-all cost which will be added to the total amount that this plant costs. The two per cent amortization will be used to amortize not only the total amount spent, but this amount plus, which will be added to the over-all cost. In effect, as we are giving the money to the area to do the necessary work, we are then paying the area again for the money that they already received from the Commonwealth at the rate of two per cent over the next fifty years. It seems to me that this is a double payment. If I am in error in my view, I wish somebody would correct me. That is the view I take on this.

In other words, if you spend X number of dollars, you are now spending X plus $225,000. The Commonwealth is then going to reimburse the local unit by two per cent for the next fifty years, based on X plus $225,000 and not on X minus $225,000. That is my question.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the two per cent, if there is any such thing, and I question it very much, would be returned to the Commonwealth. It would not be used by any political subdivision which has no part in the ownership of the big $8,000,000 hospital that is being built there. I cannot see any way in which a double payment would be made or an overlapping or a refund of money from the Commonwealth, due to this bill.

This is not a construction matter. This is a share of costs arrived at between the borough of Ebensburg and the Department of Health as their proportionate share, and they have agreed to that. I cannot see anything at all wrong with the bill. Everybody is agreed that it is a great institution. I think this bill certainly should have the support of both sides of the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I think Senator Weiner's question is well taken. It suggests a question which had not occurred to me.

As I understand it, if a municipality—in this case, it is a borough—is building a sewage disposal plant, they are entitled to receive from the Commonwealth two per cent per year of the amount spent for the disposal plant, so that the plant will be amortized over a period of fifty years. If this is correct, then it means that this borough will be receiving two per cent on the total cost, including the part which the Commonwealth is giving it.

If this is incorrect, I think we should have an explanation. If we do not know, I, personally, would like to have this bill go over in order, until someone can find out. It seems to me this is obviously a miscarriage of justice if the Commonwealth is going to compensate them for the total amount, when actually the Commonwealth is paying part of the construction. Can anyone explain this, Mr. President, either the sponsor or others?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the point I would like to make to Senator Walker is that we passed—I may be in error as to the exact Session—in the 1953 Session, I believe, an Act which allows any local unit that engages in the clean streams program—and part of it is sewage disposal—to receive two per cent back for the over-all expense which is incurred. I want to point out to Senator Walker that this is now a law in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. There are many communities receiving this two per cent, and will be receiving it for the next fifty years, to reimburse them for the money they have expended. This is sort of a sop to them, along with the Federal money they receive, to engage in this type of activity so that we have a better type of sewage disposal system in Pennsylvania and also better water in the State.

This is a fact, Mr. President. What we are trying to inquire about is whether this is going to be added to the total amount. In other words, will we be paying this amount of money twice?

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, perhaps I can throw a little light on this subject.

The Commonwealth, in order to contribute toward the maintenance and operation of the sewage disposal plants, has allotted a certain amount of money each year. We were supposed to contribute at the rate of two per cent. The fact of the matter is that there has never been enough money appropriated—it has run about one and one-quarter per cent in late years—because of the fact that new sewage disposal plants are being added each year. This money was never intended for the purpose of the cost of the plant. Most of them are built by Municipal Authorities. This is to help the local unit development to meet the operating and maintenance costs. In no way, in my opinion, is this connected with the reduction of the cost of the plant.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I followed Senator Stevenson's explanation, and I would like to ask him this question. Is the two per cent, or the de facto one and one-half per cent, based on the total cost of the project?

Mr. STEVENSON. That is correct.

Mr. SEYLER. Well then, would this not mean, Mr. President—I would ask Senator Stevenson—that we would be paying two per cent, or one and one-half, on an amount which is, in part, being contributed by the Commonwealth? In other words, my question is, would the one and one-half per cent be on the total cost, or would it only be on that part of the cost which is borne by the municipality? That seems to me the point at issue.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, it is applied on all the main trunk lines, and all that feed into the main trunk lines, in the sewerage system. It is not to go in any way for the retirement of the bonds that have been issued by the Municipal Authority. It is simply to relieve the local unit of the operation costs and the maintenance of these lines.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, as I understand the Senator's answer, he is saying that the two per cent, or one and one-half per cent, is paid on the total cost of the project. Mr. President, this seems to me an inequity if, as a matter of fact, the State is putting up one-third, or whatever percentage of the total cost it is, and then in turn is paying one and one-half or two per cent on that amount, as well as the amount that is being spent by the local community.

I think we need some further clarification of the issue before we are ready to vote on it. I would personally wish that we could have the bill go over in order until we get a more specific understanding of the facts involved.

The PRESIDENT. Are you asking that the bill go over in order?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, if there is no objection, I will ask that the bill go over in order.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, if you will refer to the Nineteenth Biennial Budget of March of this year, on page 121, you will find the Ebensburg State School, showing patient capacity of 130 people. I am at a loss to understand the reasoning of Weiner and Senator Seyler. If the State wanted to build its own sewerage plant, of course, they could have done that, but they did not choose to do so. They chose to go in with the Borough of Ebensburg, in a common sewerage disposal plant.

I cannot see the reason for this harangue nor can I see any justification for the bill going over. Senator Stevenson has told you that it is not a construction cost, that the two per cent is a maintenance and operating cost, and certainly there is no ambiguity in this matter.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would just like to point out one thing to Senator Walker.

We are not haranguing about this bill. There is no one here who is going to vote against a hospital or any such activity. We are in favor of this bill, we are in favor of what the hospital is trying to do and we are in favor of the entire program. What we are trying to learn here—and it is only as a point of information that we are asking—is to find out whether we are going to be paying this same amount twice.

I would like to point out to the gentleman that one of the reasons the State did not go into this project, and join with the borough in that particular area, is so they can participate in the Federal funds that are set aside for this type of work.

We are in favor of the hospital, we are in favor of the work and we have voted for all of these things up to this point. Therefore, we are not trying to harass him or harangue him. There is nothing personal concerning the area he comes from or with the Senator himself. We are just trying to get a point of information, whether we have to pay this money twice. That is the only point we are trying to make.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Clinton, Senator Stevenson, who I know is an expert in this particular field.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Clinton, Mr. Stevenson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEVENSON. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Stevenson, what I would like to know is this. On page 2, it sets up that the Commonwealth is going to pay its proportionate share of the expenses and charges to be incurred in establishing and contracting with an Authority, and so forth. On page 1, it sets forth the sum of $225,000. Could you tell me who set that figure of $225,000?

Mr. STEVENSON. No, I cannot answer that. I do not know how this bill was set up.

Mr. LANE. Senator, that is the big question in my mind, whether or not that is actually the State's proportionate share. I think that probably you will agree with me that we should carry this bill over until tomorrow and see if we can determine just what the actual costs are, because in the title of the Act it states "capital improvements," and I would like to have that clarified.

Mr. STEVENSON. I think, Mr. President, that this is an item of expense that any State institution should bear to pay its share of the cost of the plant in lieu of building its own plant. I think that is what this is designed to do in this bill. This has no connection, in my opinion, with the regular two per cent which is for maintenance and operation of a sewage disposal plant, in keeping the lines in shape, and so forth. That is a separate subject, it seems to me.

Mr. LANE. Senator Stevenson, in all probability, I think you are correct. However, I do think we should carry this over and see if we can find out just what the State's proportionate share actually is as far as the improvements are concerned at this particular school. Do you not agree?

Mr. President; I think a motion was made to carry the bill over in order.

The PRESIDENT. There was a request made, but Senator Walker said that he would object. Senator Mallery would like—

Mr. LANE. I yield to Senator Mallery.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, there are several bills on their way through the Legislature, other than this bill, and they are all similar in their import. For example, the Hollidaysburg State Hospital empties sewage into the Hollidaysburg sewage disposal plant. The institution has grown. In fact, the history of it is that the county of Blair was one of the first counties in the State, possibly, to provide its own mental hospital. During the Earle Administration, the State took over the hospital, and most of the buildings in the interim have been razed and new buildings constructed. Of course, the population of the hospital has increased by the hundreds.

The time has arrived now when the size of the Hollidaysburg sewage disposal plant must be enlarged to take care of the sewage of Hollidaysburg and also of the Hollidaysburg State Hospital.

Secretary Shapiro, while he was Secreary of Welfare, agreed with the council of the borough of Hollidaysburg that the sum of $134,000 would be a fair share for the State pay. The sewage disposal plant is costing, I believe, $440,000. The present Secretary of Welfare, Mrs. Horting, has likewise agreed that this is a fair amount.

I presume this is the same situation that exists in the Ebensburg case. It is not an appropriation of a part of that two per cent which has been brought into the picture, but an outright appropriation by the State to pay a fair share of the cost of the new sewage disposal plant which is being built or possibly has been built.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, in reply to Senator Mallery, I might say that in all probability that is correct, also. However, we still do not have any accurate figure as to who set up the sum of $225,000 as the State's contribution, and I think that is the big question here. That is the reason I requested the bill go over in order because in view of the fact that we are going to be looking around for money,—I understand the budget is going to be cut by $60,000,000—we may need a few thousand dollars. If we can save a little bit, we want to do it.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. LANE. I now request that this bill go over in its order.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I believe that Senator Walker previously objected to the bill going over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. No, Senator Walker said he might object.

Mr. BERGER. Very well, I have no objection.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order on final passage.

REVENUE BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following revenue bills, on third reading, go over in their order:

House Bill No. 660, Printer's No. 1569;

House Bill No. 661, Printer's No. 1570; and

House Bill No. 662, Printer's No. 1571.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 10, Printer's No. 10, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 24, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1956 (P. L. 1944), entitled "An act providing a permanent allocation of a part of the fuels and liquids fuels tax proceeds to cities boroughs incorporated towns and townships for their road street and bridge purposes . . ." continuing a conditional appropriation beyond the calendar year of 1959.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman form Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Have you had a meeting of the Committee on Highways since August 19?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, we have not had a meeting of the Committee on Highways, to the best of my recollection.

Mr. WEINER. Are you aware that there is a bill, House Bill No. 1887, in the Committee on Highways which deals with this very subject and which has passed the House?

Mr. WADE. I am, Mr. President. However, it includes much other material.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would appreciate it if the gentlemen would tell us what other extraneous material this bill might have in it that might be objectionable and which does not cover this same subject.

Mr. WADE. As I recall, Mr. President, the material in the House Bill, referred to by Senator Weiner, carries a provision that if additional gasoline taxes were levied, the townships would share, as they do in the present law, in the new levies. That is my recollection.

Mr. WEINER. Would you object to this bill going over in order until you have had an opportunity to compare these two bills? We have a bill which has already passed the House and all we have to do is pass it in the Senate. Then we would have this as a matter of law. It is an important phase of our legislative over-all program. Whereas, this bill now has to pass the Senate, go over to the House, come out of committee and be passed there.

If you would like to confer with your counsel, I would be very glad to let you. I notice that Senator Ehrgood is conferring with the gentleman.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I would have no personal objection to this bill going over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman allow himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Knowing the gentleman well, and knowing him to be a genteel man, I am sure he would have no objection to the bill going over in order. However, would the gentleman please look at House Bill No. 1887 and see if we can work out the problems between these two bills so that we will not spend time in having this bill go to a Conference Committee?

Mr. WADE. I will reply to the gentleman by saying that members of the committee have gone over the bill very carefully and considered all phases of this allocation to the different municipalities, but I certainly would have no objection to further studying it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, is this bill which he has referred to House Bill No. 1887 or is this Senate Bill No. 24?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I refer to House Bill No. 1887.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman, and I would also like to point out to him that if he has not had a meeting of the Highways Committee since August 19, how could the members of the committee have had an opportunity to study this bill if the committee did not have a meeting?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I want to inform the gentleman that the members of this committee are very forward-looking and as soon as bills appear in the House, they are pruned very briefly, and we study House Bills as well as Senate Bills.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, might I ask the gentleman one further question?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Will the gentleman tell us whether he has ever had the benefit of the advice and counsel of some of the Members sitting on this side when he looked at a bill which was in the House?

Mr. WADE. That is rather hard to answer because Members on that side have been very regular in their attendance at the Highways Committee Meetings. When these different subjects were discussed, they took part in the discussions and added very much to the meetings.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman further permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. If the gentleman didn't have a meeting of the Committee on Highways since August 19 and this bill came to him at that time, and he hasn't had an opportunity to discuss it with Members on this side, how would he know whether they were regular in their attendance or not?

Mr. WADE. I repeat, Mr. President, in all sincerity, that these different phases which are covered in House Bills as well as Senate Bills are discussed in the meetings, and the various phases of the legislation confronting us are considered. For instance, we distributed copies of House Bill No. 1702, which was a very far-reaching measure and completely rewrote the Highway Department Code. That was discussed in open meeting and received many comments, one way or the other. However, that bill has never reached us.

Mr. WEINER. I want to thank the gentleman, and I would also like to add that he is a most unusual Chairman when he has an opportunity to present to his committee bills that are not before the committee to take a vote on them before they even had an opportunity to read the bills. It is a shame there are not more Chairmen of other Committees that do the same. If there were, maybe we would have the total over-all picture here of all bills before they reached us. I want to thank the gentleman, Mr. President. I feel this is a good measure. However, I feel that we would save some time if we had the benefit of having House Bill No. 1887 in front of us. It already has passed the House and has had all of its problems ironed out. Whereas, this measure is somewhat untried in that it may have to run the gantlets of a committee and also the Members of the House.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I should like to correct the gentleman in one small detail. I did not say that we took a vote in committee. We considered legislation, but not necessarily took any vote. As a matter of fact, we did not take a vote.

This bill that we are now considering is not a revolutionary measure at all. It is simply the present law, extended through the years 1960 and 1961. There is no change in the present law at all, except that it continues this floor of the allocation to the different municipalities for the years 1960 and 1961.

The House Bill to which the gentleman referred is more far-reaching and rather revolutionary. It provides that at any time when we would increase the gasoline tax, or the liquid fuels tax, then we are automatically allocating to the different municipalities twenty per cent of the residue of that tax, less the amount that goes to the counties, which is one-half of one cent per gallon.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no objection to this legislation. I think it is good legislation. However, my objection is that a Chairman, who is as forward-looking as the Chairman of the Highways Committee is and who takes such revolutionary measures as to look over legislation before it even comes over to the Senate, when it is merely introduced in the House, should at least have the benefit and counsel of some of the Members sitting on this side who can help him. I would think it is no more revolutionary than the measure he talked about, to go into this matter and bring it before all the Members of the Committee in order for them to have an opportunity to vote or not vote on it, as they see fit. I think we should have the benefit of this type of advice which only this committee could give us.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any objection to the request that this bill go over in its order? The Chair hears none, and the bill will go over in its order on final passage.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I object to this legislation going over in its order. I do not think it would serve any good purpose. I do not know that the short debate on this Senate Bill No. 24, which was introduced on January 20, 1959, has brought out any features which would prove to be objectionable. Senator Weiner just said, in his statement a moment ago, that he thought it was good legislation. I still think it is good legislation. I think we should clear the Calendar of some of these measures that are not too revolutionary.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Wade, it grieves me deeply to tell you that I have announced that the bill has gone over in order, on final passage, before you made your objection.

Mr. WADE. I am sorry, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. If I am to follow the rules, I would say that I must abide by my original decision.

Mr. WADE. It is perfectly agreeable to me. Thank you very much.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WEINER. Who asked for the bill to go over in order?

The PRESIDENT. You did.

Mr. WEINER. I made no such request, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. You may not realize that you did, but you made—

Mr. WEINER. I made no such request. If I did, I certainly want to withdraw it.

The PRESIDENT. Are you asking now that the Chair revise its opinion? I am perfectly happy to do it, but—

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I respectfully say to the Chair that I believe Senator Wade said, "I have no objection to this bill going over in order." However, I did not ask for the bill to go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. I am sorry, Senator Weiner, but I distinctly heard you. Do you wish to go back to the record or do you wish to withdraw your original request?

Mr. WEINER. If I made such a request, Mr. President, I am now asking that it be withdrawn. However, in my discussion of this bill, I merely stated that if we hold this bill over, we will have an opportunity to look at House Bill No. 1887. It was not my request to have the bill over in order.

The PRESIDENT. I would say, on the basis of listening to this debate, that I could not possibly go wrong by allowing you to withdraw the request even though I could not recognize the objection which came just a trifle too late. Therefore, the bill is now before the Senate, on final passage.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 398, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (Act No. 32) entitled "The Vehicle Code" providing for the issuance of permits for the movement of certain equipment of excessive size or weight.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Madigan and myself, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 1, first line of Title, by striking out "(Act No. 32)" and inserting: "(P. L. 58)"; Amend Title, page 1, second and third lines of Title, by striking out "vehicle code the tractor code the motor vehicle financial responsibility act" and inserting: "Vehicle Code, the Tractor Code, the Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Act"; Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out "Section" where it appears the second time, and inserting: "section"; Amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 1 and 2, by striking out "(Act No. 32)" and inserting: "(P. L. 58)"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 905), page 2, line 5, by inserting a bracket before "may" and after "discretion" and inserting immediately thereafter: "shall."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 398, Printer's No. 1072, on third reading, go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 959, Printer's No. 1545, on third reading, go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 975, entitled:

An Act relating to property held for minors by political subdivisions; prescribing procedures for the substitution of fiduciaries granting powers and imposing duties on the Orphans' Court and authorizing such substituted fiduciaries to establish and maintain common trust funds for the investment and reinvestment of the moneys of the estates of minors of which they may be guardians providing for the administration of funds so established and prescribing the nature and kinds of investments which may be made therein.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, speaking on behalf of myself and some of the people who live in my area, I would like to go on record as being opposed to this bill. Although the bill itself may be innocuous on its face, I feel this is just one more step in the Girard College case. Although this does not deal with the Girard College Fund, I believe that it does, in repealing many of the acts which appear on the last page of this legislation, go one more step in further laying down the doctrine that this is an institution not connected with the public interest.

I know that the United States Supreme Court has made a decision in this case. I know that the Orphans' Court in the city of Philadelphia has seen fit to take steps to implement that decision and to take a different course of action. Be that as it may—we are merely a legislative Body and not a judicial body—I feel that I, in protest, not to this legislation as such, but in protest to the over-all picture, want to vote against this piece of legislation.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this bill is more in the nature of tidying up a bill than anything else. It is entirely consistent with the law as enunciated by the Supreme Court. The Philadelphia Bulletin, of Sunday last, I believe stated in part as follows:

"The Orphans' Court has questioned the propriety of the Board of City Trusts still serving as guardian for boys at Girard College and for its graduates not yet 21 years old.

"President Judge Charles Klein yesterday told the City Solicitor's office it is high time some definitive action was taken to clear up the situation which is a hangover from the board's former position as the city agency administering Girard College.

"It is inconceivable that the city should maintain it can act as state guardian now . . . in light of the stand it took during the recent litigation over the Girard issue, Judge Klein said.

"Such a position would give the city solicitor the appearance of talking out of both sides of his mouth at once, he added."

Mr. President, without reading any more of the article, this bill is simply to make consistent the guardianship of the orphan boys at Girard College and to remove from the Board of City Trusts the guardianship and place it in the hands of the trustees appointed by the Orphans' Court.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this is a serious matter and I do not want to inject any levity into it. However, apropos of what Senator Berger just said, it is reminiscent of a very famous story, which most of you have heard, about the city lawyer who received a call from a friend of his from the country about a client being charged with a crime. As the lawyer was proceeding from his office in the city out to the country, where this case was going to be heard by a country squire, he happened to pick up what is known as advanced notes, which are books that are printed in sort of a contemporary form, like a magazine, and which give all the recent cases as they come down from the higher courts. Noting on the first page a case which fitted directly to the case in point, the one out in the country, he took this book with him and ran out to the squire. As he was listening to the case and the case came to an end, he realized that his case was on all fours in this little booklet. He said, therefore, to the squire, "Before you pronounce judgment or take any action, I want to show a very recent decision. He read this case out of this little book. Whereupon, the squire said, "I do not know how the city lawyers practice, but we do not take our law out of magazines."

I would like to say to the gentleman, Mr. President, that I would rather not take the law out of a newspaper. If President Judge Charles Klein feels this is so important, I think he should be in touch with the gentlemen here who have come from Philadelphia. I think he should write us a letter or two. I do not know of anyone who has received any communication from him. However, if he wants to practice law or tidy up his business in the Philadelphia newspapers, it is all right with me and I guess he can do that. However, I think it might be a little bit better if he contacted some of the people here.

I said originally that I, personally, feel this tidying up is not in keeping with the thinking that I have on this matter. I do not want to be part of this tidying up procedure.

Therefore, Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no" on this legislation.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, first of all, I want to correct something I said. I thought the newspaper article appeared in Sunday's issue of the Philadelphia Bulletin, but it happens to be the issue of Thursday, September 10.

What the Minority Leader has just said is a great blow to me. I thought nearly everybody read the Philadelphia Bulletin.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I had occasion to have this bill referred to me for study and report at our Caucus. I read the bill thoroughly. It is now an established fact that the Board of City Trusts no longer handles the assets of the Girard Estate, which amounts to some $95,000,000. Whether we like the change of trusteeship or not, humanitarian reasons should not effect our vote on this bill.

This bill deals primarily with the small funds owned by some of the students who are minors at Girard College. Now since the Board of City Trusts no longer supervises or controls the big fund, I can see no reason why there is anything wrong with saying that these small funds should be transferred to another trustee. As far as I am concerned, I can see nothing wrong with the bill and I intend to vote for it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1041, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 20, 1919 (P. L. 521), entitled as amended "Transfer Inheritance Tax Law" excepting from the tax transfers of certain property interests in and income therefrom to cemetery companies corporations or associations operated exclusively for the benefit of its members and not operated for profit.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to inform the Members of the Senate that the Revenue Department opposes this measure. Their reason for opposing the bill is because it adds cemetery companies to the list of charitable organizations already exempt from paying of the inheritance tax under the present Act. The State of Pennsylvania has patterned itself after the Federal statute and has been administering it in that fashion. This is a further extension of that statute and there doesn't appear to be, as far as the Department is concerned, any reason to give any new deductions other than what has been given in the past.

I feel for that reason, and because it would cost the State revenue, that we are only opening another door in this same area. I think we should vote "no" on this bill. Therefore, I would ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this legislation.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye", the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1106, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90), entitled "Liquor Code" changing the limit on retail licenses.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this bill presents a rare opportunity, and I think everyone should vote for it. This is the one time that you can be in favor of the temperance league and also for the tavern men at the same time. You can't hardly get legislation like that anywhere. I think this is a bargain rate.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1463, Printer's No. 871, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1566, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 10, 1951 (P. L. 1163), entitled as amended "Orphans Court Act of 1951" conferring exclusive jurisdiction of control of decedent's burial on the orphan's court and giving it concurrent jurisdiction with regard to guardians of the person of incompetents.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 2, first line by inserting after the word "court" the following: "except in counties of the First Class"; Amend Section 301, page 2, line 4, by inserting after the word "court" the following: "except in counties of the First Class"; Amend Section 302, page 2, line 11, by inserting after the word "court" the following: "except in counties of the First Class"; Amend page 3, line 4, by inserting after "incompetent" a new Section to read: "Section 2 this act shall not apply to counties of the First Class"; Amend page 3, line 5, by striking out "two" and inserting: "three".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. STIEFFEL. Mr. President, I already pointed out yesterday that as a Member of the Joint State Government Commission, I voiced my position at that time and asked for certain amendments of exclusion which would eliminate the application of this bill to Philadelphia County. At the time, I pointed out the reasons for my stand.

Senator Berger graciously promised to look into it, and I believe that my statement was substantiated.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I believe I stated that I did not recollect the action of the Joint State Government Commission in connection with the subject matter of these proposed amendments, and that I would look into it and I did so.

I find, Mr. President, that the Executive Committee of the Joint State Government Commission, in the report of the proceedings of that Commission, recommends that:

"Philadelphia be excluded from the affect of this proposal and from proposals one, two, three, four five, six, seven and eight on the following pages.

Mr. President, I agree to the amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1566, Printer's No. 987, on third reading, go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, September 15, 1959

The House met at 11:00 a. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Father William D. Turner, Pastor of St. Augustine of the Covenant Church, Philadelphia, guest Chaplain, and guest of the lady from Philadelphia, Mrs. Monroe, offered the following prayer:

O God, the fountain of wisdom, whose statues are good and gracious and whose law is truth; we beseech Thee so to guide and bless the Legislature of this state, that it may ordain for our governance only such things as please Thee, to the glory of Thy Name and the welfare of the people.

Almighty God, who hast given us this good land for our heritage; we humbly beseech Thee that we may always prove our selves a people mindful of Thy favour and glad to do Thy will. Bless our land with honourable industry, sound learning, and pure manners. Save us from violence, discord, and confusion; from pride and arrogancy, and from every evil way. Defend our liberties, and fashion into one united people the multitudes brought hither out of many kindreds and tongues. Endue with the spirit of wisdom those to whom in Thy Name we entrust the authority of government, that there may be justice and peace at home, and that, through obedience to Thy law, we may show forth Thy praise among the nations of the earth. In the time of prosperity, fill our hearts with thankfulness, and in the day of trouble, suffer not our trust in Thee to fail; all of which we ask through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Monday, September 14, 1959 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, the amendments on the floor as proposed are amendments to the Motor Boat Safety bill. This is a bill which will apply to all motor boats in the state of Pennsylvania.

The bill as reported from the Appropriations Committee, after due consideration, recognized the problem that is peculiar to the Delaware River. The Delaware River is a river which has jurisdiction of three states upon its waters. The boundary line between New Jersey and Pennsylvania goes down through the river and we have upon the river the Navigation Commission of the Delaware River. This Navigation Commission has controlled shipping, boating and water-borne vessels upon this river since Colonial times. The Navigation Commission antedates the Constitution of the United States, and Pennsylvania has jurisdiction over the Delaware River because of a Colonial agreement between the states of New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware. The Navigation Commission has done a splendid job in policing the Delaware River.

The bill as reported from the Appropriations Committee recognized this fact. The amendments as offered this morning seek either to rip out the Navigation Commission's control over boating on the Delaware River of the small craft type or else so hamstringing it that utter confusion will result on that river. We in the Delaware Valley area are familiar with the problems of our great Delaware River and we feel that the Navigation Commission is doing a splendid job and we want to keep the Navigation Commission doing this job on the Delaware River.

The Navigation Commission is a bureau of the Department of Forests and Waters. I have in my possession a telegram whereby the Navigation Commission states that it is strongly in favor of House Bill 1178 without these amendments.

The next point that I hastily gathered from reading the amendments had to do with fees, or the amount of tax on motor boats.

Under the bill as written there is a maximum fee of $5 per year. Under the amendments as submitted the fee on two classes of boats, and boats are classed by length, would be raised to $8 a year and $12 a year respectively. I say that this will cost the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania thousands of dollars by raising the fees. This is because of the Federal Boat Law.

Under the bill 1178, which is authorized by a Federal Act of Congress known as the Bonner Act, a boat which is documented through the United States Custom House cannot be taxed; it is a Federal vessel. The rules and regulations of the Customs Office, Treasury Department, state that any boat of five tons or larger can be documented at no cost to the owner. The Federal authorities take by rule of thumb that a boat of the length of approximately 30 feet can be documented, so if this $8 to $12 a year tax is imposed on the larger boats, no tax will be collected from the Delaware Valley, because they will all document, and the occupants of that area know this fact and have said if they are forced to they will document.

Boats under 30 feet in length subject to this $8 a year tax will not be producing any revenue to the state because under the same Bonner Act, the Federal Act, and under this House Bill 1178, all the boat has to do so it does not pay any tax at all is to go to another state once in 90 days of the season in which it operates.

As I told you, the Delaware River has the boundary line between New Jersey and Pennsylvania snaking down through the middle, following the channel. All a boat has to do to not pay the Pennsylvania tax but to register under New Jersey laws is to cross the state line into New Jersey, and there is no boat on the Delaware River that does not cross into New Jersey at least every time it operates. New Jersey is contemplating a maximum tax of $10 for three years, and if you, ladies and gentlemen of the House, had a small boat on the Delaware River, would you pay $15 or $24 to the state of Pennsylvania when you can cross the Delaware River and get it for $10?

These fees are too heavy on the boat owners. There are no benefits accruing to the larger boats because the purpose of this bill is not only to have water safety rules in force throughout the Commonwealth but also to build items like launching ramps throughout the Commonwealth. These deep-water boats are already subject to the Coast Guard regulations with respect to water safety. They would not use any launching ramps because you do not pull a 10 to 15-ton boat behind a trailer.

I also question the whole system of graduated fees on the basis of unconstitutionality. We have the provision under our constitution that taxes be uniform. Only recently the income tax amendment passed this House and every Member of this House should realize that taxes have to be uniform, and for someone to tax boats at different prices because of different lengths would be unconstitutional unless there is a direct benefit connected therewith, as you have with trucks. Trucks pay different rates because they have different loads on the highways, but I question the constitutionality of the entire graduated system of taxes on boats according to length with no connection to benefits received.

Ladies and gentlemen, there are further defects in these amendments, and I ask that all of us vote down these amendments.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of these particular amendments. By way of partial explanation, several weeks ago the Committee on Fisheries brought forth this bill, in Printer's No. 1093, and that particular print was the result of a lot of hard work as a result of the public hearing in this matter and as the result of careful sifting through of the data received from all over the state.

The bill was recommitted to the Appropriations Committee, at which time the bill in its present form, that is the amendments in the present form, 1593 the Printer's No., were inserted and put upon the floor. These are substantive amendments which were put in the Appropriation Committee.

On examining the bill in its present Print, 1593, the Justice Department through Deputy Attorney General Harrington Adams, had reason to believe that the bill was unconstitutional.

The gentleman from Delaware has mentioned, quite truly, that this is based on a Federal Act. We are not authorized to pass this bill, we are obliged to pass this bill if the state of Pennsylvania is to retain control over small boating within its boundaries. By the same token, the bill must be in conformity with the Federal Act. As I said before, the Justice Department is of the opinion that the bill in its present form does not conform with the Federal Act and therefore is not constitutional.

I think in all fairness to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, the amendments which were inserted into the bill previously are in the nature of what might be called provisional amendments. I have no quarrel with the fact that the Navigation Commission has existed for a long period of time, but, I do dispute the jurisdiction of the Navigation Commission with respect to small boating. It is essentially concerned with commercial navigation of the Delaware River Basin.

The amendments offered this morning are an effort, towards a suitable compromise. There is no question that a compromise is not a compromise unless it is accepted, but if the Members here in the House will examine these proposed amendments this morning very carefully, they will see a number of things. Number one, the fact that the fees are restored as in the bill originally, that is, for the larger boats, Class 2 and Class 3 boats, from $8 to $12.

My point is this, Mr. Speaker, that the $8 fee and the $12 fee are not paid by the average small boat owner. On the contrary they are paid by the large boat owner—a yachtsman if you will. I suggest that the yachtsman, if I may call him that, can well afford to pay the larger fee, and I dispute the gentleman's statement that this will cause the Commonwealth to lose thousands of dollars in money; that is conjecture only. I suggest if the bill is passed in its present form, it will cost the Commonwealth much more money by means of reduced revenue and by means also of earlier administration costs.

As to the matter of fees, they are not taxes, they are license fees and therefore I dispute Mr. Bell's statement concerning uniformity also. You have no different situation than you have with respect to trucks and cars. Certainly a truck, being in a different classification, has to pay a heavier license fee than does the car. We have the same situation here, I see no basis to his argument as to its unconstitutionality.

Let us get down to the meat of it. What have we done in an attempt to satisfy the proponents of the Navigation Commission? We have, number one, assured them that all fines collected within that area will be retained in that area and will be remitted directly to the Navigation Commission.

Number two, and most importantly, the Navigation Commission is assured by the very language of the amendments that the Fish Commission, under whom the overall administration of the Act is vested, cannot minimize or reduce in any way the amount of money which it will spend for the benefit of the Delaware River Basin. By this thought, you should have a situation where it should be agreeable to them; apparently it is not.

The greatest opposition that can come to the bill in its present form is this: You have a duplication of expense, you have two Commissions doing one job. You have no centralized administration, no centralized authority. Having done that you obviously are going to increase the cost of administration. This fact has been verified by correspondence between myself and Mr. Baldwin, the Budget Secretary, and the Governor. The precise figures, again, are only conjectural, but I submit to the Members of the House that these present amendments do two things: Number one, they are based on the hope that these amendments will restore the bill to its original form and, at the same time, number two, gives to the residents of the Delaware River Basin some solace, some satisfaction, some freedom from the fear that they are going to be interfered with unduly by the rest of the state.

Since 1931 the pleasure boating on inland waters has been vested under the jurisdiction of the Fish Commission. It seems only natural if Pennsylvania does have to have the boating law, that the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, acting through a separate boating division, with separate accounts, where money will not be commingled with the fish fund, seems to be the logical successor and the logical body to administer this particular act. I ask very strongly, that the membership of the House support these amendments.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Erie?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Erie permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHAAF. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Erie have a written opinion from anyone in the Attorney General's office concerning the constitutionality of which he spoke?

Mr. SCHAAF. No, I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

I disagree with the gentleman from Erie on one thing he said. He made a statement if this bill is not passed, that some control over the boating safety enforcement would be lost by the Pennsylvania Fish Commission. Right now, in our inland waters, the rivers, the lakes, the Fish Commission has the power to enforce motor boat safety under this Act of 1931. There is nothing in the Bonner Act, the Federal Bonner Act which states that if the state of Pennsylvania does not act at this Session the Coast Guard is going to come up into the inland waters and the lakes of Pennsylvania and enforce the safety law. I have correspondence from the Coast Guard which states that they have no such intentions, and neither will they remove Coast Guard protection from the Delaware Valley if this bill is not passed. So, that is not a correct statement of fact.

The Delaware Valley Yachtsmens' League which is comprised of thousands of small boat owners, and they range in length from a rowboat with a putt-putt on the end of it, to boats 30 to 35-40 feet in length. They are opposed to the Fish Commission coming into the Delaware Valley. They do not like the type of enforcement that they have heard about, they do know how the Navigation Commission does enforce it in the Delaware, Valley, they are satisfied with the Department of Forests and Waters and its enforcement in the Delaware Valley, and the Delaware River Yachtsmens' League, the people who use this river, are opposed to the Fish Commission coming in there.

I am not going to speak any longer. I am going to ask for a roll call vote on these amendments, and ask that everyone vote no.

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, being Chairman of this Committee and putting about two or three months of hard work in on it, I think I have a right to say a little bit on it.

The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, has a very good cause for his argument about the Philadelphia area, which I wholeheartedly agree with. I do not think that Philadelphia should be hurt and, under this bill, I do not think Philadelphia will be hurt, because I have a heck of a lot of friends in Philadelphia on our side of the House, and you can rest assured they are going to be taken care of.

I feel this way, under the law that we have right now we set up in there a system that comes under the Fish Commission. For this reason we cannot afford to set up a complete boating industry for Mr. Bell or any other Member of the House. We, first of all, have got to put it under the Fish Commission to start out. I point out, that under the first law, where they change this and put in one director for fish and boating both. What we would like to have is a commissioner for fish and a commissioner for boating under the Fish Commission, with this Commissioner for boating devoting all his time to boating. Under the present amendments here we give Philadelphia the right to collect their own fines; we take care of their enforcement; we pay the bill out of this boating fund, and under the Navigation Commission Authority down there, under Forests and Waters with deputies appointed by the Navigation Commission around Philadelphia, O. K'd by the Fish Commission, which would very well take care of the Philadelphia area.

As far as Mr. Bell, the gentleman from Delaware saying they are going to take these boats over to New Jersey and dock them over there, that is all right; maybe we have not got enough room down there in the harbor for all of them. The Pennsylvania people have a very nice time down there. I feel very strongly that anybody with a yacht that is worth $40,000 or $50,000 can well afford to pay $12. Some of the people give me the argument that it should be a $5 flat fee across the board. Well, after all, I was sent down here by a group of people to represent Luzerne County who only have these putt-putts, like my colleague says, and these putt-putts are not owned by a fellow who can afford to belong to a yachting club, they belong to the little boy who might have built it for three or four dollars. It has a scow on the end of it, he might get a little coal in the end of it, he has a little putt-putt in the back of it, he does not have a five dollar bill, and we are really hurting the fellow to charge him three dollars. So I simply stand behind the $8 to $12, the $15 fee, if I have a large boat, and I think it definitely should be that. I have a larger boat and I will be glad to pay for mine.

Another thing I feel about this situation: I am told it does not mean anything. The Navigation Commission, no they do not come back. The Coast Guard is not going to go back in Luzerne County on our lakes, definitely not going to come back. The Coast Guard only goes in tidal waters. Anybody knows that. We do not have to be told that; if we are Legislators we should know that much. The trouble we are having, we have little boys getting killed. There was a lady killed right near my home, within a mile, this summer, by not having regulations. This one littel girl was killed in this way. On this particular lake on South Pond, we call it back there, there was a stump or a piece of concrete under the water. You could not see it. This boat hit it and the motor came up and killed the girl.

That might not make sense to you, but here is the point: Under this regulation as it is now in the boating bill we will get out and mark that piece of concrete. We will do something about it. We will place restrictions on little lakes that you can only have a one horse or two horse power boat. My colleague, Mr. Wescott, is on my neck every day about a 5½, he only wants 7½ on one lake. Every session he entered his one lake, and the first thing he will have all of his lakes under control. I appreciate that the man is fighting for what he thinks is right.

Under this bill we will control all the lakes of Pennsylvania. If it is a three horsepower lake, the Fish Commission has the right to go in and say, we only want a the right way to do it. We would have one heck of a time trying to pass a law for every lake in the state of Pennsylvania, now wouldn't we? Let's be honest about it.

For goodness sakes, I hope my colleague, Mr. Bell, can see just a little bit farther than Philadelphia and his forty-foot yacht. I mean, I think we ought to see the other guy's troubles. I mean, let's all put our problems together, not selfishly, but unanimously behind something.

When this bill came out of the Appropriations Committee they ruined the bill. I looked at the bill and after three months of hard work I wondered what I did to it. I wondered what my Committee did. We sat there day after day going over it. These amendments will put our bill back for all the people of Pennsylvania, and God willing, for Philadelphia along with it. I feel that is the way it should be and I hope everybody votes for these amendments.

Mr. BELL. May I interrogate the gentleman, Mr. Curwood?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Curwood, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CURWOOD. Yes, sir.

Mr. BELL. Would my friend, Mr. Curwood, advise the House whether he is familiar with the Act of 1931 which set up licensing of motor boats in Pennsylvania?

Mr. CURWOOD. My friend, Mr. Bell, I will have to answer you this way. I do not remember anytime we licensed motor boats in the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. BELL. Did I hear the gentleman correctly then that motor boats are licensed in Pennsylvania?

Mr. CURWOOD. Motor boats are not licensed in Pennsylvania.

Mr. BELL. Are the motors licensed?

Mr. CURWOOD. Well, yes, we license the motor but in case I have five boats and I only have one motor, I only buy one license and I can put the one motor on all five boats, but, under the present law, if I have five boats and put that motor on each boat over a period of a year, I must buy five licenses.

Mr. BELL. Well, you do admit that when a person is running a boat on the inland lake or on the inland rivers of Pennsylvania, he has to have a license plate from Pennsylvania and he has to pay a tax on that license?

In the same Act, Mr. Curwood, are you familiar that this Legislature gave the present Fish Commission the power to regulate the operation of motor boats so that we would not have these horrible motor boat accidents on the inland lakes and the inland rivers of Pennsylvania?

Mr. CURWOOD. You mean under the 1931 Act?

Mr. BELL. Yes, sir.

Mr. CURWOOD. The 1931 Act does set up the Fish Code which sets up that a motor boat must be so and so and so forth and so far from swimmers, boaters, and so on like that, but it does not regulate 75 horsepower boats on a lake where it should only have five horse power boats.

Mr. BELL. But it does give the Fish Commission power to issue its regulations under that Act which regulates motor boats so that they would be operated in a safe and sane manner? Am I not correct?

Mr. CURWOOD. I do not think you are correct. I do not think there are enough teeth in the bill under the present code. No.

Mr. BELL. But you do admit that the Fish Commission does have the power to regulate the operating of motor vehicles by regulation so that they would be operated in a safe and sane manner?

Mr. CURWOOD. Yes.

Mr. BELL. And they are doing a lousy job of it.

Mr. CURWOOD. Do you want me to answer that too?

Mr. BELL. Well, you can or not, but you already said about these horrible accidents up in the inland lakes and if the Fish Commission has the power to regulate the safe and sane operation of motor boats on those lakes, whose responsibility is it?

Mr. CURWOOD. They do have the power, Mr. Bell, to regulate a lake. For example, if a child gets out there or a grown person—I think a child can run these boats better than grown people as far as I am concerned because I do not know too much about them, but I think they should have the power. This bill, which we are presently talking about, has the power to give the Fish Commission the power and to make certain limits on certain lakes which I think is a big step in the right direction.

Mr. BELL. Thank you, Mr. Curwood.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would suggest that the interrogation be conducted through the Chair. Furthermore that the interrogation should be limited to the amendments which are under consideration at the present time.

Mr. BELL. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I wanted to bring out the fact that the Fish Commission under the Act of 1931 has the power to control the operation of motor boats upon the lakes and waters inside Pennsylvania and can force its regulations concerning safe and sane operation.

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, under the Act of 1931 that my colleague was talking about, I do not think that has all that he is trying to put into this particular situation. It does have certain rules and regulations but it does not put any teeth in it, including fines and everything else. I feel that in 1931, this is 1959, 28 years later, at long last we are trying to amend it today and that these amendments are going to benefit it. I do not say it is a perfect bill. I cannot say it is a perfect bill but it is something that you start with from infancy and you build up as you go along.

I said this. Let us get a platform, a foundation, for a good bill. Do not let us try to do it all at one time. Let us get a good foundation and two years from now when you fellows are here, and I hope you will all be here or most of you we can do a job, change it and amend it the way it should be. We cannot do this over night. I ask you to go along with these amendments.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, a word or two of clarification is necessary here. This particular water safety bill is the result of the Bonner bill. Pennsylvania should pass some sort of boating bill at this Session.

The Committee over a period of months and with the cooperation and help of the sponsors of this bill have tried to be fair in every way. The Committee realizes that there is a specific situation in the Delaware River basin or tidewaters, rather, as the Chairman just told you, is not a perfect bill; it is subject to amendment and it is more or less a skeleton upon which meat and muscle can be placed.

I want to point this out, that in recognizing the facts that the Delaware tidewaters are specific problems, the Committee agreed to the amendments which were put in by the Appropriations Committee. Most of us here in Pennsylvania believe there should be one boating law. However, there is no experience in the state or no administration, knowledge or background to set up a body as such, where the body is independent of the Fish Commission, Forests and Waters or anything else.

However, to expedite this problem you will note, that a Resolution was passed yesterday, a Joint State Government Resolution, which provides for a Joint State Government study of the entire boating question. That Commission will report to the next session of the Legislature and make its recommendations which we believe will be satisfactory to all.

These amendments are good amendments because they place the bill in the right perspective. Under these amendments that were put in by the Appropriations Committee, there is a great deal of dissatisfaction throughout the state. We hope to save antonymy you might say, for the Delaware River tidewaters and we hope to do as good a job as possible with the bill when we finish.

I would ask the Members of this House to O.K. these amendments, to vote for them and then study the bill after it has been finally amended and get it in the right perspective.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I want the record to show quite clearly, quite categorically, that I was advised by two Attorneys General that the bill in its present form might well be unconstitutional, so there is no question on that, and I refer to the interrogation of the gentleman from Delaware.

Secondly, I want to clear up one misconception. The bill in its original form put jurisdiction for the administration of the act in the Fish Commission. The amendments did not, and I emphasize, did not transfer administrative responsibility to the Navigation Commission. It did in part, so that as affects the Delaware River beach the jurisdiction was changed by the last amendment into the Navigation Commission.

These amendments which are under consideration today do two things. They take back a small portion of the responsibility which was taken from the Fish Commission and put in the Navigation Commission. But it gives to the Navigation Commission, No. 1, the right to be consulted on any and all regulations which affect that area, and No. 2, it gives the Navigation Commission two things in respect to fees. The fines which are collected in that particular area and a guaranteed fair return on the fees which are collected in that area.

I do not want to confuse any Member, particularly the Members from the Delaware basin on this side of the House, therefore, at this time I want to move to lay these amendments and the bill itself upon the table.

BILL AND AMENDMENTS LAID ON TABLE

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the amendments be laid upon the table.

The motion was agreed to.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the House, the Republican Membership has asked for a short caucus. We are going to work until 1:30, or possibly a quarter of two, not later than that period of time, then break for lunch. They will announce their time for caucus.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. McCANN from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Resolution (Not Printed) Re: Lodge No. 173, Williamsport, Pennsylvania, B.P.O.E.

Mr. McCANN from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Resolution (Not Printed) Re: Trooper Stephen R. Gyurke.

Mr. McCANN from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Resolution (Not Printed) Re: West Penn Power Company.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent for the resolutions reported from the Committee on Rules to be considered.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 22, 1959.

The Grand Lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, comprising more than eighteen hundred and sixty-five lodges, and including more than one and three-quarter million members throughout the United States, conduct yearly contests for the subordinate lodges presenting the best programs for Elks National Youth Day on May 1st and Flag Day Ceremonies on June 14th.

Lodge No. 173, Williamsport, Pennsylvania, attained national honors during May and June of this year in their Americanization program by winning second place in national competition with its May Day program and third place in national competition with its Flag Day program.

On May 1st, fifteen students were sent to the May Day program in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Elks State Association, where they toured the Capitol, danced at the Farm Show Building, and heard prominent State officials at the Forum. Twenty-seven additional students placed in positions in all sections of the county and city governments and social agencies in the County of Lycoming and the city of Williamsport assumed the duties of their sponsors for the day. Sponsors and students were entertained at a dinner where John H. Bennett, Past State President, Pennsylvania Elks State Association, Renovo, Pennsylvania, was speaker. Concluding the day was a teen-age dance in the Elks auditorium for all senior high school students. All students participating in this program were chosen by school authorities from the nine area high schools in the territorial jurisdiction of Lodge No. 173, i. e. Williamsport, Montoursville, Muncy, Canton, Hughesville, Montgomery, St. Marys and St. Joseph.

Two hundred fifty Boy Scouts distributed twenty-five thousand miniature flags purchased by the Williamsport Lodge and twenty-five thousand booklets on the proper display of the flag secured through the cooperation of the Armed Forces to every church service in Lycoming County, all county hospitals, Lysox View, and clubs in the City of Williamsport. Flag Day services were conducted in the Elks Auditorium with the assistance of the Elks-Repass Band and the Elks Male Chorus and televised over Station WBRE and broadcast in its entirety by radio stations WRAK, WWPA, WMPT and WLYC on June 14th.

For the past three consecutive years, Williamsport Lodge has placed first, second and third in each May Day and Flag Day national competition, and last year received the George Washington Medal of Honor from the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, for that May Day program; therefore be it:

Resolved, That the House of Representatives commend Williamsport Lodge No. 173 Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks for its patriotic endeavors and success in the Americanization program; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Williamsport Lodge No. 172, Williamsport, Pennsylvania.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives May 5, 1959.

On August 24, 1958, Trooper Stephen R. Gyurke, Pennsylvania State Police Force died in the line of duty while serving with Troop B-2 (Turnpike Division) of the Somerset sub station.

Born on July 3, 1929 at Nettleton, Cambria County, Pennsylvania, he was the son of Michael and Julia Kozar Gyurke. After attending the public schools of Blacklick Township, Cambria County, he enlisted in the U. S. Army in 1948 where he rose to the rank of Sergeant.

Receiving an honorable discharge from the service in 1952, he entered the Pennsylvania State Police Force as a student recruit on October 4, 1954. After completing his basic course of study he was promoted to private and assigned to duty at Troop E-1, Erie, Pennsylvania, and transferred to Troop B-2 (Turnpike division) in December, 1955.

Private Gyurke by his devotion to duty, his integrity, and his ability exemplified the ideal Trooper. In the short span of his life he conscientiously and unselfishly served his state, his nation and his God.

While this resolution is but a small tribute to one who contributed so much to his fellowmen, we hope that the memory of Trooper Gyurke will serve as an inspiration to his fellow members of the Pennsylvania State Police Force; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby pays tribute to Trooper Stephen R. Gyurke, and expresses its sincere condolences to his loved ones upon his death; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to his wife Margaret Hruska Gyurke, his mother Mrs. Julia Gyurke, his brother Trooper William P. Gyurke and Commissioner Frank G. McCartney.

This resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 9, 1959

On Thursday, September 3, 1959 the West Penn Power Company which supplies power to a large area in the western part of the State made a great advancement when they dedicated a new substation in Reesedale, Armstrong County.

The Company spent 49 million dollars in the erection of this giant facility which is to be known as the Armstrong Station. The expenditure of such a large sum of money by a private utility certainly evidences the faith that the company has in the growth of our Nation and our State.

For three days the company had an open house at the site of the substation and the hundreds of people who toured the area were thrilled by the magnitude of the operation. The residents of the vast area supplied by West Penn are thankful for the foresight shown by the company since the new operation will undoubtedly aid the economy of the region; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives commend the West Penn Power Company of Greensburg, Pennsylvania for the faith they have shown in the ever growing economy of our State and for the efforts they have made toward making our Commonwealth a better place in which to live and work; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the President of the West Penn Power Company at Greensburg and to the local district manager at Reesedale, Armstrong County.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

Senate Bill No. 684, Printer's No. 745 and

Senate Bill No. 868, Printer's No. 1015

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

BILL PASSED OVER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the Republican Members of the House feel they should caucus on House Bill 2355, but just so they know as they go to this caucus, the Legislative Reference Bureau in preparing amendments to House Bill 2355 stated that this is a bill dealing with disabled veterans and that all the items in the proposed bill are the same fees that exist now in the respective counties.

The new material is on page 6, dealing with veterans, pertaining to their discharge papers and the certification of those papers. This is a piece of legislation in preparation for the Korean bonus.

Since the Republican Members of the House have asked that they caucus on the bill, Mr. Speaker, I ask that it be passed over temporarily.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 1652 on page 5 of today's calendar, bills on final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1652, entitled:

An Act amending the "Employment Agency Law" approved July 31, 1941 (P. L. 616), changing definitions licensing criteria and licensing suspension and revocation procedures; reducing fees for representative licenses changing the authority of employment agents with regard to charging fees and utilizing certain methods of doing business providing for minimum fees in certain types of engagements clarifying the applicability of other laws to employment agents changing the procedures and penalties for violations of this act and clarifying and changing the powers and duties of the Department.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 1652 was amended last week by amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Perry, in which the bill before the House at that date was amended to exclude certain types of agencies such as we discussed in the debate that day, Man Power and other organizations, in which those organizations furnish the individuals to the various concerns. The present bill, 1652, contains those amendments as offered that day and supported unanimously by the Republican Members of the House and the Philadelphia Members on the Democratic side.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that everyone vote favorably on the bill as amended, House Bill No. 1652, Printer's No. 1633.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been on the calendar quite a long while, and there are great misgivings in our caucus here as to the real necessity for the bill. We would like to have the gentleman state what evils are presently existing in the employment agency situation with respect to the way it is being run, and in short to give us convincing reason why we should support this bill and license these agencies. We have not so far in our caucus been convinced of the necessity for the bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, first I bring to the gentleman's attention that this is an amendment to the employment agency law of 1941.

House Bill 1652 attempts to rectify or tighten up some of the situations in the licensing of employment agencies in the Commonwealth. The amendments offered the other day by the gentleman from Philadelphia excluded certain types of not necessarily employment agencies, but agencies, which furnish employes to do a specific job, and at that time the Republican leadership informed the House that House Bill 1652 with the amendments would be satisfactory and they so supported the amendments.

There have been numerous cases in the Commonwealth over the years in which some of the employment agencies have been in business and then out of business very quickly, and failed to operate in conformity with the employment agency law. After they are gone it is rather difficult to do anything about correcting the situation. This law is not a law which is a difficult law to administer. It was passed during the 1941 administration and then amended once or twice since then in trying to correct the situation, and again now, but in an effort not to hinder or hurt any of those bona fide employment agencies that now operate and have been licensed in this Commonwealth. I believe this piece of legislation is a very sound piece of legislation in conjunction with the employment agency law.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, do I understand if this bill becomes law that in order for a person to set up an employment agency he or she must serve one year apprenticeship under an acknowledged or licensed employment agency?

Mr. McCANN. I believe that is correct. I am not sure it is one year unless I check that section.

Mr. FULMER. One year or a period of time. Is it true, Mr. Speaker, that presently some of these employment agencies are no more than one-room or hole-in-the-wall types of operations?

Mr. McCANN. I am sure that description would be correct of some, but certainly would not include all.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, is it also true that a person could possibly attend a college or university, majoring in business administration, with probably a minor, or a doctorate, even, in personnel management, and that person would have to spend one year as an apprentice in one of these employment agencies?

Mr. McCANN. I believe that would be correct. He would have to render a period of time prior to being licensed. I believe that is correct.

Mr. FULMER. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, during the past two years I have had the opportunity to visit in many of these employment agencies. I am sure that you, as was I, would be dismayed and surprised at how these agencies operate. As a matter of fact, in none of the agencies which I visited were they prepared to offer the services of personnel testing. In these agencies, for example, I was surprised when I asked how they kept their records. There were very few records kept in many of them. The data that was held there was stacked up on large piles and those who came in latest received the first consideration.

I think it is a good idea to have good legislation for these employment agencies, but I cannot see any reason why people who get their professional training at a college or university should be subjected to working for one year in one of these employment agencies. In view of the fact that this is in the bill we have, I would suggest that we vote against this bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I can understand the situation as presented by the gentleman. I believe it carries some merit in that if any individual came out of a college or university into this field, and operated as an employment agency, if they were of the same caliber and operating in the same way, it still would not improve the situation any.

I, of course, can say that this bill was on the calendar a considerable number of legislative days prior to the amendments offered by Mr. Perry, which are in the bill, and at no time was there any indication of anyone offering any amendments pertaining to this section or part of the bill. I believe it does carry some merit as the bill is now written. If this period of time is too long, I suggest the bill could be changed or amended, but no offer had been made to correct the situation. I believe the period of one year does have some merit; if it does not, the time should be designated, so the situation the gentleman outlined as to some of the so-called employment agencies he visited personally would be corrected.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated briefly?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Does the gentleman have a copy of the bill?

Mr. McCANN. I will get it right away.

Mr. A. M. LEE. On page 26, Mr. Speaker, starting on line 13, the bill reads: Any person so doing or any person violating any provision of this act or [knowingly] aiding and abetting in its violation for which no other specific penalty is provided shall upon summary conviction thereof be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than . . . fifty ($50.00) dollars nor more than . . . two hundred ($200.00) . . ." The point I bring up, Mr. Speaker, is that the word "knowingly" has been dropped out of this statute. Is that correct, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. McCANN. That is correct, sir, on line 14.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Then it is possible that an employee of one of these employment agencies, acting under the direction of the proprietor thereof and not knowingly violating the law, but in fact violating the law, may be subject to prosecution under this act?

Mr. McCANN. Is that not true under most legislation in which the agency licensed would have employes, the party involved would be violating a law, let us say, the individuals employed by that party are directed to do something in carrying out the orders of the head of the firm, they aid or abet the violation of the law. Has it not always been the situation in which when anyone does this particular thing that consideration is given to whether he was directed to do something or whether he does it of his own will or ideas?

Mr. A. M. LEE. I would only say, Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman's answer, that the word "knowingly" is in the present law and this bill purports to remove it. I think it is a bad thing, and for that reason, among others, I urge the Members to vote against this bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. A. M. LEE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia inform me, in connection with the section he speaks of, which is really section 29 of the proposed act, if he offered to amend or correct the situation at any time?

Mr. A. M. LEE. No, Mr. Speaker, I did not.

Mr. McCANN. I thank the gentleman very kindly.

Mr. FULMER. I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader, please.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be further interrogated??

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as one of the requirements, if this bill becomes law, is that it will be necessary to serve an internship, so to speak, or a waiting period, under a licensed employment agency, I would like to ask the Majority Leader if there is any provision in this bill which will necessitate the state approving any of these employment agencies wherein this internship can be had?

Mr. McCANN. That would be very easy to answer—those that would be fully licensed.

Mr. FULMER. Therefore, am I to understand, Mr. Speaker, that if an employment agency is licensed in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and operating in a haphazard manner they could provide the internship for anybody who wants to come to that licensed employe agency?

Mr. McCANN. That would be a rather difficult situation, in which, if you operated an employment agency and you were a licensed employment agency, and I served a period of time in your agency and you operated it in a slipshod manner, that is nobody's fault but your own and the licensing agency would attempt to close you as soon as it could.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, assuming this is correct, am I to assume then that the state is not going to give any protection to individuals? Supposing he did not know about the ethics of the operation where he served his internship, you say they could still provide this training?

Mr. McCANN. Would the gentleman repeat his question about the state?

Mr. FULMER. Since they are licensed to open as an employment agency and they provide this internship, you say when they are giving people the impression that just because they have a license they are a legitimate operating organization?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I always assume, and I am sure the gentleman also does, that properly licensed employment agencies operate in a proper manner and should at all times. Those who do not operate in that manner and are licensed, of course, the inspectors attempt in every way possible to see that they do operate properly or to have their licenses removed. You can assume the agency that is licensed in a manner that is not in the highest ethical standards and if I serve my period of time in that agency that was licensed I certainly would have served in a proper licensed establishment and would have received some basic training during the time with the employment agency.

Mr. FULMER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader in the way of a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman, as I understand it, bills that are signed with no effective date have to become effective September 1. Is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. I think you will have no difficulty understanding that Code. You have been here a great number of years.

Mr. AUKER. I am frank to say I am a little hazy on it and I just wanted to make sure I was correct.

Mr. McCANN. The gentleman is correct in his statement that Acts which do not have an effective date normally become law when signed by the Governor, I believe the first day of September following a period of time. At the present time and in 1955 and in 1953, I believe are the correct years, when the Legislature was in session following the September date, Acts which did not have effective dates and which were sent to the Governor and the Governor signed those Acts into law—I believe I am correct on the years that the House and Senate was in session past those dates—and the effective date is, I believe, September 1.

Mr. AUKER. Then in this case, since this act carries no effective date, it would not become effective until September 1, 1960?

Mr. McCANN. I believe the situation does not pertain to September 1. Under the old administrative act, and some of your attorneys can advise you very well on this, when the House and Senate were in session two or three months, then the Acts became effective in September. I believe the Acts normally are effective immediately or at that period of time.

Mr. AUKER. I am still confused. Maybe I can get it straightened out sometime before this bill is passed, I hope, but I think it should be fairly understood by all the Members of the House before we pass anymore legislation, unless the Acts carry an effective date. I think this is a very important matter, when these acts are that are passed are going to become effective.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Blair will yield, I will give him the effective date of statutes.

Under existing law, when the session extends past this date in September, which was mentioned by Mr. McCann, the Acts that are then passed become effective when signed by the Governor, unless there is an otherwise stated date in the Act of the Legislature. When Acts are passed prior to September and there is no date set, then they become effective on that date in September and I think it is September 1, but if bills are passed like today, signed by the Governor today, with no effective date set in the statute, it is effective as of the date signed by the Governor.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Delaware. I assume that is correct and that is one of the reasons why I brought up the point:

Here, for instance, we have legislation that affects a fairly large industry in the state. If the bill becomes law they have no way of getting a copy of the act for possibly two or three months after it is finally passed. They do not know what they are working under, and yet they would be subject to arrest and fine. Certainly it seems to me if all these acts are going to become effective at once, where those affected are subject to criminal prosecution there ought to be an effective date in the act to let these people have a chance to know the change in the law and what they are up against. I do not think it is fair to pass this kind of legislation and put these people up against an Act that becomes effective at once, and make them amenable to penal offences fines and court trials without knowing whether or not they are violating the law. They have no way of knowing. They cannot get the act in print before two or three months. I think this bill ought to be amended to carry an effective date of ninety days after the Governor signs it, or it becomes law, or something of that sort to give these people a chance. It is not fair in my mind. I will have to vote against the bill unless the effective date is changed. I just cannot see the fairness of this kind of legislation. It is just not fair.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am going to ask for a recess of one hour. The Democrat Members will not hold a caucus. The recess will be for the purpose of lunch. We will come back here in one hour and start in again cleaning up the calendar.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, during this one hour, on the Republican side we will have lunch for one-half hour, and would like to have a caucus for one-half hour to clean up bills on the calendar on which we have not previously caucused. There are eight education bills which are going to be made a special order of business which we want to caucus on in our caucus, so it is very important that Republicans attend the caucus one-half hour from now.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. CIANFRANI.

RESOLUTION No. 113.

In the House of Representatives, September 15th, 1959.

Numerous attempts have been made to abolish capital punishment within this Commonwealth and provide for the substitution of a life sentence in lieu thereof. It is the feeling of many persons that capital punishment is long outmoded and is not in keeping with the religious, moral or social standards of today. A number of states which had capital punishment have changed such punishment and in lieu thereof substituted a life sentence. A large number of the clergy of this Commonwealth have expressed a desire for a full study of capital punishment; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to conduct a thorough study of capital punishment throughout the United States, and to submit to the next session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations in regard to the abolition thereof.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 1702 on page 5 of today's calendar, bills on final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1702, entitled:

An Act relating to State highways roads and bridges and certain use thereof amending revising consolidating and changing the laws administered by the Secretary of Highways and by the Department of Highways relating thereto * * *.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker and my colleagues on both sides of the House, we have before us today for consideration House Bill 1702, Printer's No. 1634, which if enacted will replace the Highway Code of 1945. This is not to be confused with the Motor Vehicle Code which became law this Session.

It is the opinion of the Highway Department and other groups, as well as myself, that a general overhauling is necessary in order to bring our Highway Code up to date.

In the repeal section of the bill you will find many obsolete acts that are not needed and should be abolished by repeal.

In other sections of House Bill 1702 you will find sections that are existing law. In others you will find existing law with new thoughts added. There are others that are completely new. For instance, take Section 201 on page 17, the legislative intent, and at the same time if you go to page 24, section 502, I believe you will agree with me there would be no doubt in anyone's mind that only this General Assembly and we alone place highways on the state system and only you and I will delete them.

The only exception to this rule will be found on page 47, section 1007, and I quote "If in the opinion of the Secretary there exists an emergency requiring immediate attention to save any highway from damage or to protect the public safety the Secretary may contract for repairs to prevent the damage or to protect the public safety without advertising for bids." In other words, if an act of God should occur, as in 1957 when floods and rains destroyed many of our highways and bridges, the Secretary could move in, if we would not be in Session, and without the Governor proclaiming a state of emergency, immediately bring in men and equipment to combat the emergency at hand without going through the due processes of law.

Before I close I would like to warn the membership of this House that before your Committee on Highways released this bill from committee we held two semi-public hearings, which my two co-sponsors who are not members of the committee were invited to attend, also our Secretary of Highways, Park Martin, and practically his entire staff, who answered the many questions that were raised pertaining to House Bill 1702. Some points we agreed on others we disagreed on. As a result many amendments to this bill were made in Committee and many others were made on the floor of the House. You take a bill of this size and the many complicated sections in the bill, which, incidentally has 176 sections not including the repeal section, and you can appreciate the fact that even Solomon could not satisfy all the groups that were involved in House Bill 1702.

Mr. Speaker, I will now consent to be interrogated.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I rise to discuss House Bill 1702, as I did when the bill was before us previously.

At that time I praised the Chairman of the Highway Committee and the members of that Committee for the fine work they did in conducting hearings on this bill, and I believed they were able to obtain a great amount of information. I tried to point out at that time that I did not believe that even the Chairman of the Highways Committee at that time knew the extent of the bill, and I think that was pretty well proven by his willingness to delay any action on it until the bill was properly amended.

The Chairman has stated here on the floor today that the legislative power over the abandoning of highways or taking over of new highways has been retained by the amendments that were offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Comer, and with that I agree, I believe that power is now back in the bill. I am also very much in favor of the retention of the emergency powers for the Secretary of Highways in times of disaster or dire emergency. That power, I believe, should also be retained in this bill. However, there are a number of things that I would like to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee about and ask that he give consent to interrogation at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Chairman has already asked for it. The gentleman from Armstrong will proceed.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman to turn to page 23 of today's bill, Section 404.

If the gentleman will turn to Section 404 he will find, I believe, that that section, which is a very short section, says. "The secretary has exclusive authority and jurisdiction as imposed or conferred by this act over all the facilities of the State highway system."

The question I would like to ask the gentleman is, how would this affect the present powers of the Department of Forests and Waters as to highways that exist in state forests and parks today?

Mr. COMER, Mr. Speaker, there is another section in the bill dealing with this part the gentleman has inquired about.

Mr. HELM. Will the gentleman give me the number of that section?

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will turn to page 30, Section 701, dealing with highways and Commonwealth lands.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I believe that particular section refers to highways that are presently located or relocated on state lands that are to be located or relocated. What will happen to the maintenance of the roads, the present roads, as they exist today and are presently maintained by the Department of Forests and Waters?

Mr. COMER. They would come under the control and supervision of the State Highway Department.

Mr. HELM. What would happen then, I would ask the gentleman, to the present powers of the Public Utility Commission as to highway railroad crossings?

Mr. COMER. That jurisdiction would still stay under the jurisdiction of the Public Utility Commission, Mr. Speaker, I believe.

Mr. HELM. I believe the gentleman is not correct in that statement because I think it says that the Secretary has exclusive jurisdiction.

Mr. COMER. Which crossings are you talking about?

Mr. HELM. Railroad crossings crossing state highways. Presently permission to put in that railroad crossing is granted by the Public Utility Commission.

Mr. COMER. They would be retained by the Public Utility Commission, that is correct. I stay with that statement.

Mr. HELM. Will the gentleman show me where that says so in the bill?

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, I would appreciate it if the gentleman would show me in this section where it does not.

Mr. HELM. I will read, for the gentleman's information, Section 404. "The Secretary has exclusive authority and jurisdiction as imposed or conferred by this act over all the facilities of the State Highway System." I say to you where a highway crosses a railroad crossing is a highway facility. I say to you, sir, that the permission would be taken away from the Public Utility Commission and given to the Secretary of Highways.

Mr. COMER. Could the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, show me the section in the bill where it changes existing law?

Mr. HELM. This is not existing law. This is a new highway code we are discussing today.

Mr. COMER. The way I interpret it, Mr. Speaker, the Secretary has exclusive jurisdiction over highways; the Secretary has exclusive authority and jurisdiction as imposed or conferred by this act.

Mr. HELM. We will get to the other sections of this bill, I believe, where I will point out that permits are required of the Secretary of Highways, Mr. Speaker. so may we pass on to another question for the moment?

I would like to ask the gentleman to turn to page 35 of the bill, Section 806. It says in this section that after the Secretary condemns a farm, for example, he can change his mind and need to pay damages only if he has entered physically on the farm.

The question I would like to ask is, what happens of a farmer in the meantime loses a chance to sell his farm at a good price while the Department is making up its mind whether or not it is going to take the property?

Mr. COMER. Well, under this bill. Mr. Speaker, the farmer will be paid 75 percent. When the Department comes in on condemnation proceedings, he would receive 75 percent which would allow him to go out and purchase another property.

Mr. HELM. I believe if the gentleman will turn to Section 863, page 40, he will find that what he is saying is not exactly the fact. It says, "Partial Payment. After the Governor approves the plan the secretary may pay the owner, or if the owner refuses to accept payment or his whereabouts are unknown may pay into court an amount not to exceed seventy-five per cent of the department's lowest appraisal figures." There is nothing mandatory about that particular section. The Secretary may arbitrarily refuse to pay the 75 percent or any part of it. I say to you that the farmer could conceivably lose the opportunity of selling his farm, and if the Highway Department does not make physical entry onto the property, they do not have to take possession. Therefore, the farmer would have no recourse whatsoever.

Mr. COMER. May I say to the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, that the present policy of the Department has been operated under this procedure and has been paying 75 percent.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I do not question what has been the policy, but I say to you we are today enacting a new Highway Code and policy has nothing whatsoever to do with what they might do under this bill.

I would like to ask the gentleman, suppose then that the farmer when he was notified that his land was condemned, he borrowed money and goes out and buys another farm. Then the Secretary, at the last moment, changes his mind. Can the farmer collect any damages under this bill?

Mr. COMER. The only damages that are provided under the bill are detention damages.

Mr. HELM. What kind of damages?

Mr. COMER. Detention, where the Highway Department of the Commonwealth comes in, condemns the property, and pays the owners 75 percent, the 25 percent remaining is held with the provision of detention damages which would be paid.

Mr. HELM. Will the gentleman cite the section of the bill that points this out?

Mr. COMER. Page 35, section 806. If the gentleman will turn to this section, line 14, in the middle of the sentence where it starts, "but if the department has made a physical entry—".

Mr. HELM. Well, will the gentleman go back to line 12, and begin reading at the word "In". I am not questioning about the Department having made physical entry. I agree with him, then they take possession of the property. I am talking about what happens before the Department makes physical entry on the property.

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, may I say to the gentleman, when you pick out one little section it is pretty hard to deal with unless you go over the entire condemnation section.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I am just asking the gentleman to explain to me what the wording of the bill means. Now, if we have to take a 127 page bill and depend entirely upon the authority of the people who might have drawn this bill that it has what the gentleman says it has in it, then I think we are entirely wrong. I am only pointing out to you some of the things that I think can happen under this bill.

Mr. COMER. At the same time I repeat, Mr. Speaker, on a bill of this size it is pretty hard to know the bill word for word and find a section right offhand, no matter how many times you read it over.

Mr. HELM. Well, Mr. Speaker, I would like to point out to the gentleman that under Article 1, Section 10 of our Constitution it forbids the state to take private property until just compensation is first made or secured.

Under this bill what security does the property owner have at the moment the Governor signs the plan that he is going to be paid for the property that is being condemned?

Now bear in mind they have not made physical entry onto the property. What security does the farmer have that he is going to get any damages?

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, if there is no damage done on the entry, why would there be any reason for damages?

Mr. HELM. Well I say to you, the farmer has gone out—based on the fact that his property is going to be taken, is condemned, by the Highway Department for their use—and purchased another farm. What protection does he have?

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman let me say this. Under a vast highway program there are some sacrifices that have to be made. Just because the Highway Department came in and made the plan, and changed its mind, it does not mean the man should be paid damages.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, under the bill it says that a man's property is condemned as soon as the Governor approves the Secretary's plan to take the property, but the Secretary does not have to pay any damages at all until such a time as the Highway Department makes legal entry onto the property, and that could be five years later. Or, the Secretary could relinquish his right to take it over and the farmer would be left holding the bag.

Mr. Speaker, I do not want to belabor the point, but I think that I have proven without question that this can happen and I do not believe that the gentleman has been able to refute that it can happen. It can happen to a farm or to a private home.

I would like to ask some other questions and not stick with this particular point and take the time of the House.

Let us turn to Section 903 on page 42 of the bill. This particular section empowers the Secretary to exclude poles, pipes and other facilities of municipalities and regulated utilities from limited access highways if that is necessary to obtain Federal aid funds.

The question I would like to ask the gentleman. Is it not a fact that regardless of whether Federal aid funds are involved or not that the Secretary can exclude utility facilities from any highway merely by refusing to grant them a permit under Section 1502 of the bill on page 59?

Mr. COMER. What type of highway is the gentleman speaking of?

Mr. HELM. I do not care what kind of a highway it is. The Secretary, under Section 1502 on page 59 of the bill has complete authority to grant or refuse a permit for any utility facility along the highway, whether there are Federal aid funds involved or not. Will the gentleman state whether that is correct?

Mr. COMER. We will first deal, Mr. Speaker, with the Federal aid program. It is the policy of the public works department act the utilities are paid from the interstate system and the secondary and primary highways.

Mr. HELM. But is it not true that the Secretary has the authority to exclude them by not granting a permit?

Mr. COMER. He has that right now under the 1945 Act, I believe.

Mr. HELM. Well, I question that, but I will go to another question. I will accept the man's answer.

Now, Section 1003 on page 45. This particular section gives the Department power to decide who is a competent and responsible bidder on highway contracts and lists some factors to be considered in deciding this, but the Department is not limited to those factors. The question I would like to ask is what is to prevent the Department from excluding competent bidders in an arbitrary manner merely because he does not personally like them, or because of political favoritism, or any other reason that he so desires?

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, to answer the gentleman's question dealing with Section 1003, this is prequalification, not qualification.

Mr. HELM. Will the gentleman read Section 1003?

Mr. COMER. I will. "Prequalifications of bidders. The Department shall by regulation establish a system for the qualification of competent and responsible bidders on highway projects. In determining the qualifications of bidders the department shall consider but not be limited to the following factors relating to the contractors: (1) Equipment (2) Past record (3) Experience (4) Personnel (5) Financial condition."

Mr. HELM. Will the gentleman read the last sentence of the Section?

Mr. COMER. "The department shall not consider bids from any bidder who is not qualified." May I ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, has he ever known the policy of the Highway Department to play politics along this line?

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I would answer the gentleman this way, that we have never been operating the Department under this particular bill up to this present moment.

I asked the gentleman, could the Secretary of Highways refuse to qualify a bidder purely because he did not personally like the bidder under the authority given to him under this bill?

Mr. COMER. Then I would say to the gentleman would he read Section 1002 on page 44?

Mr. HELM. Any particular sentence?

Mr. COMER. Read the whole Section to us.

Mr. HELM. Does the gentleman want to point out some particular point in that Section? If he does I will be glad to accept it.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Comer, yields to me.

Mr. HELM. I will be happy to have the Majority Leader answer the question.

Mr. McCANN. Has the gentleman ever had the experience in bidding for projects under the Department of Highways at the present time or in the last 10 years?

You can answer the question very simply. Could I bid on a job on which the specifications and the notice are out? The answer would be "no," because I would have to meet each of the requirements as the contractors do now. If I were a man on bridge bidding and did not have road equipment, or sub-contract tie-ins for equipment, could I bid? The answer would be "no." It would be no different than exists now in that section.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I read for the gentleman's information again "In determining the qualifications of bidders the department shall consider, but not be limited to the following factors relating to the contractors." The simple question that I am asking is could the Secretary of Highways conceivably under this Section refuse to qualify a contractor to bid on a project because he personally disliked the contractor?

Mr. McCANN. If he met all the other requirements and the sole requisite for refusing his right to bid would be that he did not like him the answer would certainly be emphatically no.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I am sure that the Section does not so state. I think the Secretary of Highways could refuse for any reason that he so desired to qualify a particular contractor to bid on the project, according to the language of Section 1003. I am not saying he will do it. I am only asking a hypothetical question.

Mr. McCANN. In other words, you are trying to insert into Section 1003 something that is not there?

Mr. HELM. I am not, Mr. Speaker. The thing I am trying to bring out is the thing I tried to bring out in my interrogation on the previous day when we discussed this bill. I think you are making a super-dictator out of a person who is presently a dictator in the Highway Department of this Commonwealth. We are giving him powers far above and beyond the present powers that he presently has. That is my reason for asking this question, as it is for every other question I intend to ask.

Mr. McCANN. Then under Section 1003 your interpretation is that the Secretary of Highways would be a dictator by dictating the policy on the grounds by which he could refuse other than those which are outlined carefully.

Mr. HELM. I certainly do believe that because that is what the section states.

Mr. McCANN. Would that not be an abuse of the administrative powers of the office?

Mr. HELM. That is the very thing I am worried about.

Mr. McCANN. Then who would throw it out if a Secretary of Highways abused in any way the powers definitely and clearly outlined for him; would not the court throw it out immediately?

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, it would not be an abuse of power because we are granting him that power. There would only be one of two ways where the Secretary of Highways could eventually be controlled. No. 1, by removal from office by the Governor, and No. 2, by legislation passed by this House of Representatives in session. We are granting him the overall, absolute power under this bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I can not foresee that in Section 1003, which is a section on which I am speaking. I have the knowledge in the short years that I have been around this Commonwealth of contracts, and I am sure the gentleman from Armstrong does also, in which contractors cannot bid in certain fields and they know they cannot. They do not have the equipment or financing, in fact many of them have argued about it because they would like to bid in a larger field of work, and there are no dictatorial powers granted to the Secretary of Highways in the wording of Section 1003. You are trying to put the words in there and they are not there, and that man certainly would never, and has certainly never, by his past record, even if you gave it to him, ever used such powers if that would be the case. I am sure that it does not exist for you cannot find it in the words of Section 1003.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the gentleman make a simple answer to a question that I am going to propound again.

Let us assume that we have a contractor who has every qualification as set up under Section 1003, items 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5. The Secretary of Highways personally dislikes this particular contractor. I ask the gentleman to answer me yes or no, could the Secretary of Highways refuse to qualify him as a contractor for a particular project?

Mr. McCANN. The answer would be no, he could not in any way if the sole reason outlined was that he did not like the contractor.

Mr. HELM. Then I would like to ask the gentleman why is the phrase in Section 1003, "but not be limited to" put into the act?

Mr. McCANN. I could take, for example, conditions which would arise and they are not outlined. No. 1, equipment. To be a bidder you list your equipment, that equipment which you own, and that which you could rent.

Mr. HELM. That is written into the bill.

Mr. McCANN. No. 2, the past record would be your record of wherever you operated.

No. 3 would certainly be your experience, first job, tenth job, or maybe ten years' experience. There would be no question.

Personnel of organization would be whoever you employed or whoever you have in your entire group.

Next, the financial condition of your organization and the backing of the bank which is going to finance your bidding, whether it is Chase National Bank, or your local bank.

What else could enter into it? I do not think it would take long to enter into it under the equipment section alone. Let us carefully study the matter. You submit a form and there is a sub-contractor you tie in with, you will tie your work in with him now, and the equipment is tied together, and I as a sub-contractor am also tied in with other contractors. My equipment does not become available at the time the work on this bid would be done. That would be one. Very simple.

I am sure that for other reasons your financial condition at the time you are bidding and contractors have many bids going at many times, which sometimes creates a situation in which their credit rating becomes worse instead of better. You have had that experience.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, could I interrupt the gentleman for just a moment?

I do not question the necessity for having these five items as a necessary qualification for a contractor to be a competent contractor to award a contract to. I am not questioning that. I think all five of those items are very, very important, but I say to you, what else might the Secretary of Highways have in his mind for refusing to grant the contract or qualify a contractor, or why would we have in the words "but not be limited to" in this particular section?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am trying to tell the gentleman from Armstrong of typical examples of "would not be limited," dealing with the basic problems involved, and not actually problems of equipment and so forth, the items that change. These are the basic items. No place in there can you see the interpretation that would refuse that person to be a bidder solely because the Secretary would not like him, would not be of the same political party. If that would be the case, that would be a good one for us, would it not? The Secretary of Highways is not a Democrat, and the fact that a question—

Mr. HELM. I was not questioning the qualifications of the Secretary of Highways, his political party or anything about him. I think he is a very qualified gentleman, but we may not always have the same Secretary of Highways. I have seen in past administrations where the secretaryship has changed as high as three times in one administration and we never know who is going to be Secretary of Highways. If the Secretary wants to take advantage of those words "but not be limited to" he certainly in my opinion has the right to take advantage of those words.

I do not want to follow the point any further. I believe we have spent enough time on it and brought out the fact that he does have that authority.

I would like to ask a few more questions, and I will interrogate the gentleman from Greene, or the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman to turn to page 59 of the bill, Section 1502, which I believe we referred to previously in our discussion. That requires permits to be obtained from the department for any public utility facility to be placed upon, across or under a highway.

Suppose you have a state highway in a city such as on Second Street in Harrisburg, which is currently, I believe, U. S. Route 22. Suppose the telephone company has its poles on one side of the street. Must it have permits for all cross-over wires serving houses on the other side of the street?

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that question I would say to the gentleman, there would not be any necessity for permits because the Pennsylvania Power and Light has done a very good job in Harrisburg. There are no overhead wires; they are underground.

Mr. HELM. I was only using it as an example, sir. What I would like to know is, if the wires ran overhead, would they have to have a permit for every wire that crossed Second Street in Harrisburg?

Mr. COMER. No, they would not.

Mr. HELM. Will the gentleman tell me on what authority he answers that way?

Mr. COMER. For the information of the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, if you are going outside of Harrisburg in a rural section, you will find on each side of the highway, as you say, poles with feeder lines. They furnish service on each side, there would not be an occasion to run across the highway.

Mr. HELM. I expect to get out in the rural areas in a minute, but on this particular question I would like to confine it to the city of Harrisburg or some similar urban area.

Mr. COMER. Then, in other words, Mr. Speaker, you say the question the gentleman raised last week is, if an additional wire was to be run in would a permit be needed? Is that your question?

Mr. HELM. That is right.

Mr. COMER. I would say no.

Mr. HELM. Will the gentleman look at Section 1502 and follow me as I read: "Permits for utility facilities (a) the consent of the Secretary evidenced by a permit shall be required in advance of any of the following: "(1) construction or removal of utility facilities longitudinal to and transverse with in on or over a highway.

Does not that wording mean that every one that crossed over Second Street in Harrisburg conceivably would have to have a special permit?

Mr. COMER. There are no wires cross over, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HELM. I am fully aware of that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COMER. Let us take another section, Mr. Speaker, where they do not run over the highway.

Mr. HELM. All right, let us take any other town where the wires do go over the highway.

Mr. COMER. Take any other town.

Mr. HELM. Would they be required to get a permit from the Secretary of Highways before they could run a wire across the highway?

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, I am trying to explain this fact to the gentleman.

Mr. HELM. I am waiting, Mr. Speaker. I would be glad to have the information.

Mr. COMER. Does the gentleman use as an example one wire or one line, or is he inquiring about a totally new construction?

Mr. HELM. I am talking about any wires. If the poles of a utility company go up the right-hand side of the street, as they may, and every house on the left hand side of the street would have to have a feeder line across to their house, I say to you, under this bill, every feeder line would have to have a permit from the Secretary of Highways.

Mr. COMER. These lines are existing that the gentleman is talking about; they are only making additions. In other words, they would be running service lines to a customer.

Mr. HELM. Now let us assume a new housing development is put up on the left-hand side of the street and the wires are on the other side of the street, and you want to run wires over to the houses on the other side of street. Would you be required to get a permit for every wire?

Mr. COMER. No.

Mr. HELM. Will the gentleman tell me why they would not be?

Mr. COMER. This section is existing law. This is part of the 1945 Highway Act, existing law. Where an additional line is run for service it has never been required.

Mr. HELM. Does not the wording of this section require it?

Mr. COMER. Well then, would you go to the wording in a section of the 1945 Act?

Mr. HELM. I am not discussing the 1945 Act; I am discussing House Bill No. 1702.

Mr. COMER. Well, this is taken without substantial change from the same section of 1945.

Mr. HELM. Will the gentleman answer my question as to whether or not the Secretary of Highways could require a permit to be granted for each wire crossing over the highway?

Mr. COMER. If such a thing was needed and it was new construction, yes.

Mr. HELM. Thank you.

Mr. COMER. If it was crossing the highway, which they do not do.

Mr. HELM. Let us suppose now that an electrical or telephone company has two poles on opposite sides of the highway but located on private right-of-way, they are off the highway right-of-way. Under the present law does the company have to get a permit for the wire running between the two poles?

Mr. COMER. Across the highway?

Mr. HELM. That is right.

Mr. COMER. Yes, they would have to get a permit.

Mr. HELM. The gentleman is completely wrong on that. Under your present law a permit is needed only if a pole is located on highway property.

Mr. COMER. Would the gentleman show me that section?

Mr. HELM. Well, that is present law. I do not have the present law with me, but I went to the trouble to look it up.

Are there any limitations imposed on the Secretary's powers to grant or refuse a permit under this bill?

Mr. COMER. Yes.

Mr. HELM. Would the gentleman show me where those limitations are?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been wondering whether the gentleman from Armstrong could substantiate his position by a direct attack rather than through a prolonged interrogation?

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I am only trying to get the gentleman to explain to us what the bill does. I think I gave the gentleman a sufficient amount of time.

I tried to debate this bill two weeks ago, I believe it was, at which time I brought out part of the same questions, I feel as though the gentleman—I do not want to embarrass him—but, I am fully aware that he, like myself, does not understand the power in this bill invested in the Secretary of Highways, and that is my reason for following this particular line of questioning.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has been in the Chair very often and so I can grant to him such discretion as he may deem proper and follow any procedure that he sanction were he in the Chair.

Mr. HELM. I thank the gentleman, and I am in sympathy with the Chair because I know how anxious he is to get along with the calendar, but I do believe that some of these questions are important. I will ask two or three more questions, Mr. Speaker, as quickly as possible, and then I will get off the bill entirely and let us take it to a vote.

Let us turn to Section 1804, page 72. This particular section says that when the Department builds or repairs a highway running through land under the control of another state department, the other department has to pay the costs if it has the money to do so.

Let us take as an example, Route 153 in Clearfield County. I do not know whether the gentleman from Clearfield is in his seat or not but I am sure he knows where the road from Clearfield to Pennfield is, a distance of about 19 miles. Most of the distance it runs through state forest lands. Under the bill, if this road were being constructed now, would the Department of Forests and Waters have to pay for it?

Mr. COMER. As far as your example—

Mr. HELM. The gentleman admits then that the Department of Forests and Waters would have to pay for the construction of that road?

Mr. COMER. If they had the money.

Mr. HELM. Would they have to also, then Mr. Speaker, pay for all the repairs to the road in the future?

Mr. COMER. If the funds are available, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HELM. I thank the gentleman.

Why should they have to, Mr. Speaker, if the road is used for other purposes as it is? I have traveled over this particular road many, many times and I was not there for the purpose of looking over the state forests or for recreation. Most of the traffic that goes over that road is by people who are moving from Clearfield and St. Marys and other communities in that area, regular highway users.

The Minority Whip just informs me that he travels that road nearly every week on his way home, and he is not there for recreation purposes. Therefore, the Department of Forests and Waters would have to pay the construction, repairs and maintenance of that particular section of the road.

I believe the gentleman has answered my question by answering yes to every one of the questions.

Now I have another very important point I would like to bring out here. Sections 1901 and 1902 on pages 72 and 73 give the Commonwealth assents to all acts of Congress providing Federal highway aid, including any such acts that Congress may pass in the future as well as those already passed.

The point I would like to raise here is this. One such act of Congress has already passed which provides for a Federal aid bonus of one-half of one percent of the state's allotted share if the state excludes billboards within 660 feet on any state highway system. Now do not Sections 1901 and 1902 automatically give consent to such exclusion?

Mr. COMER. I would say, no, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, as I read the bill, I believe it would give automatic consent and would bring to nothing bills such as House Bill 317 which this House passed after amending and re-amending it. I think it gives to the Secretary of Highways the right to assent or agree to these acts of Congress, all acts of Congress.

Mr. COMER. I find it hard to agree with the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, on the section dealing with that.

Mr. HELM. Well, apparently the gentleman does not agree with the wording of the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I am not going to extend the interrogation any longer. I believe that the Chairman of the Highway Committee is as confused over the bill as I am, and, I am sure must be as confused as most of the Members of this House concerning this bill.

I hesitate to ask the Members on this side of the House to vote against the bill, but in this particular case, as I said earlier, I have always been opposed and I have tried on many occasions to have a bill passed in this House during past sessions, when I have served here giving this Legislature the right to approve or disapprove the budget of the Secretary of Highways, taking away some of the authority that he presently has. We give to the Secretary of Highways in this Commonwealth actually a blank check to do with as he desires, and I say to you under House Bill 1702 we are not only giving him a blank check, we are giving him a blank check so far as powers are concerned. We are giving him additional super dictatorial powers to do with as he sees fit, and I say to you that anyone in government that is given that right, that type of power, we have something to worry about in our government.

Therefore, I think that we should defeat this bill and and let us give this matter some very, very serious study.

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, during this entire interrogation I believe Mr. Helm has tried to place in the bill many things that are not there. Many of the provisions of this bill are existing law, and, if this bill should go down in defeat, the power would still be retained by the Secretary which he enjoys today. Most of the provisions of this bill are existing law and have been on the books since 1945 under both Republican and Democratic Administrations, and I feel that many parts are needed. They have been adopted. They have been recommended by a very good foundation and have been adopted in other states in this country. I think past performance of the present Secretary, and I presume it would be true of succeeding secretaries, indicates they were fine gentlemen. Therefore I think it is a good bill.

There are some sections where not all of us understand a bill of this type; it is hard to understand. Many parts you go over many times. What Mr. Helm tried to place in this bill are different sections that actually were not there.

I ask the Members of both sides of the House to vote for the bill.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me a shame that a bill as important as this is in enabling the Secretary of Highways to carry out his duties properly should be defeated by the harping and, it seems to me somewhat tricky questioning of the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm.

Let us examine for just a few moments a few of the items on which he has attempted to place, I think, a completely different light than the facts actually warrant. Let us take the question of qualification of bidders. Under our present law there is no legislative intent whatsoever as to what the qualifications of bidders shall be. The Secretary has free rein in his administrative powers to set up those qualifications, and yet in this bill we are at least setting forth some clear guideposts by which the Secretary properly shall determine whether bidders are qualified or not. Certainly the gentleman would not stand up and say that no standard should be set up whatsoever. Of course there should be. I think he will also agree that in a field this broad it is impossible to state with completeness the qualifications that can arise in any given set of circumstances.

Let us take the questioning about condemnation proceeding. Will the gentleman have us believe the Commonwealth should pay out of its tax money to someone whose land has been condemned but never used, and which the state subsequently revoked or changed its mind about using? Will he have us pay out tax money for damages where no damages have occurred whatsoever? I think not.

Let us take the question about public utilities. I think the gentleman from Armstrong is correct in saying that the Secretary of Highways must grant a permit for location of utility lines across or under state highways, and properly so. For Heaven's sake, we cannot grant the public utilities free rein in stringing their power lines at whatever heights they choose and in whatever manner they choose across our public highways. Of course some standards must be set up in order to effectively regulate power lines on our state highways. The granting of a permit is obviously the best way to do it. I say this is a quite proper exercise of his office in this manner.

I say once again I think it a shame if we would let ourselves be confused as to the purposes and intent of this bill by the kind of interrogation that we have had here today, and I hope all Members of the House on both sides vote favorably on this bill.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I am not too terribly familiar with most of the sections of this highway bill, but I am familiar with the sections that deal with condemnation and acquisition of property. They take up some 10 pages of this particular bill, and I say to you and the Members of this House that they are eminently fair; if anything, they are an improvement over the right of condemnation which existed under the 1945 act. I say that it gives adequate protection to the public. Of course, it may lead to some sacrifices and some hardship to some property owner, or the farmer, for instance, that Mr. Helm referred to earlier. But you want to remember that the Commonwealth is sovereign. The Commonwealth always has the right to condemn, and through the years this has been lessened. Certain benefits have been given to the citizens of our Commonwealth.

If the gentleman will read the entire ten pages rather than picking out one little item and then twisting it, he will realize that the section is a very, very fair section and that it gives protection throughout. Certainly there are going to be sacrifices; certainly there are going to be hardships. This is the same type of condemnation which exists down in Philadelphia County and has existed for years. There are boards of view set up, there are appeals to the courts set up, there are provisions for adequate compensation. I say to you that this certainly is a very fair section of this particular bill.

Mr. HELM. I am not going to prolong this any further, but I certainly cannot let the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey, refer to my line of questioning as "tricky questions." I am not a member of the Bar and I thought that right was reserved for attorneys.

I also cannot let the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz, get away with saying that the Commonwealth is sovereign in a case such as this. I believe the people are sovereign. I believe we should worry more about how the people are being treated than worrying about the Commonwealth, because who else is the Commonwealth except the people who are in it? I think the farmer is a citizen of this great Commonwealth. He should have proper protection in the condemnation or taking of his property, as every other citizen should.

I am perfectly happy, Mr. Speaker, to let this go to a vote. I again appeal to the Members on my side, and hope they all vote against the enactment of 1702.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Like the gentleman from Armstrong, I just cannot let his remarks stand unanswered either.

I am surprised, with all the years of experience he has had in the House and as Speaker, to hear him say the Commonwealth is not a sovereign. It is simply amazing to me. He is certainly a student of political science and should know that the Commonwealth is, in fact, a sovereign. I do not want to go into it, Mr. Speaker. I did not mean anything derogatory to the gentleman, but I think he knows to what I was referring.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McCORMACK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I am very much disturbed by the vote that was just announced. I feel that I would be less than fair if I did not say that the primary reason for the failure was the fact that the party has not accepted the responsibility thrust upon it by the people. It was chronic absenteeism on the part of the Members of this House, and I think you will recall very clearly, in a recent statement by the Speaker of this House, he said, we have a contract with the Commonwealth and we certainly have defaulted on this contract.

I think steps should be immediately taken to see that those Members who are chronically absent should fulfill their contractual and moral obligations and stay in the House so that we can get a fair vote on all the legislation that is to be presented to this House before we adjourn sine die.

Mr. SCHAAF. I desire to make a very brief interrogation of the previous speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. McCormack, will you inform the membership of the House whether you were present in the Hall of the House yesterday?

Mr. McCORMACK. I most certainly was. The gentleman will check the record and will see that.

Mr. SCHAAF. And the week before, were you here every day, sir?

Mr. McCORMACK. I would have to check the record. But I am not apologizing for myself. If you want to blame me, you certainly can. I realize it full well today.

Mr. SCHAAF. I would suggest, Mr. Speaker, that he is embarrassing people in this House, myself excluded.

Mr. McCORMACK. I am embarrassing myself perhaps but nevertheless the fact should be known and if I am a guilty party, I stand responsible because I have also breached the contract.

The SPEAKER. Absenteeism not only embarrasses the Chair, not only embarrasses the Majority and Minority Leaders, absenteeism tends to downgrade the Legislative responsibility and the integrity of this House. The Chair hopes the time will come when Members will realize that when the Legislature is in Session the only job they have which they should give their attention to is the job of being a Legislator.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House bill No. 1906, Printer's No. 1641, and Senate Bill No. 375, Printer's No. 1403 were passed over at the request of Mr. McCANN.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 325, Printer's No. 999 was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1075, entitled:

An Act relating to sewage and water facilities in realty subdivisions imposing duties on recorders of deeds granting powers to and imposing duties upon the Department of Health and its designated representatives and prescribing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LOPRESTI asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, 1st line of Title, by striking out "Relating" and inserting "Requiring the approval of plans, maps or plots relating."

Amend Bill, page 3, by inserting between lines 13 and 14: "Section 4. No person shall offer or cause to be offered for recording to any recorder of deeds or commissioner of records any map or plot showing a subdivision of land unless there is endorsed thereon or annexed thereto a certificate of the department or its designated representative approving sewage and water systems proposed to be installed for the subdivision."

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 14, by striking out "4" and inserting "5."

Amend Sec. 5, page 4, line 1, by striking out "5" and inserting "6."

Amend Sec. 6, page 4, line 4, by striking out "6" and inserting "7."

Amend Sec. 6, page 4, line 5, by inserting after "provisions" "of section three or section four."

Amend Sec. 7, page 4, line 11, by striking out "7" and inserting "8."

Amend Sec. 8, page 4, line 18, by striking out "8" and inserting "9."

Amend Sec. 9, page 5, line 8, by striking out "9" and inserting "10."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1152, Printer's No. 1584; House Bill No. 1161, Printer's No. 1375; House Bill No. 1340, Printer's No. 1631; and House Bill No. 1473, Printer's No. 1618 were passed over at the request of Mr. McCANN.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1505, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 6, 1951 (P. L. 68), entitled "An act authorizing the Department of Welfare the Department of Health or any departmental administrative board commission or officer of either department to proceed by injunction or other process in the court of common pleas in any county where an alleged unauthorized activity is committed * * *" defining standards for issuance of an injunction for enjoining the operation of establishments not licensed theretofore.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides that in case an institution, subject to licensing by the Department of Welfare, does not have that license, that they may summarily go into court and obtain an injunction forthwith merely because of the failure to have such license. Is that right?

Mr. LOPRESTI. That is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Now what provision is in the bill that once the temporary injunction is issued for the procedure by which that may be corrected? Is there any further hearing before the courts decide on it?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I did not get the question.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Once the temporary injunction is forthwith issued, what further proceedings are there before the court?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I would believe that once a temporary injunction is issued that the matter is then within the control of the court and the court would then take whatever action is necessary in the future either to dissolve the injunction or make it permanent, but the matter rests with the court, the court having accepted jurisdiction.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, the bill does not provide for the proceedings beyond the issuance of the temporary injunction.

Mr. LOPRESTI. I believe that it would be just a matter of the courts own initiative to either proceed to make the injunction permanent or dissolve the injunction, which would necessarily follow by the nature of the proceeding.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That may be very true but should there not be some further relief to the institutions set forth in here? The only relief they could have is to get the license.

Mr. LOPRESTI. I would not say that is the only relief but certainly they would not be permitted to operate without a license, and the temporary injunction would continue and become permanent if they do not secure a license.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, the bill does not say that however.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Well that would necessarily follow from the fact that the court has assumed jurisdiction. Naturally, the court would not leave it standing in the air. It must take further proceeding. The matter has been before the court for final determination.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

This bill provides that a person or an institution operating without a license from the Welfare Department, that the Welfare Department can merely on that allegation go into court and obtain a temporary injunction. It does not provide for anything beyond that or what further relief they may have. I do not like to vote for legislation that abruptly stops some place and does not give a person the opportunity to know where they can go from there. It does not say that the court can proceed and make it permanent. It does not say that it can cure it by securing a license or anything else. It does not provide for a hearing. It does not provide any of those things. At least there should be some provision in the bill that the court may follow through by whatever procedures may be provided, and for that reason, as well as the reason I do not like to give that power to the Welfare Department, I am going to vote against this bill.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, that authority is not summarily to the Department. It is given to the court.

Under section 2 of the bill, it provides further that the court may issue a temporary restraining order or injunction under the act, and then provides for an appeal from any final decision of such court to the superior or supreme court as in similar cases. Where the temporary order is issued, the court, under section 2, has within its power to proceed to a final decision and then appeal to the supreme or superior court as is contained in that section of the bill. It merely provides that a court may, where there is no license, issue this temporary order immediately.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, the power of injunction is a powerful remedy. It is one of the most powerful remedies known to the law. This bill gives the Department of Welfare the power of temporary injunction against persons who are not licensed. With that particular point I have no argument. I do, however, have strong argument against the absence of protection in this bill for the person against whom the injunction is issued. I know of no other law in this Commonwealth which does not require the court, after temporary injunction has been given, to hold a permanent hearing. In most cases, the statute says, within five days.

This particular bill is sound on that point.

If you apply that to a case, let us look at it and see what the result might be. I agree with the gentleman from Cambria County, Mr. Lopresti, that the court properly would have to proceed to determine the case and the appeals as provided for in the bill yes, here a temporary injunction is given ex parte. That means without notice or an opportunity to defend against the person in this particular injunction.

Under normal court procedure, the statute is sound as to how soon a hearing must be held on a temporary injunction. A person could have that temporary injunction outstanding against him for months, perhaps half a year, or more in some cases, depending upon how busy the court is, for a year. That is what I object to in this bill. If this bill were amended to require a temporary hearing within a limited time, I could support the bill. In its present form, I cannot.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I further want to call attention to the language on page 2, line 13, "but shall determine such action on its merits as soon as possible whether in term or in vacation."

The only thing that this bill does is to provide that where a man is operating without a license, the temporary order shutting him down, because he is operating without a license, can be issued immediately, and then as soon as the institution is closed down all of the other things which are in order will take place, but certainly we should not permit an unlicensed operation to continue pending an appeal to the supreme or superior court or pending hearing in the matter.

Where the institution is conducting some unauthorized activity and still may be licensed, then the court may or may not issue the temporary injunction, but that is for unauthorized activity other than operating without a license. It is only in the case where they are operating without a license that a temporary order is issued immediately and certainly if we are to have a license law, we should not permit anybody to operate without a license. That in itself should be enough to stop them immediately.

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WEIDNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Majority Leader to turn to page 2 of this bill. In line 3, Section 6, the words are, "The board may license without examination" and then from there, it goes on from lines 4 to 10 inclusive and that whole paragraph states that it refers, apparently, to those out-of-state that may be licensed without any further examination. Is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. That is not correct. That is the existing law that you passed and adopted and it is now law, if you refer to page 2, the question that you asked me, and if I understood you correctly.

Mr. WEIDNER. But that entire section there refers entirely to those coming from out of state into Pennsylvania, is that right?

Mr. McCANN. That is not correct.

Mr. WEIDNER. Well it certainly states there that, "a graduate of an approved school for the training of practical nurses in any other state territory province or country who has completed a course of study in practical nursing considered by the board to be equivalent to that required in this Commonwealth and who was licensed in such state, territory" and so forth, refers entirely to that particular group.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inform the gentleman, Mr. Weidner from Berks, that he is reading the existing law in Section 6 in the Act of 1956, which is one portion of the section. There is no change. You are reading the existing law that is there and has been there since the date the Act became law.

Mr. WEIDNER. I can agree with you in that, but what I am asking about is does that simply refer only to those coming in from other states or territories?

Mr. McCANN. Well, subsection 1 of Section 6 of the Act of March 2, 1956, Public Law 1211, pertains only to that. That is right.

Mr. WEIDNER. Well, in item 2 there, from lines 11 to 14, inclusive, in that particular wording there, does that refer to practical nurses who have had some education in that respect in this state and will be receiving the same opportunities as those who come from out of state, whereby they will be allowed, or will be receiving, a license without taking an examination?

Mr. McCANN. Subsection 2 of Section 6 of the existing law, in the first four lines there are no changes from what now exists. This is really the section, if you want to interpret it, this is the grandfather clause section, of the Practical Nurses' Act.

Mr. WEIDNER. Then am I to understand that all nurses, all practical nurses who have not taken and passed the State Board examination will be licensed without taking that examination?

Mr. McCANN. You do not understand that nor can you read that in Section 6, Subsection 1, or Section 2 of the bill.

Mr. WEIDNER. Can you tell me just what this refers to as it applies to those nurses who have been educated in, say, commercial or private schools and have not passed the State Board examination? Will they be licensed without taking those examinations?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I will be glad to explain to the gentleman.

Under subsection 2, of Section 6, there were 19,000 who were licensed without examination, and that is what that pertains to.

Mr. WEIDNER. Were licensed without an examination?

Mr. McCANN. That is correct. The applications specifically stated "without examination" under subsection 2 of Section 6 of the Act of March 2, 1956.

Mr. WEIDNER. In what manner then will that apply to those who have not received their license?

Mr. McCANN. If you will go on as you started, in subsection 2, you will finally come to the new material. You are talking about existing law.

Mr. WEIDNER. That will mean then that those who have not taken the State Board examination will be receiving their licenses just the same?

Mr. McCANN. Who took the State Board Examination? No one.

Mr. WEIDNER. Well, up to this time we have a Practical Nurse Board established in the Department of Instruction. Are they not compelled to take the State Board Examination just the same as any other profession?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, perhaps I can clear this better by saying to the gentleman that in your county and all the other counties in the Commonwealth, under the Practical Nurses' Act, which is what is in front of you, that we permitted, by the so-called grandfather clause, which is subsection 2 of Section 6, where those applicants who had the experience, which it outlines carefully there, to be licensed without examination. Approximately 19,000 Pennsylvanians did this.

Mr. WEIDNER. The only thing that I am interested in is the fact that I do not think that it is time to let the barriers down now in cases, especially, where it will affect the human beings. I do realize that we have had a number of so-called commercial private schools where these students received a certain amount of training and then were denied the privilege of getting into the hospitals to practice as a practical nurse. Now, if those students who have received just small portion of that training ought to be given a license without any examinations whatsoever, I believe we are just doing the wrong thing. If this bill is to cover that, I am utterly opposed to it. For that reason I am asking you these questions.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the bill does not do that, nor does any part of the bill which is amended do that. If you will check carefully there are two fields of graduates to be licensed in Pennsylvania under the Act of March 2, 1956. We have those who, by experience only, that is the grandfather clause. Then we have those who graduated from a school and took a proper examination. There is no letting down of the bars in either field. That is existing law and has been since March 2, 1956.

Mr. WEIDNER. Mr. Speaker, the only thing I am interested in is that I had the experience several years ago where one of these commercial schools accepted students and gave them a so-called education in practical nursing, which would require but a few weeks of training for which they would receive quite a sum of money, and after these students were supposedly graduated they actually found out that their services were denied when they went to the hospital, with the result that there were quite a number of complaints. I carried that complaint to the Department of Public Instruction, and from what I understand today there are practically none of those schools, but instead there are at the present time 19 schools in public schools plus five in general hospitals that are receiving a year's training and subsidized by the Federal government to the extent of about 90 percent. As I understand these students will now be accepted after they graduate; they are supposed to take an examination, then they will be accepted to operate and perform their duties in the hospital at a salary as fixed by the hospitals.

The only point I am raising at this time is, again let me say that I feel if the practical nurse without the proper training is placed in hospitals we cannot afford to have them perform such duties in connection with the life of a human being, to place that life at stake because of that condition.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 2360, Printer's No. 1611, does not have a single thing that the gentleman from Berks stated it does.

Let us look carefully and follow the bill.

"An applicant who has met the requirements herein as to age, character and citizenship and who has been actively engaged in nursing as a practical nurse as herein defined for a period of three years." The other section pertains to those who went to school and do not have any experience.

Why was 2360 introduced? I will tell you exactly why. Here is an act, March 2, 1956, in which yes, I will admit you gave a period of two years for all the applicants who by the grandfather clause have three years of experience to come in without an examination. This does not effect those who graduated from a school in any way, shape or form. They have to take the examination if this bill passes, fails, or anything, but now, I never knew the reason, nor does anyone else, why people do not do things on time. The deadline date was May 31, at midnight. What happened on June 1? One hundred and forty-seven applications arrived in the Department of practical nurses who had three years' experience. On June 3, 53 arrived, on June 4, 52 arrived, on June 5, 28 arrived on the week of June 8, 77 arrived, on the week of June 15, 55 arrived, on the week of June 22, 26 arrived, and on the week of June 29, 72 arrived, or 490 applications, each qualified by experience, three years they worked as a practical nurse, except the act cut off the date that they could be licensed without an examination. There are Members in this House, both Democrats and Republicans, Senators in the Senate who have been to the Department about the application of Mary Jones, or Tillie—and the answer is that they cannot be licensed because the Act, the grandfather clause expired as of midnight of that date.

So what are we trying to do here? Are we letting down the barriers in any way for those who do this work in the hospitals or help us in our homes? Not a single barrier has been let down in any way extending the grandfather clause date to take care of 490 applications that were on file as of that date that meet every qualification that the 19,000 met.

The Practical Nurses' Association opposes the bill. They oppose it on the ground that they do not want to extend the grandfather clause. No place can you take a single applicant, and these applications come from 51 of the 67 counties, so surely you are affected, and this will extend this clause. As I stated to the Nurses' Association, I will state here, I know it is not easy to find an answer and everyone wants to stop grandfather clauses, but are we doing something that has never been done before? Have you never extended a grandfather clause? The answer is no, you have in many fields. Have we reduced the barrier in any way? The answer is no, we have not. Can any one of these applicants be licensed who do not have three years' experience the same as the 19,000? The answer is no, they can not. Can any of those who graduate from a school be licensed by the fact that they do not have the experience? The answer is no, they can not. They have to take the examination.

Here is a bill that takes care of 490 applications on file that you have to live with. I would like to say to you that from the county I represent there is not a single application in those 490.

Therefore I ask that you support this bill because I think I can name by name the Representatives who want this bill other than the sponsors. I think it is sound legislation and extension of the grandfather clause should meet with your approval.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949" providing for the reorganization of school districts.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mrs. REIBMAN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Section 1 (Section 262), page 2, line 18, by striking out "1960" and inserting: "1961"

Amend Section 1 (Section 262), page 3, line 2, by striking out all of said line and inserting: "the county planned unit of administration approved by the State Council of Education."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1035, entitled:

An Act reenacting and amending the act of May 21, 1943 (P. L. 340) entitled "An Act empowering cities of the third class boroughs incorporated towns and townships adjoining each other to cooperate with each other through joint agreements in the exercise of their governmental powers duties and functions" extending the act to municipality authorities.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 1971 on page 2 of today's calendar, bills on second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1971, entitled:

An Act amending the "Liquor Code" approved April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90) authorizing the sale of liquor and malt or brewed beverages during certain hours on Sunday in certain hotels in cities of the first and second class under certain conditions.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. KAMYK offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 1 (Section 406), page 3, line 13, by inserting after "day" where it appears the second time: "except Sunday."

Amend Section 1 (Section 406), page 8, by inserting between lines 11 and 12: "(h) The board is specifically given power, without limiting the power conferred by other sections, to make such rules and regulations as it deems necessary to insure compliance with and the enforcement of the provisions of this section."

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. KAMYK offered the following amendment:

Amend Section 2, page 8, lines 12 to 15, by striking out "shall not be" in line 12 and all of lines 13 to 15, and inserting: "the sale of malt or brewed beverages on Sunday in hotels in cities of the first and second class shall not be permitted in any city until after a majority of electors voting in such city of the first or second class vote in favor of such sale under the referendum provisions of section 406."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 2327 on page 3 of today's calendar, bills on second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2327, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 21, 1943 (P. L. 328) entitled "An act authorizing the Secretary of Highways * * * to lay out * * * and maintain flight strips and roads to the sites of war activities * * * and making an appropriation" further regulating payment of property damages by the Department of Highways.

The first section was read.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. McCANN offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 3, line 7, by inserting after "be": "paid by the Department of Highways from the funds furnished by the Public Roads Administration."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to bring to the attention of the House that today is the birthday of one of our Members from Allegheny County, Jack Murray. I hope he is still here and I hope that we can all wish him a happy birthday.

The SPEAKER. Will Mr. Murray take a bow and make a speech?

Mr. J. J. MURRAY. Mr. Speaker, in the short time that I have been in the House of Representatives, one thing has become very obvious to me, that is that good legislation oftentimes was defeated because somebody talked a bill to death.

So we do not lose the grandeur of this expression of the people in the House, ladies and gentlemen, I want to simply say thank you and God bless each and every one of you.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1335

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 1335, Printer's No. 1260, entitled:

"An Act amending 'The Administrative Code of 1929', approved April 9, 1929, (P. L. 177) increasing the powers and duties of the Department of Agriculture."

was defeated on Final Passage Wednesday, September 9, 1959, be reconsidered.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 315

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I present the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 315.

The SPEAKER. The report will lie over for printing under the Rules.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. BROWN, ASHTON, and UJOBAL.

RESOLUTION (Not printed)

In the House of Representatives, September 15, 1959.

In May of 1859 Downingtown was incorporated as a borough.

This year is the one-hundredth anniversary of that great event, marking the completion of the first century of progress in the Borough of Downingtown.

Carl Sandburg, in a recent Reader's Digest article "Preserving our American Heritage," stressed the urgent need for stimulating interest in American history, concluding with the statement that "A nation which has no regard for its past will have little future worth remembering."

The people of Downingtown feel they have as fine a truly American community as can be found anywhere in these United States.

Therefore they are attempting through many celebration activities this week, all of which are designed to focus attention upon the history and tremendous progress of Downingtown, to bring to the minds and hearts of the citizens of Downingtown an acute awareness of the heritage each of us has from our forbears.

Upwards of 25,000 people helped celebrate the borough birthday on Saturday, September 12 with what many considered the largest and most spectacular parade ever held in Chester County.

On the local level the citizens of this small community, hoped visitors would leave their borough with the firm conviction that "Downingtown is a wonderful town—this is really Americanism at work!"

Hundreds of men and women have given freely and unselfishly of their time and effort to assure the success of the September 11-19 centennial.

This, too, is the pulse of America—the working "togetherness," the unity of purpose, the pride of worthwhile achievement.

Downingtown began in the early 1700's. At that time there were only a few buildings at or near that locality.

As the years passed, mills of a varied nature served to strengthen the industrial character of the hamlet on the Brandywine. The Downings, the Hunts, the Parkes, the Mendenhalls, the Baldwins, the Hoopes and the Bonds began to grow up together. They formed a community interested in each other and interesting to the world at large.

The Continental Congress, by resolution passed January 15, 1778, directed, among other things, that two thousand barrels of flour be delivered for the use of the army at Downings Town in Chester County. Thus, at this early period the town was regarded as one of the principal points of supply and distribution for the patriot forces.

It was evident that Downingtown, in the first half of the 18th century was the industrial center of Chester County; in 1787 the County of Chester had been divided and efforts were made to place the new county seat at Downingtown.

Few, if any, of the residents of Downingtown were favorable to the location of the county town at that point. Tradition says that it was the peaceful quiet of a Friendly Community that resented the proposition.

Today, Downingtown remains a friendly borough with a definite neighborly attitude.

This week the people are not only honoring the past, but saluting the future—a future of ever increasing community progress and growth; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania extends to all of the residents of Downingtown its hearty congratulations on the 100th anniversary of the founding of that outstanding American borough.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BRANCA. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, September 16, 1959 at 9:00 a. m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:51 p. m. EST) the House adjourned.

Legislative Journal.

Session 1959.

143rd of the General Assembly.

Vol. 36. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1959. No. 93.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1959.

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, RABBI GERALD I. WOLFE, of Temple Beth El, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, created in Thy image, we bear the divine mark of mind and choice. In our age of grey sameness, give us the strength of individuality. Amidst the flood of overwhelming direction, bless us with the strength of individual decision and in our planned and rushed day, remind us of the joy of contemplation.

As our intellect and soul bind us to Thee, may they join each man to his brother in a world congregation bent on truth, tolerance and peace. Thus, we may turn to Thy Eternal Garden as Thy children, created by Thine infinite love amidst the calm of Thy presence and revealed truth. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. PECHAN and Mr. BLASS, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 959, Printer's No. 1655, on third reading go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 997, entitled:

An Act designating the whitetail deer as the official State animal.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this is a very significant piece of legislation and one for which the people have waited a great many years in this Commonwealth.

We have a State tree, a State flower, a State bird and now at last we have a State animal. It is very fitting, in my opinion, that the white-tailed deer, which is found in great numbers in northern Pennsylvania, in central Pennsylvania and almost in every county of the Commonwealth, be designated as the official animal for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I believe that someone observed to me that had it not been that the cougar is now extinct in Pennsylvania, we might have considered that. The white-tailed deer seems to me, Mr. President, to be a very appropriate animal.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to report to the Senate that I had calls from a Great Dane, a cocker spaniel and a ground hog. They did not have a opportunity to write me.

The Great Dane thought he certainly had precedence over the white-tailed deer because he had been here in years past, and also that his alleged picture appears with William Penn on the canvass that is over in the Governor's Office.

I think this is rank discrimination against the Great Dane, who certainly was here first and who had an opportunity to be before us. I also feel that some of these other animals should have an opportunity to get in touch with their Legislators so they can be heard. Before we take this distinctive step, I think we should give it some careful consideration because I feel the ground hog will get some attention in February as being completely left out.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am in a quandary. You know nowadays when we have a visit from the chief burglar and assassin of Europe, Mr. Krushchev, I am just wondering whether we have to display strength or weakness. To me, this deer is a symbol of weakness.

Is Pennsylvania going to adopt an animal which is weak and runs from everyone, or shall we ask for the Nittany Lion? Even if the Nittany Lion is not in existence, we should have a beast with a little strength and courage. This is what we need today, and not an animal that chases away from everybody.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, without disputing the statement made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, I believe I did remark that the Nittany

Lion—and I believe that is the same as the cougar—would have been a desirable State animal. However, unfortunately, it is not found in all parts of the State of Pennsylvania anymore, and the white-tailed deer is.

To say that the white-tailed deer is a meek animal is rather stretching a point, because I do not know of any animal more cantankerous and apt to jump up on its hind legs and apt to give you a jab than the white-tailed deer, particularly the buck in certain seasons of the year, Mr. President.

I do want to correct, however, the impression that even though the dog may be as unquestionably an animal, I do not believe that this bill is going to preclude future consideration of the Great Dane or any other canine species to be selected as the State dog. We can go a long way yet.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the only difficulty about telling whether the deer is the State animal or not is that you have to wait until he turns his back on you or else go up from behind.

We should not do honor to an animal that must turn its back on you in order to find out whether it is the State animal or not.

Mr. BERGER. They rear on their hind legs and come at you with their front legs, Mr. President.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, if we choose as a State animal one that we are shooting every year, it seems we are picking it not for the love of the animal, unless we love the products of the animal, the meat and the hide.

In addition to that, it seems that "State animal" is a pretty broad term because in spite of what you say, you do rule out any other animal for which we might want to show affection at some later time.

I do think that the white-tailed makes a very nice picture, but I do not feel as though we are showing any affection for him when we go out and kill him every year by the thousands.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, it amuses me that we are having a League of Nations debate on this particular subject. It shows how unusual this Senate is, because we passed Senate Bill No. 298, which had a substantial appropriation, and not one Member of the Senate took the floor and said a word about it.

At the same time, we are going into a major debate on an insignificant question.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I would like to move that the open season now be closed.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2203, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 3, 1933 (P. L. 242) entitled "Beauty Culture Law" permitting reciprocal licensure of foreign applicants.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am going to cast a negative vote on this bill for obvious reasons. This is another stage in the evolution of a young profession which seeks, on one side, repressing measures and, on the other side, certain laxities. What is the purpose of seeking reciprocity for beauty culturists from New Jersey or from adjacent States? Probably some of our beauty culturists, now waxing opulent, want to find suburban residences in New Jersey. Therefore, in order to be in a position to practice in New Jersey and in Pennsylvania, they are throwing a little courtesy to New Jersey in the hope that New Jersey will recognize our beauticians.

I hail from a poor district, and I was indignant when those beauty culturists invaded Harrisburg a few weeks ago, looking for more restrictions. Now that we have more restrictions, this is the next step; suburban settlements and the right to practice beauty culture in the suburbs of Philadelphia even if they are located in New Jersey. This is the sum total and the gist of this measure, and for this reason I am going to vote against it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on third reading, go over in their order:

House Bill No. 2265, Printer's No. 1577;

House Bill No. 2267, Printer's No. 1340;

House Bill No. 2268, Printer's No. 1341;

House Bill No. 2270, Printer's No. 1343; and

House Bill No. 2271, Printer's No. 1576.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. KELLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KELLER, from the Committee on Education, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 899, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," changing the date on which the authority collecting or receiving school taxes shall file annual reports.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. PROPERT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1184, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 29, 1953 (P. L. 956), entitled "Legislative Reapportionment Act," including the boroughs of West Conshohocken and Bridgeport and the township of Upper Merion in the first district of Montgomery County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1185, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 9, 1949 (P. L. 908), entitled "An act relating to public records of political subdivisions other than cities and counties of the first class;....." permitting recorders of deeds in certain counties to refuse to accept instruments unsuitable for permanent recording, and authorizing the recording of copies in said cases.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1186, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," providing for the sale of surplus personal property by boards of school directors.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

SHAFFER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SHAFFER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1187, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Trustees of the George Jr. Republic Association, Grove City, Pennsylvania, for construction of new buildings and repairs to and remodeling of existing buildings at the George Jr. Republic School in Mercer County, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. VAN SANT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, a few minutes ago, we adopted a bill which would make the white-tailed deer the official animal of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The bill which I am about to report from committee declares the adoption of the poem "Pennsylvania," by Gerrell G. Dovenspike, as the official poem of the Commonwealth. It reads:

"Beyond her each horizon stand the kingdoms of her land
"Where cavalcades of effigies unbar
"Her pioneers of history parading hand in hand
"From east to west where Keystone treasures are A thousand cities made from a surge of steel and stone
"And clustered stacks with dissonance of sound
"Producing greater power ways that she can call her own
"And vantage lore her veteran sons have found
"A magnitude of concrete veins that link her border brims
"A channel-graph of peaceful waterways
"And mountain ranges scarlet tipped that kiss the rolling rims
"Of little hills where golden sunlight plays
"A panoramic picture of ripened corn and grain
"An apple orchard white with petal snow
"That covers miles of distance fresh as sunshine after rain
"And winter gardens rich with afterglow
"Cathedral forests praying to the sylvan gods of pine
"And scents of flower incense on her breast
"With everlasting loveliness where gods of nature dine
"Is Pennsylvania always at her best
"Each season gives her to you with a Pennsylvania grace
"The mother of your homeland beauty-wise
"That glorifies the morning when you meet her face to face
"And holds your spirit spellbound . . . when the sun begins to rise."

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. VAN SANT, from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 341, entitled:

An Act declaring and adopting the poem, "Pennsylvania" by Gerrell G. Dovenspike, a Pennsylvanian, as the official poem of the Commonwealth.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like to have the privilege of making a few remarks at this particular time pertaining to this legislation and other legislation which passed the Senate here this morning.

I do not wish to be the fifth wheel on the wagon, or the fly in the ointment, but I dare say that if we continue along these lines, we are going to be singing Christmas Carols here in Harrisburg.

The other day, we were roundly criticized by an editor of a Harrisburg newspaper about the Legislature being dilatory in not getting its work done. Today we have almost a full contingent and on the Third Reading Calendar, I believe we carried over at least twenty bills which are of major importance. We are continuing along this line day after day, and week after week. I do believe that it is about time we get down to business here in this Senate, and I think it is ridiculous to fool around with white-tailed deer and Pennsylvania poems. Pretty soon we will have a State dog and all that sort of thing. Such matters should come last. Right now, we have important legislation before this Senate and something should be done to get this legislation either passed or defeated.

I dislike very much to make this statement. However, it seems we have to get something done. We have worked two days a week and then, generally, on the third day, we have a consent Calendar. That has been going on ever since January. I believe that all of us have a responsibility to get this work done. I am willing to do my part. I am am here at every Session. I have only missed one, and I left one afternoon when my brother was seriously ill and underwent surgery. Otherwise, I would have been here on the job. I think the time has come to get to work.

SECOND READING CALENDAR

REQUEST THAT REVENUE BILLS GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1105, Printer's No. 1426, and Senate Bill No. 1112, Printer's No. 1427, on second reading, go over in their order.

Mr. President, I make that request because at the meeting of the Finance Committee, and I think the Chairman will bear me out, we were informed there was no great rush on these two bills and the bill on page 11, House Bill No. 2100. We would like to have an opportunity to further study these bills because I think there is a serious constitutional question involved in regard to Senate Bill No. 1105 and Senate Bill No. 1112. If you would like me to state that, I would be very happy to do so at this time. That is my reason for asking that these bills go over in order.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears no objection.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the Chair does hear objection. I object to these bills going over in their order. I do not know and I do not recall the discussion concerning their remaining on the calendar. However, they do come in the category of bills that were just mentioned by Senator Lane, I believe, to which we ought to give attention. I am not admitting that the other bill just before us was not a good and important piece of legislation. However, these bills are of considerable importance and we would like to move them up to Third Reading so that they will be in a position for final action in the very near future.

Therefore, Mr. President, I believe that any discussion concerning the possible constitutionality or unconstitutionality can be stated at that time, and I do object to the bills going over in their order.

REQUEST FOR RULING BY THE CHAIR

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would, therefore, ask a ruling from the Chair. I will state the problem as I think it exists. I have been awaiting an opinion from the Attorney General's Office, which will take a little bit of research before they can give me an answer.

The problem, simply stated, is that in the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania, under Article III, "Legislation," in Section 14 of that Article, it is stated that, "All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House . . .," and that these measures may be amended as any other bill is amended by the Senate. That would preclude the Senate from raising any revenue.

Senate Bill No. 1105 is a revenue-raising measure. I deem that to be so because in the meeting of the Finance Committee, of which I am a member along with other Members of this Senate, it was stated by the Chairman—and if I incorrectly quote him or state what he said, I am sure he will correct me—that this was a way or means, so he felt, of raising additional revenue or more revenue.

Senate Bill No. 1112 removes a certain portion of an industry that is being taxed. It was felt that this would also delineate the tax a little more clearly because they are raising the money they are going to receive in Senate Bill No. 1105. This would also further seem to be a revenue-raising measure, dealing with revenue.

Both of these are Senate Bills. I would like to know, before I vote on any phase of these bills, whether they are correct or incorrect measures, if it is constitutional or unconstitutional, and whether we should take up this problem here in the Senate, because if these are revenue-raising measures, reading the Constitution strictly, they would have to originate in the House and then come before us.

If these were House Bills being amended, I would say this would be a correct procedure, and perhaps that would need some other type of work.

The PRESIDENT. My immediate, off-the cuff opinion is that the Chair has no right to rule on the constitutionality problem. However, the Chair would like to confer with the Minority and Majority Leaders, please.

The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

RULING BY THE CHAIR

The PRESIDENT. Quoting from page 242 of Mason's Legislative Manual, I would point out to you that:

"It is not the duty of the presiding Officer to rule upon any question which is not presented in the course of proceedings. It is not his right to rule upon the constitutionality or legal effect or expediency of a proposed bill, as that authority belongs to the House."

Therefore, an objection having been raised to Senate Bill No. 1105 and Senate Bill No. 1112 going over in their order, we will proceed with the consideration of these bills on second reading.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to note my objection to these bills at this time, for the reasons previously stated on the record.

The PRESIDENT. Your objection will be noted.

REVENUE BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1105, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1228), entitled, as amended, "Selective Sales and Tax Act," imposing the tax on liquor and malt and brewed beverages at the retail level.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1112, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1228), entitled, as amended, "Selective Sales and Use Tax Act," excluding certain services from taxation.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2100, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1228), entitled, as amended, "Selective Sales and Use Tax Act," defining or re-defining certain words, terms or phrases imposing tax on soft drinks at the retail level providing for alternate imposition of tax in certain cases changing procedures relative to tax refunds or credits conferring powers and imposing duties on certain persons soliciting orders by means of catalogues or other advertising changing certain provisions relating to returns assessments and basis of such assessments imposing liabilities and duties on certain sellers, transferors, auctioneers and certain purchasers involved in bulk sales or auction sales transactions clarifying provisions relating to liens and the priority and effect thereof providing for suits by the Commonwealth for collection of tax granting tax suit comity to certain foreign states in certain cases regulating service of notice or process authorizing abatement of additions or penalties under certain circumstances changing the department's authority regarding enforcement of rules and regulations.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that this bill go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I object to House Bill No. 2100 going over in order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Finance Committee, the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, House Bill No. 2100 is a forty-eight page bill. I would like the gentleman to refresh my memory, if he will.

The PRESIDENT. Do you have a specific question, Senator Weiner?

Mr. WEINER. Yes, I do.

The PRESIDENT. You may proceed, Senator Weiner.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please tell us if it is not his recollection that at the meeting, we did not go over all of these amendments in extensive detail. It was stated to the members of the committee that there was no rush to pass this bill, and we would have an opportunity to look at it before we took any action.

Mr. KESSLER. That is true, Mr. President. It is a very complicated bill and it is highly technical. Yet, we can still move it up to Third Reading and consider it if we so wish. I can say further that we spent hours on this bill with the Sales Tax Bureau people. I believe they are in agreement with almost every phase of it except the soft drink tax.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please advise us whether there would be any great harm suffered if we did not act on this measure at this moment? Possibly next week, after some of us have had an opportunity to further supply this complicated and detailed bill, as the Chairman just pointed out, would there be any harm or loss in the delay?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I think that depends pretty much on the Sales Tax Bureau in the Department of Revenue, as to how soon they would like to get some of these features into the law in order for them to apply them. There are many features desired by the Sales Tax Bureau in this particular bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman advise us, lacking any expression of opinion from the Sales Tax Bureau, and I assume that this lack of expression of opinion would appear to be that they are not particularly interested in having this measure at this moment, because we could not possibly pass it today—whether he would then feel there is any harm or any loss in it not being moved up today?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I do not believe so, although I see no reason for delaying it from going up to Third Reading. I see no reason for not having it read for the second time.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please advise us, if he can or would like to, on certain sections of this bill, which are not too clear? I do not want to take them in extensive order. However, there are some of these sections which have little or no meaning for me, at the moment.

I would like to have the opportunity, at least, to intelligently somewhat understand this bill in order for me to take a position on it one way or another. If we cannot have the opportunity to do that, would the gentleman be so kind as to explain some of these sections to us?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, the bill can be read and studied equally well on Third Reading as it can on Second Reading. I do not think that has anything to do with how much time we devote to the bill. We have had many bills go over on Third Reading, day after day. I am sure that our side of the Senate would have no objection to considering amendments that the gentleman might want to propose on Third Reading.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman. He has been most kind.

I would like to point out to the gentleman that once this bill is on Third Reading, I will not have any opportunity to take any action on it, either in the form of amendments or by voting because I do not have the votes to pass it or not to pass it, which leaves me in a sort of paradoxical position. In other words, I can amend it if I have the votes to amend it. I can or cannot pass it if I have the votes to do so. I think all of us are practical enough, and I think all of us know our arithmetic quite well and can count to twenty-two and to twenty-eight and find the position that we are in. That is the only reason for asking for a little more time, so that if there are possible editorial changes or editorial amendments which have to be made, or changes made in the law itself, we would have an opportunity to do so while it is on Second Reading. Once it is in position for Third Reading, we have little or no place to move.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, there have been a number of occasions when this question has arisen before the Senate on prior legislative days. Each time, I have assured the gentleman there would be no objection to his offering amendments on Third Reading of these bills. I reiterate that. They may offer amendments on Third Reading the same as they may on Second Reading, in so far as objections from this side are concerned.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if I understand the Majority Leader correctly, this bill will remain on Third Reading until we have had a thorough opportunity to study it and make the necessary amendments as we see fit to do so, after we have had a careful opportunity to study this measure.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I believe I said that we have never objected to the tender or offering of amendments on the Third Reading Calendar. I do not believe I made any expression, and did not intend to and I do not make any, in regard to the length of time this bill will stay on Third Reading.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I assume by the phrase "length of time," we will not pass this measure immediately on Monday if we have not had an opportunity, at least, to have our amendments prepared.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, if, on Monday, the gentleman states that he has not had an opportunity to read this bill, I will believe him and extend him any courtesy he requests.

Mr. WEINER. I want to thank the gentleman, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on second reading, go over in their order:

Senate Bill No. 301, Printer's No. 1399;
Senate Bill No. 446, Printer's No. 1323;
Senate Bill No. 447, Printer's No. 481;
Senate Bill No. 448, Printer's No. 1324; and
Senate Bill No. 449, Printer's No. 1325.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 534, on second reading, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for payment to the Borough of Ebensburg for defraying the Commonwealth's share of expenses and charges in connection with capital improvements to the Ebensburg State School.

be recommitted to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

(No further response from Senator Weiner.)

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am sorry I did not have an opportunity to discuss this before you took the vote. However, House Bill No. 534 is word for word the same as Senate Bill No. 13, Printer's No. 13, which appeared on page 2 of today's Calendar, under Appropriation Bill on Final Passage.

Senator Walker was telling us about people who were in trouble, who were ill and needed help, and we agreed with him. This bill has passed the House. It is now on Second Reading in the Senate, and if it passes here today, it will be on Third Reading on Monday and it can pass and go over to the Governor's Office to be signed. I do not know what Senate Bill No. 13 will do in the House. It could very easily pass next week as well, and both of them could be there.

If there is pride of authorship, I think we should learn about that today and we could do something about it. If there is no pride of authorship and there is a desire to help people who are ill, this is the way to do it. It just happens that both bills are here before us.

I like Senator Walker. I think he is a wonderful fellow, but I think the people of his District need help, and if that is what we want to do, let us do it this way.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, it is not a matter of pride of authorship. Senate Bill No. 13 was introduced in the early weeks of this Session of the Senate, and we have been struggling with it for a long time.

I certainly do not like plagiarism in the House, to the point where they will pick up our bill and copy it word for word and throw it back to us to pass when we have passed Senate Bill No. 13.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, might I remind the gentleman that I do not know why he was struggling with Senate Bill No. 13. It was a Senate Bill, it went into a Senate Committee and I assume he has some influence on the gentleman sitting on his side. Therefore, I do not understand what the struggling was all about. Apparently, we did not have the same struggle with this House Bill because it passed the House, is over here now, out of committee and on the Calendar.

I think if the gentleman is interested in aiding his community, he should get behind this bill as well. If there is some political purpose in Senate Bill No. 13, it escapes me. If you will explain it to me, I will be very happy. Perhaps I should be against House Bill No. 534 myself. The verbiage in it is the exact same thing, verbatim.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would remind the Chair, and the members of the Senate, that House Bill No. 534 is no longer before us.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman might very well be correct. However, I did ask to be recognized when you had not yet obtained a second, and I was under the impression that this recognition that you had given me would remain. I withdrew from being recognized when you were awaiting a second because I did not want to interfere with that.

The PRESIDENT. We are on page 12 of the Calendar, Senate Bill No. 789, Printer's No. 1434.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have not heard a ruling from the Chair as to whether I was recognized or not when this vote had been taken.

The PRESIDENT. Perhaps the Chair did not understand the question.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will restate my question.

When the motion was made to recommit this bill, before you obtained a second, I asked to be recognized. You recognized me and I realized you had no second to the motion.

The PRESIDENT. I had a second on it. I had a second from Senator Kessler.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, there was a hand raised over there for a second. Before that took place, I had asked to be recognized. In between those two things, I said I did not realize you had a second, and withdrew from being recognized. I assumed that you would call upon me before you took a vote on this. If you want me to go back into the record, I would be glad to do that.

The PRESIDENT. I think we will have to go back to the record. I just do not understand it. Will the reporter come to the rostrum, please, with her notes?

(Reporter complied.)

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask that on House Bill No. 534, Printer's No. 1521, that we have a roll call rather than a voice vote. I think we are a little indecisive as to what action had been taken.

Mr. President, before taking that record vote, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please advise us that if no action is taken on his bill in the House, what would be his position in regard to this legislation?

Mr. WALKER. You say if no action is taken in the House?

Mr. WEINER. That is correct.

Mr. WALKER. That will be a matter which the House will have to answer. I am sure I would not know what would happen. I do know what has happened so far, however. It is not just accidental that a bill is copied word for word—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, will state it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I merely asked to interrogate the gentleman. If he wants to make a speech, I think he should do that on his own. I have one or two other questions that I would like to have answered and then I will be glad to listen to any explanation he might make.

The PRESIDENT. I would probably believe that Senator Walker thought he was answering your question.

Mr. WEINER. I believe he answered the question, Mr. President, and he was then proceeding to explain some other phase of it which has not been questioned. I merely asked him what he would do if the House takes no action on his bill.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Weiner, coming so freshly from the Courts of Common Pleas, where a question directed to a witness may be answered and then the judge will say to that witness, "Now, if you wish to add anything to your answer, you may do so," I would think that we would be entitled to hear what the Senator would have to say in explanation of his answer, whatever it might be.

Mr. WEINER. That is in a "yes" or "no" answer that the gentleman has a right to explain on the witness stand. This gentleman has answered my question. If he wants to make a speech, it is perfectly all right with me that he do it on his own.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I do not want—

The PRESIDENT. I will rule that the question and answer are proper, and the answer may be as extended as he desires to make it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no further questions of the gentleman. I have no further question at all.

The PRESIDENT. A roll call having been requested, the Clerk will call the roll.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WEINER and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—28

Berger,	Fleming,	Mallery,	Van Sant,
Blass,	Harney,	Pechan,	Wade,
Chapman,	Keller,	Probert,	Wagner,
Confair,	Kessler,	Scott,	Walker,
Ehrgood,	Koprivier, Jr.,	Shafer,	Watkins,
Elliott,	Kromer,	Stevenson,	Whalley,
Flack,	Madigan,	Taylor,	Wolfe,

NAYS—19

Barr,	Kalman,	Mullin,	Seyler,
Camiel,	Lane,	Murray,	Silvert,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Stiefel,
Donolow,	McGinnis,	Ruth,	Weiner,
Hays,	Miller,	Sarra,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 789, Printer's No. 1434, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1001, Printers' No. 1190, on second reading, go over in its order.

The President. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. LANE offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 12, page 28, line 9, by striking out "12" and inserting: "13"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 28, line 13, by striking out "such" and inserting: "Such"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 28, line 16, by striking out "the" and inserting: "The"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 28, line 18, by striking out "the", where it appears the second time, and inserting: "The"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 29, line 7, by striking out "the" where it appears the third time, and inserting: "The"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 29, line 15, by striking out "the" where it appears the third time, and inserting: "The"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 29, line 18, by striking out "in" and inserting: "In"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 30, line 2, by striking out "in" and inserting: "In"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 30, line 7, by striking out "in" and inserting: "In"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 30, line 18, by striking out "the" and inserting: "The"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 31, line 2, by striking out "public utility commission the" and inserting: "Public Utility Commission. The"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 31, line 8, by striking out "public utility commission" and inserting: "Public Utility Commission"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 31, line 13, by striking out "provided however that" and inserting: "Provided, however, That"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 31, line 18, by striking out "Plan of Integrated Operation" and inserting: "plan of integrated operation"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 32, line 1, by striking out "Plan of Operation The public" and inserting: "plan of operation. The Public"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 32, lines 6 and 7, by striking out "Plan of Integrated Operation" and inserting: "plan of integrated operation"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 32, line 19, by striking out "in" and inserting: "In"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 33, line 13, by striking out "public utility commission" and inserting "Public Utility Commission"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 34, line 3, by striking out "extended" and inserting: "extend"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 34, line 8, by striking out "public utility commission" and inserting: "Public Utility Commission"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.4), page 39, line 11, by striking out "any" and inserting: "Any"; Amend Sec. 12 (Sec. 13.1), page 39, line 15, by striking out "no" and inserting: "No."

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The thirteenth section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. LANE offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 13, page 40, line 1, by striking out "13" and inserting "14."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The fourteenth section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. LANE offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 14, page 40, line 5, by striking out "14" and inserting: "15."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, as amended,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that this bill, on second reading, go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, have the amendments been adopted?

The PRESIDENT. The amendments have been adopted.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, Senator Koprivier has requested that the bill go over in its order. I wish, at this time, to object to the bill going over in its order.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I think we will all agree that the bill has in such long amendments that it should be in print and we should all have a chance to see it in print before it passes Second Reading. This is not the first time this request has been made since I have been here. I have not, however, been here as long as Senator Lane, but I already have heard somebody make a request that a bill go over in order, as amended.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I wish to inform Senator Koprivier that if he wishes to offer any amendments at all on Third Reading, I will guarantee him there will not be any objection on our side. However, in my opinion, I think we have had this bill on the Calendar long enough. The amendments were actually simple. If we pass it up to Third Reading, he will have the opportunity of reviewing all the amendments. If he has any objections, he can certainly voice it next week. I feel that I am on solid ground by objecting to the bill going over in its order.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, Senator Lane said that the bill consists of just simple amendments. To me, the whole bill is simple. I still insist that the bill go over in its order, as amended. I ask my colleagues to vote for this motion.

The PRESIDENT. Are you moving that this bill go over in order?

MOTION THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I move that this bill go over in its order, as amended.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, Senator Lane objected to the bill going over in its order. Therefore, you must rule on that question first.

The PRESIDENT. The objection stops the bill from un-animously going over in its order. Therefore, if Senator Koprivier makes a motion for the bill to go over in order, that must require a vote.

It has been moved by Senator Koprivier, and seconded by Senator Blass, that the bill go over in order, as amended. On this question, there will be a roll call vote.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask all my colleagues to vote "no" on Senator Koprivier's motion to have this bill go over in order.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

VERIFICATION OF THE ROLL

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The PRESIDENT. A verification of the roll has been requested. The Clerk will call the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative as follows:

Berger	Kessler	Stevenson
Blass	Koprivier, Jr.	Van Sant
Confair	Kromer	Wade
Elliott	Madigan	Wagner
Flack	Mallery	Walker
Harney	Pechan	Whalley
Keller	Shafer	Wolfe

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The affirmative roll will stand as verified.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the negative as follows:

Barr	Lane	Ruth
Camiel	McCreesh	Sarraff
Chapman	McGinnis	Scott
DiSilvestro	McMenamin	Seyler
Donolow	Miller	Silvert
Ehrgood	Mullin	Stiefel
Fleming	Murray	Taylor
Hays	Propp	Watkins
Kalman	Ripp	Weiner

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The negative roll will stand as verified.

The roll was called and was as follows:

YEAS—21

Berger,	Harney,	Madigan,	Van Sant,
Blass,	Keller,	Mallery,	Wade,
Confair,	Kessler,	Pechan,	Wagner,
Elliott,	Koprivier, Jr.,	Shafer,	Walker,
Flack,	Kromer,	Stevenson,	Whalley,
			Wolfe,

NAYS—27

Barr,	Hays,	Mullin,	Seyler,
Camel,	Kalman,	Murray,	Silvert,
Chapman,	Lane,	Propert,	Stiefel,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Taylor,
Donolow,	McGinnis,	Ruth,	Watkins,
Ehrgood,	McMenamin,	Sarraf,	Weiner,
Fleming,	Miller,	Scott,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I rise to oppose the second reading of House Bill No. 1297, Printer's No. 1507, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Will the reporter come to the desk, please?

(Reporter complied.)

The PRESIDENT. Senator Koprivier, are you asking for a roll call on the second reading of this bill?

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. No. Mr. President, I would like to make some remarks against the bill. I asked for a verification of the roll on the bill going over, as amended. Of course, that was defeated.

The PRESIDENT. That motion was defeated.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. All right, now it is up for Second Reading.

The PRESIDENT. It is now up for Second Reading, as amended.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Am I in order then to make a few remarks?

The PRESIDENT. You are in order. I think it would be better if I put the question first.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. All right. I asked if I were in order.

The PRESIDENT. After I have put the question, you will be in order.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, Senator Koprivier is right. He is in order to debate the bill on Second Reading if he so desires. He can ask for a roll call on Second Reading or verify the roll, whatever he desires. I will be glad to listen to his speech.

The PRESIDENT. The question was simply that Senator Koprivier wanted to make some remarks and this would be the time, just prior to the passage or failure of the bill before us.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Thank you, Mr. President, and thank you, Senator Lane.

Two weeks ago, Mr. President, I read out of context a part of a story in The Pittsburgh Press, written by Edwin Beachler, a copyrighted story written in 1953, as follows:

"Miss Alpern Opposes Transit Authority

"Forming an authority to deal with Pittsburgh's mass transportation problems would produce a 'migraine municipal headache.'"

"That's the opinion of City Solicitor Anne X. Alpern,"—who is now Attorney General in the Governor's Cabinet, as we all know—"an outspoken opponent of the Authority plan.

"Her objections pivot around the battle she has waged for the city administration during the last five years, opposing trolley and bus fare increases of Pittsburgh Railways Co.

"Miss Alpern has this view:

"In general, I am opposed to government by Authority because it would mean buying out the Pittsburgh Railways at a high price which has no relation to its real value.

"It would mean taking on an extraordinary undertaking—a migraine municipal headache from which the city would never recover.

"Government," she concludes, "has enough to cope with today. It needs no new problems."

"Favors 4 Proposals

"Miss Alpern favors these proposals:

"1. An integrated mass transportation system, with transfers from one line to another.

"2. Developing rapid transportation through subways.

"3. Converting the County jail at Ross and Fifth Ave., into a terminal 'because a jail does not properly belong in a big business district.'

"4. Substituting buses for trolleys."

I might add, at this time, that they have done that, especially in the line between Pittsburgh and McKeesport and some of the lines down in the West End. I might say at this time that in the last two quarters, the Pittsburgh Railways Company has been in the black, not in the red, for the first in a long time.

Again I read:

"But she insists that these things should be done without the city getting into the mass transportation business. That the trolley and bus system should remain in private operation.

"If the management of Pittsburgh Railways can't solve its own problem," she declares, "then some other management should be given a chance. Railways could buy buses on time just like everyone else is doing. Otherwise, let them confess defeat and then some bus companies can try it. They would do it."

"Sees Moves to Sell Out

"Miss Alpern, who is running on the Democrat nomination for Judge and gained considerable public attention in her fare battles with the trolley firm, claims that:

"Pittsburgh Railways has no intention of staying in business. All their moves have been keyed to the idea of selling out at the highest price to public ownership.

"They (Railways) are intent on keeping the valuation up, to be brought out at a high price . . . They have a valuation of $50,000,000 (set by the PUC for rate purposes), but nobody would give them $10,000,000 if they put the system up for sale today."

"Instead of raising fares five times since 1948, she maintains that they should have been kept down to encourage more passengers to use trolleys.

"Her Size-up

"Her size-up of the plight of the trolley firm is as follows:

"If Railways had been by themselves—without the hardship of holding companies—their problems would have been seen and solved long ago.

"When most companies are in a bad way, they go out of business. But Railways always wept—and stayed in business. Despite all the time they spent in the Court House during receiverships, court battles, etc. . . they never offered to give up their franchises.'

'Detroit's Bargain Hours

'Other cities, with trolleys, like Chicago and Cincinnati, improve,' according to Miss Alpern, 'but Pittsburgh's situation does not improve. Pittsburgh is not solving its problems.

'Detroit has bargain hours for shoppers,' she points out. 'Other cities have short haul rates and night rate incentives. But here they just wring their hands and say TV.

'Mr. Palmer (C. D. Palmer, president of Railways)'—and still president of Railways—"goes around telling everyone that television is responsible for the loss of 100,000 passengers. What are they going to do when color television arrives—"and it has arrived—"go underground?

'If you want to ride the few blocks from the Court House to Jenkins Arcade, the price is the same as riding 12 miles to the end of the line.'

'Can Walk Faster

'Why should it take 20 minutes to ride around the Triangle on a busy day? You can walk it faster. And shuttle service is a piece-meal thing, too.

'The Railways,' she concludes, 'has been like the Pied Piper of Hamelin, driving people away from the city with poor, irregular and indifferent service.

'Their failure to modernize brought on most of the woes—it was the lack of vision in their minds, not television in the homes that caused the decline.'

'In support of the proposal to substitute buses for trolleys, Miss Alpern explains:

'There is nothing against trolleys as such. But the national record proves that they are as out-moded as the steam locomotive in the railroad business and the gas-light in the power business.'

'What Other Cities Did

'Almost every big city is converting to buses. Cleveland sold some trolleys recently that were six years old. Minneapolis and St. Paul sold some that were just three years old. Birmingham and San Antonio are switching. Can all these cities be out of their minds and the Railways be correct?

'Trolleys are just uneconomical to operate. The main shortcomings are their lack of flexibility and high cost. Only two cities are buying trolleys today and then only four or five at a time. Toronto bought a few, also a few more down in El Paso to Juarez on the Mexican line.

'The PUC told the Railways company 13 years ago that the street car is a dying industry and that reconversion is necessary. With a system as old as it is today, no one in his right mind would begin building a trolley system. The cost of reconstructing track is $100,000 per mile. We introduced evidence during the PUC fight that 125 miles of the Pittsburgh Railway system are over-age.

'Even Fontaine Fox, who drew the "Toonerville Trolley" for 40 years, has reconverted to a bus in his cartoon.

'Some business establishments are anxious to keep the street cars going through their vestibules,' Miss Alpern concludes, adding that 'people should learn to walk again—it would solve traffic congestion.'

'And there you have the views of the city solicitor,' who is now Attorney General of Pennsylvania—"who is attempting to be the first to ride to a Judgeship on a trolley (fight)."

This Bill, as it is written today, even with amendments, is so confusing that most Members of the Senate are not sure they understand it. The worst thing is—and

I predict—that so much confusion exists among employees of the independent bus lines in Allegheny County that they do not know just how long they will have a job. In fact, one of the officials, who is a head mechanic in the diesel line of one of the large bus companies in Allegheny County, told me yesterday that he is quitting his job with this firm because he does not have any protection in his job since there has been so much talk about mass transit.

May I conclude with this statement? Mr. President, when this mass transit bill was last before us, I offered an amendment which would have permitted the people of Allegheny County to vote "yes" or "no" on the authority proposal.

As you all remember, my proposed amendment was defeated by one vote. That deciding vote was cast by Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis, who unquestionably expressed the viewpoint of the Democratic Administration. In the process of voting that day, the vast majority of Republicans on my side voted to put the question before the people at the polls. But what did the Democrats in the Senate do? What did the Representatives of the Democratic Party, which says so piously over and over that it is the voice of the little people, the champion of the little guy, do? What did the Democratic Members of the Senate do when the final vote was taken? Let me tell you. These Democrats voted against the right of the people, the so-called little people. Whom they claim to represent. These Democrats, including the Lieutenant-Governor, voted against the privilege of these very same people to express themselves at the polls.

To me, that solid opposition of the Democratic Senators and the Lieutenant-Governor was a resounding slap in the face to every person who will be affected by this unwanted and mighty expensive mass transit bill.

By your own Democratic opposition to my amendment, you told persons whom you claim to represent that they were incapable of making their own decision at the polls. I think they are capable, and I say this as the Mayor of Duquesne, in Allegheny County, and as a Senator from the Forty-Fifth District. I want my people to say at the polls whether they are for or against this legislation. I would have abided by their decision.

Senator Barr wants to be the Mayor of Pittsburgh. Yet, he engineered solid Democratic opposition to a vote by the people. Why? Why did he not want the people of Pittsburgh to decide this major and costly issue? Does he believe the people of Pittsburgh are not capable of deciding whether a multi-million dollar Authority shall be established and that it was necessary for him to substitute his judgment for theirs?

I am speaking now so that the record may be clear that the great majority of the Republican Senators favored a vote by the people, who, after all, will be soaked for the cost of mass transit, if enacted, and that the alleged champions of the people, the Democrats, as ordered by Senator Barr and entrenched by the Democratic Lieutenant-Governor, refused that right.

Let the record show that the Democratic Members of this Senate, the Lieutenant-Governor, Joe Barr and right down to the last one of them on the Democratic side of this Chamber, gagged the people of Pittsburgh and all of Allegheny County in one of the worst illustrations of

"Let the public be damned" I have ever witnessed on the floor of this Senate.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to again vote "no" on the second reading of this bill, as amended.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like the privilege of interrogating Senator Koprivier, if I may.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Koprivier, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Koprivier, you quoted a copyrighted story, allegedly stating that Miss Alpern made all of these statements, and I am wondering if you could give me the date of that story.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. If you had been listening, you would have heard. It was in 1953. I said that in the beginning.

Mr. LANE. I wanted it for the record. Thank you very much, Senator Koprivier.

Mr. President, Miss Alpern, at that time, had a major problem six years ago with the Pittsburgh Railways Company, and reference was made to a $50,000,000 evaluation at that particular time.

I might also say that since 1953, Pittsburgh has experienced some difficulties in mass transportation and, hence, we have this legislation.

In the first place, the County Commissioners of Allegheny County would be granted the authority under this enabling act, to institute a mass transit Authority in Allegheny County. The County Commissioners of Allegheny County have the prerogative to request and set up a referendum for the people of Allegheny County. What we are doing, we are giving home rule to Allegheny County like we gave the city of Philadelphia under its charter.

On evaluations and transfers, as far as any moneys paid for these transit Authorities, the courts in Allegheny County will have final say on what the costs might be and the amount which might be paid. It seems that the opposition is building up a monstrosity that does not exist. We are only giving the local government of Allegheny County the right, under their County Code, to operate a mass transit Authority.

In concluding my rebuttal, what I want to do is show you something in writing, contained in a bill on our Calendar. It is Senate Bill No. 449, sponsored by Senator Wade, Senator Walker, Senator Mullin and Senator Kalman. This bill was released from the Committee on Highways on August 25, 1959, by Senator Wade, the Chairman.

On page 2, it says this, and I hope you will follow me very closely:

"The economic problems of the mass transportation systems in the Commonwealth have increased greatly in the last several years there are many cases where the companies have been unable to pay the high cost of labor and equipment as well as the numerous taxes imposed upon them some of these companies have stopped providing transportation and have gone out of business while others have been required to make drastic reductions in service in order to remain in existence statistics have shown that in some industrial sections of the Commonwealth over twenty-five per centum of the workers depend upon public transportation in order to travel to and from their place of employment.

"The continuation"—if you please—"of mass transportation systems is vital to the welfare of the Commonwealth and in the interest of the continuation of this service the General Assembly finds that relief from some forms of taxation must be granted."

The gist of this preamble to this particular piece of legislation is indicative to me that we must have mass transportation systems in the industrial areas, and in the areas which are heavily populated, in order to take care of the economy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I feel this is good legislation. I do not think we are taking a thing away from the people. All we are doing is trying to streamline the operation of the transportation situation in Allegheny County. We are placing the authority exactly where it belongs, with the Board of County Commissioners of Allegheny County.

Senator Koprivier, let me also say that on page 36 of the bill, it spells out that those workers which might lose their positions will be taken care of with the Authority. It is spelled out from line 3 on to line 11, on page 36. The only thing it excludes are the executives. Therefore, it seems to me this is good legislation. I hope that all of you gentlemen see the light and vote in support of this measure.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, this is the first time in Pennsylvania, to my knowledge—and I tried to do a little research on this problem—where we are taking away a man's business and not permitting him to go back to that business again. Just look at that mural on the wall and it will remind you of Gettysburg. There were hundreds of thousands of men who died at Gettysburg in defense of principles.

This is a principle which we are fighting for in this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; namely, free enterprise and eminent domain. You are tearing down the very fundamental parts of government in this great Commonwealth. That is important, and more important than anything else.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, it is very seldom that I take the floor of the Senate to express my views upon legislation. However, I could not refrain from doing so on this occasion when it involves the question of the rights, privileges and immunities of the people of this Country and this Commonwealth, as guaranteed not only by the Constitution of Pennsylvania, but the Constitution of the United States. In my opinion, this piece of legislation is a vicious assault upon the permanence of the democratic form of government. It transgresses the rights of the people. When it invades such a sphere, it is time for someone to take the floor of the Senate in defense of our liberties and our rights.

This, in my opinion, is socialistic in its nature. It involves the taking of property and businesses, as expressed by the gentleman from Allegheny whether the owner of the business desires to part with his business or not. That is a dangerous sphere to invade. It is dangerous to the permanence of our free institutions. It is dangerous to the doctrine of free enterprise. It disrupts the entire democratic institution, as founded by our fathers in the formation of our government.

Mr. President, I want to voice my opposition to anything of this nature. If we permit this dangerous precedent to go through, there is nothing in God's world that would prevent an Authority, under the Pure Food Law, from commandeering every milk producing business in the Commonwealth. If this precedent continues, there is nothing which would prevent the establishment of a Transportation Authority throughout the Commonwealth that would permit the seizure of all the truck companies which are operating privately and which are satisfied in their operation.

Therefore, Mr. President, I want my colleagues to know that I voice my eternal opposition to any legislation of this kind.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not think the men who drew up this legislation are at all socialistic. If the dear gentleman from Erie only knew those names, I think he would want his words stricken from the Legislative Journal.

If this legislation is socialistic, then the people in New York, the people in Philadelphia, the people in Cleveland, the people in Chicago, the people in Boston and the people in Los Angeles are all socialistic because they all have mass transit Authorities.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, "Green Pastures" is the name of a play that appeared on Broadway a few years ago. It is a play about God, His Archangels and His people. In one scene the Lord says to the Angel Gabriel something like this: "Everytime I pass a miracle, I have to pass three or four more to correct the trouble from the first one."

Now that is just about the position we find ourselves in with respect to public transportation. First we grant a transportation corporation a monopoly franchise to use the streets of a city to transport the public. Then because some monopolies sometimes disregard the public, we set up a Public Utility Commission, with powers to set rates, to determine whether service shall be increased or decreased, and to regulate the business generally. Add to that the innumerable laws on public liability, minimum wage and maximum hours regulations, compulsory labor union recognition and collective bargaining, and you have public transportation hamstrung, so haltered and hobbled that it atrophies.

Denied the life-giving atmosphere of competition, denied the self-rejuvenating power of adequate earnings, depreciation and reserves, denied the right to adjust quickly to changing conditions, public transportation becomes anemic and sluggish. Its equipment deteriorates and its personnel becomes indifferent, no doubt because they see no future for the industry by which they are employed. Those of its customers who can, desert it in disgust; those who cannot, complainingly suffer with it. The whole wonderful idea of a community transportation system that is to serve the public in its many comings and goings becomes a major public problem—a calamity.

Now what do we do, Mr. President? Do we loosen the shackles that have brought public transportation to this deplorable condition? Do we permit the natural laws of economics to come into play, to abate the sickness and renew the strength of the patient? Do we breath into public transportation the invigorating air of freedom, of responsibility, of tough competition, of reward for service well done?

No. Mr. President, we abandon all the fundamentals that have made this Country of ours and our people the greatest in the world. We are going to perform another miracle. We are going to pass another law.

If private individuals cannot run the transportation system, we will have the government do it. We will set up an Authority. How can we so deceive ourselves as to believe that government operation is better than private? Show me one instance where government operation has not meant "rigorous and arbitrary" regulation. Show me where government operation has provided better service, where it gives the consumer a choice. "No," government says, "here it is. Take it and like it."

Let me cite an outstanding example, the Post Office Department of the United States. Here is a monopoly in its finest sense, government-owned and government operated. A feeling of pride surges through us when we read the inscription on the New York Post Office Building: "Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night, stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds." And yet, lacking the spur of competition, the United States Post Office Department is sluggish. Its methods are antiquated. Much of its equipment is outdated. If I mail a letter in Lancaster by 6:00 p.m. with a bit of luck it may reach Harrisburg and be delivered by 9:00 a.m. the following day.

By contrast, consider the excellent telephone service we enjoy. I can pick up the telephone in my home in Lancaster and in two minutes be talking to the person I called in Harrisburg. To be sure, it costs me 35¢ to place that call as against the 4¢ for mailing the letter, but on a time-cost basis, the telephone call is by far the cheaper.

And what about the Post Office monopoly? Is it earning money? On the contrary. Every year the Federal Government has to reach into the public till to the tune of several million dollars to make up the deficit which the Postal Service incurs. And, Mr. President, if we set up this mass transit Authority for Allegheny County, it will just be a matter of time until the deficits that it incurs will have to be made up out of the public till by additional taxes on the citizens, whether they patronize the transportation system or not. At the same time, by its very creation, we provide the means of extinguishing dozens of private tax paying transportation companies.

You know, Mr. President, the term "Authority" is quite an appropriate one for this undertaking. According to Webster, "Authority" means "legal or rightful power, a right to command or to act, dominion, jurisdiction." We speak of the authority of a prince over his subjects, or the authority of a parent over his children. This proposed Authority will have the right to take over every form of transportation for the public in the county of Allegheny. It was originally proposed that the Authority be relieved of all license taxes or gasoline taxes. It will not be required to pay any corporation taxes. It will not come under the surveillance of the Public Utility Commission. We remove practically all of the bonds and restraints that we have imposed on private corporations in the transportation business, and we should certainly expect that the Authority would operate effectively and profitably. By "profitably" I mean in the sense of low rates and good service to the people. However, if it works like other governmental-operated projects, it will be bound up with red tape. It will provide service when and where it wants to, not necessarily what the people would like to have. In short, it will offer its service like any other governmental-operated business, on a "take it or leave it" basis.

Transcending all that I have said heretofore, I would suggest to you that:

1. The use of authorities is an obvious device for circumventing constitutional restrictions on the creation of debt.

2. The authorities device is a method of government whereby government temporarily refuses to face up to its fiscal responsibilities. Such expédients eventually fail, I assure you.

3. The authorities expediency is contrary to a representative government, above and beyond the proper control by the electorate.

Let us have continuing faith in the free enterprise system which, at any odds, is superior to governmental mishandling. Let us remove the unreasonable shackles which we placed around some of our public utilities. Let us permit competition in the transportation field. In the past, it has been true that whenever the people wanted a service, whenever there is a demand for something, some enterprising individual will begin to render that service or supply that demand. If the business is profitable, more individuals will get into it, with the result that prices are held down and service is improved. It is not necessary to put in public money for a transportation system. Where there is an economic demand for a product or a service, people will voluntarily invest their savings in the project whenever they believe that the return will justify the cost. Free people do not knowingly support uneconomic expenditures of effort or capital.

In the place of this system of free enterprise, which has proved successful throughout the long years of our nation's existence, the measure we are considering today would substitute a government monopoly. It would establish this monopoly without the consent of those affected, as expressed in an open election, and it would clothe the monopoly with almost absolute powers.

This is Big Government at its worst.

This is Big Government not just meddling with business, but absorbing business.

If the business which Big Government, under this measure, proposes to operate is to prosper, customers must be found. The customers are the tax payers, the voters, who had so little to say in the creation of this monument to state socialism.

To compel, persuade, cajole, force people to ride the Authority's transit system, every government weapon, from propaganda, to restrictive legislation can be, and no doubt will be, used.

This, Mr. President, is, in my opinion, contrary to everything that American free enterprise has taught. It contradicts the principles that we have learned in school and practiced in business. It shows to the world a new, and unpleasant face—a face very like that of the dictatorships we all condemn.

If Allegheny County's privately-owned transit systems can be taken over by an Authority whose actions are subject to few, if any, of the checks and balances that other government agencies are, or that private businesses are, then other industries, other utilities and other businesses can go the way of the privately-owned bus companies of Allegheny County.

I ask my colleagues, Mr. President, to vote down on second reading, this startling break-through of authoritarian socialism in Pennsylvania.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I do not wish to prolong this debate, but in reply to Senator Kessler, let me say, first, that the Post Office Department is losing $10,000,000 a year because of low postage rates on periodicals and magazines. Secondly, if the gentleman reviews page 27 of this particular bill, he will find that this mass transit Authority would pay for vehicle registration fees, liquid fuel taxes, fuel use taxes, and gross receipt taxes imposed as an excise on the use of public highways and tolls imposed by the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

In addition to that, Mr. President, I want to name some of these wild-eyed socialists about whom some of the Members were talking. We have John A. Feigel and Henry A. Lopasti, who are associated with the Hillman interests. We have the Superintendent of the Catholic Schools, and the President of the Golden Triangle Association of Pittsburgh. We have the President of the Commonwealth Bank of Pittsburgh, the President of the Real Estate Company of Pittsburgh, the Executive Director of the Chamber of Commerce of the city of Pittsburgh and many, many others. If these men are all wild-eyed socialists, then I think we need a new definition.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

The roll was called and was as follows:

YEAS—27

Barr,	Hays,	Mullin,	Seyler,
Camel,	Kalman,	Murray,	Silvert,
Chapman,	Lane,	Propert,	Stiefel,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Taylor,
Donolow,	McGinnis,	Ruth,	Watkins,

SENATE RESOLUTION

EXTENDING CONDOLENCE UPON THE DEATH
OF FRANK F. HAUSMAN

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. VAN SANT, WEINER, PROPERT, TAYLOR, KELLER, SCOTT, RUTH, ROONEY and BARR offered the following resolution (Serial No. 68), which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, September 16, 1959.

The Members of this Senate are shocked and grieved to learn of the sudden and unexpected death of Frank F. Hausman, a prominent and leading citizen of Allentown, on September 14, 1959.

A native of Allentown, and educated in the public schools there, he entered into the paving business in 1928 and at the time of his death was President and Treasurer of Frank F. Hausman Paving Company, Frank F. Hausman Equipment Rental Corporation, and Frank F. Hausman Materials Company.

Throughout the years as a businessman, Mr. Hausman was active as a worker and officer of the Democratic Party. An F. D. R. man in 1936, Mr. Hausman was elected by the party that year for the first time as one of its two delegates to the Democratic National Convention. Every four years from that time on, he was picked to represent the party at the big National convention. In 1938, he was the party's candidate for State Senator but lost out in the general election.

A devoted citizen, for many years he served many community organizations, notably as President of the Allentown Fair and the Lehigh Valley Club and was a member of the State Highway and Bridge Authority.

Frank F. Hausman was an inspiration to many of his fellow citizens and friends as he gave generously of his time, talent and energy in order to better his community, his fellowman and to encourage worthy causes; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the passing of Frank F. Hausman, his community and many friends have lost one who labored long and devotedly on their behalf; and be it further

Resolved, That in evidence of the deep sympathy of the members of this Senate, a copy of this resolution be sent to his widow, Mrs. Pearl K. Hausman.

BIRTHDAY FELICITATIONS EXTENDED TO CHIEF
CLERK OF THE SENATE, HONORABLE
G. GRAYBILL DIEHM

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would like to bring to the attention of the Members of the Senate the fact that one of our beloved officers of the Senate, the Chief Clerk, the Honorable G. Graybill Diehm, will celebrate his birthday tomorrow.

I think we should give him a big hand.

BILLS SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the presence of the Senate signed the following bills:

Senate Bill No. 141, Printer's No. 1661;
Senate Bill No. 143, Printer's No. 1402;
Senate Bill No. 639, Printer's No. 1356;
Senate Bill No. 664, Printer's No. 1398; and
Senate Bill No. 1035, Printer's No. 1222.

INTERROGATION

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Pechan, in view of the fact that the Republicans are going to hold a Caucus at the close of today's Session, could you inform me as to just how much you are actually going to cut the budget so that I will be prepared?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, Gimbel's does not usually tell what Macy's are going to do. Mr. President, as you know, I was with the American Dental Association in New York for two days, and I was not in our Republican Caucus but for a few moments this morning because of other business and, truthfully, I do not know whether they are going to talk about Senator Lane or the budget.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am happy to know that Senator Pechan has entered a diversity of fields. He talked about Gimbel's and Macy's and ended up by saying that he was with the Dental Association for quite some time.

Are you going to quit the dental profession, Senator Pechan, and go in with Gimbel's and Macy's?

Mr. PECHAN. Senator Lane, if I quit the dental profession, I could not afford to be here on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Wednesdays.

Mr. LANE. Then you admit that Gimbel's and Macy's are not making any money?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I left when Khrushchev came.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, September 21, 1959, at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 2:06 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Monday, September 21, 1959, at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, September 16, 1959

The House met at 9:00 a.m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

O God, may the words of the Psalmist: "Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me. Cast me not away from Thy presence, and take not Thy Holy Spirit from me," ever be the guiding spirit within our lives. As good government has been given and fostered by Thee, we pray this day that Thou wilt grant to these servants of the Commonwealth Thy strength and Thy power; so that the lives they live and the principles for which they stand may be pleasing to Thee and engender in others Thy way of truth, through Jesus Christ, our Lord, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Tuesday, September 15, 1959 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILL No. 2219

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, September 15, 1959.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 2219, Printer's No. 1218, entitled "An Act making an appropriation to the State Treasurer for the purpose of paying salaries and wages of State officers and employees and other ordinary and general expenses in the interim between the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred fifty-nine and such time as the funds provided by the General Appropriation Act and other appropriation acts become available and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred fifty-nine."

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

CONGRATULATIONS

The SPEAKER. The Chair is informed that this is the natal day of our competent, beloved Chief Clerk. He is 33, the Chair understands.

The Members joined in singing Happy Birthday.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Chief Clerk.

The CHIEF CLERK (Joseph Ominsky). Mr. Speaker, Members of the House, it is seldom that one can celebrate two birthdays on the same day. Actually the birthday ought to be for my wife, because it is my wife's birthday; my birthday will be on Sunday. Certainly I will convey the birthday greetings to Mrs. Ominsky and thank you for your birthday song for me, which will be on Sunday.

The SPEAKER. The House will observe that we celebrate birthdays with a reckless disregard of the calendar.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1992, Printer's No. 1509, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

INTERROGATION

Mr. LIPPINCOTT asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Majority Leader.

I just wanted to ask the gentleman one question, Mr. Speaker, and that is, why were we held over for this day's Session?

Mr. McCANN. I can answer that very plainly, Mr. Speaker. Would you care to go to caucus and act on the bills and then we will come back here and work on the calendar, or would you rather get home today and do them on Monday?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Well, I say, Mr. Speaker, we caucused on plenty of bills that could be called up today.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman care to sit at the conference table up there when we mark the calendar, and then mark them that way?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I do not know what the position of the leadership was on our side. I understand, however, that there are a tremendous number of absentees on your side.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Lippincott, the question of absenteeism on the bills did not enter into the situation. May I assure you if that is what you want to do, we will go into caucus and act on the bills. The decision was made by your leadership as to whether you want to caucus or not on these bills today, and if that is the attitude you want to take, we will stop now and go into caucus and come out here and work on these bills.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, in line with what the Majority Leader has said, I have ten bills on my calendar which were o.k.'d by our caucus which the Majority Leader asked to go over.

Mr. McCANN. That is true, and there are how many—

Mr. TOMPKINS. And we had about an equal number on the calendar which we asked go over because we had not caucused on them, so it is not all entirely the Republicans fault for not having a caucus such as you suggest.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, no one has suggested that it was. There are many days in which there may be a bill in which you are ready and the membership on this side do not have the amendments or have not cleared the information. I believe that they should get together on their markings of the calendar. I have no objection to the situation. I am here until Friday.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I am afraid I do not hear a message of peace, Mr. Speaker. The point I am trying to make is that this decision could have been made yesterday.

Mr. McCANN. What decision, Mr. Speaker, could we have made yesterday?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. The decision as to whether or not we would roll bills that had or had not been caucused on.

Mr. McCANN. Well that decision, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman should have made. I think you know the situation as it exists here. You would go into caucus again on some of the bills. We tried to act on as many as we could. Some are not in print, but the bills are coming along now pretty well. There are only about four or five that are not in print, I believe, at this point, that were amended. They agreed there would be no caucus today. We would act on what we could and move them up so they would be in position on Monday for third reading.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Well now, Mr. Speaker, I, in a way, will bear an olive branch. I will say this, I do not feel that the decision or the situation that we have gotten into was entirely the fault of either side, but it seems to me that we have wasted a day completely. It seems to me that many of us could have done something a lot better than sit through a consent calendar. I hope that we can either have a working day or not have one.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, so that the record will be rather clear I consider this a working day, when you move up bills. I believe at this point there are eight bills to bring off the table, in which we will either nonconcur or concur, and in some cases appoint conference committees. I do not believe anyone can say that I have not insisted that every day be a working day in which we should accomplish as much as we possibly can and debate the bills as thoroughly as anyone wants to debate them in this House. I did not know that there is any objection on the situation. I say to those who probably object to the fact that in some cases we do not act on many bills this day, I can recall on a Wednesday when there were 21 bills ready to be acted upon and we could not act on them because the printed bill was not here. Is that the fault of either of the Floor Leaders? I do not believe it is. Those situations have to be faced. I think if the gentleman has any objection he will make it to Delaware County for whatever the event may be.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to call to the attention of the gentleman from Delaware that you have a working day if you advance a considerable number of first reading and second reading bills. You have laid the foundation for a full working day later on. If you do not advance your first reading and second reading bills, you will waste the day.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, come to the rostrum?

The Chair requests Mr. Lopresti to preside temporarily.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

RESOLUTION

Mr. McCANN offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. The week of October the 4th we will have a hotel problem in the city of Harrisburg. I believe it is the Pennsylvania Poultrymen's Association statewide convention, and one of the hotels has informed us that they will not have sufficient space to accommodate the House Members and the schedule possibly may be changed for that week. This will be decided this week after the House has adjourned and we have an opportunity to talk to the hotel managers and to the leadership in the Senate regarding our schedule that week. We are positive that one hotel has a very difficult situation in housing us; the other hotel will inform us shortly, the Harrisburger; and then the Governor Hotel will know. The announcements will be made in sufficient time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair returns the gavel to the Speaker who desires to make a statement.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. Ladies and gentleman of the House, in a few days we will be in the closing stages of the Session. The gentlemen of the other chamber will be concerned in Senate bills; they will want to talk to Members of the House.

There should be some orderly way in which we can, with courtesy to the Members of the other body and with convenience to the Members, make it possible when a Senator comes over and wants to see some Member of the House about a bill that without disturbing the routine of the House and without wandering up and down the aisles, he can ask a sergeant-at-arms who should be posted at a particular place to go and see the Member.

We should have a conference room, suitably equipped in which the Members can see their official visitors in dignified fashion. It is not courtesy that we should have a Member of the other chamber traipsing around the Hall of the House because he has a legitimate reason to see some Member. It is not compatible with dignity; it is not compatible with protocol; there should be some way of doing it. When we get around where we should be, we will have a furnished room set aside for that purpose, but the best we can do now perhaps is to make some arrangements where in a conference room or in the corner over there we can with as much dignity as possible, without lack of equipment, make it possible for those conferences which are essential in the orderly conduct of the House.

The Chair takes the liberty of asking the Majority Leader, the Minority Leader and the Chief Clerk to study this matter and see whether we can do something at this session. We really should have sort of a House Committee for this chamber that would attend to these little matters.

The Chair is sure that the Majority Leader, or if he is busy with affairs of state in various parts of the Commonwealth, can appoint a substitute. So I am asking the Majority Leader, the Minority Leader and the Chief Clerk to make some arrangements to make it possible for us to confer in these closing stages with Members of the other chamber and do it in a dignified fashion.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BUCHANAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, September 21, 1959 at 3:30 p.m. E.S.T.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 10:55 a.m. E.S.T.) the House adjourned.

HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1959.

No. 94.

SENATE

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1959.

The Senate met at 2:00 o'clock, p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. RALPH NEWELL, Pastor of The First Baptist Church, Kittanning, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, as we assemble in this Senate Chamber to begin a new week of legislative work, grant us the sense of Thy eternal presence.

Forgive us for an unruly tongue; for a heart hardened with vindictive passions. Forgive us for a fretful disposition; for an unwillingness to bear the burdens of others; for an undue willingness to let others bear our burdens; for high professions joined to low attainments; for many neglected opportunities and our uncultivated talents; for much love and beauty unappreciated and many blessings unacknowledged.

All these we confess to Thee, O God. May we know the cleanness of Thy complete forgiveness. May we know the keenness of mind and the concern of true love that will make us competent for our task this day.

In Christ's Name, we pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. PECHAN and Mr. FLEMING, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WHALLEY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1188, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Water and Power Resources Board of the Department of Forests and Waters for payment into the Flood Control Fund for flood control purposes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Messrs. KESSLER, STEVENSON and MADIGAN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1189, entitled:

An Act directing the Secretary of Public Welfare to enter into a contract of lease providing for the operation and maintenance of the Scranton State Hospital by a nonprofit corporation organized for that purpose; providing for the terms of the lease including an option to purchase; providing for the operation and maintenance of the hospital under the lease; and making appropriations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. ROONEY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1190, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 23, 1931 (P. L. 899), entitled "Public Bathing Law," setting forth requirements for accident prevention and life-saving equipment and personnel at public bathing places.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. EHRGOOD read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1191, entitled:

SENATE RESOLUTION

GENERAL CASIMIR PULASKI MEMORIAL DAY

Messrs. WATKINS and BARR offered the following resolution (Serial No. 69), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, September 21, 1959.

Whereas, General Casimir Pulaski came to this land of freedom from his native Poland, joined the Continental Army to fight for the independence of America and for it laid down his life; and

Whereas, October 11, 1959, marks the One Hundred and Eightieth Anniversary of his death caused from wounds received October 9, 1779, in leading The Pulaski Legion at the siege of Savannah, Georgia; and

Whereas, General Casimir Pulaski's contribution on the altar of American independence, which should be the inspiration to all who love liberty and have the will to preserve it;

Now, Therefore be it Resolved, That this Senate enter of record to dedicate and to observe Sunday, October 11, 1959, as General Casimir Pulaski Memorial Day for his priceless contribution to the cause of freedom and do hereby invite all the citizens of the State of Pennsylvania to observe that day in honor of the memory of General Casimir Pulaski.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, this is a very fine resolution, but the erudite gentleman from Delaware County should have inserted a paragraph calling the attention of all Pennsylvanians to a famous painting which depicts General Pulaski and which can be found in the city of Bethlehem, in a hotel. It would be to the advantage of everybody to see that painting.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR SENATE
BILL No. 824

Mr. SILVERT offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and agreed to:

be recommitted to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2094, entitled:

An Act providing for the acceptance by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania of the provisions of the act of Congress approved September 2, 1958 concerning assistance to states and subdivisions thereof for the training of manpower of sufficient quality and quantity to meet our national defense needs and conferring powers and imposing duties on the State Treasurer, the State Council of Education and the State Board for Vocational Education.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on third reading, go over in their order:

House Bill No. 2172, Printer's No. 1330;
House Bill No. 2265, Printer's No. 1577;
House Bill No. 2267, Printer's No. 1340;
House Bill No. 2268, Printer's No. 1341;
House Bill No. 2270, Printer's No. 1343; and
House Bill No. 2271, Printer's No. 1576.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 301, Printer's No. 1399, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 341, entitled:

An Act declaring and adopting the poem "Pennsylvania" by Gerall G. Dovenspike, a Pennsylvanian, as the official poem of the Commonwealth.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, over the week end, I gave some thought to this poem which is supposed to reflect the glory and greatness of Pennsylvania. I feel that we should give more thought to this matter and, maybe, have a contest which would invite poems from the trenchant pens of the outstanding poets in Pennsylvania.

I feel that this bill should be placed on the Postponed Second Reading Calendar, and a plan devised whereby we can invite more talent to participate in writing a poem dedicated to Pennnsylvania.

MOTION TO POSTPONE BILL

Mr. STIEFEL. Accordingly, Mr. President, I move that this bill be placed on the Postponed Second Reading Calendar. Due to the fact that I see my learned friend from Armstrong ready to oppose my motion, may I say that if opposition is offered, I am going to introduce a bill,—not that I am threatening—proposing that a famous poem, which I believe is a masterpiece of all ages, written by Kipling and dealing with Pennsylvania, should be the one to be adopted. As a matter of fact, I will introduce several bills, offering various poems.

Would it not be better to wait awhile and see what will happen?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I wish merely to say that while undoubtedly the poem, written by Rudyard Kipling, is an excellent poem, nevertheless, this poem was written by a native Pennsylvanian for Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am going to ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this motion to postpone.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The roll was called and was as follows:

YEAS—22

Barr,	Lane,	Mullin,	Sarraf,
Camiel,	Mahady,	Murray,	Seyler,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Silver,
Donolow,	McGinnis,	Rooney,	Stiefel,
Hays,	McMenamin,	Ruth,	Weiner,
Kalman,	Miller,

NAYS—28

Berger,	Fleming,	Mallery,	Van Sant,
Blass,	Harney,	Pechan,	Wade,
Chapman,	Keller,	Propert,	Wagner,
Confair,	Kessler,	Scott,	Walker,
Ehrgood,	Koprivier, Jr.	Shafer,	Watkins,
Elliott,	Kromer,	Stevenson,	Whalley,
Flack,	Madigan,	Taylor,	Wolfe,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on second reading, go over in their order:

Senate Bill No. 446, Printer's No. 1323;

Senate Bill No. 447, Printer's No. 481;

Senate Bill No. 448, Printer's No. 1324; and

Senate Bill No. 449, Printer's No. 1325.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 789, entitled:

An Act creating the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Authority defining its powers and duties conferring powers and imposing duties on the Governor, president pro tempore of the Senate, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Department of Banking and making appropriations.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 789, the bill just read, be re-referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on second reading, go over in their order:

Senate Bill No. 899, Printer's No. 1055; and

House Bill No. 998, Printer's No. 1673.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1001, Printer's No. 1190, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like to have this bill moved up. I believe there is no obscurity in it. If the gentleman has good reason, I would not object. Otherwise, I will object to the bill going over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the Department of Public Instruction has some reservations about this measure. I have asked to have some amendments drawn to the bill. They have had difficulty in drawing the proper amendments because there are some phases in this which they would like to make sure they cover correctly as it has to do with audits and auditing of school funds, and we want to do nothing that will delay or cause any difficulty or ambiguity in that area.

I, therefore, asked for the bill to go over so that we can have the proper amendments to this measure drawn.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I inquire of the gentleman whether he may have his amendments ready for tomorrow, or Wednesday at the latest?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will have my amendments ready no later than Wednesday.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Berger, do you withdraw your objection to the bill going over in order?

Mr. BERGER. Yes, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1031, Printer's No. 1215, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1036, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article three of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing that each county city borough incorporated town and township shall have the exclusive power to provide for all matters relating to the wages and hours of its employees.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1046, entitled:

An Act prescribing penalties for failing to appear as required after being admitted to bail.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on second reading, go over in their order:

Senate Bill No. 1115, Printer's No. 1333;

Senate Bill No. 1133, Printer's No. 1370;

Senate Bill No. 1136, Printer's No. 1373; and

House Bill No. 1472, Printer's No. 640.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1897, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 1216) entitled "Real Estate Broker License Act of 1929" further regulating deposits and disbursements of funds by brokers.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 2033, Printer's No. 1675, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2216, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 5, 1947 (P. L. 1217) entitled "State Public School Building Authority Act" authorizing the Authority to sell bonds at private sale when no bid is received which complies with the terms and conditions contained in the advertisement for public sale.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2218, entitled:

An Act appropriating all revenues exceeding a stated amount over the aggregate amount appropriated by the General Assembly for all purposes for the reduction of the bonded indebtedness of the Commonwealth.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. KESSLER offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 1 and 2, by striking out "and executive authorization made according to law".

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, as amended,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 2218, Printer's No. 1548, on second reading, go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make reports from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 60, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BERGER, from the Committee on Rules, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. on September 2, 1959, reported the same without amendment as follows:

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY AND DEFINE THE TERM "MACHINERY" WITH RELATION TO ASSESSMENT OF REAL ESTATE TAXES IN SECOND CLASS COUNTIES

In the Senate, September 2, 1959.

In many instances the assessment of real estate for taxation in counties of the second class is unjust and inequitable.

Many of these injustices are the result of the inconsistency of the local government in interpreting and applying the numerous and broad terms contained in the tax laws.

Among the terms which have been applied to a variety of factual situations and which have not been clearly and definitely defined is the term "machinery" when assessed as real estate.

As a result of this inconsistency in interpreting and applying the term "machinery," it has become increasingly difficult to determine when the machinery used in a particular factory or industry is assessable as real estate, and when it is not; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and define the term "machinery" with relation to assessment of real estate in counties of the second class, and report to the next regular session of the General Assembly as to its findings and recommendations.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution will appear on tomorrow's Calendar.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 116, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BERGER, from the Committee on Rules, to which was referred resolution offered by Messrs. BERGER,

HAYS, SEYLER, SILVERT, WEINER, SHAFER and ELLIOTT, on August 10, 1959, reported the same without amendments as follows:

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE HIGHER EDUCATION SYSTEM IN PENNSYLVANIA

In the Senate, August 10, 1959.

Whereas, it has been predicted that college enrollments in the Commonwealth will greatly increase during the decade ahead; and

Whereas, The predictions of increases in college enrollment range from 57 percent to 127 percent; and

Whereas, It has been alternatively proposed that State-owned institutions be expanded, that State-aided institutions be expanded and that junior colleges be established, either independently or as an adjunct to the public school system; and therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed:

(1) To evaluate the predictions of increased college enrollments for the next decade, and to develop data relating the demand for higher education in Pennsylvania to the types of instruction required, geographic location of students and institutions, and financial ability of families to underwrite the costs of higher education;

(2) To determine the extent to which various quality standards would modify the predicted enrollment increases;

(3) To determine the preferences, abilities, and performance characteristics of the college-age population and the types of institutions which will best meet the demands for post-high school training of students of varying characteristics;

(4) To ascertain the advantages and disadvantages associated with different methods of providing post-high school opportunities including, but not limited to, expansion of State-owned institutions, expansion of State-aided institutions, and full cost scholarships applicable at all accredited institutions;

(5) To evaluate present levels of efficiency, including both staff and plant utilizations and to develop organizational and operational patterns that will provide incentives to insure optional personnel and plant performance;

(6) To investigate the fiscal potential of State and Local governments and private individuals and organizations to provide additional support for higher education; and

(7) To investigate alternative sources of revenue available to the State Government to provide additional support for higher education; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations together with drafts of any legislation deemed necessary to carry its recommendations into effect.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution will appear on tomorrow's Calendar.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, September 21, 1959

The House met at 3:30 p. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Father Woodrow W. Jones, Assistant Pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Middletown, a very dear personal friend of mine, guest Chaplain and guest of the House Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

In the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

Almighty and eternal God in Whom we live and move and have our being, we wish to acknowledge Thy supreme dominion over us and our total dependence upon Thee in all things. For Thou art the Author of human society, Author of the State, and all legitimate authority is from Thee.

With all our hearts we thank Thee for our beloved America and for our mighty Commonwealth whose sons and daughters, in peace and war, have given so lavishly to our nation. We thank Thy Divine Providence for the abundance of natural wealth within our borders to sustain life and to develop the faculties of man. We thank Thee for keeping war's devastation far from our shores and for the blessings of liberty while a third of Thy children groan under the tyrant's heel. We thank Thee for the vision of our fathers who fashioned our democracy. Make us ever aware that democracy itself is not our goal, but the means to it, to a nobler kind of men and women, free to work out their eternal destiny in dignity, security and peace.

Help us to meet the challenges before us: the wants of the needy and unemployed, the preservation of the delicate balance of justice between employer and employee, the development of our God-given resources, the education of a God-fearing generation, the fostering of virtue and mortality.

Finally, we implore Thee, Who alone can illuminate men's minds and move men's wills, to grant to all who make and interpret and enforce our laws, the light to know Thy Will and the courage to do Thy Will. And inspire our fellow Pennsylvanians and all Americans to give to the whole world an example of unity in essential things, of freedom in unessential things, and of charity in all things.

Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

In the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Wednesday, September 15, 1959, will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

HOUSE BILL No. 2382.

An Act amending "The Penal Code," approved June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), changing the provisions which make certain wordly employment unlawful on Sunday.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. DEVLIN, KOVOLENKO, A. J. MURPHY and DENNISON. HOUSE BILL No. 2383.

An Act to validate certain proceedings for municipal improvements, municipal assessments, municipal claims and municipal liens in the several cities of the third class, boroughs, and townships of the first class of this Commonwealth; and validating such improvements, assessments, claims, and liens; providing for the filing of claims and for the collection of such assessments, claims, and liens.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. DOUGHERTY, McCANN, MUSTO,
Mrs. VARALLO, Messrs. DEVLIN, LOPRESTI, and KAMYK. RESOLUTION No. 114.

In the House of Representatives, September 16, 1959.

In 1800, the infant Federal Government moved to its permanent capital in Washington, D. C., but Maryland and Virginia in completing the cession of the District of Columbia failed to make any provision to protect the voting rights of residents occupying the ceded area. A reasonable assumption is that the state thought Congress would provide some method of voting.

Our Nation's capital, Washington, D. C., is unquestionably the home and symbol of the ideal of American Representative Democracy yet 831,000 citizens in the Nation's capital are denied the right to vote for the people they want to represent them—a population greater than that of any one of twelve states.

There is no "local" government in the District of Columbia. Local laws are passed by Congress and signed by the President. Congress must approve every cent of local expenditure. The municipal government is an agency of Congress. A number of other Federal bureaus, departments, and agencies have certain functions in the government of the area.

Since the people of the District of Columbia have no vote, and if taxation without representation is tyranny, then it exists in the capital of this great land. In addition, it is questionable whether the Congressmen are very conscious of the needs of the people of the District of Columbia since they must first represent their own districts and second, they have thousands of problems relating to the nation as a whole and the world.

Originally, this system might have worked if the District of Columbia contained nothing but government buildings and institutions. However, as a result of the great influx of population, Congress must legislate in such matters as zoning, streets, parking, and other services. Again the need for a local government in the District is very evident.

While thousands of words are heard relating to the sanctity of the right to vote in America in connection with the civil rights debates, the most wholesale voting discrimination in this country is ignored.

We, the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, are strongly in favor of home rule. We believe that Congress should give this right to the people of the Districts of Columbia; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to support and enact legislation to give the people of the District of Columbia the right to elect the officials to administer their local affairs, to vote in Presidential elections, and to have voting representation in the Congress of the United States, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTION

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 578 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. McCANN offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 21, 1959.

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That House Bill No. 578, Printer's No. 1573, entitled "An act amending the act of May 3, 1933 (P. L. 242), entitled 'An act to promote the public health and safety by providing for examination and registration of those who desire to engage in the occupation of beauty culture; defining beauty culture, and regulating beauty culture shops, schools, students, apprentices, teachers, managers and operators; conferring powers and duties upon the Department of Public Instruction; providing for appeals to certain courts by applicants and licensees, and providing penalties,' changing eligibility requirements for examination," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WORLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in the Session of 1955 I had a resolution, which I introduced in this House, which provided for total disarmament of all nations down to the police level with free and unrestricted inspection by the United Nations. With the excellent help of State Representative John J. Vaughan, of Allegheny County, I was able to get 19 others to join with me in sponsoring the resolution at that time, and I am still grateful to those other 19 Members of the 1955 Session of the General Assembly.

This resolution was ignored by the 1955 House of Representatives, but the words of that resolution are today about to become in whole, or at least in part, a reality throughout the world. I frequently think of the words of my father, who by the way never reads a newspaper or never bothers to inform himself on state, national, or international news whatsoever, but who once made one of the most potent statements I have ever heard on international affairs. Here is what he said, "Nations so often sit around the table after the war is over and after people have lost their lives; they could just as well have sat around the table and worked out their differences before anyone was killed and before we had any war." So right and so true are these words that this very statement is becoming reality.

The atom and hydrogen bombs have made the world stop war and made all nations use propaganda warfare or salesmanship, which is the only way they can promote any political philosophy on this earth, and this will not hurt anyone because no one will be killed by salesmanship, for the reason that he does not need to listen to it any longer than he wants to listen.

It will take three steps to put the world in shape for the unrestricted freedom of all people to live out their full days on this earth, and I would just like to state these three steps while I am on this floor.

Here they are:

1. Total disarmament down to police level with free and unhampered inspection by the United Nations and any nation.

2. World government under law with a world parliament of limited and delegated powers and a judiciary system to adjudicate cases involving international out-laws.

3. What we now call propaganda warfare should be merged or transformed into election campaigns for the elections of members to the parliament of the World.

Mr. Speaker, I would also like to remind this House that in the Session of 1947 I introduced a world government measure in January of that year, and I spoke in support thereof on the floor of this House. I shall predict here today, to you my colleagues, that within ten years from today we will have world government under law, and the confederation form of the United Nations will be merged into a world government of limited and delegated powers over international affairs. It shall come and it must come, and it will be good for all people when it does come.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker, for recognizing me at this time.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEES TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. DEVLIN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Cities—Counties, Second Class and Second Class A to meet during the session of the House.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE RECALLED FROM GOVERNOR

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1305, entitled:

An Act amending the "Local Tax Enabling Act" approved June 25, 1947 (P. L. 1145) empowering townships of the second class to levy assess and collect certain additional taxes under the provisions of said act.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 1305 is a bill in which the second class townships were given permission to be placed under Act 481 or the Local Tax Enabling Act.

With the amendments which have been placed into this bill a compromise has been found so the school districts in the Commonwealth would not lose the taxing money which they now have under the Local Tax Enabling law, and the amendments placed in the bill provide that a second class township school district, which now imposes the maximum ceiling of one percent on wage taxes, could not impose a similar tax for a period of five years without the consent of the school district.

This bill now carries the approval of the School Directors' Association, the Commonwealth, the various school officials who have met in regard to House Bill 1305 and the Association of Second Class Townships.

Mr. Speaker, I believe this compromise is satisfactory to all the parties involved, and each of those districts which do not at the present time impose the one percent wage tax would be permitted to do this immediately if the school district does not now place this tax in effect.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that all the Members of the House vote favorably on House Bill 1305, Printer's No. 1648.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair notes the presence in the House of a former Member, Andrew Fenrich, former Member of the House from Allegheny County. He is the guest of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kamyk.

PROBLEMS OF DEMOCRACY CLASS WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair also notes that we have as our visitors today the Problems of Democracy class of the Annville High School, who are here under the guidance of their teacher, Miss Eleanor Whitmeyer. They are the guests of the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Seltzer.

I hope that that group, having surveyed us, will get some of the answers to the problems of democracy that are puzzling us and will come back and tell us.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1879, Printer's No. 1659; was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1906, entitled:

An Act amending "The Game Law" approved June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1225), further regulating the use of resident hunter's license fees.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, the impact of House Bill 1906 would aggravate a long-standing problem in rural Pennsylvania.

A week ago there were amendments to the bill that would exclude the use of the funds allocated in the bill for the acquisition of land by the Game Commission in the case of sixth, seventh and eighth class counties, but in practical application there would be no difference in the use of the fund by the Game Commission.

In the last fiscal year the Game Commission used $350,000 for the acquisition of land. That same amount of money could be used for the acquisition of land in sixth, seventh and eighth class counties. The funds from this bill, which would amount to $250,000, could be used in third, fourth and fifth class counties.

I would like to point out that the Game Commission now can spend as much as $100 per acre for land. Once the state holds the land it cannot ever be developed and can be changed from a high utilization to a low utilization. The state, of course, does not contribute a fair cost of local government, and because of that I would like to ask the Members of the House to vote against the bill.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, from the time they started to issue hunting licenses in this state up until 1953 they earmarked $1 of that license fee for the purchase of lands by the Game Commission to be used as public hunting grounds. By 1953 the Game Commission had acquired close to 900,000 acres of land in this state. At that time it was thought a good policy for the Commonwealth to discontinue the further purchase of those lands, and the earmarking of $1 for land acquisition was at that time stricken out.

When the hunting license fee was increased to its present figure, they instead earmarked $1.25 of the license fee for the purpose of food and cover for the purpose of populating that 900,000 acres with some game so that the hunter would have something to hunt for the license fee for which he paid.

If it was good policy in 1953 to have done that, I see no reason why we should today discontinue the policy of non-land acquisition. I feel we are going back into something which we condemned only a few short years ago as a further policy of this state. I am not satisfied that the Game Commission has as yet exhausted anywhere near its potential in its food and cover for game on the 900,000 acres it already has in order that the hunter will have something for the license fee for which he has paid.

In addition to those game lands the Forestry Department has close to 2 million acres of land so there are today 3 million acres of land for public hunting in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and certainly I think those 3 million acres should first be populated before we authorize further land acquisition. For that reason I ask that you vote against this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Irvis, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the major sponsor of the bill, Mr. Trusio. I am not familiar with the details.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Trusio, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. TRUSIO. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. As I understand this bill, Mr. Speaker, it permits, in a divorce case, publication of notice of the fact that a divorce has been started, in a newspaper in the county in which the divorce has commenced is that correct?

Mr. TRUSIO. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Are you aware of the change that this bill would make in the present law?

Mr. TRUSIO. There is no change, Mr. Speaker. It only permits publication.

Mr. McCORMACK. There is no change? Thank you.

Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding of the law that where a divorce is started and service cannot be had on the defendant personally or by deputized service, the only other recourse, as far as notice is concerned, is by publication.

Under the present practice there is usually a preliminary hearing by the Master or by the Court to determine the last residence or whereabouts of the absent defendant who at that time has had no notice of the suit. As a result of that preliminary hearing the Court or Master decides in what county it would best serve the requirements of due process that the notice be published in the paper.

As I read this bill it merely requires publication to be made in the county where the divorce suit has commenced. I think for that reason the bill is bad when we consider that the purpose of the publication is to give notice, if at all possible, to the absent defendant. As a result of the preliminary hearing it might well be determined that the last whereabouts of the absent defendant was in a county other than the county in which the suit has been commenced, and it would really serve no real purpose in publishing the notice in the county in which the suit has been commenced, because the defendant would have no way of finding it. I think for that reason we ought to seriously consider voting on this bill, because this is the only notice that a person who cannot be served personally gets, and if we do not publish that notice in the county where the defendant last resided or the whereabouts was known, then we are eliminating one of the safeguards that we now have in the present law.

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I do not know the practice of divorce procedure in the county of Philadelphia, but I know that in fourth class counties you only have publication when the defendant cannot be found at all. When you have a major complaint you turn it over to the sheriff and if the sheriff cannot find the defendant, you have your plaintiff file an affidavit that they do not know where the defendant resides, you have no other alternative than to advertise by publication and to advertise by publication in the county in which the suit is entered.

This bill does not change the existing law. It only permits that the attorney may, at his discretion, or the sheriff may, at his discretion enter the notice of publication in a weekly newspaper as well as in a daily newspaper. I think this certainly offers no less notice to the defendant. It gives just as great a notice to the defendant. It follows exactly the same procedure as we have today and would continue to follow that procedure.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, apropos of the gentlemen's remarks, I think he is absolutely correct. This bill I think was brought about by the fact that several of the Courts questioned the right of weekly newspapers to handle legal advertisements and publications such as this, and this is a directive to those courts by the Legislature that publication in a weekly paper is just as good and valid as publication in a daily paper.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I may be wrong on this bill—I do not have the present Supreme Court rules with respect to advertising—but, I just tried to send down to the Attorney General's office to get the present rule.

The present rule, is, I believe, that you shall advertise a divorce in a newspaper published in that particular county. There are a lot of weekly newspapers that are not what you would call published in that particular county; they are printed in another county but are distributed in the county as a county newspaper or local newspaper within the county. This bill really says that you can have publication in a newspaper which is issued in the county. It does not use the magic word, "published." Therefore, the newspaper might be printed in Allegheny County but taken up to Mercer County and would be the weekly newspaper of the city of Sharon. It would be legal to have a divorce notice in that Sharon paper because, while the paper was not published as such in Sharon but was published in Pittsburgh but issued and circulated widely in Sharon, you could still have a legal publication in that paper. That is the way the bill looks to me. I could be wrong. I am sorry I do not have the Supreme Court ruling in front of me.

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inform the honorable candidate for the court that a newspaper of general circulation in the county wherein the defendant was last known to have resided or where the action is filed, regardless of where the paper was published or compiled, is a newspaper of general circulation.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murray, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Washington used to be a part of Westmoreland County so we will accept the interrogation.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, under this bill as written, is it not correct that you merely have to publish the fact that a suit has been started in the county where that suit has commenced?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. That is right. Once the sheriff, Mr. Speaker, has returned the "not found," then you advertise in the county where the suit was commenced.

Mr. McCORMACK. Now what is the purpose behind the service of notice by publication?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. To afford the defendant notice of the proceedings.

Mr. McCORMACK. In the hope that the defendant will see it in the newspaper, is that right, and also comply with due process?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. That is right. I suppose that is the theory of the law, the theory of due process.

Mr. McCORMACK. Now under the present rules of court and procedure where it is determined that the defendant resides in another county, is there any requirement at the present time that service of notice by publication be had in the county where that defendant last resided?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. No, Mr. Speaker, that is not so, because either one of the parties must reside in the county where the suit is commenced.

Either the defendant must have had his last known residence there, must reside there presently, or the plaintiff must reside there presently. If the defendant's whereabouts are known in some other county in the Commonwealth, then the sheriff of the county where the suit is instituted must certify the pleadings over to the sheriff of the county residence for service.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, that is not exactly my point. I am assuming a factual situation where the defendant's precise residence is not known but the fact that he or she does reside in another county is known, where you can have no other method of service except by publication. Assuming those sets of facts, is it not a present requirement that notice by publication be published in the county where the defendant's last known residence was?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I believe the gentleman from Philadelphia has a very good point. I think we should correct that by legislation but this is not the particular act. The requirement today does not exist that you publicize in the county where they had their last known residence.

The requirement under existing law, which is not changed by this particular bill is that you advertise where the suit is commenced or instituted and is going on. I believe that some day we might, and perhaps the gentleman from Philadelphia will go along with me and sponsor a bill which would, require publication in the county where they had their last known residence. That is not the law today.

Mr. McCORMACK. May I ask the gentleman from Washington, do they now have masters appointed by courts for divorce cases?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Yes sir, we have.

Mr. McCORMACK. And where there has been an unsuccessful attempt at service through the sheriff by personal service, is there not a preliminary determination made by a master or by the court to find out the whereabouts of the defendant?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. Yes, Mr. Speaker, in all cases the master holds a hearing and at the proceedings he must determine whether or not the court has jurisdiction of the matter, and whether or not the plaintiff through his attorney has made a sincere effort to notify the defendant.

Mr. McCORMACK. In a preliminary hearing like that, where it is determined that the defendant in fact resides in another county whose precise address we do not know, is there no rule or process that requires publication in that county?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. No sir, there is not, not under present law.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, is not the requirement in this bill that publication be made in the county where the suit is commenced a mere waste of money?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. I have often thought that in my practice of law there are things you have to do with the law that waste money, but, nevertheless, this does not change the law. This bill that we now have on the calendar merely permits the court at its discretion or the attorney and the sheriff to publicize in a weekly newspaper under the same existing conditions we have today, as they do under a daily newspaper.

Mr. McCORMACK. Is there anything in the law that requires that today, or is this by practice?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. That is by law.

Mr. McCORMACK. You are talking about the Rules of Civil Procedure requiring publication in the county where the suit is commenced?

Mr. A. J. MURPHY. That is right. That is the law I am speaking of.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, the debate is not germane to the issue before the House.

Mr. McCORMACK. Oh, it certainly is germane. I am trying to get some information.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair believes the debate has been pretty much confined to the issue before the House and does not believe this point of order is well taken.

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, the issue in the bill is regarding advertising and the debate is on the legal procedure of divorce, which is not in the bill. It is not germane to the issue.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair feels that it has ruled on the question, that the debate has been germane to the subject before the House.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I do not know what the Court Rules in Philadelphia County provide, but I think you will find that the Act of 1927, which was the Divorce Code under which we always operated until the Rules of Civil Procedure, provided that publication be made only in those cases where the defendant could not be served and could not be found and the publication be in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the proceedings originated.

The Rules of Civil Procedure adopted that same rule of law when they suspended the Divorce Code or the procedures under the Divorce Code, and it never has been that you publish in the county where the last known address was.

Now Philadelphia County may have Court Rules to the contrary, but the general law in the state of Pennsylvania is as has been stated here on the floor by the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, my only comment was going to be that perhaps we ought to pass this bill over until we can check the rules because there appears to be a dispute as to what the rules presently hold.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I see no reason to pass the bill over. It is a simple bill dealing with newspaper legal advertisement of general circulation. I realize the discussion has gone on here, but I think it can be cleared up very simply.

All this bill is doing, I think many of the counties which have weekly newspapers of general circulation are interested in this particular piece of legislation, and I favor this legislation because I think it is very good legislation and we all ought to support it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair hears objection to the bill being passed over.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, has a good point.

As I read this bill it is not clear to me where the punctuation point should be on page 2, line 1. If there is a comma after "direct," which there may very well be, then the adoption of this statute would vitiate the local rule in effect apparently in Philadelphia County.

I think the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Gelfand, is correct, that we ought to take a little time to look at this. After all, this is a non-partisan bill and we are trying to do a good job. I think we could look into it overnight and try to come up with the right answer on it.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, if we get nothing else done in this House, we certainly get to know a lot of law before we are through. As for today, we are getting some divorce law.

Those familiar with the rules of publication I presume this particular bill is concerned with the initial rule of publication. There may be much to be said on both sides that the law is very different both in Philadelphia and the other counties, but the initial publication is only in the county where the suit is started. There is no reason to have it otherwise. I mean we have other publications, for example the final proceedings, that is in the county where the party may be, and also the master's hearing where the publication is required. That is made at the discretion of the master either in the county where the suit was started or in the county where the defendant may have been last known.

This bill only refers to the publication required where the rules require publication once a week for three weeks. We are referring to the initial publication and there is no necessity to rule otherwise than that it shall be in the county where the proceedings were started regardless of whether the defendant knows about it or not, because he will have two strikes to find out about the divorce if he is interested. Therefore, the only change in the bill is to have a newspaper of general circulation, that have been deprived of the right to advertising, to insert the publication, but the rule is the same throughout the Commonwealth, only in the county where the suit was started.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I sent upstairs and obtained the present prevailing Supreme Court rule, and the rule says that publication shall be made by the sheriff once a week for three successive weeks in such manner as the court by general rule or special order shall direct. In other words, you have a different rule in every county as to what will be legal publication.

I am fairly sure that in my county it says a newspaper published in the county and this bill, of course, will change our rule for it says that the newspaper merely has to be issued in the county. I believe that there is a chance that if every county in Pennsylvania has a rule of its own as to what is sufficient publication, whether it has to be in a newspaper published in the county or issued in the county or of general circulation in the county, or as this bill says, one that is distributed in the county, perhaps by this bill we are certainly upsetting and changing drastically the rules for publishing a divorce in practically every county in the Commonwealth.

I believe I agree with Mr. Lippincott and Mr. Gelfand that is a pretty hasty action because when you are dealing with publishing a divorce you are dealing, of course, with the rights of married people, which goes to the rights of children and property and everything. I believe that this should be put on the postponed calendar.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, of course I am limited now by the motion that the gentleman made, but so that he will check, in 1957 you passed in this House this bill, word for word, dot for dot, t for t, by a unanimous vote. It is in the record.

I have no alternative except to go along with the motion, but I would like to say to you that in each of the counties the courts do set their own rules. I think you will agree there are weekly newspapers in many counties published in the county, all of general circulation. Some may be printed in another area but they are distributed within that county in general circulation. This would give to the courts our idea that these papers are correct for this legal advertisement.

I believe, as I said a moment ago, that we should support this legislation. The Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association tells us there are over 100 weeklies in various counties. This would make it uniform that they could publish this advertisement in one of those papers, which is legal, just as much as it is in a daily paper because the daily paper in some cases is now published in another county and distributed through the county of which the court has jurisdiction. So there is nothing wrong with it.

Mr. Speaker, I concur in the motion to place the bill on the postponed calendar and tomorrow we shall bring it back off the postponed calendar.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1152, Printer's No. 1584 and

House Bill No. 1161, Printer's No. 1375

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1340, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 22, 1889 (P. L. 41) entitled "An act relative to entry of judgment authorizing the courts to permit the same to be made by the prothonotary on praeceipe" requiring notice by registered mail to persons against whom judgment is sought for want of an appearance.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. IRVIS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be re-committed to the Committee on Judiciary for the purpose of further consideration.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1473, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 28, 1947 (P. L. 1110), entitled "An act defining and regulating certain installment sales of motor vehicles" etc permitting payment of time balances in amounts varying with the expected income of the buyer.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1592, Printer's No. 1598; and

House Bill No. 1904, Printer's No. 1664 were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1927, entitled:

An Act amending "The Fuel Use Tax Act" approved January 14, 1952 (P. L. 1965), decreasing one tax clarifying certain types of aircraft.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will one of the sponsors of this bill permit himself to be interrogated? The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg?

Mr. EILBERG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. What is the purpose of this bill, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. EILBERG. In House Bill No. 1927, the purpose of the bill is to reduce the tax on jet fuels from one and one-half cents per gallon to one cent.

This, Mr. Speaker, is a companion bill to House Bill No. 506, Printer's No. 393. House Bill 506 passed this House on May 5 by a vote of 161 to 30. Apparently the subject matter of 506 also appears in the Fuel Use Tax Act which is what we are now amending.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, is not the purpose of the present bill to extend to turbo-jet planes the privileges that were extended to jet planes?

Mr. EILBERG. This is merely a clarifying amendment which I believe, Mr. Speaker, will be offered to the other bill, House Bill 506, which passed this House.

Mr. BELL. What, Mr. Speaker, is the nature of this clarifying amendment?

Mr. EILBERG. The purpose of the amendment to the Fuel Use Tax Act which we are offering is to reduce the tax from one and one-half cents per gallon to one cent a gallon. The language the gentleman is specifically referring to is to clarify existing terminology in the aircraft field.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, may I again ask the gentleman, does this not lower the tax on jet fuel consumed by jet planes which use propellers, known as turbo-jet propeller planes?

Mr. EILBERG. The answer is yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill.

Recently in an open hearing of the Appropriations Committee the Department of Military Affairs asked for, I believe it was, $1.5 million of state money to construct airport improvements. In other words they asked us to give from moneys collected from all the taxpayers in Pennsylvania $1.5 million to be used in airport construction. Because of this fact that there is apparently insufficient money raised by taxes on aviation fuel, the Department of Military Affairs now asks us to give taxpayers' money, general tax money, which could better be used in mental hospitals and schools than for airport construction.

I say that by reducing this tax on these turbo-jet planes it is going to increase the cost to the general taxpayer; therefore I am going to vote against the bill, and I ask others to vote against the bill.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, the same considerations that were present previously in House Bill 506 are present here today. This is the jet age. We have a brand new industry which is arriving, and the states around us do not have any such tax. We find ourselves in a position where the aircraft companies are by-passing Pennsylvania so as to save the money that is involved as far as jet fuel is concerned.

Jet planes use something like three times the ordinary consumption of gasoline that ordinary plane use, and we certainly want to encourage jet planes coming into Pennsylvania to use our facilities here.

Now, specifically in answer to the gentleman's comment in which he said loss of revenue involved, I would point out, if the gentleman's reasoning were correct, that when the tax was lowered to one and one-half cents per gallon in 1956 we might have expected that in the years following 1956 the tax income might have been reduced, but in fact such is not the case.

I have in my hands, figures indicating that even though the tax went down from five cents to one and one-half cents per gallon on aviation gas, from 1956 on the revenue received for aviation gas actually was increased year by year. The jet tax was created in 1956, one and one-half cents per gallon for the first time, and it almost doubled the following year.

With the enormous increase in gasoline consumption in jet plane, from the figures presented by the Auditor General himself, I feel sure that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is bound to receive enormously increased income when we consider the tremendous benefit of bringing new industry into Pennsylvania. I cannot help but see how this bill would be of enormous value to the state of Pennsylvania.

On the question recurring,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1971, entitled:

An Act amending the "Liquor Code" approved April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90) authorizing the sale of liquor and malt or brewed beverages during certain hours on Sunday in certain hotels in cities of the first and second class under certain conditions.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KAMYK asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 2, page 8, line 18, by inserting after "OF" "liquor and".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We intend to pass over the bills on the rest of the calendar except for two bills to be amended, if that is the desire of the Majority and Minority Leaders.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it is, plus the recall resolutions.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2173, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) further providing for the building or rebuilding of schools and the preparation of drawings for such schools and repealing certain provisions concerning heating and ventilating standards.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SNARE asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 733), page 2, line 12, by striking out "state" and inserting: "State."

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 733.1), page 3, line 15, by inserting after "Drawings": "(a)."

Amend Bill, page 4, by inserting between lines 11 and 12:

"(b) Any person may present to the Department of Public Instruction, plans and drawings for public schools. Such plans and drawings shall conform to the requirements of this act. When such plans are approved by the Department of Public Instruction they shall be kept on file and made available without cost to school districts."

Amend Sec. 4, page 4, line 13, by striking out "This" and inserting: "The provisions of subsection (b) of section 733.1 of this act shall take effect immediately. The remaining provisions of this."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I want to call the attention of the House to the words "any person." I want to also call to the attention of the House that whether we like it or not the law now requires that plans of a building containing 30,000 cubic feet, or costing $10,000 or more, must be prepared by a registered architect or a registered engineer before being submitted. Of course, they can be submitted, but the Department of Labor and Industry cannot look at or approve drawings which do not bear the seal of a registered architect or registered engineer.

I call this matter to your attention because I think the bill without the amendments is a good bill. I would hate to see a good bill spoiled by such an amendment. I think the purpose of this amendment is to try to save the school districts and the taxpayers' money in plans, but we must take into consideration the fact that there are at least 20 sets of plans required, general plans, and because of the Separation Act, another 20 or more sets of plans of the plumbing, heating and electrical work. Now that is not one plan referred to in this amendment. In other words, Instead of one plan, you are going to have about 40 sets for the purpose of bidding a job.

If this amendment were adopted, the question comes up, who would be responsible for making up these additional sets of plans? As I see it, the Department of Public Instruction would have to put on a crew of registered architects or architectural draftsmen, probably a separate unit in the Department, to make these plans available for a school district. The question in my mind is whether there would be any money saved at all. You would have this planned unit set up at great cost to the taxpayers of the state.

Then another question to be taken into consideration is, if this amendment were adopted, who would be responsible for the interpretation of the plans and specifications? Who would interpret on the bids taken? I think it would create an impossible situation in this state if we adopt these amendments. I ask the House to vote against them.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Huntingdon, Mr. Snare?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Huntingdon, Mr. Snare, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SNARE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Snare, you offered these amendments, did you not sir?

Mr. SNARE. I did, sir.

Mr. McCANN. Will the gentleman inform the House of his definition of "any person," which is part of the wording of the amendment which he offered?

Mr. SNARE. Mr. Speaker, that was changed by the Legislative Reference Bureau—by another gentleman. They spelled out some of the people who would be submitting these plans and they said, in a general term, "any person" would cover the ones that were mentioned. So, I am in rather an odd position.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman answer this question for us: New York State has a catalogue system of blueprints for school construction. If he were in a bordering county, which he is not, but if he were in a bordering county on the New York line and he received a catalogue set of prints from the State of New York, which at one time were evidently prepared by their department, would that be "any person"?

Mr. SNARE. Well, I assume that would be.

Mr. McCANN. I am asking you if it would be?

Mr. SNARE. I think so. To me it would sound like that, yes.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, were his amendments, will he inform the House, intended in any way to say that I, or yourself, who are not in this field in any way, would be permitted to present blue prints?

Mr. SNARE. Well, Mr. Speaker, I think that in back of this was the intention to allow anyone to present to the Department of Public Instruction a set of plans whereby a school district could come to Harrisburg and get the set of plans—this may be the long way around to answer your question—to get a set of plans, to get ideas. They may not use the plans to build by, but they will save the cost of having an architect draw up a set of plans and their not being used.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell the House then carefully, because I think the amendments have some merit, that if it was his intention in these amendments, for instance, Arizona uses a typical example of catalogue on school construction, Michigan, Virginia, New York, Maryland, Connecticut, South Carolina, if I wrote to any one of those and got a catalogue of their ideas of what a school looks like, would that be "any person"?

Mr. SNARE. To me it would be, yes. It sounds like it would be.

Mr. McCANN. Is that the intention of the description of the proposed amendments?

Mr. SNARE. Well, I would say it was not my intent, no.

Mr. McCANN. What was your intent?

Mr. SNARE. That anybody, and I was thinking of anyone within the confines of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, naturally, who is interested in school construction would submit, whether he is an architect, whether he is a company that is doing prefab work, and anyone such as that.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman inform us on one other point? When you first worked on these amendments, would you care to clarify what you had in the wording before the Legislative Reference Bureau changed it to "any persons"?

Mr. SNARE. Well, Mr. Speaker, if I can remember, if my memory serves me correctly, I think the words were "architect, any business." There were about three or four and my memory does not serve me too correctly right now.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman very kindly.

The gentleman from Columbia, Mr. Strausser, is correct in every item that he has stated regarding the cubic feet of a building, the cost of a building and the present law dealing with architects of a building and the present law dealing with architects, but I would like to bring to his attention that 2173, which he knows quite well is a result of the work of a subcommittee in the State Public School Building Authority, and I know that he is aware of who served on that committee and this is a part of their report. I would like to bring to his attention that I think the amendments, as I look at them, have some merit.

I am not here to defend the architects in any way, and I am not going to begin now, but if these amendments do what I think they do, if the gentleman from Huntingdon is correct and my interpretation is correct, I can submit to the Department plans that I have received from a catalogue in Arizona, New York, Maryland or Connecticut, because each of these have approved types of school construction.

Now, I would like to ask the gentleman from Columbia, Mr. Strausser, if he finds anything wrong with that?

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I request unanimous consent to address the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair hears no objection.

Mr. STRAUSSER. Unanimous consent gives me the permission to speak on the bill, does it not?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed. The Chair will stop him if he is out of order.

Mr. STRAUSSER. As I see it, House Bill 2173, Printer's No. 1660, purports to set up standards. In other words, we have been after standardization of buildings for some time. I know I was interested in it for the three or four Sessions I have been here. This House bill itself purports to do that, to standardize schoolrooms, cafeterias, health rooms, and all other rooms in the school building. These then, after approval by the department, would be made available to architects to design the building they are requested to design. The idea of the bill is to hold the architects in line, as it were.

I want the Majority Leader to know that I probably fought with more architects than anybody in this House, so I am not protecting architects, but I am trying to look forward to what might happen if you have the so called 'plans for pigeon-hole file.' There would not be, as I say, anybody to interpret the plan unless you have a corps of architects in the department to do so.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman for just a couple of minutes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STRAUSSER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Columbia, Mr. Strausser, tell us if the amendments that Mr. Snare offered, do anything more than permit the offering of a plan to the department for its approval? Any person may submit," I believe was the way the wording was?

Mr. STRAUSSER. In answer, I think that is the wording Mr. Speaker, but how much further will that go? Is it understood that anybody, I or anyone else, can submit a set of plans to the department without having the approval of the Department of Labor and Industry stamp thereon?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman answer the question, if he feels that this will only permit the offering of such plans for their consideration?

Mr. STRAUSSER. I believe that is right.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman very kindly.

I believe that we should adopt these amendments because I know that the entire membership of this House knows that no plans of any school that would come within the scope of this proposed legislation would not have to be plans that are complete within the scope of architectural engineering, but I do believe that school districts under Mr. Snare's amendments would have no opportunity to present such plans or ideas to the department that they may have gotten from some other area or state.

I took these amendments in that light and I believe that they deserve meritorious consideration because you can not in this bill provide that those plans would be plans that would not meet the approval of Labor and Industry, as to fire walls and materials which an architect or engineer must abide by. I am talking about general overall architectural landscaping view and types of buildings.

Mr. STRAUSSER. My caution would be thinking of the value of plans that the department will get, they better get ready to put in another unit to look over the plans.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILLS PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the remaining bills on today's calendar not considered will be passed over.

The Chair hears none.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1652

Mr. WARGO. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 1652, Printer's No. 1633, entitled:

"An Act amending the 'Employment Agency Law', approved July 31, 1941, (P. L. 616), changing definitions, licensing criteria and licensing suspension and revocation procedures; reducing fees for representative licenses, changing the authority of employment agents with regard to charging fees and utilizing certain methods of doing business, providing for minimum fees in certain types of engagements, clarifying the applicability of other laws to employment agents, changing the procedures and penalties for violations of this act and clarifying and changing the powers and duties of the Department."

was defeated on Final Passage Tuesday, September 15, 1959, be reconsidered.

Mrs. MARKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Wargo vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. WARGO. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

The SPEAKER. How did the lady from Lehigh, Mrs. Markley vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mrs. MARKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. WARGO. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McCANN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Section 2 (Section 5), page 7, line 20, by inserting after "applicant"

In lieu of such prior employment by an existing employment agency an applicant shall be qualified if he has a degree from an accredited college requiring at least four years undergraduate study in the field of personnel relations or personnel management

Amend Section 8 (Section 29), page 26, line 14, by striking out the brackets before and after "knowingly"

Amend the bill, page 27, by inserting after line 4

Section 9 This act shall become effective six months after final enactment

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the amendments to 1652, Printer's No. 1633, that I am offering to this bill, are taken from the debate the other day in correcting each of the items brought out in the debate dealing with the term which a person must serve, the debate dealing with the effective date and for each of those members that said with these amendments they will vote for the bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Mr. FRANK, Mrs. MARKLEY, Messrs. STECKEL and STIMMEL offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 21, 1959.

The members of this House of Representatives are shocked and grieved to learn of the sudden and unexpected death of Frank F. Hausman, a prominent and leading citizen of Allentown on September 14, 1959.

A native of Allentown, and educated in the public schools there, he entered into the paving business in 1928 and at the time of his death was president and treasurer of Frank F. Hausman Paving Company, Frank F. Hausman Equipment Rental Corporation, and Frank F. Hausman Materials Company.

Throughout the years as a businessman Mr. Hausman was active as a worker and officer of the Democratic Party. An F.D.R. man in 1936, Mr. Hausman was elected by the party that year for the first time as one of its two delegates to the Democratic National Convention. Every four years from that time on he was picked to represent the party at the big National convention. In 1938 he was the party's candidate for State Senator but lost out in the general election.

A devoted citizen, for many years he served many community organizations notably as President of the Allentown Fair and the Lehigh Valley Club and was a member of the State Highway and Bridge Authority.

Frank F. Hausman was an inspiration to many of his fellow citizens and friends as he gave generously of his time, talent and energy in order to better his community, his fellowman and to encourage worthy causes; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the passing of Frank F. Hausman, his community and many friends have lost one who labored long and devotedly on their behalf; and be it further

Resolved, That in evidence of the deep sympathy of the members of this House of Representatives, a copy of this resolution be sent to his widow, Mrs. Pearl K. Hausman.

HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1959.

No. 95.

SENATE

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1959.

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. RALPH NEWELL, Pastor of The First Baptist Church, Kittanning, offered the following prayer:

O Lord God, we bless Thee for Thy hand upon our lives, and for the sure knowledge that however we may falter and fail, yet underneath are Thine everlasting arms.

Let us today embark on no undertaking that it not in line with Thy will for our lives, nor shrink from any sacrifice which Thy will may demand.

Suggest, direct and control every moment of our minds, for our Lord Christ's sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BERGER and Mr. BLASS, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

MEMBERS OF LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE OF ADAMS COUNTY COUNCIL OF REPUBLICAN WOMEN
 PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, at this time. I should like to present to the President, and to the Members of the Senate, members of the Legislative Committee of the Adams County Council of Republican Women who are in the balcony, and who are here today to observe the Senate in Session.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Elliott. Would the ladies from Adams County please rise?

The President of the Senate is happy to greet you and to welcome you to the Senate, on behalf of the Senators.

GUESTS FROM WESTMORELAND COUNTY
 PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, at this time I would like to introduce two individuals from Westmoreland County, men who are civic-minded and who, above and beyond the call of duty,—they are not owners of resorts or anything of that type—are co-operating in the development of Pennsylvania. They are officials of the beautiful Laurel Highlands area, which constitutes Fayette County, Somerset County and Westmoreland County.

God has been good to all of us in this Country, but in our natural resources in these three counties, particularly, we have a garden spot, a playground atop the wonderful Allegheny Mountain, historically important because it extends from the north from Fort Ligonier to the south, to Fort Necessity.

You will all recall the battle of Bushy Run, which was the high water mark of English speaking civilization in this Country, and the results of that battle determined whether or not the English speaking social aspects and objectives should be paramount in this Country. This happened in this great area.

We will not mention the fact that the Whiskey Rebellion also took place in this area, and we will pass it over lightly.

This is a beautiful garden spot and the development of it is essential to the further progress of Pennsylvania. It is with great pride that I introduce C. C. Mason, the President, and his wonderful assistant, Ed Pechan, the nephew of one of our distinguished colleagues in this Body. I might say this is a nonpartisan affair. We are very proud of their activities. Chip Mason is a Republican Committeeman, and you know which side of the fence Ed Pechan belongs on. May I introduce these two gentlemen? Will they please rise?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate is very happy to have you gentlemen with us.

MEMBERS OF BOY SCOUT TROOP NO. 107, ALLENTOWN, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I asked the Senate Librarian what the order of business was, and he said, "Introductions."

We have the pleasure of having here in the Senate today, a Scoutmaster and a group of young Boy Scouts from the First Presbyterian Church in the City of Allentown. I would like at this time to present Mr. Irving West, Tom West, Paul Uhler, Jay Walters and Charles MacArthur, and welcome them to the Senate of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Scoutmaster and Boy Scouts please stand?

The Senate is happy to welcome you from the beautiful Lehigh Valley.

I wonder whether we could prevail upon Senator Whalley to come forward to the dais and give us those words on his trip to Russia, for which we have been waiting for sometime?

Senator Whalley approached the rostrum.

The PRESIDENT. It gives me a great deal of pleasure to turn the microphone over to Senator Whalley at this time.

REMARKS BY SENATOR J. IRVING WHALLEY

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, Members of the Senate, and Ladies and Gentlemen: A week ago yesterday, I enjoyed a birthday. At that particular time, Senator Berger made the statement that I would make some remarks on my trip to Russia. It so happens that Senator Pechan was on this trip with me, and I know that he could do much better than I can. Perhaps if I tell you the serious part of Russia, later we can prevail upon Senator Pechan to give you information on the social aspects and, especially, the night life.

In 1936, I was a passenger on the Zeppelin Hindenburg on a trip from Lakehurst, New Jersey, to Germany. I had the opportunity, at that time, to visit most all of the countries in Europe and get some idea as to what was going on.

In 1941, I had the pleasure of being a passenger on the Pan-American Airways' first travel flight across the Pacific, landing in Pearl Harbor just a few short weeks before December 7, 1941.

I was very much pleased, two years ago, when Senator Pechan called me and said that a trip was being arranged which would consist of approximately twelve State Legislators to travel 35,000 miles by plane, visiting thirty-five different countries, at our own expense, but under the direction of the United States Department of State. The group was to be met at each port by the American Embassy, where we were to be briefed on the economic and military life of the country that we were to visit.

On this trip, we were in Constantinople, as we know it, —Istanbul today—on October 4, 1957, when the newspapers came out with the statement that Russia had put its first Sputnik in the air. As you remember, this Sputnik was twenty-two inches in diameter, weighed 183 pounds, left the earth at a speed of 560 miles an hour, reached the height of approximately 600 miles and traveled 16,000 miles an hour in going around the world every one hour and thirty-five minutes.

Ten short days later, we arrived in Moscow with this particular climate. I think we were amazed when we first landed at the airport to find jet planes in passenger service. All of us know that just about eight or nine months ago, our American airways put in the famous Boeing 707 for the first time, and just this week they intend to use the Jet DC-8. So we found immediately that the Russians were ahead of us in this particular phase.

We were turned over immediately to what is called the "In-tourist," which takes care of all visitors to Russia. We drove approximately twenty miles to Moscow, and were put in the National Hotel. The next morning, these people met us and took us immediately to what they called their industrial and agricultural exhibit. This covers 500 acres, consisting of forty-six industrial buildings and twenty agricultural buildings. Almost immediately we knew that Russia had practically everything in the way of equipment that we have. This is comparatively easy, because Russia does not have to go through the development or growing pains that the United States has had to go through. All they need to do is buy whatever equipment or machinery they need, take it apart and then develop it for themselves.

We were also surprised to find, of course, that in this particular exposition, which is something similar to our New York or Chicago or California World's Fair, each one of the fifteen countries of Russia had an industrial building. We visited the Siberian Building because we had been told time and again that Siberia is the jail house of Russia, and never were we more surprised to learn the true facts. We found that Siberia is 100 times as large as Pennsylvania, and it is one and one-half times the size of the United States. There will be 3,000,000 new people move into it by 1960. It has most of the natural and mineral resources of Russia. They have just built a brand new scientific city there, composed of ten large scientific buildings in which will work most of the scientists from all of Russia. Many brand new cities have been built in Siberia since World War II.

We were also told on this tour about the Communist Party. The Communist Party in Russia consists of 8,000,000 members. A person must do something outstanding before he is invited to apply for membership. Once membership is gained, then an individual is on the way to success because he has a part in the decisions from that time on.

Education, of course, was mentioned. We found that education in Russia, up until ten years ago, consisted of compulsory schooling no further than the fourth grade. Even as late as 1956, it was necessary to pay tuition in the last three of the ten grades of common school. We found that the Russian student goes to ten years of common school, as compared with our twelve years. We found that the Russian student goes to school six hours a day, six days a week, 213 days a year. We found that each student must take four years of biology, five years of chemistry, six years of physics, and ten years of mathematics. From the fourth and fifth grades on up, they get carpentering and all of the other trades, including metal and electronic shops. Everybody must also learn a language. At the end of ten grades, the students take a very stiff, competitive examination. If they are successful, they go on to higher education.

There are 213,000 schools in Russia and 1,800,000 teachers, as compared with 1,300,000 teachers here. 41,000 teachers in Russia teach nothing but English. There are 800 schools of higher learning and 3,500 technical schools.

We visited the University of Moscow, which stands 787 feet high. It is the eighth tallest building in the world, eighty stories. It has 15,000 rooms, 1,700 laboratories, 113 elevators, 2,400 teachers and 25,000 students. Five years are required for the regular college course and an additional three years for a doctor of philosophy degree.

Each teacher in the university is elected for a five year period, at the end of which time they must stand for re-election.

Sixty-five per cent of the university students take science, as compared with ten per cent of our students in the universities in our Country. In 1956, Russia graduated 70,000 engineers, as compared with our 30,000 engineers, and they graduate four times as many doctors. 94,000 Russian women are scientists and 400,000 Russian women are engineers.

The city of Moscow, of course, is the fifth largest city in the world. It is 800 years old, and it has 5,000,000 people. For the past ten or fifteen years, they have been completely re-building the city. Fifty and sixty feet streets are today becoming 200, 300 and 400 feet wide boulevards. They have hundreds of cranes, approximately eighty feet high, that apparently work twenty-four hours around the clock re-building the city.

Forty-five per cent of the Russian labor supply is women. When you get to these buildings, you are amazed to find that the women are doing the plastering, the carpentering, the truck driving, the taxi driving and so forth.

In the city is the Kremlin. The Kremlin is the same age as the city, 800 years old. It consists of twenty-five huge, yellow buildings with twenty high towers. It is surrounded by a red wall, enclosing seventy-two acres. It is quite an impressive view. The Kremlin was never open to the public as long as Mr. Stalin lived. One building has now been set up for a museum, which consists of practically all of the treasurers of the Czars.

The famous Red Square is in front of the Kremlin. It is 1,000 feet long and 900 feet wide. This is the place where they have their May Day and their November 7 parades to honor the revolution birthday, which was November 7, 1917. Many of us have watched parades on this square in the movies and on television. The building, where the officials usually stand, is a mausoleum in which are interred the remains of Mr. Lenin, since 1924, and Mr. Stalin, since 1953. They are in excellent preservation. They are approximately five feet apart, and they are visited four times a week by approximately 15,000 people who come from all over the Country.

The subway in Moscow is supposedly the most modern in the world. It has about 100 miles of track and forty-eight stations. Each station is a thing of beauty. They are built of marble and suggest, of course, the accomplishments of the Red Government.

I might also say that the escalators going to the stations are from 150 to 300 feet long; the longest that I have ever seen in my life. They claim that the subway, of course, would be a good place for people to be in case of war.

We visited the opera, as do most visitors to Russia, because it is an outstanding spectacle. One minute after the curtain went up, we were amazed to see Mr. Krushchev, Mr. Bulganin, Mr. Voroshilov and Mr. Mikoyan enter at our left—we were in the fifth row on the left-hand side—and occupy their box without any police guard of any kind. They sat there for three solid hours. At the end of the performance, we were asked to stay in our seats for a few minutes while the official party left.

On the way back to the hotel that evening, we were amazed to find 500 Russian Red tanks going through the square, directly in front of our hotel which led onto Red Square. Of course, they were preparing for the big parade on November 7, 1957, which honored the fortieth anniversary of their revolution.

I might say that Mr. Khrushchev—of course, we have all learned a lot about him in the last week—is sixty-five years of age. He was born in 1894, in poverty, in the Ukraine. He was the son of a blacksmith. He was not in World War I. He joined the Communist Party one year after the revolution, in 1918. He married in 1922 and is the father of two sons and two daughters; one of the sons being killed in World War II. He re-married in 1938 to his present wife. In 1929, he was permitted to go to the Technical School in Moscow, at which Stalin's wife was also a student. Through her, he met Stalin, and his progress was very rapid from that time on. He participated in the 1935 to 1945 purges of the Party, in which he, personally, was responsible for the death, the exile or the imprisonment of 3,000,000 Ukrainians.

Mr. Khrushchev was also known as the "butcher of Budapest" in 1956. At Stalin's death, in 1953, Mr. Khrushchev was the number five man in the party, with Mr. Malenkov, Mr. Molotov, Mr. Beria and Mr. Bulganin being ahead of him. As you know, of course, he eliminated these four fellows, sent them into exile, and from that time has been in complete charge of the Party.

The Russian people themselves are very friendly. We meet quite a few of them in our coal fields in western Pennsylvania. They have an intense desire to get ahead, they are wonderful workers and they are very, very proud of their achievements.

We were briefed by NATO, when later we visited Paris. We were told by NATO that Russia could put 25,000,000 soldiers in the field within thirty days. They could put 20,000 jet planes, with 20,000 jet pilots, in the air. They could also provide 500 to 700 submarines. They advised us that at the start of World War II, Germany had forty-three submarines with which they almost sank fifty per cent of the U. S. shipping, and almost starved England into submission.

We were also told that Russia has an army of 4,100,000 soldiers, who work for from six to eight dollars a month, as compared to our 2,800,000 soldiers who get eighty-five dollars a month in this County. We were told that of every 100,000 soldiers in World War II from Russia, 85,000 were able to get into the front lines, combat lines, as compared to 15,000 of every 100,000 men from the United States.

We were told that in World War II, Russia suffered thirty-seven and one-half million casualties, with 12,000,000 dead. Seventy of their towns were completely destroyed, 25,000,000 people were made homeless and 30,000 factories were destroyed.

We were also told about the Russian five year plan, which started in 1928 and continues today. This plan was to promote industry, promote socialism within the Party and socialism in agriculture. The plan, from 1928 to 1932, was ninety-three per cent effective. Steel production increased approximately sixty per cent. We were also told that Russia today owns all of the industry and all of the land. We were told that the United States consumed seventy-five per cent of its products over here, while Russia uses fifty per cent of its products to invest in new plants.

The Russian budget is $560,000,000,000. We are not quite sure whether they use four rubles to the dollar or ten rubles to the dollar, but using ten rubles to the dollar, you would have a budget of $56,000,000,000 last year. Of this amount, they have a temporary $1,200,000,000 surplus.

Russia has 203,000 industrial plants and they are building 100,000 new ones. All of the money, of course, is turned over to the government and used from there.

In the sport situation, Russia is one of the greatest sports-minded countries in the world. They won the Olympics in 1956. They have built an Olympic Stadium, a beautiful stadium, if you please, in which they hope to hold the 1964 Olympics.

The farm situation is probably the worst of all in Russia. Fifty million people participate, but due to the fact that the farms are so far north, the farm production is not too good. They have 80,000 collective farms, averaging 13,000 acres each. They have 8,000 state farms, averaging 37,000 acres each. They have also opened up 87,000,000 acres in Siberia.

You may not like what Russia is doing, but Vice-President Nixon has said that Mr. Khrushchev holds more power than any individual in the history of the world, and by his own decision could create a war that could end civilization, as we know it.

For these reasons, it is well that we learn the facts. Thank you very much.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you very much, Senator Whalley. I know that I speak for the entire Senate when I say this was a most impressive presentation for everyone of us.

After that inspiring talk, we will go on to Reports from Committees.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. FLEMING, from the Committee on Executive Nominations, reported with a favorable recommendation the following nominations, made by His Excellency, the Governor:

MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF LOCUST MOUNTAIN STATE HOSPITAL

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate, Peter J. Swoboda, Frackville, Schuylkill County, for appointment as a member of the Board of Trustees of Locust Mountain State Hospital, from June 21, 1957, for the term of four years and until his successor is appointed and qualified.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

May 11, 1959.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

CALENDAR

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS, RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of House Bill No. 762, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 25, 1913 (P. L. 555) entitled "An act providing for the regulation of dams or other structures * * * projecting into all streams and bodies of water wholly or partly within or forming part of the boundary of this Commonwealth * * *" authorizing the repair or replacement of the roadway dock or the extension of certain bridges in townships of the second class without the consent of the Water and Power Resources Board.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

SENATE NON-CONCURS IN AMENDMENTS MADE BY THE HOUSE TO HOUSE BILL No. 762, RECALLED
FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do non-concur in the amendments made by the House to House Bill No. 762, recalled from the Governor.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1032, Printer's No. 1216, on final passage, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

THIRD READING CALENDAR
REVENUE BILLS OVER IN ORDER TEMPORARILY

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following revenue bills, on third reading, go over in their order temporarily:

House Bill No. 660, Printer's No. 1569;

House Bill No. 661, Printer's No. 1570;

House Bill No. 662, Printer's No. 1571;

Senate Bill No. 1105, Printer's No. 1426;

Senate Bill No. 1112, Printer's No. 1427; and

House Bill No. 2100, Printer's No. 1639.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on third reading, go over in their order:

Senate Bill No. 10, Printer's No. 10; and

Senate Bill No. 290, Printer's No. 314.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 341, entitled:

An Act declaring and adopting the poem "Pennsylvania" by Gerall G. Dovenspike a Pennsylvanian as the official poem of the Commonwealth.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I want to test out whether a day is worth anything or not. It seems to me that this bill is a matter of culture more than it is government, and I am not ready to pass judgment on this particular literary effort.

Therefore, I would suggest, as my colleague suggested yesterday, that a panel or a jury, perhaps consisting of the head of the literature department of the college in which the author of this poem is located,—and perhaps the head of the department of the college where the sponsor is located might be the major part of such a jury—determine whether or not this particular bill merits its place as poem of Pennsylvania.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. HAYS. Therefore, Mr. President, I move that this bill be recommitted to the committee from which it came.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to add, for the sake of the record, that the rhythm—possibly it should be the iambic pentameter rather than what it is here—is perhaps what is causing the difficulty.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I want to second the motion and say a few words in addition to what I said yesterday.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, this would be a most important vehicle which would lend itself to competition, not only among the poets of our State but also among the school population. We could run a contest, which would evoke the finest feelings of all Pennsylvanians.

I have nothing against this poet. He is a very fine poet. He hails from a fine county. This is not the first time that Senator Stevenson lent his support to him, and I bow before his wisdom. However, it may be that the Committee on Local Government would give attention to a contest, a State-wide contest, which would bring out the real jewels and the real sentiment of our population pertaining to Pennsylvania.

As a matter of fact, in my drawer I have a bill which I will introduce after the passage of this bill. Of course, it will pass, because we have to bow to the inevitable. I will put in another bill about another poem. Tomorrow, I will then introduce a bill containing Kipling's poem, "Philadelphia," and then we will choose the best in the house.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, it is so seldom that culture raises its beautiful head in the halls of this Senate. However, when we have an opportunity to vote upon a bill involving poetry, whether the meter precisely suits the sensibilities of some of the Members or not, nevertheless, I think we should avail ourselves of it.

Consequently, Mr. President, I would oppose the motion and ask my colleagues to vote likewise.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agreed to the motion?

The roll was called and was as follows:

YEAS—12

Barr, Donolow, Hays,	Kalman, Lane, Mahady,	Mullin, Rooney, Ruth,	Seyler, Silver, Stiefel,
----------------------------	-----------------------------	-----------------------------	--------------------------------

NAYS—36

Berger, Blass, Camiel, Chapman, Confair, DiSilvestro, Ehrgood, Elliott, Flack,	Fleming, Harney, Keller, Kessler, Koprivier, Jr., Kromer, Madigan, Mallery, McCreesh,	McGinnis, McMenamin, Murray, Pechan, Propert, Ripp, Sarraf, Scott, Shafer,	Stevenson, Taylor, Van Sant, Wade, Wagner, Watkins, Weiner, Whalley, Wolfe,
--	---	--	---

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would advise the gentleman from Armstrong that I have read the poem. I do not know if he has, but I have read it, and I am loathe to vote for something I do not understand. There are several places where I am having difficulty in understanding just what this says. I would like the Senator to advise me.

My first difficulty, Mr. President, is on line 2 of the bill, which is line 2 of the poem. It says:

"Where cavalcades of effigies unbar

"Her pioneers of history parading hand in hand"

I would like to ask the Senator, what does "cavalcades of effigies" refer to?

The PRESIDENT. Would the Senator care to answer that question?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am very happy for Senator Seyler's sake that none of his pupils are in this hall today, because he is admitting that he does not understand culture.

I want to tell you, Mr. President, if I may, that when I was in college, I took Greek. In fact, Greek took me. I took it for about two weeks and I had to give it up. I want to tell you about how I learned the Greek alphabet. Truthfully, I learned it in a restaurant from a Greek. It went something like this: A meant "apple dumpling"; B, "battered toast"; C, "See's the man got enough water"; D, Don't got"; E, "epicot"; F—

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, point of order—

The PRESIDENT. I do not see how you have the strength to interrupt a dissertation like this, but I must recognize that you have a point of order.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the gentleman has taken the Fifth Amendment via the Panama Canal.

Mr. PECHAN. Senator Seyler, do you want we to go through this Greek alphabet? It is culture.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman for his very responsive answer, but somehow I fail to understand.

The reason I asked about this is that I understand what a "cavalcade" is. It is a procession, a marching procession. "Effigies," as I understand it, are statues. So some statues are marching and then they are unbarring "Her pioneers of history . . ." All I would like the Senator to tell me is what "effigies" this refers to. I just do not understand the significance, and I am loathe to vote for legislation that I do not understand.

If the gentleman has answered me on that, and I have not understood it, I concede that I am perhaps a bit obtuse and I will pass on to my second problem. That is in line 6 of the bill, or line 5 of the poem. This little gem says:

"A thousand cities made from one . . ."

Can the gentleman tell me what that has reference to, and what connection this has with Pennsylvania?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, that is poetic license.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman again for his responsive answer, which again I do not understand.

Mr. President, I have no objection to adopting a poem for the Commonwealth, but it seems to me that the first five lines of the poem are not meaningful. At least, I do not understand them. I am not a poet, but it seems to me that poetry, like any other form of art, should communicate.

The PRESIDENT. Could we, perhaps, have your interpretation of the first five lines?

Mr. SEYLER. I have no interpretation. I contend, Mr. President, that it lacks meaning. It talks about "cavalcades of effigies"; it talks about "A thousand cities made from one"; and I do not recognize either of these as phenomena which occur in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I am quite serious that if we should adopt a poem, it should be one which is meaningful.

Perhaps the gentleman will be able to explain it better than he has. However, if he has no better explanation, it is my opinion that we should wait to adopt a poem for Pennsylvania until such time as we have a poem which is meaningful and which a cultured gentleman like the Senator can at least explain in language that can be understood by an uncultured, uncouth person like myself.

Therefore, Mr. President, for this reason, I am inclined to vote against the bill.

Mr. PECHAN. I do not presume, Mr. President, anything that I may say will change Senator Seyler's mind. I am not sure but I believe that Mr. Dovenspike, who wrote this poem, is a very fine newspaperman and of the Democratic faith.

The Senator talks about "cavalcades of effigies." We have them in Armstrong County after every election. We, in the county, are thinking about the Democrats whom we defeat, and we have a "cavalcade of effigies." They hang them in effigy. However, that is not what Mr. Dovenspike had in mind.

I am going to arrange, Senator Seyler, for you to meet this distinguished gentleman. He comes from Clarion County. He is a very fine gentleman. He has for years tried to get this poem through the halls of the Legislature, and I am very happy for him today because I am going to see to it that he explains some of this language to you in a cultural tone, in the culture which he possesses, which I am sure will rub off on you.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President. I was going to suggest, after this explanation that the gentleman from Armstrong gave us, that maybe we ought to send this bill to the Appropriations Committee to get enough money together so we can send Senator Pechan up and down the State to explain the poem to the people who read it, and who may not have the ability to understand the words or verbiage we have in it without him. I think he not only could explain it, but he could make it somewhat humorous so that they could even enjoy it.

I think we should give that serious consideration, along with the other words and verbiage that appears in this poem.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, we would like to know, on this side, how Senator Pechan voted.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Pechan is recorded as having voted "aye."

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, had I voted "no," it would have been under a misapprehension.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—38

Barr,	Fleming,	McGinnis,	Stevenson,
Berger,	Harney,	McMenamin,	Taylor,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I would like to inquire if that recorded vote shows eleven uncultured individuals?

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. STIEFEL read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1197, entitled:

An Act declaring and adopting the poem "Pennsylvania" by S. Beryl Lush, a Pennsylvanian and Philadelphian as the official poem of Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I recall that when Senate Bill No. 341 was introduced, the gentleman read the poem as part of the report. I think it would be no more than right that Senator Stiefel be permitted to read the poem contained in his bill.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Stiefel, would you accede to the request?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I will read it when it is reported from the Committee on Rules.

Mr. BERGER. Unfortunately, Mr. President, the gentleman is not a member of the Committee on Rules, and the opportunity will then be lost to him.

The PRESIDENT. This is, indeed, a misfortune.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, tomorrow I am going to offer another bill, which will propose that the famous poem by Kipling, entitled "Philadelphia," which, in my opinion, is the acme of perfection, should be adopted as the official poem of Pennsylvania. Even if Kipling was not a Pennsylvanian, Kipling was one of the outstanding literary figures of the English-speaking world, and he belongs to Pennsylvania just as much as he belonged to England and to India.

The PRESIDENT. He certainly recognized the merits of Pennsylvania in his poem. I agree with you on that score.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 57, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WEINER, from the Committee on Rules, to which was referred resolution offered by Messrs. STIEFEL and BARR, an August 31, 1959, reported the same without amendment as follows:

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY ESTABLISHMENT OF A COLLEGE OF FOOD TECHNOLOGY IN PENNSYLVANIA

In the Senate, August 31, 1959.

The study of food, the abundance or paucity thereof in certain parts of the globe, the curse of its waste and the blessings of its preservation, its nutritional values, the evolution and invention of new products—all offer wider horizons and new challenging frontiers of research and production.

Food engineering is gradually forging to the fore to occupy a position of eminence along mankind's benefactors such as chemical, mechanical, electrical, civil and industrial engineering. Food engineering is the food equivalent of chemical engineering and represents a blend of mechanical engineering and the biological sciences.

Then there is now coming of age food technology! Tidal waves of technical progress are running through the food industry swept along by fast-paces improvement in operations and processes—these involve investigation, development and application of cold sterilization, ultrasonics and a host of new in-stream quality control techniques. The coming attainments of food-technology are fascinating. Thus ultrasonic waves may be utilized to mix, homogenize, dispense, extract, precipitate, sterilize or measure food ingredients and products (ultrasonic generators already are used in breweries abroad to obtain greater extraction from hops in brew bottles). To control quality in process, developments are going beyond instruments which regulate such variables, as temperature, pressure, flow and level. Acidity, density and crystal state are under automatic control. And even much subtle factors as color, texture, blend—even odor and taste—will be robotised.

In several European countries, notably in Germany, Food Engineering and Food Technology have been recognized to such an extent that they have been lifted to the levels of college education and special Food Colleges created therein for that purpose.

As the arsenal of American Democracy and one of the breadbaskets of the free world, Pennsylvania is the locus classicus for the establishment in the United States of the first College of Food Technology. We in Pennsylvania are singularly blessed with the outstanding leader in the field of food technology, H. J. Heinz II, the towering Pittsburgh industrialist in whom knowledge, dynamic leadership and vision have combined to form the blend of a creative genius par-excellence.

By combining the research facilities of the Joint State Government Commission with the leadership and experience of H. J. Heinz II, the General Assembly of Pennsylvania is in a position to become the beneficiary of an adequate blueprint for the establishment of a College for Food Technology in Pennsylvania at the opening of its next session.

At the same time the unexcelled resources and facilities of Pennsylvania State University could contribute immensely to the success of the study both through the participation of its experts and possibly as the locale of the new institution.

Be it Therefore Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission of Pennsylvania be and it is hereby authorized and directed to form a Committee to undertake a study of plans and means for the establishment of a College of Food Technology in Pennsylvania, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby authorized to invite H. J. Heinz II to act both as a member and advisor of the committee, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission invite experts in the field of food technology to join its aforesaid committee both as members and advisors.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution will appear on tomorrow's Calendar.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL OVER IN ORDER TEMPORARILY

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 959, Printer's No. 1655, on third reading, go over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1079, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 22, 1945 (P. L. 837) entitled as amended "An act providing for and requiring in certain cases preference in appointments to and retention in public position or on public works for honorably discharged persons who served in the military or naval service during any war or armed conflict in which the United States engaged . . ." changing and clarifying certain preference provisions and adding definitions.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—50

Barr,	Hays,	Miller,	Silvert,
Berger,	Kalman,	Mullin,	Stevenson,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye", the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1861, Printer's No. 1054, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am not objecting to this bill going over in its order. However, I would like to take a moment to point out to the Senate that this is absolutely essential legislation.

I have a letter, dated September 15, 1959. The subject of this letter is "Crib Cases on the Waiting List," and it comes from the Department of Public Welfare.

This hospital, when the proper action is taken, will give the department 600 more places for these crib cases. The principal problem, as all of us are quite aware, is that these youngsters get older and the families cannot care for them because they are too large for anyone to carry or move around. They are also unable to take care of themselves. There is also the additional problem of other children in the same household, and this is causing difficulty for people who cannot afford to handle this situation.

If there is some particular problem with this legislation, I would be very happy to discuss it with anyone, and perhaps we can take it up with the Department to clear up the problem.

I would also like to point out to the gentleman of this Body that this bill passed the House with only six votes against it. The reason for the six votes was because of a peculiar situation that they felt existed in some area, which is not really the fact at all.

I just do not feel that we should hold up this type of legislation when it involves people, sick people and people who are causing other problems for us which we cannot possibly solve.

I respectfully ask that the gentleman take this up in their Caucus. If they could possibly work on this legislation today, it would be very helpful.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, we understand the problem involved in this bill, but there are also certain questions which have arisen in connection with it as to the purported savings that will accrue to the Commonwealth or cost to the Commonwealth, one or the other. There seems to be some question as to which will accrue. Until those things are straightened out, I do not believe we should move the bill and, I, therefore, repeat my request that it go over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to say one other thing. It is not my purpose to debate this bill at this time. There are 1,379 crib cases now on the waiting list. I have a tabulation here from the department, county by county. Many of these youngsters come from both the hard and soft coal areas. The principal number are from these areas and they would benefit by having this hospital available to them.

As we all know, tuberculosis in our State has gone down with the recent findings in the field of medicine, and the pressing problem here is taking care of these youngsters if we can possibly do it.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, may I say a word to my friend, the gentleman from Philadelphia, at this time, please?

The PRESIDENT. You may.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, I would like to call to Senator Weiner's attention that I do not want the onus of asking that this bill go over to be placed upon Senator Berger.

Mr. President, I have asked that this bill go over because, Senator Weiner, there is a problem involved here with the mentally retarded. There is also the question that perhaps we might even find more beds for the mentally retarded than the 600 you mentioned. I am aware of the 600 possible beds that we can find at the Miner State Hospital, at Hamburg. We are seeking to find, if we can, even more beds than those.

Of course, this is a problem between two departments, the Health and the Public Welfare Departments. I have been working diligently with the heads of each of these departments, as I think they will attest to, in trying to work out this particular situation to the best advantage of all of the people involved. We have sick people here involved, both mentally sick and physically sick, and our problem is to try to work it out to the very best advantage of everyone. I met with them as late as this morning. I am sure, Senator Weiner and Mr. President, that we will have a solution at a very early date and that we will not ask that this bill go over any longer than is absolutely necessary.

The only reason that it is being requested to go over today, I reiterate, is to try and find, if possible, even more beds for these mentally retarded about whom you are concerned and about whom we are concerned.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman for reporting to us on the progress of this legislation.

As I stated earlier, I have no objection to this bill going over. I just wanted to bring to the attention of the Senate the urgency of this matter, and this urgency has been impressed upon me by the communication I received from the Department of Public Welfare. I did not want any of us to be criticized because perhaps we are not moving as quickly as we could on something as important as this.

I believe that Senator Eliott has adequately answered the question on the problem. I think all of us will be very happy to join with him if we can find more space for the people who are sick in this Commonwealth.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, I would like to thank the gentleman, too, for pointing out to the rest of the Senate the urgency of this problem. I merely made my statement so that he would recognize that we also were aware of it, and that, actually although there is this little difference that separates us, we are all working in the same direction. I do hope that within twenty-four hours, or less, we can come to some equitable solution.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order, on third reading.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1897, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 1216) entitled "Real Estate Broker License Act of 1929" further regulating deposits and disbursements of funds by brokers.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which concurrence of the House is requested.

REMAINING BILLS ON THIRD READING CALENDAR OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the remaining bills, on today's Third Reading Calendar, go over in their order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

SENATE BILL No. 290 CALLED UP

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I call up, from page 4 of today's Third Reading Calendar, Senate Bill No. 290, Printer's No. 314, which previously went over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 290, entitled:

An Act providing for a referendum to determine the will of the electorate on certain contracts between any political subdivision and Authorities.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Stevenson and myself, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 1, lines 1 to 3 of Title, by striking out all of said lines and inserting: "Requiring the approval by the governing bodies of political subdivisions of projects, plans, rates and charges of Authorities created by such political subdivisions"; Amend Sec. 1, page 1, lines 1 and 2, by striking out "political subdivision shall enter into or execute any contract with any"; Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 4, by striking out "which" (1) is a long term contract and"; Amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 1 to 7, by striking out all of lines 1 to 6 and "enter into such contract is" in line 7 and inserting: "shall enter into any new project, nor shall it proceed with any new plans or change of plans, or impose any fees, rates or assessments to be fixed or made in connection therewith until the same are"; Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 7, by striking out "electors" and inserting: "governing body"; Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 8, by inserting after "subdivision:" "or political subdivisions which created the Authority"; Amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 8 and 9, by striking out "the electors as hereinafter provided" and inserting: "at least three-fifths of each such governing body"; Amend Sec. 2, page 2, lines 10 to 19; page 3, lines 1 to 5 by striking out all of said lines; Amend Sec. 3, page 3, line 6, by striking out "3" and inserting: "2"; Amend Sec. 3, page 3, line 7, by striking out "a referendum" and inserting: "approval of such governing bodies"; Amend Sec. 3, page 3, line 7, by striking out "(1)"; Amend Sec. 3, page 3, line 9, by striking out "authority" and inserting: "Authority"; Amend Sec. 3, page 3, lines 10 to 12, by striking out "or (2) deter a political subdivision" in line 10 and all of lines 11 and 12; Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 13, by striking out "4" and inserting: "3".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, these amendments, if adopted, would require approval by the governing bodies of political subdivisions of projects, plans, rates and charges of authorities created by such political subdivisions.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 290, Printer's No. 314, on third reading, go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

RECESS

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request a one-half hour recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a Republican Caucus and a Democratic Caucus, to be held in the respective Caucus Rooms.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a one-half hour recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

HOUSE MESSAGES

SENATE BILL No. 689 RETURNED WITH AMENDMENTS

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 689, entitled:

An Act reenacting, amending and revising the act of April 6, 1953 (P. L. 3), entitled "Uniform Commercial Code."

An Act providing for the annual registration of organized camps for children, youth and adults, defining the duties of the Department of State of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and prescribing penalties.

be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

In the Senate, September 22, 1959.

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene Monday, September 28, 1959 at TWO o'clock P.M., E.S.T. and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, September 28, 1959, at THREE-THIRTY o'clock P.M., E.S.T.

HOUSE NON-CONCURS IN SENATE AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL No. 1566

He also informed the Senate that the House has non-concurred in the amendments made by the Senate to House Bill No. 1566, entitled:

An Act amending the "Orphans' Court Act of 1951," approved August 10, 1951 (P. L. 1163), conferring exclusive jurisdiction of control of decedent's burial on the orphans court, and giving it concurrent jurisdiction with regard to guardians of the person of incompetents.

SENATE RECEDES FROM ITS AMENDMENTS NON-CONCURRED IN BY THE HOUSE TO HOUSE BILL No. 1566

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do recede from its amendments non-concurred in by the House to the foregoing bill.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I second the motion. On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I introduced these amendments in which the House does not want to concur. According to my amendments, Philadelphia County would have been exempted from passing a substantial part of the jurisdiction, which is now vested in the Court of Common Pleas, to the Orphans' Court. In Philadelphia, we have seven Courts of Common Pleas, with three judges in each court, which gives us twenty-one judges who are always available, and at any time we can get their co-operation on pressing matters like burials and so on.

Please understand, I am not saying anything derogatory about the Orphans' Court. We have the finest judges. Philadelphia just has a peculiar situation.

Now that the House does not want to concur in the amendments, I am appealing to my colleagues to support me in casting their votes against this recession, which has been moved by Senator Berger.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, may we be at ease a few moments?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The roll was called and was as follows:

YEAS—28

Berger,	Fleming,	Mallery,	Van Sant,
Blass,	Harney,	Pechan,	Wade,
Chapman,	Keller,	Probert,	Wagner,
Confair,	Kessler,	Scott,	Walker,

Hays,	McGinnis,	Ripp,	Stiefel,
		Rooney,	Weiner,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

BILLS SIGNED

The President (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the presence of the Senate signed the following bills:

Senate Bill No. 114 Printer's No. 123;

Senate Bill No. 125, Printer's No. 134;
 Senate Bill No. 429, Printer's No. 744;
 Senate Bill No. 598, Printer's No. 645;
 Senate Bill No. 650, Printer's No. 704;
 Senate Bill No. 684, Printer's No. 745;
 Senate Bill No. 713, Printer's No. 792;
 Senate Bill No. 814, Printer's No. 1175;
 Senate Bill No. 861, Printer's No. 1000;
 Senate Bill No. 1064, Printer's No. 1262; and
 Senate Bill No. 1084, Printer's No. 1343.

HOUSE BILL No. 660 CALLED UP

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I call up, from page 2 of today's Third Reading Calendar, House Bill No. 660, Printer's No. 1569, which went over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

REVENUE BILL ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 660, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1889 (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred seventy-nine" continuing in effect the rate of tax of fourteen mills heretofore imposed upon the gross receipts of certain companies limited partnerships associations joint-stock associations copartnerships and persons and imposing the tax upon the gross receipts of gas companies and municipalities engaged in gas business.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL No. 660

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which this bill just passed third reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 2, last two lines of Title by striking out all of said lines; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 23), page 4, line 13 by inserting a bracket before "December"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 23), page 5, line 3 by striking out the brackets before and after "and"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 23), page 5, lines 4 to 6 by striking out "December thirty-first one thousand nine" in line 4, all of line 5 and "thousand nine hundred sixty" in line 6; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 23), page 5, line 6 by inserting a bracket after "mills" and inserting immediately thereafter: "and for each year"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 23), page 6, line 6 by striking out the brackets before and after "February" and striking out "April"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 23), page 7, line 17 by striking out the brackets before and after "and"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 23), page 7, line 19; page 8, line 1 by striking out "except that gross receipts from other" in line 19, page 7 and all of line 1, page 8; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 23), page 8, line 4 by striking out the brackets before and after "of" and striking out "that"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 23), page 8, line 4 by striking out the brackets before and after "as"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 23), page 8, line 5 by striking out the brackets before and after "outside" and striking out "inside"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 23), page 8, line 6 by striking out "owning or"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 23), page 8, lines 6 and 7 by striking out "the public utility or furnishing".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, speaking on the amendments just offered by Senator Weiner, ordinarily we would have no objection to such amendments. It appears that their result would not be consistent with the legislative intent as expressed by the House Democratic Leadership when this bill was passed. In effect, the amendments suggested would remove the Philadelphia Gas Works and the revenues therefrom from the tax, which is a gross receipts tax on the gas utilities.

Mr. President, in the Legislative Journal of the House, of June 30, 1959, on this subject, referring to page 2106, the debate between Mr. Tompkins and Mr. McCann, the Majority Floor Leader, was as follows, in part:

"Mr. TOMPKINS. Is it the legislative intent that this bill apply to municipally-owned gas companies?"

"Mr. McCANN. It is not the legislative intent that it apply to municipally-owned gas companies operated by a municipality."

"Mr. TOMPKINS. Is it the legislative intent that this bill apply to the Philadelphia Gas Company?"

"Mr. McCANN. If the Philadelphia Gas Company is in the same category as all other gas companies operating within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, it would apply. The question in Philadelphia is a question that only the courts can decide. The city of Philadelphia owns the gas system. The city of Philadelphia does not operate the gas system of the city of Philadelphia. The city of Philadelphia has a contract lease with a gas company, which operates the city-owned gas system."

"Mr. TOMPKINS. Is it the legislative intent that this tax apply to the gross receipts of that gas company?"

"Mr. McCANN. It is the legislative intent that this tax applies to the revenue yielded by the operating company that operates the gas system in the city of Philadelphia. On the Court decision regarding the lease that is in existence or the changing of the lease in some way in which the courts would rule, I cannot tell or foresee what they would do. As the bill is now written, the revenue estimated yield includes Philadelphia."

"Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, Mr. Speaker, do I take it that his answer is, yes?"

"Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, my answer would certainly be, yes. The gentleman from Cameron knows quite well that I am not going to forecast the decision of the court. I believe I read the same news story concerning the solicitor of the city of Philadelphia.

"Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I am not asking the Majority Leader to tell the courts what to do, or to make a decision for them. I am merely asking him to put on record a decision of legislative intent with reference to the gross receipts from this gas company.

"Mr. McCANN. And I have done that, and the answer is yes.

"Mr. TOMPKINS. Thank you."

Mr. President, that, briefly, is a statement of the legislative intent concerning the operation of this tax in regard to the Philadelphia Gas Company. The bill, in its present form, would include the Philadelphia Gas Company in accordance with the intent expressed by the Majority Leader in the House of Representatives. Therefore, Mr. President, I request my colleagues to vote against these amendments.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I listened to the reading of the Journal of the House where Mr. McCann made the statement that Philadelphia does not operate its gas works, but leases it. Mr. McCann, of course, is not a resident of Philadelphia.

I want to call the attention of this Body to the fact that the statement he made was erroneous. Philadelphia not only owns the gas works, but also operates it. There is no lease between Philadelphia and the U. G. I. All Philadelphia does, in its operation, is to engage the U. G. I. as its agent and pays it a fee for services. Therefore, Mr. President, the statement made by Mr. McCann was unintentionally erroneous. I feel that, inasmuch as we have exempted public utilities owned by municipalities, definitely this is a discrimination against the city of Philadelphia. I feel that the Republican Majority should reconsider its action in this matter and should vote in favor of these amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, in order for us to vote intelligently on this matter,—unfortunately, I say from my point of view, most of these gentlemen do not come from Philadelphia—I would like to acquaint you with some of the problems that we have had, and perhaps you will have a better understanding of this entire picture and why we have taken the position that we have taken.

It is not our desire to exempt the people of Philadelphia from a tax that everybody else is going to pay, nor is it our desire to get any particular privileges for the people of Philadelphia that everyone else is not going to be subject to or enjoy, if that be the case.

Let me take you back to the year 1890, through the year 1907. The gas works was then being run by a gentleman known as Mr. Matt Quay. I think the name is rather familiar to people who are in politics. He was sometimes known as Matt "Shake the Tree" Quay. This gentleman plundered the gas works and it was scandal-ridden. In 1907, among other things that happened, it was taken out of his control and out of his hands.

Beginning at that time, the city turned it over to an operating company and this company has produced revenue for the city of Philadelphia and has also provided gas at a rate lower than anywhere else along the Eastern seaboard. Now bear in mind that Philadelphia is a seaport city. There is the problem of residual oil which is constantly facing the members of that community. All of you, who have had some traffic or at some time have had contact with builders, realize that they are anxious to sell a product, much the same as automobile dealers or people who sell appliances, so that when they build a house, they try to do it as cheaply as they possibly can in order that they can get the most profit out of it. That is not in criticism of them; that is merely stating a fact. On that basis, they have been putting gas heat into homes, due to the low rate. That has been one of the selling points. They have put in other appliances that operate by gas.

As you might well realize, the electric company in the city of Philadelphia has been competing with them at a very terrific rate in the sense that the Conowingo Dam, which is not too far from Philadelphia, also brings electricity into that same area, so that there have been appliances operated by electricity put in to the homes. However, the heating of homes is still done by oil. This oil is located in Marcus Hook, which happens to be very close to Senator Watkins' area, and which can be sold at a cheaper rate if they can get the volume into the city. This battle, or tug-of-war, has been going on for some time.

You gentlemen who do not come from a seaport area or a related area do not have that problem at all and are not concerned with it.

In 1926, the Legislature tried to put a tax on municipally owned gas works. At that time, there may have been one or two other gas works other than the city of Philadelphia. At this time, there is one in the city of Philadelphia and one in the borough of Chambersburg. When they looked into this problem, they realized how they would be penalizing the cities that had taken the trouble to clear up a bad situation, and they were using this means to provide additional revenue and they were also trying to give the people living in that community a cheap rate way of heating their homes, for cooking and other necessities of life.

At that time, they reiterated and stated very clearly that they were not interested in taxing this type of facility. They were not going to do it, and they did not do it.

Again, in 1935, they had this very same problem. Therefore, the problem we are facing is not new, nor does it begin here with us. They re-affirmed again the same position that they were not going to take care of the gas works and include the Philadelphia situation in them.

Why, you might ask, would they do that? For the following reason: Most gas utilities have an opportunity to go before the P. U. C. if they need an increase in rates. I think I am not revealing any confidences here because it is a matter of public record that most of your utilities today are before the P. U. C. asking for an increase, and the day we pass this bill, this will be one more reason for them to get this increase.

Unfortunately, in the city of Philadelphia, our people do not come before the P. U. C. because this does not come under that category. They have no one to go to and ask for an increase. They are fixed on the rate that they get. The operating management is paid at a fixed rate, so that they have nowhere to go. You might say in answer to that, "Well, they could raise the rate very easily if they do not have to go before the P. U. C." That is also true. However, by the same token, they would be losing consumers because people will not remain where they have to pay a higher rate when they can get the very same product at a lower rate, and there is competition in the area.

Now if you take this revenue away from the city of Philadelphia,—and I have been reading in the newspaper that you have cut the budget; I do not know where, but I would like to know where—I am just wondering whether you have included in your budget an amount to make up for this money that you are taking away from the city of Philadelphia, and how they are going to get along with their projects and programs, most of which are projected over a number of years. Where are they going to get this additional revenue that they have been counting on in this area to put into the program that they now have?

As a matter of fact, this matter became of such import in Philadelphia that Councilman Wilbur Hamilton, who happens also to be the Republican City Chairman, issued a statement on August 25, 1959. I think he paid a visit to this Senate and spoke to the gentlemen on your side, as well as some of the people over here. The release which he handed out came from the Republican Central Campaign Committee and it stated that he came out strongly against this proposal in the Pennsylvania State Senate to tax the Philadelphia Gas Works receipts. He went on at length, saying and I read from this release:

"This proposal discriminates against the city of Philadelphia and the gas customers.

"If this bill should be enacted, the additional cost to the Gas Company would be passed along to the consumers. It is estimated the cost would be approximately $1,000,000.

"There are a number of municipally-owned electric and other utilities in Pennsylvania, but only Philadelphia and Chambersburg have city-owned gas plants."

"Hamilton pointed out also that if the proposal is approved, it would amount to a tax on the City of Philadelphia by the Commonwealth.

"It is unusual to say the least," he added, "for a superior governmental authority to impose a tax on a state or local government.

"I urge members of both Houses of the Legislature, and of both Parties, to reject this discriminatory tax on Philadelphia and the consumers of Philadelphia."

If Mr. Hamilton were a Democratic City Chairman or if he were a Democratic leader taking this position, you might well say this is partisan politics. However, this is not the case. This is a Republican Councilman, who happens to be the Republican City Chairman and who also happens to be running for re-election. He could have stayed out of this argument, had he seen fit, or if he is using it for political fodder, he certainly is not using it against the opposite party. I think the position that he has taken is a sound one. To say that I do not often agree with Republican leaders, I think, would be a fair statement. However, when he is correct in saying something that is fair and not only happens to be in line with a position that I have taken, I think it is a correct position.

This is strictly a political maneuver. I think it is an erroneous act on your part. I think the Governor will not sign this bill and I do not think the House Members will concur in it. I am sure this information I am giving you is nothing that you do not know or you are not aware of, because I do not think you are that naive, politically or otherwise, not to understand the mechanics of how this thing will work.

If the purpose is to punish the city of Philadelphia, that is one thing. If the purpose is to treat this matter fairly, that is another. I do not think you are being fair in acting in this manner.

I will give you one more reason. In all of the sales taxes that we have passed,—and I think Senator Kessler is aware of this more than anyone else here because he has taken time to study these measures—we have exempted municipally owned utilities, whether they be telephone companies, electric companies or any other type of facility. Now, lo and behold, we come down to the gas works and we immediately put the city of Philadelphia in it. I can only come to one conclusion, that the purpose is to punish the city of Philadelphia because it happens to be of a different political faith than the gentlemen sitting on the other side who put these amendments in the bill.

If you could demonstrate to me the exact reason for doing this or changing the bill from the purport that it had or originally, I would be very willing to hear it, if it is a logical argument.

The way the bill was originally written, and the way it came to this Senate, left in doubt whether the city of Philadelphia was or was not in it. I think that is the problem and one which should have been taken up by the courts and settled there. You saw fit not to do this. As the bill originally came out of committee, it came out with this amendment in it and that was then changed because I think you saw the fairness in doing that. Later on, we got into a political atmosphere, and I think it was changed for that reason.

If you want to demonstrate your fairness, not only to the city of Philadelphia but the people who live therein, many of whom are Republicans, I think you will vote for these amendments and restore the bill to its original purpose, and you will not try to punish the people of Philadelphia because they do not happen to have chosen an administration that happens to be in the same light or are as you are in.

Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the request for a roll call.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, last fall, the Governor appointed a Tax Study Committee to make some recommendations to the Administration and to the General Assembly, I believe, as to means of raising the $400,000,000 of revenue which he indicated was required. A part of that Committee's recommendation was that the gas companies be brought under the utilities' gross receipts tax. Such a bill appeared and, in a discussion in the House which Senate Berger just read, it was evident that the intention of the House was that the Philadelphia Gas Works be included in this bill.

When the bill came over to the Senate, we had quite a little discussion on it and finally met with the Attorney General and a Deputy, Mr. Friedman, together with the Minority Leader and, I believe, the Majority Leader. We tried to find out whether it was necessary to amend the bill so as to be sure the Philadelphia Gas Works would be included. The Attorney General indicated that she could give us no decision, and that this was something which the courts would have to decide.

With that information, we, in the Finance Committee, decided—and I take the full responsibility for it—that the bill should be amended so that any doubt would be removed as to whether the Philadelphia Gas Works were or were not included. We included the Philadelphia Gas Works solely for the reason that if all of the people in Pennsylvania are going to have to pay a higher rate for their gas because of this increased tax, brought in under the utilities' gross receipts tax, then the people of Philadelphia should not be exempted, in all fairness to the other people in the community. Why should a resident of Pittsburgh have to contribute additional funds to the running of the Commonwealth, and Philadelphia, solely because it has a municipally owned gas works, operated by a commercial company, be free of that tax?

There was no intent to punish Philadelphia. Our intention was solely to apply the tax as equally as we possibly could over all of the constituents in this Commonwealth.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would just like to answer the gentleman. I hope he is not coming back here and telling us that the Hood-Kennedy Report is good for some purposes and not good for others. I would like to remind the gentleman that he has in his committee a bill recommended by the Hood-Kennedy Committee, which he has not seen fit to act on. If the newspaper quotes which were attributed to the gentleman are accurate—I can assume they are because I have never heard them denied—he stated that as long as he is Chairman of the Finance Committee, he would never bring out the stocks and bonds tax. If he is saying for some purposes the Hood-Kennedy Report is all right and he is going to enact it, and for other purposes it is no good, I cannot follow this logic.

One of the other things which the gentleman brought up in his discussion was that he does not want the people of Pennsylvania to contribute to the city of Philadelphia. I think that is far, far from being the fact. I think if the city of Philadelphia were left alone to handle its own problems and collect its own taxes and was not required to give anything to the Commonwealth, we would manage very well. We would never have to come up here and ask for anything. We would not have to ask for school subsidies or any kind of reimbursement for our roads or anything else. I think the short end has been gotten here by the city of Philadelphia all along the line. At this point, to say that we are asking anybody in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to contribute to us, because of this terrific beating which we have been getting all along from the other areas of Pennsylvania, I think is being unrealistic and certainly not in keeping with the facts as they are.

Everytime we come up against subsidies to schools, Philadelphia is always counted out or counted short. Even at this time, when the Tax Equalization Board sought to equalize the rough situation as it existed we now want to call back the formula and change the rules. In the other area of roads, certainly if it were based on the percentage of population or on the percentage of miles laid, Philadelphia would far and away get what it gets. However, what happens? We have a sixty-forty return and we certainly get the short end on that.

I cannot understand how the gentleman can pursue along those lines. I cannot understand how he can discuss this matter in that manner and try to say that Philadelphia wants other people to support it, when that is not borne out by the facts as we have them here or as we know them.

I would also like the gentleman to tell us, since he has served on this committee on the budget, whether he has given Philadelphia the money it needs in the county health plan? Everybody knows that out of the sixty-seven counties, sixty-six of them are in it and the only one which is omitted is the city of Philadelphia. How does this add up with what he is telling us? It is certainly not logical and it certainly does not follow what the facts are. If he will tell us that he has included Philadelphia in the county health plan, and has not cut us out of that, maybe I can begin to go along with his logic or his type of thinking. However, if the newspaper accounts are correct—and since no one has denied them, I would assume they are correct—Philadelphia has been taken out of that program also.

If the cloth fits by cutting it one way for one purpose and the cloth fits by cutting it another way for another purpose, I do not know the rules of the game and I cannot follow the game without a program. I would like to have a program, as would my colleagues sitting on this side.

I just do not understand this type of thinking or this type of logic. It escapes me completely. I wish the gentleman would take a little more time—we are not going anywhere and we are going to be here today for some time—and explain to us how this follows. I fail to follow this type of reasoning or this type of logic. If, of course, we are engaging in a kind of logic or reasoning which only fits the following of the majority votes, then I can understand that because that is politics. However, from where I sit, it is not very good politics.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, as far as we from Philadelphia are concerned, this bill is one of the most important pieces of legislation that has come before this Body. I do not want to overemphasize the importance of the amendments which we are now faced with, but it means, if these amendments are not passed, that the profits which the Philadelphia Gas Works has been making for the city of Philadelphia will go down the drain. I do not know whether my friends on the other side of the aisle are prepared to give Philadelphia increased appropriations to overcome the deficits which the people of Philadelphia are going to be faced with. The rumors we hear, as of today, are that we, from Philadelphia, will go home with our hats in our hands, with no appropriation for the Philadelphia General Hospital, with no appropriation under the Philadelphia County Health Plan, besides losing a million or a million and one-half dollars, as a result of this bill.

Mr. President, let us make it clear here today on this floor. My very good friend, Wilbur Hamilton, who is the Republican Chairman of the city of Philadelphia, has taken time out to place the blame on the Democratic Members of the Senate and the Democratic Governor for including the Philadelphia Gas Works in this tax bill. By our vote today, I hope it will be brought home to the people of Philadelphia, before the November election and thereafter, that when $1,000,000 is taken out of the people's funds, and when that money has to be made up, the people of Philadelphia will know who voted to put us back under this tax. This roll call vote, Mr. President, will make it very clear for Mr. Hamilton and his Republican constituents back home, once and for all.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I do not think I can sit here and hear one insult after another heaped upon the city of Philadelphia.

The city of Philadelphia is, I would say, the heart of Pennsylvania, certainly historically and, perhaps, industrially. Here we are, heaping one insult after another upon our city. Sure, the blood of Philadelphia can travel all over the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. A school in Coudersport receives seventy-five per cent of its costs, which are paid from where? From places like Philadelphia. Still, they come to us and ask us to place unusual taxes on the city of Philadelphia. If it is the last thing I do in this Senate, it will be to vote against legislation such as this. This is discriminatory legislation against Philadelphia. When I say Philadelphia in this instance, it seems like it is Philadelphia and all the other large centers of population in Pennsylvania.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, before we go on to the roll call, I would just like to mention one other thing. I am not interested in delaying this discussion any longer because I think all of us pretty well realize what the result will be.

However, Mr. President, today we heard a rather impressive talk by Senator Whalley. I would like to say, on behalf of my colleagues, that it was one of the most impressive talks I have heard since I have been in this Senate. It impressed me to hear a man give all the data which he gave, without a note or any kind of prepared material in front of him. The thing which impressed me more than anything else—and I hope that my colleagues were listening—was concerning what is being done in other counties. I am certain they do not engage in this kind of pretty nonsense. That is one of the reasons they have gotten on. They address themselves to the problem at hand and try to get on with their business. This type of in-fighting, and this type of cutting and undercutting, may be great and it may be what makes a democracy great, and I would not like to see it changed for anything. However, I think this is sort of getting down to petty politics. I think it is something which we would think very carefully about before we go on to do it.

I am just wondering, if the gentlemen sitting on the other side would think carefully, how Pennsylvania would fare without the city of Philadelphia, and without the city of Pittsburgh, and without the city of Scranton and without some of the other cities that help make up this Commonwealth and provide the tax money and the sinew which makes up the length and breadth of this Commonwealth. Who are we actually hurting by this bill? We are hurting the people. They are the assets of this Commonwealth. The assets are not our buildings nor our mineral wealth. The cars which we have amassed in this Commonwealth, and the money we have amassed in the banks, amount to nothing. The thing which counts is the people of Pennsylvania. To punish two and some million people who live in the city of Philadelphia, just to serve some political end, certainly does not make good sense and it certainly does not make good politics.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WEINER and Mr. BARR, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—23

Barr,	Kalman,	Miller,	Sarraf,
Camlel,	Lane,	Mullin,	Seyler,
DiSilvestro,	Mahady,	Murray,	Silver,
Donolow,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Stiefel,
Elliot,	McGinnis,	Booney,	Weiner,
Hays,	McMenamin,	Ruth,

NAYS—27

Berger,	Harney,	Pechan,	Wade,
Blass,	Keller,	Propert,	Wagner,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Scott,	Walker,
Confair,	Koprivier, Jr.	Shafer,	Watkins,
Ehrgood,	Kromer,	Stevenson,	Whalley,
Flack,	Madigan,	Taylor,	Wolfe,
Fleming,	Mallery,	Van Sant,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer further amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title, page 1, last line of the title, by inserting after "companies": "and water companies"; Amend Section 1 (Section 23), page 3, line 8, by inserting after "company": "water company"; Amend Section (Section 23), page 3, line 15, by inserting after "gas": "water"; Amend Section 1 (Section 23), page 3, line 8, by inserting after "company": "water company"; Amend Section (Section 23), page 3, line 15, by inserting after "gas": "water"; Amend Section 1 (Section 23), page 5, line 13, by inserting after "gas": "or water"; Amend Section 1 (Section 23), page 5, line 14, by inserting after "gas": "or water".

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

On the question,

RECESS

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request a recess of the Senate until 8:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a recess of the Senate until 8:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

At the time of the recess, we had certain amendments before us to House Bill No. 660, which were offered by Senator Weiner.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, these amendments, I believe, are intended to impose the gross receipts tax upon various companies, other than gas companies, municipally owned.

Mr. President, I believe the situation regarding that type of company is considerably different from that which the gentleman advocated this afternoon to be exempted from the gross receipts tax. At that time, we were speaking, of course, about the tax upon the Philadelphia Gas Works, which is municipally owned. However, it was questionable in the bill whether it is municipally operated, in spite of the remarks made by some of the gentlemen on the other side.

It was stated here, I believe rather explicitly, that the reason for the vote against the amendments was that all of the people in Pennsylvania were going to pay this tax, excepting the people of Philadelphia, who, according to the amendments as offered, were to be exempted from the payment of the tax. It was also stated that the revenue accruing to the city of Philadelphia would be diminished considerably by the imposition of this tax. I do not believe, Mr. President, that this is a correct statement. There is no reason to believe that the revenue accruing to the city of Philadelphia would be diminished one cent by the imposition of this tax on gross receipts of the Philadelphia Gas Works. The Philadelphia Gas Works sets its own rates. Naturally, the tax is going to be passed on just as it is by every other gas company in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, this simply is a smoke screen over the whole issue and, therefore, I ask my colleagues to vote against these amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the gentleman summarized the situation as it exists correctly, except I think he failed to point out, rather emphatically, that this is a consumer tax. Being a consumer tax, it must be passed on to the people.

Where the city of Philadelphia is going to make up this revenue, I do not quite know. If they pass it on to the people and they lose the people who are consumers of gas, where would they get the new people in this same area to buy this gas or this product? How can the gentleman assure us that other people will not start using other products, such as oil, which is readily available in the area, as well as electricity which they can use for cooking instead of gas? If they can assure us that these things will not happen and that they will not have these problems, I could find myself in the position of voting for this same type of tax. However, the gentleman well knows that this is an area where there is a lot of oil and also, that cooking by electricity is becoming more and more prominent because the electric companies today are giving lower and lower rates, thereby inducing more people to use their products.

I cannot see how we can very readily pass this on to the consumer, without the company suffering. If the company suffers, in turn, the municipality must suffer the loss of revenue. This is not true of all the rest of the gas companies—other than the one in Chambersburg, as I pointed out, which is in the same situation as Philadelphia—in so far as they can immediately go before the Public Utility Commission, as they are already there, asking for an increase in their rates. The people in other areas cannot too well get oil. If you take an area like the up-State area or the center part of the Commonwealth, you cannot get electricity or oil as easily, nor at the rates that they are getting it in the Philadelphia area.

I think these are all things which should be seriously considered.

Mr. President, at this time, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Finance Committee, the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please advise us on what the amount is that this tax will bring into us, in its present state, as stated in this bill today?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I believe the Department of Revenue's estimate is $5,400,000.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, does the gentleman mean that per year or per biennium?

Mr. KESSLER. That is for this biennium.

Mr. WEINER. It might be very helpful if the gentleman would tell us how much this tax would bring in if we added the water companies to it?

Mr. KESSLER. I have no idea, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Would it be less than the amount which you just estimated for us?

Mr. KESSLER. Unquestionably, it would be more.

Mr. WEINER. Would you say it would amount to twice as much as this bill has in it now?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I cannot guess. I have no idea.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may I qualify the gentleman as an expert witness, who has looked into these matters for a long period of time? Would he give us an educated guess on what he feels this would bring in?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I have never made an attempt to estimate the revenues of the water companies in Pennsylvania. I simply cannot make any guess that would be worth-while.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman tell us if there are twice as many water works as there are gas companies in this Commonwealth?

Mr. KESSLER. I cannot answer that, Mr. President. However, I would presume there are many more water companies than there are gas companies.

Mr. WEINER. At the present rate, Mr. President, would the gentleman tell us whether this would bring in about $10,000,000 or $20,000,000 more than is estimated by this bill?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, the gentleman's figures are just as good as any that I would give.

Mr. WEINER. Would the gentleman say that the figures I have given are worse than he would guess to be the amount that this bill would bring in?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I am not accustomed to guessing unless I have some facts. I have no idea how many water companies there are or what the revenues might be, and any guess I would make would just be a figure drawn out of the air.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please advise us if this bill, with water companies included in it, were to produce more revenue, would he be willing to vote for it?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, we have no such bill before us. I would have to see what the total revenue would be. Maybe we do not need all of that money.

Mr. WEINER. Would the gentleman further advise us, if I were to advise him that this bill would bring in more money and it might take care of the cuts which are allegedly made in the budget, whether he then would vote for this bill?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, the cuts which are proposed in the budget are made to save the taxpayers money. I cannot see any sense in adding another tax to make up for the cuts.

Mr. WEINER. I want to thank the gentleman, Mr. President. If I was having difficulty in following his logic before, I am having more difficulty now.

If you cut out of the budget money which is allocated to take care of people's needs, and the revenue is already there to take care of them, I cannot see how you save people money unless you do away with tax measures that are going to raise the money to provide for this budget. Maybe that is a piece of devious thinking that I cannot follow, but that is the way I analyze it.

I want to thank the gentleman, however. He has been more than kind.

Mr. President, I believe that one of the statements made by the Chairman of the Finance Committee was that he has always been anxious to raise more money. There are some bills on the Calendar which he has told us might do this. Here is a perfect opportunity for us to raise more money and do it as painlessly as we possibly know how.

I would like to ask the gentlemen who are interested in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania—so that we will not have to cut education, hospitals and other needy institutions in this Commonwealth—to vote for this measure so that we can get the proper revenues which we need. In that way, it will not be necessary to cut anybody. We might be able to add some money for the colleges and some of the other institutions which we all know can use all the money they can get and then some.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, a few days ago, I was here in the halls of the Senate and I heard the Minority Leader complain about a constitutional question. I am sure that Senator Weiner would not want to go ahead and add additional taxes on a measure such as this.

I do not want to get a crying towel out for him at this late hour, because, after all, I am sure that Philadelphia is a very wealthy city and probably can take care of itself. With the help of Delaware County, Lebanon County and many other of the rural counties, I believe that the Commonwealth will be well able to take care of itself.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am glad that the gentleman prefaced his remarks by stating that he was here only a few days ago. Had he been here continually, he would have understood that I said that all revenue-raising measures have to be House measures because the Constitution states, Article III, Section 14, that all revenue-raising measures must originate in the House.

If the gentleman will look at his Calendar, I might point out to him that we are working on House Bill No. 660. This is a tax measure which has originated in the House and which is now before us. By the amendments we are offering to it, we are trying to bring in more revenue than it now will bring in. This is not changing the measure nor is it taking a Senate measure and subverting it for the purposes of raising revenue.

As far as a crying towel is concerned, Mr. President, we do not need any tears at all. We are merely asking, as we have always asked, that if you leave the money we collect from the city of Philadelphia in the city of Philadelphia, we will ask you for nothing. We will be quite able to take care of ourselves. Our cry is that you take the money from the city of Philadelphia, return very little of it back to the city of Philadelphia and use it throughout the rest of Pennsylvania, and spending most of your time by cutting the programs and the projects that the city of Philadelphia is trying to carry out for itself in order to pull itself up by its own boot straps. If you will just leave the Philadelphia problem to Philadelphia, you will have no further difficulty whatsoever. That has been our cry all along.

I would suggest to the gentleman that he look into the problem and use his energies, instead of crying, in trying to see that Philadelphia is included along with the other sixty-six counties in Pennsylvania in the county health program, which we so badly need in our city.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I do have my handkerchief out, but, of course, I do not think it is for the Minority Leader.

I would say, Mr. President, that we hear about education in the city of Philadelphia. When we hear about the sad load that the rest of the Commonwealth has to bear for the educational problem, and when we hear that the city of Philadelphia has an effective tax rate,—a millage rate of eleven mills—I begin to wonder about the statements made by the Minority Leader.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if the gentleman would acquaint himself with the problems of Pennsylvania and the problems of Philadelphia, as they exist, and realize the programs that have been put into Philadelphia, after so many years of nothing being done, he would realize the reason for us being in the position which we are in.

I did not want to get into the politics of this matter because I do not think that is germane here. However, if our friend here from Lebanon thinks this is the time to get into this area and to make this a political issue, I will be very happy to accommodate him and go into some of the misdoings and misfeasances which took place and why many, many people in Philadelphia, who used to occupy public offices, threw themselves out of windows. It is not my purpose here to go into all of that.

I think this is a serious matter and I do not think this is the type of thing that you should jest about. To say that the people of Philadelphia should put out a crying towel, I think is in bad taste. Our problem is one of a serious nature and one which affects us very badly. It is a problem which we have lived with for a long time, in order to get our gas works in a position where it will begin to earn some money and keep itself. Therefore, I think it is absolutely wrong, morally and legally, to put this burden on the people of Philadelphia, knowing full well that the entire purport of this thing is to make it a political issue.

The PRESIDENT. I think, gentlemen, we are getting a little far afield.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have listened attentively to the remarks made by the Minority Leader. I will not go into them at all, except to make this comment.

What he says about the city of Philadelphia and the retention of the taxes, which the city of Philadelphia pays into the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, might well be said about the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the taxes that it pays into the Federal Government. That has been the taxation axiom for many years. Those who are in a greater center of population, of greater wealth, pay into the common wheel the greater amount of money.

There is no question about the fact that Philadelphia pays a large amount of taxes into the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. There is no question about the fact that Pennsylvania pays a large amount of taxes into the Federal Government. Those taxes are devoted to the States which are of lesser population, lesser wealth and lesser resource. Mr. President, that is always going to be the case in taxation, whether it is Federal or whether it is State-wide. The gentleman well knows that and there is no reason to debate this question further.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to point out to the gentleman that he is correct in that situation, in that we do suffer. However, I do not think two wrongs make a right. Just because the Federal Government makes us suffer for what we give it, and we do not get back our proportionate share, is no reason to visit this upon the small communities which make up the parts of this Commonwealth. If this is a wrong that we can correct here, then we should correct it. I cannot do anything about the problems which exist in Congress or in the Federal Government. I can only try to, through my Representatives. However, I think if I can do something about it here, then this is the place for me to begin and try to correct any wrongs that might take place.

The PRESIDENT. I think, perhaps, we could speak on the amendments at this time.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I agree with you entirely, except I want to say that Pennsylvania is a proud member of the Union of the United States. I hope Philadelphia is a proud city of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. There is no doubt about that. I think we should proceed to the vote on these amendments.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. Do you wish to speak further on the amendments?

Mr. EHRGOOD. I would like to speak on what the Minority Leader said, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. That, I think, was far afield at the present time.

Mr. EHRGOOD. I agree one hundred per cent, Mr. President. However, at that time—

The PRESIDENT. If you agree with me, then how can you speak on what the Minority Leader said?

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I believe what I have to say is relevant to the amendments, themselves.

The PRESIDENT. The so-called Minority amendments simply relate to adding water companies. I have not heard a word about water companies.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I will yield.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I wish to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded. The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I call up, from page 3, of today's Third Reading Calendar, House Bill No. 2100, Printer's No. 1639, which went over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

REVENUE BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,
The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2100, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1228) entitled as amended "Selective Sales and Use Tax Act" defining or redefining certain words, terms or phrases imposing tax on soft drinks at the retail level providing for alternate imposition of tax in certain cases changing procedures relative to tax refunds or credits conferring powers and imposing duties on certain persons soliciting orders by means of catalogues or other advertising changing certain provisions relating to returns assessments and basis of such assessments imposing liabilities and duties on certain sellers transferors auctioneers and certain purchasers involved in bulk sales or auction sales transactions clarifying provisions relating to liens and the priority and effect thereof providing for suits by the Commonwealth for collection of tax granting tax suit comity to certain foreign states in certain cases regulating service of notice or process authorizing abatement of additions or penalties under certain circumstances changing the department's authority regarding enforcement of rules and regulations.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 2 of Title, lines 3 and 4, by striking out im- where it appears on line 3 of title, and by striking out all of line 4; Amend Section 1, page 3, lines 10 and 14, by striking out the bracket before "bottled" on line 10, and by striking out the bracket after city on line 14; Amend Section 1, page 4, line 1, by striking out the brackets before and after any; Amend Section 3, page 6, lines 6 and 15, by striking out the bracket before "the" on line 6 and after distributor" on line 15. Amend section 3, page 6, line 20, by striking out the bracket before THE and after sale. Amend Section 3, page 7, lines 1 and 3, by striking out the bracket before "of" on line 1 and by striking out the bracket after "butor" on line 3; Amend Section 5, page 9, line 19, by striking out the bracket before "the" on said line and after "to"; Amend Section 5, page 10, lines 1 and 8, by striking out the bracket before "bottled" on line 1 and by striking out the bracket after "distributor" on line 8; Amend Section 7, page 11, line 13, by striking out the brackets before and after the words or bottled and by striking out but shall; Amend Section 7, page 11, line 14, by striking out include and the bracket before whether on line 14; Amend Section 7, page 11, line 15, by striking out the bracket after container and by striking out "and the price of such"; Amend Section 7, page 11, lines 16, 17, 18 and 19 by striking out all of said lines; Amend Section 8, page 12, line 10, by striking out the brackets where they appear on said line; Amend Section 9, page 12, lines 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19 by striking out all of said lines; Amend Section 9, page 13, lines 1 and 2 by striking out all of said lines; Amend Section 10, page 15, line 20, by striking out the brackets where they appear on said line; Amend Section 10, page 16, lines 1 and 8, by striking out the brackets where they appear on said lines.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, these amendments are rather difficult to read and, therefore, may I ask the Minority Leader to explain them?

Mr. WEINER. I should be most happy to and I am sorry they are so lengthy and difficult.

However, what they do is remove the brackets put in, which amended House Bill No. 2100, and change the imposition of the tax on soft drinks at the alleged consumer level by making the people pay for it as they go through the turnstiles in the stores, rather than leaving it where it is now, at the distributor level.

Mr. BERGER. Then, Mr. President, these are intended to take the tax from the distributor level and put it on the consumer level. Is that correct?

Mr. WEINER. That is not correct. Just the reverse of that is correct. At present, the tax is on the distributor level. We want to leave it there. This bill would now put it directly onto the consumer.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, as I understand the bill, it is now upon the consumer level. Is that not correct?

The PRESIDENT. It is my belief, as I receive the information from the Minority Leader, that it is on at the distributor level, under the present bill.

Mr. BERGER. Under the present bill, is at the distributor level?

Mr. WEINER. That is correct.

Mr. BERGER. Your amendments would place it on the consumer level. Is that correct?

Mr. WEINER. No, sir. The tax at present, as was introduced in the original bill and passed in the original bill, is still on the consumer, but is being paid by the distributor. The amendments to this bill would take this tax now away from the distributor and place it completely on the consumer. It would have to be collected from the consumer, or taken from the consumer and kept by the person who took it in the last instance. The original bill, as passed, puts it on the distributor to pay to the Commonwealth. This bill would now take it back one more step down the level and make it at the consumer level, where it has always been, and make the person who took it in the last instance pay it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I did not so understand the amendments. My understanding was that the bill, as it is presently before us, puts the tax upon the consumer when he buys the product in the so-called six-package carton and when he buys it from the soft drink distributor. Am I not correct?

The PRESIDENT. Is the interrogation lost on you, Senator Weiner?

Mr. WEINER. I am sorry, Mr. President. I was interrupted. Would the gentleman please ask his question again?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, will the gentleman inform me whether or not the tax, as presently constituted, puts the tax upon the distributor only?

Mr. WEINER. That is correct.

Mr. BERGER. Are these amendments intended to restore it to that form?

Mr. WEINER. That is correct.

Mr. BERGER. The bill, as presently before us, Mr. President, places the tax upon the consumer. Is that correct?

Mr. WEINER. That is right.

The amendments, as we have them here remove the tax from the retail level. In other words, they restore it to where it originally was before this bill was before us, and before the amendments were placed in it by the Senate Finance Committee.

Mr. BERGER. As I understand it, Mr. President, when a purchaser of this type of beverage buys it in a store, he pays the tax on his way out. Is that correct?

Mr. WEINER. Not at the present time.

The PRESIDENT. The question is as to your amendments.

Mr. WEINER. As House Bill No. 2100 is amended now, with the amendments being placed in it by the Senate, if it became law, then every person who goes through a turnstile in a super market or in a small store would pay the tax on it at that point. That is correct.

Mr. BERGER. That is my understanding.

The PRESIDENT. I wonder whether I could see the Minority Leader and the Majority Leader up here for just a moment.

Mr. WEINER. I am sorry, Mr. President. I do not know whether the Majority Leader is finished with his interrogation of me.

The PRESIDENT. I do not know whether he is or not.

Mr. BERGER. May I again inquire of the Minority Leader just what his amendments are intended to do?

Mr. WEINER. My amendments, Mr. President, leave the bill as it was originally passed by the House, which is that the distributor pays the tax to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. BERGER. Again, Mr. President, I inquire whether or not the bill, as presently before us, puts the tax upon the consumer?

Mr. WEINER. That is correct.

Mr. President, I would like to point out that House Bill No. 2100, as it came over from the House, was merely a vehicle to take care of the problems which exist in the collection of the tax. It was merely an administrative bill in that sense. It was then changed in the Finance Committee of the Senate, in order to remove the tax as originally passed, which placed it on the distributor, on down to the consumer. Everytime anyone walked through a turnstile, bought a six-pack or bought more than a unit on a case, they would then have to pay the tax. I believe the original measure, as passed, was easier to collect.

The reason it was left at the distributor level was because all of those people are licensed. It is easy to inquire as to how much money they have taken in, what their inventory is and for them to collect the tax and for the Commonwealth to collect it from them. I think I do not have to go into any great detail for the gentlemen in this room to point out how difficult it is if you had to walk into every retail store existing in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and collect from them the tax which they collected from the people. Most of those stores, which are one-man operated or a husband and wife store, do not keep very accurate records. I think having the tax collectors follow after them to see that they do keep accurate records would run into much more money than this tax possibly might bring in, just in enforcing the collection of it.

I, therefore, ask that my amendments be adopted in order to bring this bill back to where it was when it came out of the House and leave the tax where it was when it came out of the House and leave the tax where it is now in order for us to receive the money which is due us.

The argument might be propounded that this might bring in more money. That could very well be true, but the question is, would it ever get back to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania? I think there might be some difficulty in getting an answer to that.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I question very much whether that statement will hold water. I do not believe that the storekeepers and the merchants of Pennsylvania are going to cheat on the tax. Mr. President, they have to collect tax upon any number of articles which are sold in food stores and similar stores in the same way that the articles under discussion are sold. They are obligated, by the tax measures of Pennsylvania, to collect the tax upon those articles. They simply collect the tax upon this merchandise the same as they collect it upon other merchandise which is taxable. Most articles in food stores are not taxable. It is probably a difficult thing for the cashiers to impose a tax upon mops, soap powder and that sort of thing, which happen to be taxable under the Sales Tax. However, it is no more trouble for them to impose it upon this merchandise than it is upon the other type.

I question very much whether the Commonwealth loses a great deal of tax because of withholding by the merchants of Pennsylvania from their government. I will say, Mr. President, that this tax is calculated, according to my information, to bring more money than the tax bill as it was passed over to us from the House.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, one of the difficulties in the small store is not that the storekeeper would cheat. I would not cast that kind of an aspersion upon the storekeepers or upon their good names. I think their difficulty is in keeping accurate records or keeping extensive records in order for them to make their returns. It may be that all storekeepers do not also sell soap, mops and other items which the super markets do sell. I think, however, there are very few stores that do not sell soda pop of some kind. I think it is also a little difficult to impose upon the consumer such a tax, and most of the taxes we have passed here have been consumer taxes. When a man is going to run a little party for his children or have a little party for people visiting in his home, you are constantly hitting him for nickels, pennies and dimes.

As between all the people who are concerned here to collect this tax, I certainly think the distributor is in a better position, having the personnel, having the office staff and having the people who can handle this thing, to collect the tax and make a return along with the other returns he makes to the Commonwealth and Federal Government.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, I heard the Minority Leader speak awhile ago about the fact that they needed more money. I heard him say that he wanted to put a tax on water companies. This bill here will bring more money into Pennsylvania and I think he should be interested in bringing more money into the State.

We, in the bottling business, disagree with one thing and that is that we should not be singled out as a different business and have an excise tax. This bill is an excise tax. It is not a sales tax. I do not want the impression made that it is a sales tax. We believe that the bill as it stands here, without these amendments, is a sales tax. We feel that the beverage business should impose a sales tax like any other business in Pennsylvania. I have confidence in the retailers. I do not believe that they are a bunch of thieves. I know they will pay their tax on soft drinks like they do on any other thing.

Therefore, Mr. President, I request my colleagues to vote against these amendments.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, the Chairman of the Finance Committee, Senator Kessler.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Kessler, could you tell the Members of the Senate just how much additional revenue will be derived by having this legislation at the retail level? What would be the additional amount of revenue?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, it is estimated between $800,000 and $1,000,000 additional revenue.

Mr. LANE. Could you tell the Members of the Senate how many distributors or wholesale outlets we have, as far as soft drinks are concerned, in Pennsylvania?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I did not understand the question.

Mr. LANE. Would you advise the Members of the Senate as to how many wholesale or distributor outlets we have in Pennsylvania for soft drinks?

Mr. KESSLER. I do not know, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Could you tell the Members of the Senate how many retail outlets we have in Pennsylvania for soft drinks?

Mr. KESSLER. I do not know that, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, we put up a great big argument here as to the advantage of collecting this tax at the retail level. The Chairman of the Finance Committee does not know how many distributors we have in Pennsylvania. He does not know how many retail outlets we have in Pennsylvania. Common sense will tell you, me and anyone else that the collection of the tax at the source is a great advantage not only to the taxpayers as a whole, but it will cut down the expense of collecting the tax.

As I have said before on the floor of this Senate, it is very, very difficult to collect a great percentage of the sales tax here in Pennsylvania because we have a classified sales tax. You gentlemen well know—those of you who worked on the Appropriations Committee when we were hearing the budget—that officials from the Department of Revenue stated that it is very difficult to collect seventy-five or eighty per cent of the present taxes.

Here we are changing the law again by putting this at the retail level. Although I am not accusing anyone of not collecting the tax or not paying it over, it is an impossibility to collect any great percentage of this tax if we have it at the retail level. I think it is more economical and more efficient to collect it at the distributor level.

I think the idea back of this legislation, if you do not mind me saying so, is purely political. If it were not political, you would not have inserted these amendments in House Bill No. 2100, which is really an enforcement act. There is your answer in a nutshell. If you are not playing politics, you will vote for Senator Weiner's amendments.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, a number of years ago in Pennsylvania, we started to have a consumers' sales and use tax. We have tried to maintain that tax as a consumers' tax. This Session, for the first time, we are beginning to step back from the consumer level to the distributor level. If we start that, we may as well take all the taxes and go back. The simplest way to collect the taxes is what was proposed several bienniums ago, on the manufacturers. There are very few of them. We could put a manufacturers' excise tax on many things, but that was not the purpose. The idea is to have a consumers' tax where people will be conscious of what government is costing them. They pay their tax when they make purchases. It is a spending tax. People do have an opportunity to avoid the tax if they do not wish to pay it. There was no question, in connection with the tax on laundry and dry cleaning, of shoving that back. We put it at the consumer level also.

I dislike the inferences that all of these moves which are made are political. I assure you that I have no interest in the political implications or the impact of this tax. What I am trying to do is to keep it as a consumers' tax and to make sure that we receive just as much revenue as possible.

We do know that the wholesale price of soft drinks is considerably less than the retail price. It stands to reason that if the tax is levied on the retail price, the income is going to be increased. Most of these outlets, as Senator Berger has pointed out, are already collecting taxes. This is just one more item that they will be collecting on.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Finance Committee, the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler, again.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. If you are so sincere in your approach to this problem, then why did you insert these features in House Bill No. 2100? Why did you not have a special bill, like you did for the beer and liquor tax?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I am very happy to answer that question. There were a number of bills in the Senate Finance Committee which we decided to incorporate into House Bill No. 2100. One had to do with trying to collect tax from the catalogue houses. Another one, I think, had to do with a change in the tax on automobile dealers. There are some other additions which we could point out if we go through the bill. We felt that the tax on beer and liquor, at the retail level, was a highly controversial subject. We did not want to jeopardize House Bill No. 2100 by inserting that amendment in this bill. We felt that the soft drink tax was not such a controversial issue. That is why we put it in.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I assume that the Chairman of the Finance Committee now realizes that the soft drink tax is certainly a controversial issue.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, since the Chairman of the Finance Committee pointed out about this consumer tax, I wish he would tell me—perhaps, I am under a misapprehension here—where the tax on House Bill No. 660 which was before us, dealing with the gas tax, was placed.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, if I may combat just briefly—

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler. That was a question I put to him.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

What was the question?

Mr. WEINER. I will repeat the question, sir.

Would you advise us where the tax was being placed in House Bill No. 660 which we just voted on this evening, which is the gas tax?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, that tax is a tax on public utilities which eventually reaches the consumer.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman. He has been very kind in answering my questions.

However, Mr. President, I fail to follow this type of thinking. If you place the tax on public utilities, then the public utilities should pay it. If you place it upon the public utilities with ultimately the consumer paying it, then it is a consumer tax. You cannot have one or the other. You must decide which way we are going to go. If we are going to place the tax directly on the people, let us say so. I do not think we should play games or shadowbox with them. I think one of the things you are saying here is that you want the people to know what government costs them, and I think the people are fully aware of that. If, by loading these taxes onto them and placing them on them very harshly, you are going to bring the matter home to them, I think you have already accomplished your purpose without enacting any further taxes.

However, Mr. President, I would like to point out to the gentleman that whether this tax is collected at the distributor level or whether it is collected at the retail level. I think the most important thing we must bear in mind is how much is Pennsylvania going to receive from the money which is collected. Is it all going to fall back to the Commonwealth? Is it going to cost us a lot of money to collect those taxes? If you can answer the first question by saying that we are going to receive most of our money and the second question by saying that it is not going to take a lot of people to collect it, then I think we should favor that type of taxation. I think you are hiding behind the fact that it is either consumer, depending upon where it is placed, and I think ultimately the consumer places it. I think it is playing with words or getting into a problem of semantics when you are dealing with whether it is at the distributor level or actually at the retail level, as we were talking about it.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, the thing I object to about the Democratic minority Leader's statement is about loading taxes. The only person who is loading taxes on the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is the Governor, a Democratic Governor. He is the one who has gone ahead and who has hidden behind an alleged bipartisan committee. He has gone ahead and said that we should impose this tax on gas and this tax on bank shares. If there is anyone loading taxes on the citizens of Pennsylvania, it is the Democratic Administration and Senator Weiner is a part of it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lebanon, Senator Ehrgood.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Ehrgood, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EHRGOOD. I will be very happy to, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please advise us, as a responsible elected official, how he proposes that we place a taxation upon the people of Pennsylvania, or anybody in Pennsylvania, to provide enough money to operate the budget?

Mr. EHRGOOD. Yes, Mr. President. I would vote and I have voted for House Bill No. 660, which was just voted down in the Senate of Pennsylvania and which the Democratic Administration proposed. That is one of the methods. I want to know, Mr. President, how he voted on that measure.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe I am doing the interrogating. If the gentleman is confused, I will be glad to explain to him who is doing what. I will be glad to answer any of his questions. However, I desire to further interrogate him.

Mr. President, would the gentleman from Lebanon advise us how he voted on the three and one-half per cent sales tax?

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I voted for it.

Mr. WEINER. I want to thank the gentleman, Mr. President.

As I remember it, when we first met and reorganized the Senate this Session, this gentleman was sitting on the other side. Unless he has changed party affiliation, I am not aware of it. He is not a part of the Governor's Party and he is not a part of the Democratic Party over here. If he voted for taxes and did it as a responsible elected official, then I told him at the time that I thought it was a right and courageous thing to do because we had to have money for the budget, not only to take care of his area but my area also. If at this late date he is coming here and castigating anybody for voting for taxes, when he realizes there is no other way to raise money for this Commonwealth, I think that is somewhat in the area of a little bit of phony politics. I think it ill behooves him at this late date to get into that area at all. I think it would do well for this gentleman to pay attention to what is going on here and try to find out what is happening so far as the budget and taxes are concerned before we start talking about politics. If the gentleman saves that for the last week of the Session, we will get along fine.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, if there are any phony politics going on in this Senate of Pennsylvania, it is coming from the Minority Leader's desk.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrelated?

Mr. WEINER. I will be very happy to, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Gentlemen, we have amendments to House Bill No. 2100 before us at this moment. I think we have lost track of that fact. I wonder whether we could come back to them.

Mr. EHRCOOD. Mr. President, I was interrogated and I merely asked for fair play. You know, I have heard a lot about fair play from the Democratic school bill and I wonder whether the Democratic Minority Leader, Senator Weiner, would permit himself to be interrogated.

The PRESIDENT. Does the interrogation pertain to House Bill No. 2100, Senator Ehrgood.

Mr. EHRCOOD. In a way, yes.

The PRESIDENT. Very remotely, I take it.

Mr. EHRCOOD. You know, relevancy is a matter of judgment, Mr. President, I always defer to the Judge in a matter such as this.

The PRESIDENT. Therefore, I would say that certainly you could ask the Minority Leader questions at the proper time. If they do not relate the amendments to House Bill No. 2100, this is not the proper time.

Mr. EHRCOOD. Your Honor—Mr. President, if I were in court in Lebanon County, I would probably get a little angry. However, with you, sir, I would not do that. Therefore, I will defer questioning. I dislike, however, allowing the Minority Leader getting the last word.

The PRESIDENT. This I can understand, too. We do have amendments to act upon, however.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to make an amendment to Senator Ehrgood's late statement. He only called you "Your Honor" because he mistook you for his honorable father.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. Do you wish to speak on the amendment.

Mr. WATKINS. No, Mr. President. I rise to a point of fair play.

I do not talk very often on the floor of the Senate, but I have sat here, under your ruling, Governor, and watched you permit Senator Weiner to play politics, get away from these amendments and talk about anything he chose. As soon as Senator Ehrgood or any other Republican Member stands on this side, then you come to a point of order.

I feel it is time that we, on this side, insist on a little fair play. I am always willing to abide by the Chair's decision on any decision that you might make. However, I want that same courtesy extended to the Republican Members of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Watkins, I think that remark is uncalled for. I think I have tried, at all times, to be meticulous in my fairness to both sides of the Senate. I shall continue to do that to the best of my ability.

At this point, we have amendments before us to House Bill No. 2100.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, may I ask you one question?

The PRESIDENT. Yes, Senator.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, did Senator Weiner confine his remarks to the amendments?

The PRESIDENT. I cut Senator Weiner off, also.

Mr. WATKINS. I did not hear you cut him off, sir. If you did, I apologize to you.

The PRESIDENT. I think your colleagues would say that I had. I tried very hard to stop a display of an argument that had no bearing on the amendments that were here before this Senate, and I think I succeeded.

Mr. WATKINS. Well, Mr. President, I thank you anyway. You have my opinion, and if I have misquoted you in any way or misjudged you, you have my apologies. However, up to this time, I did not hear you stop him, not only on this occasion but on many other occasions when I have sat here in the Senate of Pennsylvania. We can talk over here just as well as Senator Weiner, if he wants to talk politics. I will guarantee you that we can dig up more speakers than you will find on the other side if we really want to talk.

The PRESIDENT. I am certain both sides of the Senate are quite capable.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move the previous question.

The PRESIDENT. The question before the Senate is on the adoption of the amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I want to speak on the amendments. I have a statement here which I think will be of information to the Majority Leader in regard to these amendments.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Lane, I am sorry, but the previous question has been moved.

Mr. LANE. All right, if that is the way they want to play ball. I wanted to make a point here in regard to the money that is going to be lost, as stated by Doctor Kurtzman. If you are going to play ball that way, O. K. If the ball bounces that way, we will bounce it the other way. I will guarantee you that you are going to read all bills at length from now on.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Lane, this is out of order, please.

Mr. LANE. All right, I am out of order. He should be out of order, too.

The PRESIDENT. He is out of order. I have not recognized him and I have recognized you. However, at this point, we have a vote before us.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I cannot talk. I want to speak on the amendments. I do not want to talk politics. I want to talk about the amendments.

The PRESIDENT. If you will restrict yourself to the amendments, I shall hear you.

Mr. LANE. Strictly to the amendments, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, as a point of order, I wish to call to the Chair's attention that I did move the previous question. However, if the gentleman wishes to speak upon the amendments, I will withdraw my motion.

The PRESIDENT. Actually, Senator Berger, the motion for the previous question should have been seconded by four Senators, so that your withdrawal eliminates a problem that I would have had in a moment.

Now, Senator Lane, if you wish to speak on the amendments, I will recognize you.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I just wish to advise the Majority Leader, and the Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, that Doctor Kurtzman reviewed this legislation in its present form, and, in his opinion, if this legislation passes in its present form, the State of Pennsylvania is going to lose approximately $3,000,000 this coming biennium. That is his statement, and I feel that in view of that, they will probably wish to carry this bill over and have a talk with Doctor Kurtzman tomorrow and get all of the details.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have always had the utmost confidence in the estimates made by the Economy League of Pennsylvania, which was represented by Doctor Kurtzman, a gentleman in whom I also have great confidence.

However, Mr. President, I did discuss this sometime ago with Doctor Kurtzman, and my recollection is that he was unable, at that time, to make an estimate as to the revenues which might accrue or might not accrue from this type of tax at the retail level or at the distributor level.

Therefore, Mr. President, I believe that my discussions with the gentleman in question were probably as sincere as those which he has had with Senator Lane, and I stick to the estimates which we, on this side, have received from other sources; that this will result in approximately $900,000 to $1,000,000 additional revenue to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, Senator Kessler said $800,000. Now Senator Berger has it up to $900,000 or $1,000,000. I say that Doctor Kurtzman was right, and we are going to lose about $3,000,000.

Of course, they have the votes over there, but I want you to know what we are faced with. We are going to lose some money if you continue along these lines. We have carried this bill on the Calendar for a month and it would not hurt to carry it over until tomorrow and have a talk with Doctor Kurtzman. There is nothing wrong with that. There is no rhyme or reason for the argument.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, again I call the Chair's attention to the salutary rule of the Senate that a person may speak upon a bill but twice. However, I have violated that rule and I believe some of the gentlemen on the other side have violated it.

The PRESIDENT. I have tried never to restrict the Senate in that way.

Mr. BERGER. I understand that, Mr. President.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, if I may suggest, in view of listening to both of these conversations, from the Majority Leader and from Senator Lane, perhaps the reason that the estimates have been changed by Doctor Kurtzman is because he is now employed by the Administration, and that may be the reason for the change. I would suggest that.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, that is a low blow. That is not politics, is it?

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I will request that the bill go over in its order until tomorrow until we have an opportunity to talk with Doctor Kurtzman.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I object.

MOTION THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that this bill go over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I request a slow roll call.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I second the request for a roll call.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, in order to keep the record straight, I will now request a verification of the roll either before or after the announcement of the roll.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President and Members of this Senate, every one of us should realize that we have a serious duty tonight to do what we can to raise revenues to support the government of this State.

Now it has been my observation and I cannot think of any store in my Senatorial District or anywhere that I have been that sells soft drinks only. There may be. In all of the stores that I know of where they sell soft drinks, they sell other items that are subject to the tax.

Of course, while we are about this business, it should be the concern of everyone to derive as much tax from that particular source as can be obtained. Therefore, I am in favor of this only for the reason that it has been alleged—I do not know from my own knowledge—that it will bring in a great deal more revenue. If that be the case, I think all of us should do whatever we can to bring in as much revenue as possible.

VERIFICATION OF THE ROLL

The PRESIDENT. Request has been made to have the roll verified.

The Clerk will call the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative as follows:

Camel	Mahady	Ripp
DiSilvestro	McCreesh	Rooney
Donolow	McGinnis	Ruth
Hays	Miller	Sarraf
Kalman	Mullin	Seyler
Lane	Murray	Silvert
		Weiner

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The affirmative roll will stand as verified.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the negative as follows:

Berger	Flack	Kromer	Stevenson
Blass	Fleming	Madigan	Taylor
Chapman	Harney	Mallery	Wade
Confair	Keller	Pechan	Wagner
Ehrgood	Kessler	Propert	Watkins
Elliott	Koprivier, Jr.	Shafer	Whalley

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The negative roll will stand as verified.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LANE and Mr. DONOLOW and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—19

Camiel,	Lane,	Mullin,	Sarraf,
DiSilvestro,	Mahady,	Murray,	Seyler,
Donolow,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Silvert,
Hays,	McGinnis,	Rooney,	Weiner,
Kalman,	Miller,	Ruth,

NAYS—24

Berger,	Flack,	Kromer,	Stevenson,
Blass,	Fleming,	Madigan,	Taylor,
Chapman,	Harney,	Mallery,	Wade,
Confair,	Keller,	Pechan,	Wagner,
Ehrgood,	Kessler,	Propert,	Watkins,
Elliott,	Koprivier, Jr.,	Shafer,	Whalley,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WEINER and Mr. DONOLOW and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—19

Camiel,	Lane,	Mullin,	Sarraf,
DiSilvestro,	Mahady,	Murray,	Seyler,
Donolow,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Silvert,
Hays,	McGinnis,	Rooney,	Weiner,
Kalman,	Miller,	Ruth,

NAYS—25

Berger,	Flack,	Kromer,	Stevenson,
Blass,	Fleming,	Madigan,	Taylor,
Chapman,	Harney,	Mallery,	Van Sant,
Confair,	Keller,	Pechan,	Wade,
Ehrgood,	Kessler,	Propert,	Wagner,
Elliott,	Koprivier, Jr.,	Shafer,	Watkins,
			Whalley,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I just want to make this one observation. The Republican Majority is cutting the budget and now they have knocked us out of $3,000,000 in revenue.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I have heard a lot of talk here this evening about what a change or no change will do. On many occasions we make an estimate, and we do not recognize the facts. Now at one end of this bill, the Republican side of this Chamber is recognizing the facts of life. They are changing the automobile method of paying the tax. When a man sends in his license, he pays the tax with it because they know, as I know, that many people—for instance, one automobile manufacturer owes close to $200,000 which will never be collected because they use the money that they have on hand from day to day to run their establishment and then go out of business owing the State, or being sued by the State or an effort is being made to collect. They got realistic on this, and they put in the change.

On the other side of it, they say we want to collect the pop tax from the consumer, and they are being unrealistic because they are doing the same there as they are removing in the case of the automobile manufacturer. Theoretically, they are ascertaining the income for the Commonwealth and ignoring the factual results of their change. I say throughout this sales tax, the object should be in every case to face the facts of life as you have in the automobile situation, and not move under a theoretical figure, figured out by someone in an ivory tower with a lamp over his head, as a student would figure it out, but rather as a practical person in the everyday walk of life.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I would just like to make one observation. My Calendar on this bill is marked "yes." However, because of the information that I just heard from Senator Lane that this Doctor Kurtzman said we are going to lose about $3,000,000 and there was no co-operation in putting this bill over, I cannot, at this point, take a chance on voting for this bill in view of the fact of which we have been informed. I do not think Doctor Kurtzman is playing politics over the fact that he is going to be on the State payroll in October.

I cannot vote for this bill in all good conscience at this time, and I am going to mark my Calendar "no".

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, September 22, 1959

The House met at 11:00 a.m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Reverend Cedric W. Tilberg, Director of Social Missions, the Central Pennsylvania Lutheran Synod, guest Chaplain and guest of the House Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

Eternal Father, in Thy hand are the destinies of men and nations. Nothing that happens in this world is outside the range of Thy concern. Thou hast ordained government to restrain the evildoer and provide for the common welfare, and dost call men and women to serve Thee in the executive offices, the courts, and the legislature of the land. Upon those gathered in this room bestow Thy grace and strength, as they make decisions affecting the lives of multitudes of human souls. Give them clear minds, alert consciences and warm hearts. Make them sensitive to the searching reality of Thy love, so that they may keep before their eyes the faces of living people, especially people who have no strong advocate but whose need is great.

Hear our prayer, O God, not only that which we speak in words but that which is uttered in the depths of our hearts. And as Thou dost love us with a love that will not let us go, take us and use us to Thy glory and in Thy service.

Through Jesus Christ, Thy Son, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Monday, September 21, 1959 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. MULDOWNEY asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Banking and Building and Loan Associations to meet during the session of the House.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request permission of the House to notify them of our schedule for today, and our tentative working hours.

We would like to have permission to work until the hour of—this is Daylight Saving Time—between 1:30 and 2:00 o'clock, at which time we would stop, break for lunch and a caucus.

We are going to request permission to work on the calendar from the back end of the calendar, those bills which have been caucused on yesterday and hoping that after lunch when we have completed our caucus we will have caucused and be able to act on all bills on the final passage and third reading calendar hoping to finish by 7:00 or 7:30 this evening.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I first want to make a statement and then I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

With respect to a luncheon-caucus on the Republican side, we have pretty well covered the third reading calendar, but there are a number of bills that were on second reading yesterday that are now on third. I believe when we return from lunch we will only need to caucus about 15 minutes. Probably we will want a half-hour at least, so I believe we on the Republican side should caucus, and we would therefore, if you are calling a one-hour lunch period at 1:30 approximately, we would say have lunch for 45 minutes and caucus for 15 minutes.

Now I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker if we were to work real hard today and clear this calendar pretty well and, as you say be here until 7 or 7:30 tonight, is there any likelihood that we could recess and not be here tomorrow? I think a lot of the Members would like that very much.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am going to answer the question and yet I am not going to try to cut off any debate.

If, following the caucus we have pretty well cleared the final passage and third reading calendar I am going to request a consent day tomorrow to move up the bills on the calendar that are on second reading and also reported from the Committee so that they would be in a position to be caucused on by the two parties on Monday, and pretty well start to dry up the calendar except for Senate Bills.

With that though in mind, I certainly hope that you will at this stage consent to that move. The leadership would have to be here and the Members could go home.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the suggestion that we go back to a consent calendar, that would have to be submitted to our caucus and I will give you our decision on that after we come back.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, could I clear one point?

The SPEAKER. The Chair should be heard in response to the gentleman from McKean, that perhaps in the matter of a consent calendar the Chair might also desire to be consulted.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, that is a point well taken. I know I will go before our caucus and go solidly against the idea of a consent calendar. I think we are getting along fine by all being here and it certainly is a bad situation when you are moving bills here with just a handful of Members on the floor. I do not know how our caucus will react to it, but I am just giving you my personal feeling about the matter.

Mr. McCANN. If that is going to be the decision, Mr. Speaker, we will be here, ready to operate.

CONSENT TO CALL BILLS OUT OF ORDER

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call bills from the calendar out of order.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1084, entitled:

An Act reenacting and amending the act of June 21, 1957 (P. L. 32), entitled "An act requiring that meeting of the governing bodies of political subdivisions and of certain authorities and other agencies performing essential governmental functions shall be open to the public," requiring public notice of such meetings and prescribing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill No. 1084, the first bill we are acting on today is a change to the so-called "Right-to-know" open meeting law in which Judge Mook of Crawford county found objections to the law and set aside this particular provision as a defect in the title of the law. Senate Bill 1084, Printer's No. 1343, would correct that situation. I ask that all the Members vote favorably in support of this legislation.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call to the attention of the Members of the House the fact that, in addition to correcting the title, his bill also provides that notices of special meetings must be posted for 24 hours instead of 12, which in some instances could cause a considerable amount of difficulty.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Mr. LOPRESTI IN THE CHAIR

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 429, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 15, 1933 (P. L. 624) entitled as amended "Banking Code," further providing for the making of loans on the security of real property by savings banks and authorizing savings banks to invest to a limited extent in banker's acceptance and bills of exchange.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to briefly debate this bill.

As far as I understand, there are seven mutual savings banks in the state of Pennsylvania, four of which are located in our city of Philadelphia. I rise to oppose this bill on the theory and ground that mutual savings banks of this state are in a different position than either federal savings and loan or our commercial banks of the state. Our mutual savings banks represent the deposits of so-called penny-ante depositors, or our poor people, who from the time they first came over to this country until the present time have maintained their savings in those banks with one idea in mind and that is that their deposits would be safe, and I say safe, safer than anywhere else, and also that any investments made by banks will be in a conservative manner.

This bill authorizes these savings banks to invest up to 80 percent of the appraised value of real estate with their funds and I feel sincerely that when you go to a point of 80 percent instead of 66 2/3 percent, as it is presently assessed, you are raising the amount too much and are going from a conservative to a gambling investment. When it is 80 percent of the appraised value you are going to approximately 100 percent. You are endangering the savings of those banks and endangering the deposits made by the depositors who believe that those banks should operate in a conservative manner. For that reason I appeal to you to vote against this bill.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill because I believe this is the injection of a conservative savings institution into a field of risky ventures.

What we do here by this bill is raise the amount to which a bank can lend on real estate. We raise the amount from 66 2/3 percent of the appraised value of the real estate to 80 percent of the appraised value of the real estate. And, mind you, this is with a mutual savings institution which was created to be a conservative type of saving institution. What we do now is put them into a field where they are actually, as Mr. Sherman said, gambling with their depositors' money.

If you view the history of savings institutions from the time of the depression you will learn that during that period, the period from 1926 to 1929, one of the prime factors causing the depression was the risky investments which the banks at that time were making in real estate. They had gradually increased from a situation where they were lending on approximately 50 percent of the appraised value of real estate all the way up to 100 percent of the appraised value of real estate. As a matter of information, what we did after the depression was to go back to a more conservative type of institution, which was protected by the FDIC and other insurance functions established by the Federal government in order to protect and add additional safeguards to those people depositing in those savings institutions. But in order to further assure the protection of the depositors' money, what we did was limit the bank in the extent to which it can invest in mortgage loans, and we established 66 2/3 percent as being a safe figure. Gradually we find not only this type of bank but all banks are tending to creep up where they are now trying to get to 80 percent of the appraised value of real estate. Now 80 percent of the appraised value of real estate may in some savings institutions be perfectly safe, though in my mind it was always a risky amount. However, for this type of institution I think we are going much, much too far.

I know there is a limited number of this type of institution, but as a matter of information, these institutions were not created as commercial ventures. They were created in order to allow a small depositor to have a safe place to put his money. What we do here is endeavor to put this type of institution into competition with other types of institutions—commercial banks, Federal Savings and Loan institutions, building and loan institutions—and into a type of activity in which they were not meant to be.

I would suggest that we consider this bill seriously because what we might be doing is moving forward into a field which would lead to the same type of situation we had during the period 1929 to 1932, and I doubt very much if any of us would like to see that occur again.

I strongly request that everybody in this House vote against this legislation because it is only a detriment to our Commonwealth.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Gelfand.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELFAND. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, does not this bill limit the mortgage loans to homes only and specifically rule out mortgage investments in manufacturing or commercial establishments?

Mr. GELFAND. Yes, it does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Does not this bill also limit the amount of the investment at an 80 percent appraised value to 25 percent of their total mortgage folio?

Mr. GELFAND. Yes, it does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Are not all these mutual savings banks members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation?

Mr. GELFAND. I would say that they are, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, with that interrogation I hope I have clarified that this is not opening the doors to the extent the previous two speakers have tried to indicate, that there are limitations on the amount of the investment they can make, there are limitations on the type of investment they can make, and they are members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation which still gives protection to the depositors, which is the thing that not only I am interested in but that they are interested in and the thing in which we are all interested.

If these mutual savings banks are going to be able to move forward with the times, and if they are going to be able to earn enough money to maintain their funds the way they should for the benefit of their depositors, some liberalization must be made. We feel that this is a good bill.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I will admit that what Mr. Tompkins says is to some extent accurate. There is a limitation to the extent that the bank cannot invest more than 25 percent of certain of its assets in this type of investment. However, the mere fact that you have a pot which you can fall back on as reserves does not necessarily mean that you should invest in gambling or risky ventures. Eighty percent of the appraised value of this real estate is a risky venture because in times of stress and at times when you might have to foreclose on a loan, 80 percent is rarely ever received on a foreclosure or emergency sale.

I would also point out that it is 80 percent of the appraised value as the bank sees it. Now if anybody is acquainted with mortgages, mortgage investments and real estate he would soon learn that 80 percent is a variable factor and that oftentimes 80 percent approaches the full value of the piece of real estate. So I say again that though there are reserves, that these banks do belong to the FDIC, so their depositors are insured up to $10,000, I still believe that in general and the total overall picture this places this type of institution in a position where it becomes a risky type of venture insofar as real estate is concerned. For the sake of the depositor and for the protection of the depositors' fund, I would suggest that we retain 66 2/3, which we presently have.

Also, as a matter of information, I can refer to other legislation that has been introduced in this House which deals with commercial banks, and which legislation has passed the other body and in which they provide only up to 75 percent for commercial banks, which are interested by far in a more risky type of venture, and which have been created for the type of venture which we are now trying to put the mutual banks into.

I would suggest that we consider this fully and also realize what we attempt to do. After we do that I am sure that we will vote against this bill because it is not good for this Commonwealth, nor is it good for any other Commonwealth.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I speak just briefly in behalf of this bill.

I feel the gentleman from Cameron has covered very thoroughly the main points involved in it. The mutual savings banks are in competition with the savings and loan associations which also lend in the mortgage field. Those associations now may go to 80 and in some instances 90 percent. The raising of the limit in a limited way for these mutual savings banks merely enables those banks to better serve their own depositors by providing them with mortgage financing for homes they wish to buy.

I would just like to point out that the 66 2/3 percent limitation was adopted at a time when the loans which were made were what we call term mortgages, meaning that there was no amortization of the principal. Under the present provision they must be made in amortizing loans; that is, the principal must be reduced year by year so that when we get out of the first five or six years the mortgage will be down to the 75 or 70 percent level and any danger there might be in the situation will probably be well behind.

I would also like to point out that similar legislation to Senate Bill 429 has been adopted in a number of other states, including the large states of New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts and many others in our immediate vicinity.

I urge all the Members to support this bill. I feel it is a good piece of legislation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 315

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 315.

The report of the Committee of Conference was read as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 315, entitled "An act amending the act of July 2, 1935 P. L. 589) entitled 'An act to safeguard human health and life by providing for the issuance of permits to and regulation of persons and entities selling milk and milk products * * * relieving the Secretary of Health and the Advisory Health Board of certain powers and duties imposing powers and duties on the Secretary of Agriculture defining certified milk and canned milk and providing for the sale of canned milk establishing certain fees, requiring additional information to be on milk when sold, providing that a brucellosis test be given to certain cows, permitting milk plants to be used in the preparation of certain fruit juices and milk products and extending certain provisions of the act to milk products.'"

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

ALBERT E. MADIGAN,
ARTHUR E. KROMER,
GEORGE J. SARRAF,
(Committee on the part of the Senate).

E. J. FARABAUGH,
PETER G. SCHAAF,
W. STUART HELM,

(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act Amending the act of July 2, 1935 (P. L. 589) entitled "An act to safeguard human health and life by providing for the issuance of permits to and regulation of persons and entities selling milk and milk products conferring powers and imposing duties on the Secretary of Health the Advisory Health Board and otherwise providing for the administration of the act and imposing penalties" relieving the Secretary of Health and the Advisory Health Board of certain powers and duties imposing powers and duties on the Secretary of Agriculture defining certified milk and canned milk and providing for the sale of canned milk establishing certain fees requiring additional information to be on milk when sold providing that a brucellosis test be given to certain cows permitting milk plants to be used in the preparation of certain fruit juices and milk products and extending certain provisions of the act to milk products

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

Mr. LOPRESTI IN THE CHAIR

FOREIGN LEADER OF EXCHANGE PROGRAM WELCOMED

Mr. FRANK. Mr. Speaker, it is a privilege to welcome to the Hall of the House the Speaker of the Northern Regional House Assembly of Nigeria, the Honorable Alhaji Umaru Gwandi.

The Speaker is here in this country to observe the various state Houses of Representatives in action. He is very much interested in the relationships between the Federal government and the State and between the Legislative Branch of the Government and the Executive branch.

He is the guest in the country of the Foreign Leader Exchange Program and the International Educational Exchange Service, of the United States Department of State, Washington, D. C.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair asks the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Frank to escort the distinguished gentleman to the rostrum.

The Chair presents to the House for a brief address the Speaker of the House of Assembly of the Northern Region of Nigeria.

ADDRESS BY ALHATI UMARU GWANDU

Mr. Speaker, sir, and honorable Members, I have felt rather overwhelmed by the great honor which you have done to me today by allowing me to address your House.

This will certainly go down in the records not only of the history of this great state of Pennsylvania and not only in the history of the United States of America, but also in the history of my own country.

I assure you that the people of Nigeria have a great interest in the United States of America, and the good relationship which has been growing so rapidly between the United States of America and Nigeria has now been fully illustrated this evening by my presence here.

I have been invited by the United States government to visit this country in order to study in particular the relationship between Federal and State legislation. It was with great pleasure that when I heard your Legislature is sitting I requested that arrangements should be made for me that my first place to visit outside Washington should be Harrisburg. I am particularly pleased to be here, and honestly I did not think that I would be so highly honored by being allowed to speak here today. I do not have any prepared notes, but I am sure all the honorable Members would like to know a little bit about my own country.

Nigeria is a vast country, though not, of course, as vast as the United States of America. It's one of the largest British dependencies in Africa. The area of the country is over 372,000 square miles and out of this 372,000 square miles, 281,000 square miles lie in my own area; that is, the Northern Region which I have come from.

The country is divided at the moment into three regions, or if I may call it in the term which you may probably understand better, three states. The Northern Region where I have come from is the largest, both in size and in population. Out of a population of 35 million people in Nigeria, over 18 million people live in the Northern Region and the rest are divided into the Eastern and Western Regions.

We have a capitol territory of Lagos where the federal government is, and where also the federal parliament sits. Each of these three states is an autonomous state; that is, each is independent of each other, and also of the federal government as far as the powers given each state are concerned. We have the division of powers. There are powers which are given to the regions and there are powers which are given to the federal government. And most of the duties are carried out by the regions except the defense, external affairs and banking. But most of the social services are carried out by the regions, and we have a system of revenue allocation. The revenue is allocated to the regions, first of all, according to derivations; that is, the source from which the export duty is derived, or the import duties according to consumption, like imported articles, and also on the second factor of need; that is, of population.

The chief products from Nigeria are cocoa which is grown in the southern part of the country and ground nuts from the Northern Region. We have also now petrol which has been discovered in very large commercial quantity in the southern part, and very soon we will have a refinery set up there.

In the north we have also surveyed a large area where it is expected that a lot of mineral oil will be found. We have a large quantity of tin, columbite, bauxite and other minor minerals.

We also have great agricultural country in the north. Besides ground nuts for export, we also produce a large quantity of cotton, both for feeding our own textile mills which we have recently set up in Kaduna, and also for export.

Mr. Speaker, my time is nearly up. There is a lot which I would wish to tell you and the Members about my own country, but I think I have drawn a very sketchy picture of my country which will give the Members an idea of what the country is. I would be very pleased to answer any questions or to meet Members outside the House if they would like to have any further information.

Mr. Speaker, honorable Members, I am deeply grateful for this great honor, and I sincerely wish that this sense of friendship which has been expressed to me will continue and grow stronger and stronger between my own country and this country.

This is not the first time, of course, I have received such an honor. I was greatly honored by the Speaker of the House of Representatives in the Capitol, Mr. Sam Rayburn, and many of the Members. He did me even the great honor of having taken a group photograph with him, a photograph which I value a great deal and which I know my people will.

So, Mr. Speaker, with these few words, I should like to say on behalf of my country how very grateful I am for being given this opportunity this evening to address this august House. I wish you the best of luck.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I just would like on behalf of the House to express our appreciation for having the gentleman honor us here today with his presence.

I think we are deeply impressed with his humility and his grace and the kindly way in which he addressed himself to this Chamber. I think it is in sharp contrast to visitors that we have presently touring our nation. I believe that if this gentleman goes from state capitol to state capitol and carries on the way he has today, and talks about the democracy and the fine things which his country enjoys that he will endear himself to the American people and will grow in stature himself, and of course will elevate his own country in the minds of all America.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. On behalf of the Membership the Chair thanks the gentleman and invites him to remain for the proceedings of the House if he cares so to do.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEES TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Appropriations to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. POLASKI asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Municipal Corporations to meet during the session of the House.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 1015.

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), entitled "An act to consolidate amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth" prohibiting the use of fire extinguishers containing carbon tetrachloride in school buildings and school buses and providing penalties.

With the information that the Senate had passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 4 by striking out after the word "Section" the figures "699.10" and inserting in lieu thereof the figures "699.11; line 11 by striking out after the word "therein" the words "or who purchases them for such purposes."

Amend the bill by inserting after line 14 the following: "Section 2 This act shall take effect September 1 1960."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

Mr. MURRY. Mr. Speaker, I feel the same about this bill as I did before. I do not believe that school buses should be included in the deletion of pyrene fire extinguishers. I am afraid that somebody else will wake up some day and feel the same way as I do.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative, and the amendments were concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair now returns the gavel to the Speaker of the House.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 868, entitled:

An Act amending the title an act of June 17, 1915 (P. L. 1012), entitled as amended "Small Loans Act" increasing the maximum loan to eight hundred ($800) dollars increasing the rates of interest on balances in excess of three hundred ($300) dollars and extending the maturity limitation on loans.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GAILEY asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, last line of Title, by striking out

"increasing the rate of."

Amend Title, page 2, first line of Title, by striking out all of said line.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2), page 4, line 6, by striking out the brackets before and after "one (1)."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2), page 4, line 6, by striking out "one and one-half (1½)."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, these amendments will in no way affect some of the changes which have been made in the law.

The bill as it is before us makes three major changes. First, it increases the amount of money which may be loaned under the "Small Loan Act" from $600 to $800. These amendments make no change in that whatsoever. Second, the bill increases the period of time within which the loan may be repaid from a maximum of 24 months to 30 months. Once again, these amendments affect that in no way. Finally, the bill as we have it before us increases the amount of interest which must be paid on amounts over $300 from one percent to one and one-half percent. This is the section of the bill which the amendments affect.

I regret that I am not able to hold the attention of the House on this subject, Mr. Speaker, because I can assure the Members that this bill affects tens of thousands, nay, millions, of our people here in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and also amounts to millions of dollars in their pockets, or out of them, as the case may be.

These amendments which I have offered removed the raise in interest rates permitted on small loans and it retains the present level. Perhaps some of the Members of the House are not familiar with the present level. The present level of allowable interest on small loans is 36 percent on balance up to $150, 25 percent on balances between $150 to $300, and 12 percent on balances between $300 and $600. This bill, if it were not amended, would permit interest charges in the amount of 18 percent to be made on amounts loaned between $300 and $600.

I could stand up here and wave the red flag; I could cry to you about the poor, oppressed people of the Commonwealth and the money that would be taken from them by this bill. I am not going to do it. I would suggest that 36 percent, 34 percent, and 12 percent is ample, and that the present rate should be retained.

I ask all the Members of the House on both sides of the aisle, for the sake of the people of our Commonwealth, to support these amendments.

Mr. NAUGLE. I would like to oppose this amendment which has just been offered and I would like to make a comparison to substantiate my reasons for opposition.

To properly explain the contour that this bill has with other types of legislation and lending institutions, I must compare it with other types of lending. For instance, in large quantities of money, the Federal Reserve charges to the banks a percentage of anywhere from 3.5 to 4.5 percent for their money, in large quantities, usually in millions of dollars. The Federal Reserve charges a larger percentage of interest on money they receive from Federal Reserve of anywhere from 4.5 to 5.5 percent.

The next category of lending would be the commercial banks to individuals, much of which is lent out at 6 percent. However, under Senate Bill 380, which we are going to consider on our next day's Session—I believe it was amended today—Senate Bill 380 would permit the commercial bank to charge a rate of interest of 6 percent discount, which is $6 for each $100 of loan made, which is 1 percent a month. This money which is lent, being raised now on Senate Bill 380 is being raised from a maximum of $3,500 to $5,000 at 1 percent a month rate of interest.

The next category below that is the consumer discount company license. This consumer discount law is going to be amended, I hope. The bill is in Committee right now, No. 1523, which would raise the present maximum of $2,000 maximum to $3,500 maximum, where the bank loans now stop and move up to $5,000, to close that gap. Their rate of interest also is 6 percent discount, which is $6 on $100, but in addition to that there is a service charge, a maximum of $15 on a $1,000 loan. That brings you a net return per month of approximately 1.26 percent interest per month.

Then you get down into the smaller category which is covered by Senate Bill 868, which we are now considering, and on the amount in excess of $300 up to the proposed $800 the present rate is 1 percent a month, and it is proposed that we raise that under this bill to 1.5 percent.

I would like to review the contour again and ask why would we charge for small loans, unsecured loans, if you will, in amounts of $300 to $800 1 percent a month, when the banks, under Senate Bill 380, charge 1 percent a month on secured loans, through either mortgages or chattel mortgages? Then again, on the consumer discount, we charge 1.25 percent, which is on larger amounts, as against charges on the small loans of $300 to $800 of 1 percent which is equal to that in banks under secured loans.

So for that reason I do not think we should break this contour of rates of interest charges in respect to amounts of money borrowed. Money, as you know, is a commodity just as are groceries, electric appliances or automobiles. It is bought at wholesale from the Federal Reserve by the banks and again is lent from the commercial banks to the borrower, and the smaller the quantity you borrow the higher the rate of interest is, just as it is in buying large or small quantities of any commodity. So I urge that everyone please do not break the contour of this rate of interest on small loans in respect to larger loans, and I ask that everyone oppose this amendment.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether the gentleman was talking about reducing parlors, beauty parlors, hairdressing parlors, when he talked about contours. I do not blame him for trying to throw this bill in with the other bills that have to do with banks and extensions of credit, but I say we would be making a terrible mistake, with the economic conditions the way they are at the present time, by permitting an increase in the interest rate from one and one-half percent. We should be 100 percent behind this amendment.

I agree with Mr. Gailey that this bill still does nothing even if you leave the interest rate the way it is today at one percent. It permits the small loan companies to be in competition with the banks and with the lenders on the consumer discount plan by permitting them to increase the borrowing capacity from $600 to $800 and also increasing the time for repayment of a loan from 24 to 30 months. I certainly am against an increase in the interest rates which will affect the lower income group and the middle income group, as proposed by the original Senate bill before us. I ask in all fairness and in all conscience that both sides of the House support this amendment.

Mr. NAUGLE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to answer the gentleman who spoke just a minute ago from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz, in regard to the competition which he claims these small loan companies are giving the banks and other lending institutions.

I would say that the competition is negligible for the fact that the average citizen, a cross-section of this state, constitutes not greater than 38 percent of the citizenry of this state who can go into a bank and get a loan, because they do not have sufficient collateral.

There is another group of people who can go into the commercial lending companies and borrow against chattel mortgages on their automobiles. But they still leave a gap for those people who are forced by emergency for medical reasons and others to borrow from another lending institution that will, and does, have faith in them to give them a few hundred dollars, even many, many times without collateral. It is for that reason I wish to protect the interests of the small lending institutions because they do fit into this economic system of ours and cannot be done without.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I happen to own some stock in a small loan company and I know that every six months I get my dividend of six percent, so from a little personal experience I know that these small loan companies are not in any trouble at the present time.

If you analyze the figures as given to you by Mr. Gailey, they are permitted to charge three percent a month on the first $150 loaned and then two percent a month on the next $150 up to $300. We do not have to feel too badly for them. They are doing all right today. After all, the legal rate of interest in this Commonwealth is still only six percent. We are making exceptions and have in the past for the small loan company. So, I do not think we have to worry too much about their being in trouble; they are not. I say to you they do not need any relief at the present time. If they do, we are extending it to them by permitting increases in borrowing capacity from $600 to $800 and from 24 months to 30 months for repayment.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is unable to decide.

Whereupon, a division was called for, one hundred and nineteen Members or more than a majority having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 755, entitled:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2279, entitled:

An Act repealing Sec 4 act of April 22, 1794 (3 Sm L 177) entitled "An act for the prevention of vice and immorality * * *" removing prohibitions and procedures relating to profaning the Lord's day the use of profane language and drunkenness.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GALLAGHER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, a number of the Members of this side of the House would like to know whether or not this bill repeals the on-sight arrests?

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, this bill repeals the conviction on view.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I did not quite hear the gentleman. Will he repeat that please?

Mr. GALLAGHER. The bill repeals conviction on view.

Mr. TOMPKINS. It repeals the so-called on-sight arrest.

Mr. GALLAGHER. That is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2090, entitled:

An Act amending the "Civil Service Act" approved August 5, 1941 (P. L. 752) extending the coverage provisions to include all technical and professional employees in the service of the Commonwealth and to provide a method for the extension of such coverage.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS filed the following reasons for his vote on House Bill No. 2090:

This is a very slight step toward increased Civil Service in this State. It perhaps gives the Governor far too much power but it is the only step in this direction that this Legislature will have the chance to take. Reluctantly I have decided to vote for what I hope will be an experiment leading to increased Civil Service in Pennsylvania.

If the Governor misuses his power under this Bill he will delay eventual Civil Service expansion by decades.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2078, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" providing a minimum wage for employes of school districts.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. LUTTY.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. LUTTY, permit himself to be interrogated? Mr. LUTTY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I wonder if the gentleman from Allegheny will tell us what this bill provides and the purpose of it?

Mr. LUTTY. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides the minimum wage of one dollar per hour. The reason I put in this bill is, several months ago I visited with a friend of mine in this Commonwealth and ran into a few people who worked for the school district and in this particular school district, frankly, where they are employed by this school district during the winter months they work as high as fifty or sixty hours a week, sometimes more, and they get no increase in salary and, figuring out what their wage would be, it is away below this dollar an hour. I do not think today for a dollar an hour anybody would be deprived by that small amount.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Can the gentleman give us information as to what it would cost a school district, or how many employes there are in the state that might not be at the present time up to that wage scale?

Mr. LUTTY. No, I would not know that.

Mr. TOMPKINS. What wage scale were these people you were talking to getting?

Mr. LUTTY. Well, whatever the board sets. They are only on salary, evidently by the month.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well then, you are talking about doing something different from what their regular salary calls for.

Mr. LUTTY. Yes, in an increase of a dollar an hour.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, if the person works on a fixed salary of $300 a month and he works 301 hours that month, you say then that this bill would supersede that salary and allow him $301. Is that right?

Mr. LUTTY. Yes, that would be right.

Mr. TOMPKINS. And if he worked 225 hours that month, would he still get the $300 or just the $225?

Mr. LUTTY. Whatever he worked for. He would get his salary.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Does this apply to parttime employes, such as minors who might be cleaning up the schoolhouse and so forth?

Mr. LUTTY. Any employe of the school district.

Mr. TOMPKINS. It applies to the parttime employes as well?

Mr. LUTTY. Yes, sir.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The minors as well? The cafeteria workers? Any employe of the school district?

Mr. LUTTY. Any employe.

Mr. TOMPKINS. If they worked beyond the number of hours that their salary calls for, they get the increase; if they work less then get a reduction.

Mr. LUTTY. That is right.

Mr. THOMPSON. I thank you.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2028, entitled:

An Act amending "The Fish Law of 1925" approved May 2, 1925 (P. L. 448) further regulating the licensing and operation of man-made lakes and ponds where fishing is permitted upon payment of fees.

On the question,

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KORNICK. I would like to interrogate Mr. Breth or the other sponsor.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Curwood, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CURWOOD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KORNICK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me why they have changed the wording from "fee fishing" to "regulated fishing"?

Mr. CURWOOD. Well, Mr. Speaker, I do not know the bill too well, but I would say it has been regulated to fee fishing. You mean from "fee fishing" to "regulated"?

Mr. KORNICK. It has changed the wording from "fee fishing" to "regulated fishing." I want to know why it was changed?

Mr. CURWOOD. Well, as soon as Mr. Breth comes in I will have Mr. Breth handle it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETH. At the request of the Chairman of the Fisheries Committee, I certainly shall.

Mr. KORNICK. Mr. Speaker, again I ask why was the wording changed from "fee fishing" to "regulated fishing rate"?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, the fee lake fishing program has become a very widespread industry in Pennsylvania and involves a considerable investment in capital and it also involves a great many individuals. There are hundreds of these fee lakes and they have formed an association, and it was directly at the request of the association that the name "fee fishing lake" would be changed to "regulated fishing lake" to bring it in line with the game program which has regulated shooting grounds.

Mr. KORNICK. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, as one of the co-sponsors of this bill, I would like to make a brief statement on the bill.

As the Members of the House are aware, the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, having appointed boards, must resort to legislative action whenever they have a financial problem. That is why the school board of the city of Pittsburgh is before you today.

To give you a little history on the need. A bipartisan committee of outstanding citizens of the city of Pittsburgh was appointed early in 1959 to determine the needs of the city of Pittsburgh's 70,000 school children. This particular committee consisted of Democrats, Republicans, businessmen and labor leaders. They came up with a unanimous program; the only difference being as to the method of taxation which would be passed in order to meet the needs of the school children of our city.

The bill before us today is not the bill which I originally sponsored. I want to place upon the record the fact that this particular bill will meet the needs of the city of Pittsburgh's school children only to the extent of 50 percent.

I intended to sponsor a wage tax amendment but I knew it could not pass after hearing certain remarks. I do not intend to place anybody on the spot in connection with this bill because the interests of the 70,000 school children should be above partisan politics, but I merely want to pinpoint that we are giving the city of Pittsburgh's 70,000 school children only 50 percent of their needs.

I, therefore, reluctantly vote for this bill and ask everybody to vote for it on both sides of the House.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1592, entitled:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" approved April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), providing for an operator license period of two years and fixing fees relative thereto and permitting the Secretary of Revenue to divide motor vehicle operators into categories and to vary the issuance and expiration dates of operators' licenses in accordance therewith.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 1592, Printer's No. 1598, is a change in the Vehicle Code pertaining to the fee for the motor vehicle operator's license in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

This bill, as amended and agreed to at this point, provides for the increase of operators' license fees from the present one dollar to two dollars per year. It also provides for the Secretary of Revenue to be permitted to issue the licenses on a biennial basis, effective, if possible, by 1961, and the hopes of this bill are that eventually the system will be changed so the licenses will not be issued all at one time.

They are studying and, as a debate on the previous date will indicate, the possibility of either selecting an alphabetical system, a system dealing with your birth-date month when the licenses would be handled; the operators' licenses would be handled in that manner. The Secretary of Revenue would present whatever system would be acceptable in the issuing of the biennial operators' licenses.

The present bill, 1592, would provide that in 1960, the coming year, the operator's license that you and I have in our possession, would be increased from one dollar to two dollars.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania many years ago had a two dollar operator's license fee. I believe in 1937, the records indicate, the operator's license fee was reduced to the present one dollar. There are approximately 5 million operators' licenses issued in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and I am sure as the years go by there will be more. This in itself would provide to the highway fund an additional $5 million by the operators' license fees, but it also would eventually do one thing that we believe is extremely important—the administrative costs of issuing the licenses each year would eventually be issued on a biennial basis and therefore reduce the administrative costs at least one-half or more.

I urge all the Members of the House to support this legislation. I believe they have checked with their constituents in their legislative districts, with automobile clubs, with the various organizations, and they find very little, if any, objection to the increase of the operators' license fees from the present one dollar to the proposed two dollars.

I would like to also say that in a series of conferences the bill has been agreed to for action and I hope that those agreements will be carried out to their full extent and the bill will be placed on the Governor's desk for signature.

I urge all the Members of the House to support this proposed legislation, House Bill 1592.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to briefly debate this bill.

I have listened intently to the Majority Leader and I agree with some of the points he has brought out. However, this bill has one bad feature which I will comment upon briefly.

This is a bill which favors—and I am sure the department had no intention so to do—the scofflaw. Unfortunately many individuals in this state are able to secure operators' licenses at addresses where they do not live, and when we extend this from one year to two we make it that much easier for them. It is not conducive to highway safety in the congested areas. In my own county, in the county of Philadelphia, we read in the Press where the police arrive with hundreds and hundreds of warrants which they cannot serve upon violators of the Vehicle Code.

I think the department should take some steps to see that licenses do not get into the hands of operators or owners who are not living at the addresses where they are licensed. Until that is done I believe we should consider seriously, and very seriously, voting for a bill of this kind.

For this reason, and this reason alone, I intend to vote against it.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ISAACS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, were you on the floor of the House—the vote was unanimous—when we passed in this House the change of address provision in the Motor Vehicle Code, which is now an Act?

Mr. ISAACS. The vote was almost unanimous and it was about four weeks ago. Unfortunately, Mr. Speaker, not everyone pays attention to the laws we pass in this House.

If these individuals are apprehended who are not living at the addresses called for in their operators' licenses, they are responsible for a fine of $5 or, I believe three days. That does not deter them too much. We just corrected an oversight in the Vehicle Code.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, taking into view the fact that we have passed such a bill, and it is now an Act of the 1959 Session of the General Assembly, dealing with the provisions of when a change of address occurs, does not that act in itself assist in the correction of the incorrect addresses?

Mr. ISAACS. Undoubtedly, Mr. Speaker, it will to some extent assist. However, unfortunately, we have hundreds and possibly thousands of owners of vehicles in this state who are operating them today, and who are not residing at the addresses at which they are registered, and whom it is believed the constables are unable to locate.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman very kindly. Mr. Speaker, we had taken into consideration in deliberation in our caucus on a prior date the item dealing with the unknown addresses, as the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs, has brought to the attention of the House. I think the record will show that we did enact legislation dealing with change of address of operators' licenses. We extended the period from a specific number of hours to days, and we hope that this will permit an enforcement of this particular change in the code, and the penalty for violation is five dollars. That is correct. But, do you not believe that the penalty for violation should be a mediocre sum in an effort to correct this situation and that the proposal which is now law, would assist our policing agencies in educating the public and asking them to change their addresses.

I am quite well aware, as is the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs, that at the time operators' licenses come up for renewal the changes of address normally run approximately 100,000 to 200,000 at that time. But that is not too bad a percentage on five million. Now then, if we try to take care of this situation and try to assist in its correction and educate our people to try to assist in their change of addresses as they properly should when they move from one address to another, I believe that feature should be left out of the present bill.

The only other item I have to comment on is that our adjoining states, New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, our neighboring states, and Ohio, each of them has a license fee similar to this, or higher than this, in some respects. For example, New Jersey, eight dollars, three years; Delaware, four dollars, two years; Maryland, three dollars and a half, permanent; Ohio is the one of our neighboring states that is extremely light, seventy-five cents.

So, in using the neighboring states and also in comparison to another item that is not a part of this, the gasoline tax, I believe you will find most of the people of the Commonwealth believe this is a nominal fee for an operator's license. It is a figure which existed here in the Commonwealth back in 1937 and before.

Mr. Speaker, I again urge the gentleman from Delaware and all the other Members to support this measure and vote in the affirmative.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I believe the Majority Leader missed one point in the remarks I made. We have no trouble in locating owners and operators, the honest citizen, the citizen who may move to another address who fails, possibly through neglect, to change his operator's license. However, he has a home; he has a post office address. With that individual we have no trouble. The troublemaker is the operator or the owner who secures his license from an address where he does not reside, who does it deliberately and purposely and who by that dodge puts himself in a position, unless by accident, where no authority, constituted authority, can locate him.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1560, entitled:

An Act amending "The Administrative Code of 1929," approved April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), further regulating the price to be paid for State forest lands.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. RENWICK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose House Bill 1560, Printer's No. 1658. This is a bill, of course, that will enable the Department of Forests and Waters to increase their power to purchase land from $10 an acre to $50 an acre. Of course this is land that comprises marginal and interior holdings with state forest lands.

The reason I oppose this is simply this: In my county we have exactly 71,514 acres of forest land. We also have 63,896 acres of game land, which gives us a total of 135,410 acres of land owned by the Game Commission or the Department of Forests and Waters. Now our total forest acreage is 386,000 acres, and you can imagine, you can picture in your mind, where do we obtain our tax revenues? When the state owns these acres of course we have no way of deriving any revenue whatsoever except the mere 10c an acre that we received from the Commonwealth.

Now here we are giving the Department of Forests and Waters the right to increase their purchasing of these lands. Everyone here in this House knows there is a move on to take everything back to local effort, to have your taxes raised at a local level. In my county, where we have 135,000 acres of land owned by the state, where can we get this revenue except from the privately owned land? If we are going to let the Department of Forests and Waters, the Game Commission, or any department in the Commonwealth buy these lands and pay high prices for these lands, you know the higher price they pay the better land they will get. Of course there are a lot of you people who do not have the same conditions as we have, but there will be a time, if you give the Department of Forests and Waters the right to buy this land, when you are going to be in the same position as we are. So I ask every Member of this House to vote against this bill.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, I want to add to what the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Renwick, said. I would like to point out, in the matter of taxation, that if the Department of Forests and Waters acquires a holding, it is not only removed from the tax list, but it cannot be developed. Let me point out that one acre owned by the state at the present time yields to the political subdivision 10c per year. If that could be developed, one house or one camp on it, the same acre would yield from $100 to $200 a year taxation. Further, land that could be used for a higher utilization is permanently taken off. It can be around a borough, a township or village; it stifles the growth of a village and the county.

There are a great many reasons why the state should be careful in the acquisition of land. They never have been. Legislation has been introduced in this Session and in the last Session to give a degree of local voice in the acquisition of land, also to correct the contribution to local government in lieu of taxes. It was vetoed in the last Session, and it is not being given consideration in this Session. Until such time as there is a local voice in the acquisition of land by the state, I think that all bills—and I urge the House to vote against this bill—should be defeated.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I can appreciate the opinion of the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Renwick, and the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Goodrich. However, there are other considerations on which this legislation is based. In fact in Pennsylvania our state forest program is not static. It was never intended to be static, and as many of you realize, the state forests comprise 1,750,000 acres, approximately, of land at the present time. However, if it were not for those thousands of acres and their strategic distribution throughout the state, particularly in our watershed areas, we might and very likely would face a very rough water problem, because on those state forest lands the streams are kept pure and remain pure.

I think Mr. Renwick was in error when he said this bill increases the Department's right to purchase land from $10 to $50 an acre. It does not increase the right of the Department of Forests and Waters to purchase new lands at an increased figure. The figure originally laid down in 1929 was, I believe, $10. In this bill it still remains $10. However, there are other considerations in the management of forests. One of them is fire protection. Fire protection depends upon an ideal and strategic distribution of fire towers for fire detection. Now if there were a certain peak, a certain high area, in our state forests that would lend itself naturally, and be the ideal place for a fire tower, this still would give the Department of Forests and Waters the right to go in and buy that site for a fire tower at a figure above the $10.

In filling out its holdings the only thing this bill does is increase from $20 to $50 the amount the Department of Forests and Waters can pay for land adjoining existing state forests or lands that are surrounded completely by existing state forest land.

This bill, naturally, is a bill for the future, and we face in America, as in Pennsylvania, a zooming human population. It has been estimated that within the next 10 years our population will go over 200 million people. These people must be served, and it is a human error and a human weakness to turn to natural resources, timber and other natural resources, and consume them in the interests of a progressive civilization. We as Members of the House of Representatives should have vision enough to look forward to passing this bill to augment our future forestry program in the interest of a far greater population than we now have in the state, with its absolutely definable demand upon our natural resources.

This is a good bill, it hurts nobody, and it will be for the future good of the entire forestry program in Pennsylvania.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to point out that we do not object to Forests and Waters acquiring more land. We do object, as the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, stated, that the Department must, with this bill, buy land adjacent to their present holdings and add another tentacle to an octopus that has stifled the growth of many communities and many counties in Pennsylvania. If there were a degree of local control, if there were a local voice, on the acquisition of land by the state, I am sure many of the objections would not be present.

Further, as far as watershed protection is concerned, which is brought up by the gentleman from Clearfield, originally his arguments held, but at the present time privately owned forests are managed as well as and possibly better than the best management on state forest land. Now, this comes from many foresters, including some foresters associated with the Department and with the Game Commission. So, as far as the arguments presented by the gentleman from Clearfield, I am sure he feels they are sincere, but I am sure they are wrong. I again ask that the bill be defeated.

Mr. RENWICK. Mr. Speaker, just to keep the record straight, I would like to inform the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, who said that I was in error in what I said, and now I make it emphatic that I mentioned the purchase price paid for entire holdings in lands and marginal farms along state forest lands and I pointed out that we have in my county 71,514 acres of land. So, you can see they can buy all around these lands, 71,000 acres, and they can increase it beyond limits. Therefore, I ask you again to defeat this bill.

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 804, entitled:

An Act repealing Section 5 act of June 13, 1837 (P. L. 551) entitled "An act relating to roads highways and bridges" abolishing certain requirements concerning breadth of roads.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I wonder if I may interrogate one of the sponsors of this bill?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. A. M. LEE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that this balances the present law with reference to fixed road widths in all the state of Pennsylvania, or is it limited to certain class cities, townships or boroughs?

Mr. A. M. LEE. I will answer the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, by saying that it takes off the limitations on maximum widths and says they may be as wide as the Secretary of Highways shall, in his judgment, deem necessary.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The thought I have in mind is this: Would that give it on roads, state-aided roads, such as township roads, second class township roads? Presently the width is fixed by statute at 33 feet. Now would this give the Secretary of Highways the right to fix widths of state-aided roads in second class townships?

Mr. A. M. LEE. Well, the present law, Mr. Speaker, is that the width of a public road shall be not less than 33 feet, and in the present law there are certain maximum widths, 200 feet in certain cases and 120 feet in other cases. This bill does not affect the provision relating to the minimum width of 33 feet.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1652, entitled:

An Act amending the "Employment Agency Law" approved July 31, 1941 (P. L. 616) changing definitions licensing criteria and licensing suspension and revocation procedures reducing fees for representative licenses changing the authority of employment agents with regard to charging fees and utilizing certain methods of doing business providing for minimum fees in certain types of engagements clarifying the applicability of other laws to employment agents changing the procedures and penalties for violations of this act and clarifying and changing the powers and duties of the Department.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 1652 was debated on a prior day in a Session here and, at that particular date on debate of the amendment to the employment agency law, the debate indicated that there was objection to the word "knowingly" being removed from the law, to the effective date of the Act, and to those who would be subject to serving an apprenticeship or a period of time under a licensed employment agency. The bill was then recalled and amended, and each of those items has been inserted into the bill as indicated by the debate of that date.

I ask that the Members vote in favor of House Bill 1652 since each of the sections pertaining to those items discussed on that day in a prior debate have been corrected by amendment to meet their objections. I ask for an affirmative vote and believe that this is very good sound legislation amending the employment agency law.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader, Mr. McCann.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, would the Majority Leader advise the House whether or not a farmer who would make a personal trip to Puerto Rico to hire some migrant labor would come under this act?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I certainly could not answer that except to say that I would assume that any farmer who would be willing to make the trip to Puerto Rico to get migrant labor would not be subject to any employment agency laws.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, supposing that this farmer would decide to take a trip to Puerto Rico, knowing that farmers are rather neighborly and half a dozen other farmers would say to him, now while you are in Puerto Rico, we know that you exercise good judgment, would you also get some migrant workers for us, would he come under this act?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe he would come under the act. I believe that falls under migrant labor contracts most of which are executed between agreements of farm organizations basically, but the individual farmer, I assume, could then execute his own agreement for migrant labor.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, I am afraid probably my question was misunderstood. My question is to the Majority Leader, Mr. McCann, that should a farmer decide not to go through a farmers' organization or should he decide not to go through the Department of Labor but should decide on his own to go to, for example, Puerto Rico, at the same time he takes that trip he is negotiating for, say, six other farmers in his community, would he be subject to the penalties of this act?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer the question. I believe that he would not, but I have no authority as to my statement that he would not.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, does not this act say that a person who is an agent represents an employer and if one farmer who is acting in a neighborly fashion for another, would not he still be doing it as representing the second farmer?

Mr. McCANN. Your question, Mr. Fulmer, dealt with going to Puerto Rico to get migrant labor?

Mr. FULMER. That is right, sir.

Mr. McCANN. I cannot answer your question but I certainly could answer it as to the person dealing with employing or getting people for employment in other fields.

Mr. FULMER. But not necessarily the farm field?

Mr. McCANN. I could not answer it in the farm field, sir, and I have no authority to say that he would or would not be exempt. Puerto Rico does not fall under the federal statute dealing with migrant labor within the scope of migrant labor coming from another country, and I believe that all migrant labor coming from certain countries fall under the Federal Migrant Labor Law. I am not that well versed on the question dealing with the farmer.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, maybe we could go into another field then of employment. I would like to ask the Majority Leader if a booking agent for a union would qualify as an employment agency?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will he repeat what he said?

Mr. FULMER. A booking agent, for example, for a musicians' union—they have a booking agent—would he be considered as an employment agency under this act?

Mr. McCANN. If I understand the gentleman correctly, a booking agent who books dates for musicians or orchestras and if, for example, the Music Corporation of America, that sets up dates for the entertainment of people, and musicians and musicians union would not fall under this act, if that is what the gentleman is referring to.

Mr. FULMER. Does this not say that the bill refers to entertainment?

Mr. McCANN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, but you said the booking agent dealing in the field of entertainment. Musicians, musicians' union, entertainment, such as, the Music Corporation of America I assume?

Mr. FULMER. Yes. And they would be excluded from this act.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, they are excluded now. The Music Corporation of America books all over the United States and it does here in the Commonwealth.

Mr. FULMER. Well, Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask another question, if I may. Supposing, as we have in many high schools throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, these seasonal tournaments, like basketball tournaments or wrestling tournaments during the holidays, and supposing these supervising principals directs the coach to secure the officials for these events, therefore, he would be representing the school in the event. I am sorry, this may seem like a very silly question, but they have been asked of me and I could not answer them and if we have any people before the House who could answer it, it would not take anything from anyone. But the bill does say that if either represents an employer, he comes under this act.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, very clearly, he does not. For example, certainly certain athletic officials do book, both referees, umpires for athletic events, fall under normal P. I. A. A. regulations; they fall under school agreements dealing with the area they play in. Let us go a step farther as he has to employ, which many schools do, I assume ticket takers, ticket sellers, other types of people who operate the stadium for the school district or for the athletic coach, as the case may be. The answer is no, very distinctly.

Mr. FULMER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Will the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Will the Majority Leader read page 6 of the bill, Printer's No. 1678?

Mr. McCANN. I have page 6, Mr. Speaker of 1678.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Now before the bill was amended it provided that in order to be qualified you had to be an employe of an existing employment agency for at least one year.

Mr. McCANN. That was correct, sir.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Now, your amendment states that in lieu of such prior employment by an existing employment agency an applicant shall be qualified if he has a degree from an accredited college requiring at least four years undergraduate study in the field of personnel relations or personnel management.

Mr. McCANN. That is right, sir.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, Mr. Speaker, do you believe that this opens the door to qualified people to become owners of employment agencies without working for an employment agency?

Mr. McCANN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, if for example, they attended the University of Pittsburgh, which is certainly a qualified four-year undergraduate school and they graduated in the field of personnel relations or personnel management, which was discussed by the gentleman from Centre County, Mr. Fulmer, on the previous debate, they would be and are in this bill, in lieu of the prior one year apprenticeship, eligible for the licensing of an employment agency since they graduated in the proper field.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. If a man was a personnel manager of the United States Steel Corporation and never went to college, he would have to go ahead and work for an employment agency for one year under this bill. Would he not?

Mr. McCANN. I do not believe you will find that on page 6.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I mean does he qualify under this bill without being a former employe of an employment agency?

Mr. McCANN. "Has served with or been employed by an existing employment agency for at least one year during the five years prior to the application." If he met that qualification, would he not be eligible to be licensed?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, I asked you the question. You threw it back to me. I certainly do not think that a man who is a personnel manager for a corporation or for a government is working for an employment agency. He is working for an employer and, therefore, I believe they are curative; they are restrictive in character and, to me, kind of a closed shop for existing employment agencies that have a monopoly on this type of business. If you had cured it, we could have voted for the bill. We do not think this amendment has done any good whatsoever.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, I believe the amendments inserted in the bill do meet the situation and I certainly would have been most pleased to clarify to the clearest point that portion dealing with that. I believe you and I know quite well that if a man served as an employment officer, for example, with United States Steel or Jones and Loughran or some concern and he served in that capacity or served in the capacity of employing people, within the scope, he certainly meets the requirements of being eligible to operate an employment agency within the scope of the existing employment agency law and the amendments proposed to it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 2173, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) further providing for the building or rebuilding of schools and the preparation of drawings for such schools and repealing certain provisions concerning heating and ventilating standards.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. SNARE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SNARE asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Section 2 (Section 733.1), page 4, line 10, by striking out "Person" and inserting "registered architect"

Amend Section 2 (Section 733.1), page 4, line 12, by striking out "schools" and inserting "school buildings"

Amend Section 2 (Section 733.1), page 4, line 13, by striking out "when" and inserting "and"

Amend Section 2 (Section 733.1), page 4, lines 14 to 16, by striking out all of said lines and inserting "shall be kept on file"

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. McCANN.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1045, entitled:

An Act regulating service by publication in actions of divorce or annulment of marriage.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, very briefly, I want to make a correction to what I said yesterday with respect to the practice in divorce action.

I was under a misunderstanding. I referred to the fact that when a complaint divorce was filed and the defendant was not able to be served personally or by registered mail the Master determined where the last residence of the defendant was and then directed that publication of the complaint be in that particular county or city or state where the defendant's last known residence was. That was an incorrect statement. I was referring to the procedure after the complaint in divorce had been served by publication. There is no preliminary hearing to determine where the last known residence of the defendant was prior to the time that the complaint was actually published.

I, therefore, want to correct the record and say what was stated by me yesterday was not in accord with the fact or the practice.

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, we sat here yesterday and heard this bill debated pro and con. We have heard the expression "feather-bedding" all year on different bills. It is my opinion that this is simply a newspaper feather-bedding bill and I ask everyone to vote against it.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Messrs. KAMYK, DEVLIN, FILO, WILT, DONALDSON and GOLDSTEIN offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 22, 1959.

On Sunday, September 20, 1959, Mr. James J. Lamb, of 1004 Herschel Street, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, the father of Thomas F. Lamb, a member of this House of Representatives, passed away.

Mr. Lamb, who, was associated with the Pennsylvania Railroad, was a fine citizen, the death of whom creates a heartfelt loss to his many friends and loved ones; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania extends its sincere condolences to the widow of Mr. James J. Lamb, the former Agnes Dunn, and to his son, fellow member Thomas F. Lamb, and to the other surviving members of the family upon the death of James J. Lamb; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Mrs. Agnes Dunn Lamb.

BIRTHDAY OF MEMBER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I believe it is the birthday of one of our Members here in the House, and I would like at this time to wish a happy birthday to our good friend from Philadelphia, Representative Parlante.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would request a happy birthday song led by Dr. Dengler.

The Members joined in singing Happy Birthday.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. On behalf of the House the Chair wishes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Parlante, a very happy birthday and recognizes the gentleman.

Mr. PARLANTE. Mr. Speaker, I do not know what to say. I just want to say thank you to every Member in the House. Thank you.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. GRAMLICH and DAVIS.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 115.

In the House of Representatives, September 22, 1959.

The upper Allegheny River flows through a storehouse of natural resources such as oil, forest products, coal, clay and sand. The area is also the home of many manufactured products like steel, machinery, oil equipment and other supplies.

At present, the Allegheny River is non-navigable through much of the Upper Allegheny Valley. Two or more dams between East Brady in Clarion County and Oil City in Venango County would, to a great extent, remedy this situation.

With navigable waters, there would be an additional practical method of transporting the natural and manufactured products of the area and the opening of new vistas to industry and prosperity; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact such legislation and appropriate such funds as may be necessary to build at least two dams between East Brady, Clarion County, Pennsylvania, and Oil City, Venango County, Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. DAVIS, GRAMLICH, GOODRICH and BRETH.

RESOLUTION No. 116.

In the House of Representatives, September 22, 1959.

Overbrowsing by deer has caused extensive injury to the timber industry which is engaged in a sustained yield forest management program. In some areas an excessive deer population has eliminated completely or greatly retarded the normal regeneration processes. The deer population should, of course, be preserved as one of our natural resources but we must also recognize our duty to the persons who suffer damage from deer; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission study and investigate the problem of forest crop damage by deer, and determine an equitable and efficient means of providing reimbursement to the persons suffering such damage; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE
ON HOUSE BILL No. 274

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I present the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 274.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The report will lie over for printing under the Rules.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we have had wonderful cooperation here today. I hope we can do the same thing next week if at all possible, and I feel confident we can do it if we work here two days very hard; we might be able to work a two-day schedule next week.

We will announce definitely regarding this on the floor of the House on Monday. I ask all the Members to give us another six-hour day and we will make it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to express the appreciation of the Chair to the Members for the fine cooperation and attention they gave during this long afternoon. I hope you all enjoy a very late but good dinner.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, September 28, 1959 at 3:30 p.m. EST.

The motion was agreed to and (at 7:22 p.m. EST) the House adjourned.

Session 1959.

143rd of the General Assembly.

Vol. 36.

HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1959.

No. 96.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1959

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. RUTH:

O Lord, our God, we praise and bless Thy Holy Name for all Thy goodness to us; for the beauty of the common earth, for the trees and flowers, for the wonder of the changing seasons, and for life and opportunity for service.

We pray that Thy blessing will rest upon us, and that our work may be pleasing to Thee and for the well-being of those whom we represent.

Guide us as we return to our homes and assume our duties there, that there, too, we may give the best that we have.

Bless our loved ones, wherever they are. Keep us always loyal to Thee and then everything in this world will fall in its proper place. We ask it in Thy Holy name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BERGER and Mr. FLEMING, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE MESSAGES

SENATE BILL No. 96 RETURNED WITH AMENDMENTS

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 96, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 5, 1933 (P. L. 280), entitled "Nonprofit Corporation Law," changing permissible corporate names and changing the law with respect to devises, bequests and gifts in trust for the care and maintenance of cemeteries, burial ground or cemetery lots, trustees and substituted trustees thereof, sureties of such trustees, the investment of such trust funds and accounts of said trustees, and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations.

with the information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

The PRESIDENT. The bill, as amended, will appear on Monday's Calendar.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Robert D. Fleming) in the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

The Chair wishes to announce that he is presiding at the request of the President pro tempore, M. Harvey Taylor.

ALHAJI UMARU GWANDU, M.B.S. SPEAKER OF THE NORTHERN HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY, LOGARD
HALL, KADUNA, NIGERIA
PRESENTED TO SENATE

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate of Pennsylvania is honored today by having a very distinguished visitor from Nigeria here, the Speaker of the Northern House of Assembly, Alhaji Gwandu.

I would like now to present to the Senate of Pennsylvania, for a word of greeting to us, from Nigeria, the Speaker of their House.

ALHAJI UMARU GWANDU. Mr. Speaker and Honorable Senators, it happens that I was just passing around by chance and learned that this august Body was sitting. Therefore, I said that it would be a good thing if I would just have a look around. I have the greatest pleasure in being invited here to address you. It is really a great honor to me. I was not expecting it at all.

Yesterday, when I arrived, I had the opportunity of meeting my colleague, who holds the same position, Mr. Andrews. He was, to my surprise, very kind and asked me to address his House. I was not expecting that either, but it was a very great honor. I thought it would be rather discourteous if, having known that this very honorable and senior House was sitting, I did not pay my due courtesy.

I should like to assure you that I feel greatly honored my being invited to address both of your Houses of the Legislature of Pennsylvania. In fact, my government, I think, will now be fully convinced of the great admiration which the people of America have for Nigeria.

I should like to tell you that I am here at the invitation of the United States Government, through the auspices of the State Department, on an arrangement which has been made under a system called the Leader Exchange Program. I arrived in Washington on the twelfth of this month and I had the honor of finding the Congress in Session, but about to adjourn, I had the opportunity of meeting Members of both Houses there and here, too. When I heard that your State Assembly was in Session, I requested that Harrisburg should be made my first place to visit outside the Capitol of this vast County of the United States, which I hope to tour within the next fifty days.

I think the honorable Senators would like to know, briefly, something about Nigeria which, I gather, is so very little known, except by the officials of the State Department who are connected, of course, with business in that Country.

Nigeria is situated in West Africa and stretches from the coast further north up to the thirteenth parallel of latitude. It is an area comprising over 372,000 square miles, with a population of approximately just over 35,000,000 people. You can see, therefore, that the country, compared with the population of the area, is sparsely populated. There are vast areas for farming and for animals, and lots of arable land.

Also, I think you should like to know that the Country is divided into three regions or what are known here as States. There is the Northern Region, the part from which I come, and there is the Western Region and the Eastern Region. Then we have the Federal Capitol of Lagos, which does not belong to any region, but is a seat of government and also the place where the Federal House of Representatives meets. We have the Cameroons, which was formerly governed by Germany, but was taken over at the end of the first World War, 1914 to 1918, and is administered on behalf of the United Nations by the Nigerian Government. My Country, Nigeria, is virtually independent of the British Government and the three regions, at the moment, are self-governing and are all coterminous with the Federation. However, the whole Federation is going to become independent on the first of October, 1960. In fact, we are virtually independent and there is actually only the ceremony of handing over, which will take place on the first of October.

Our own system of legislation is almost similar to yours. I do not have time to tell you all the main differences, but I think you would be interested to know that the main, fundamental difference between your Legislature, both in the States and in the Congress, is that we have a ministerial form of government, like the British, in Nigeria. Whereas here, your heads of the Executive Branch are not Members of the Legislature. However, in our Country, the leader in the House of the party in the majority, which has returned to power, is asked by the Governor to form a cabinet. He then selects, from among the members of his party, people whom he considers competent to become Ministers. These are then appointed as Ministers. Together, as a team, they run the day to day business of the Country; of course, under the check of the Parliament.

I think you will find it very interesting—I should have told the House of Representatives this, but I did not have the chance—to know how we check our government. Some of you may say, “Well, since the Ministers are members of the House and run the departments themselves, how are they checked?” This is the way they are checked: Nearly each morning, after the formal opening with prayers, messages and so on, as usual, as you do now, we have a question time. It is a time especially allotted for members to ask questions on the day to day business of running the Country. We allocate forty-five minutes for that specifically. The members—it does not matter from what party he belongs, a “back-bencher” or from the opposition but mostly, of course, from the opposition—ask the Ministers questions on what they are doing in their ministries. Members do get questions from their constituents, asking them to find out about something. They put down questions and read them from the floor of the House. Then, when the Minister answers the question, supplementary questions are asked. There is no limit to any supplementary questions unless, of course, the supplementary question is irrelevant to what the original question was.

Of course, our Sessions differ from yours in that we have Annual Sessions. At the beginning of a new Session, the Ministers submit a policy statement, which we call a speech from the throne, which is read by the Governor. Actually, however, it is a policy statement, prepared by the Ministers. We allow approximately about seven days for debating the statement or the speech from the throne. That is, the Government informs the Legislature what it proposes to do throughout the year, what sort of bills will be introduced, what has been done, what has been achieved and so on. The Members then have the chance of criticizing all of this policy and may even prevent the Government from introducing its legislation. Roughly, this is the way we check our own Ministers.

You may also like to know what are the important exports of the Country. The chief exports are cocoa—of course, you know what cocoa is because chocolate is made from cocoa. We have brown nuts or what you call peanuts. We have python skins. We have a large number of cattle, especially in the north. We have palm oil. We have tin, which, in fact, is mined in the Northern Region; columbite, bauxite, and many other minerals. We have sufficient coal for our own consumption and, also, we now have petrol, which has been discovered in the southern part of the Country. Our refinery will soon be set up. At the moment, crude oil is exported from the Country and refined in England. However, we are now setting up our own refinery and we are going to refine our petrol because it has now been confirmed that it has been discovered in large commercial quantities. Therefore, there is no need to take it and refine it in another Country.

We have started industries in our Country, in the north and in the Capitol of the Northern Region, in Kaduna. We have a big textile industry, where we make our own cloth from our own cotton. Also, we have cement factories which have been set up. We also have many other small industries, such as the making of soft drinks, et cetera.

Honorable Members, I do not wish to take up your time. You have a lot of business. I have had the greatest pleasure. You can see how pleased I am and how honored I am. I am sure the news will splash back to my Country very soon and I know how delighted my people will be: I am sure the people at the State Department will deeply appreciate this great honor which has been done to me.

Honorable Senators, I am very grateful to you and I say, “Thank you.”

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the Senate of Pennsylvania, I want to thank you for coming up and giving us that very fine talk.

Now I would you to meet, sir, the Leaders of the two parties in Pennsylvania, Senator Ruth, the Democratic Leader in the Senate, and Senator Berger, the Republican Leader in the Senate.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which concurrence of the House is requested.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1861, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929" transferring the State Hospital at Hamburg to the Department of Public Welfare and creating a board of trustees.

And said bill having been read at length the third time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, we do not object to the offering of amendments. We object to the second set of amendments. We would like to have a vote on the amendments, leaving the tubercular patients at Hamburg. We object to that.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. But you have no objection to the offering of amendments at the moment?

Mr. RUTH. We have no objection to the offering of amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 2, third from last line of Title, by inserting after "transferring": "the building known as Pennhurst Annex No. 1 located at Samuel G. Dixon State Hospital at Mount Alto and"; Amend Bill, page 9, by inserting between lines 14 and 15: "Section 4. The operation, control and management of the building known as Pennhurst Annex No. 1 located on the premises of the Samuel G. Dixon State Hospital at Mount Alto and the equipment, fixtures, furnishings and personal property therein are hereby transferred from the Department of Health to the Department of Public Welfare as a part of Pennhurst State Hospital. Utilities, including light, heat, water, sewage facilities and necessary maintenance shall be supplied by the Department of Health at the expense of the Department of Public Welfare"; Amend Sec. 4, page 9, line 15 by striking out "4" and inserting: "5".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent at this time to make a clarifying statement about these amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, I regret that Senator Weiner is not here, and I say that in no caustic way. I say it simply because yesterday, or last evening, whenever it was, he questioned the idea of putting this bill over and I promised him that within twenty-four hours I hoped that we would be able to come to some agreement on some questions that had been raised about this bill.

I should first like to make it clear to my colleagues in the Senate, Mr. President, that I am fully in support of this particular bill and I should like to have that unmistakably clear. I will support the bill with or without the amendments.

However, in the last several weeks, I have spent a great deal of time with Secretary Horting and Doctors Wilbar and Davis, and other people connected with both the Health and Public Welfare Departments, in re-examining some of the intents of this bill. I should like to say that in these discussions, I have learned much to my— I should not say surprise, because I have been aware of this—pleasure that the Department of Health has done a great deal in reducing not only the incidence of tuberculosis, but also in finding a cure. This has been particularly true of those in the younger ages. This is not so true of those in the older age groups. They would like to do more, if they could get a little more co-operation from those in the older age groups to take the examinations and so forth which are offered by the Department.

Due to their excellent work over the years, the Children's Annex of the Samuel G. Dixon State Hospital at Mont Alto, Pennsylvania, became almost empty as far as patient load was concerned. At about this time with the increasing incidence of mental retardation, the Department of Welfare asked the Department of Health if they could not use this practically empty Children's Annex at the Samuel G. Dixon Hospital to move in some of the mentally retarded.

I think all of us are not only aware of, but deeply concerned about the fact that on our mental retardation list right now there are some 3,000 cases which need institutional care. Therefore, this agreement was arranged, and the Children's Annex became an annex of the Pennhurst State Hospital for the mentally ill. This was approximately two years ago. About eighteen months ago, the Department of Welfare began moving patients into what is now known as the Pennhurst Annex. Today, there are approximately 415 mentally retarded children—and I think all of us are aware that we refer to them as children regardless of their age—in the Pennhurst State Annex.

I should like at this time, Mr. President, with the indulgence of yourself and of my colleagues in the Senate, to call to your attention some of the great strides that have been made by the Welfare Department and by the local people in this Pennhurst State Annex operation.

May I read from the Franklin County Medical Society—and, incidentally, I think you are aware that the Samuel

G. Dixon Hospital, where this annex is located, is located in Franklin County,—resolution which was adopted at a meeting not too long ago, which reads as follows, in part:

"The Chambersburg Hospital Medical Staff hereby expresses its acknowledgement of the outstanding contribution made by Doctor R. I. Jaslow to retarded children through his directorship of Pennhurst State School Annex No. 1 at South Mountain. Further, the staff feels that moving Pennhurst would disrupt the excellent care these unfortunates have been receiving and would be a serious injustice to these patients.

"The Chambersburg Hospital Staff encourages the support of all interested people in keeping this staff in tact at its present location.

"As the result of investigation, it is the staff's considered opinion that the quality care here in Pennhurst Annex No. 1 would be difficult to duplicate elsewhere."

May I make a correction, Mr. President, for the record? This is from the Chambersburg Hospital Staff and not the Franklin County Medical Society.

I have here letters for the American Legion Auxiliary, the V. F. W. Auxiliary, the nurses and staff at the Pennhurst State Annex, and I do have a letter from the Franklin County Medical Society, itself, which I would like to read into the record, if I can find it among all these other papers from all these interested people who have written.

The reason that I would like to read this into the record is because I acknowledge the fact that I am a layman in this particular problem, and I did want to have some medical authority to go on.

I quote from this letter:

"The Medical Society of Franklin County would like to express their strong disapproval of the intention to move and destroy the Pennhurst State Annex No. 1, South Mountain, Franklin County, Pennsylvania, as it has been very gratifying that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has such an efficient and economical operation with a very high standard of medical care.

"In addition, the spirit and morale of the employees has been unusual for institutional and hospital situations, and which creates the necessary home atmosphere and warmth so vital to patients with mental retardation.

"Furthermore, this operation has created a very warm and close community spirit and has been educational in many groups of society in regard to problems of mental retardation.

"It is also apparent that the formation of this organization in the community"—and here I would like to emphasize this—"has enlightened and made the public at large conscious of the need for support, and that something can be done for this type of patient, as has been exemplified by this particular institution in Franklin County."

There are other letters here from the Chamber of Commerce and other groups and organizations in Franklin County.

The point, Mr. President, in bringing these things to your attention is simply this. The present bill under consideration would change the Miner Hospital at Hamburg from the Department of Health to the Department of Public Welfare. It is said that this hospital, which has a 600 bed capacity, could be expanded by 400 beds to 1,000, and that this would then allow 1,000 of these mentally retarded, on the waiting list, to be moved into-

Hamburg. This is something that I support very strongly, and something concerning which I am very much in favor.

However, if the patients at the Pennhurst State Annex are then moved up to Hamburg after this expansion has taken place, the net gain in patient care among the mentally retarded is 585. If the patients are left at Pennhurst State Annex, and if this move goes through, there will not only be room for the additional 1,000, which they say can be taken care of at Hamburg, but also the 415, roughly, at Pennhurst State Annex. This then is a net gain of 1,000 as compared with 585. Therefore, of the 3,000 who are on the waiting list for institutional care and who must have this care, this move with these amendments will enable 1,000, in total, to be taken care of. Without the amendments, there would be a net gain of 585.

The amendments, Mr. President, are simply to guarantee that the patients at Pennhurst State Annex remain there. The amendments also, just like the bill, transfer Pennhurst State Annex from the Department of Health to the Department of Public Welfare.

There are costs involved, but we do not want to go into costs involved when we are talking about people. These are people who are sick physically, and people who are sick mentally. I am not going to stand here, or anywhere, and say that the mentally retarded needs are more important than the needs of tubercular patients. They are both in need, both kinds of patients, both kinds of people who suffer from these illnesses.

It would seem to me, however, that perhaps if careful study might be given, that the tubercular patients now in the Miner Hospital could be placed in the Dixon Hospital and in other State hospitals, leaving the Hamburg situation as it is under the bill, empty with 600 beds, allow for the expansion for 400 more beds and keep the people at Pennhurst, all probably within the same amount of expenditure, and, again getting back to my central point, with the addition of 415 to the net figure or net gain, if you want to call it that, which we are trying to achieve.

This is the purpose of these amendments, Mr. President. I ask those who feel they cannot support them for one reason or other, of course, not to do so. However, I ask those who feel that there is something in this idea of trying to provide not only 600 beds for the mentally retarded, but 1,000 beds for the mentally retarded, expand what we are trying to do under this bill, expand our services and expand the space for these people, to consider very seriously these amendments and perhaps vote for them.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, neither I nor our side have objection at all to these amendments, because we are interested in creating places for retarded children.

I have been informed, by people who were on the inside, of the wonderful work that the staff of the Pennhurst Annex and the people of Chambersburg and vicinity have done. I think it is one of the great works that has been carried on in the last few years, and I do not want to disturb that.

We have no objection at all to these amendments. If there are any amendments offered which will disrupt the plan for the Hamburg State Hospital, then I will have something to say. However, we have no objection at all to these amendments because I know of the wonderful work that the people and the organizations around Chambersburg have done, and that the staff is doing for those children, and we do not want to disrupt that work.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, I would just like to thank the Senator.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I rise not to object to the amendments, but to comment on two of the statements made by the gentleman on the other side who spoke in favor of the amendments.

In the first place, I noted with considerable interest the statements that he made, corroborated by medical people in his county, about the fine job the Public Welfare Department is doing in its operation of this. I regret that Senator Pechan and the other members of the committee, which dealt with the affairs of the Public Welfare Department, were not present because I think these remarks would have been illuminating to them. I am always glad to hear commendatory remarks for the operation of the Department of Public Welfare in this area.

The second thing on which I wanted to comment favorably regarding in the remarks of the gentleman concern his remarks to the point that we should not put dollars and cents above the interest to taking care of the unfortunates in our Commonwealth. I heartily endorse his sentiments, and I commend him to all the Members of the Senate, both in his own Caucus and in my own.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I, too, wish to congratulate the gentleman on his marvelous speech. I might say that when we start the debate on the General Appropriation Bill, I hope that he will follow through with his support to our side on amendments which have been justified by his remarks in regard to public welfare and the problems of the people, in general.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Mr. FLACK. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Sec. 3, page 9, by inserting between lines 11 and 12: "Any person who is an inmate of the institution and is suffering from silicosis or tuberculosis shall not be discharged from the institution unless and until he has been certified as cured of either or both diseases or voluntarily leaves the institution. A voluntary withdrawal shall be evidenced by an instrument in writing.

"No new patients suffering from silicosis or tuberculosis shall be admitted to this institution after the effective date of this act."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I do object to this amendment, but not for the reason that we do not want to help these people. However, under this amendment, there would be just a few over 100 tubercular patients in that Hamburg Hospital, along with may be 900 children. We want to do everything we can for these people, but it would mean the carrying on of a staff of doctors and nurses and all the equipment to take care of just a little over 100 patients, when they could be moved to other institutions and all that money could be saved and could be utilized to take care of the children there.

The purpose is to create a hospital at Hamburg to take care of 1,000 children who have no place just now. They are in homes where, in many instances, they are in the way. They are not properly cared for because the people are not equipped. I believe it will be a thing that will not work out, to have two kinds of hospitals in one and carrying a staff of doctors and nurses which would be required to take care of just a little over 100 patients. They could very readily be taken care of.

I know of many instances with retarded children, where the families have to travel many, many miles. Out at Pennhurst and at the Pennhurst Annex in Chambersburg, there are many children from the Philadelphia area. Their families have to travel all the way to Chambersburg and are doing it. I do not think it would be much farther from the region where these 100 tubercular patients come from than they have to travel to go out to the other hospitals.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would like to be recorded as voting "no" on this amendment. I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this amendment, also.

Mr. FLACK. Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman from Berks, the anthracite region has had a great many tuberculosis, silicosis and anthraco-silicosis cases, which have been sent into Hamburg and other institutions and they have been there over a period of years. I realize that may be the population of that type of patient has dropped. The people in the families of my District, particularly Luzerne, and in the Districts of Senator Scott and Senator Wagner, have had many of their miners who have been confined to this hospital. Under this amendment, we ask that those who are in there be left and no new patients be admitted in the wing that they are now in. I think they could probably handle them all right with the present staff they now have.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1861, Printer's No. 1054, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That includes all of the bills on first reading. There being objection, these bills will appear on Monday's First Reading Calendar.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like to make just a few short remarks in regard to legislation which was sponsored by Senator Ruth, Senator Berger, Senator Pechan, Senator Silvert and myself, pertaining to foster homes for elderly people.

I believe this would be of interest to the Members of the Senate and to the people of Pennsylvania, as a whole. As you know, all this legislation has passed the House and the Senate, and is now on the Governor's desk. It is reliably estimated that there are at least 42,000 individuals housed today in institutions in all parts of Pennsylvania for the aged, sick and chronically ill. This includes nursing, convalescent homes, county institution districts, non-profit homes for the aged and commercial boarding houses for the aged.

Many of these people require no special services. They could live happily if given only the opportunity to enjoy the pleasures and benefits of family life with the friendship and companionship that such a home provides, and with a minimum of supervision that is necessary because of their vast years and the normal infirmities of their age.

There are more than 15,000 people in the county institution districts alone. Unless new methods are provided for their care and supervision, this group will continue to grow. In addition, there are many older persons in hospitals who were committed there during some acute phase of an illness and who have recovered only to find that the living arrangements today, which they had arranged at the time when they entered the hospital, are no longer available to them when they leave the hospital. In other words, they have no place to go. Since they are not able, because of their age and the result of the illness that they suffered, they cannot go back to the same form of independent living as they did in the past.

Senate Bills Nos. 141, 142 and 143 give clear authority to the counties to spend money for foster home care placement of adults who may be in county institutions. The bills will also give the Department of Public Welfare authority to set proper standards for placement agencies which will be involved in the foster care program when the bills make this possible.

The provisions of the bills safeguard older persons on public assistance against the loss of eligibility for continued assistance once they agree to placement with a family under the proposed foster care program.

The foster care plan, as proposed, is a specialized plan for the care of individuals who do not need the more professional and more costly services of an institution for nursing care. The plan provides for those older people in our State who are not sufficiently independent to be able to live in their own homes or in similar places in their communities.

These people, when the bills have become law, will be placed under proper supervision in carefully selected private homes where they might enjoy the benefits of normal living as near as possible. They would have a home and at the same time, have proper supervision to protect them against the unavoidable hazards that come with advancing years. They would have a home in other words and, also, someone charged with the responsibility of looking after them to see that they receive proper medical care when they need it. In all probability, they would be supervised in regard to eating habits.

For many, perhaps, the foster home could be a step toward once more returning to their own homes. These people would then leave the foster home care program and no longer be the responsibility of the county or the State.

Many counties are faced with capital construction programs because of overcrowding and obsolete plants. The following counties are either building, have recently built, are drawing plans for building or are faced with the strong possibility in the near future of doing so. The counties are: Adams, Berks, Cumberland, Erie, Lancaster, Lehigh, Luzerne, Mercer and Somerset.

At a cost of $8,000 to $10,000 per bed, every 100 persons who can be placed outside of a county home represent a saving of from $800,000 to $1,000,000.

Allegheny County alone estimates that approximately 400 persons can be placed under foster home care once this program is put into effect.

Since the comfort and happiness of the older people under the foster care program is our first consideration, the savings in money paid out for construction costs can be used more effectively and with greater satisfaction to improve the services and care of the aged, and we will not need this institutional care.

We are quite confident that in the very near future this program will eliminate county homes in their entirety. We are very happy about this.

At this time, I want to publicly thank the Members of the Senate on both sides. I want to assure Senator Berger that I appreciate his co-operation because I think this is certainly a forward step and all of us can be proud of what we have accomplished.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, at this time I think that I should inform the Members of the Senate that my many friends in South America and in Europe are wondering about what is going to happen to the Constitution of the United States because the rumor has it there that Vice-President Nixon is going to have it amended. The rumor is that he is requesting the people of the United States to amend the Constitution as to the requirements for the presidency so as not only to include being born in this country and being thirty-five years of age, but also requiring that they know Khrushchev.

Mr. Khrushchev is a guest in this Country, and I add my request to those who live in this Country and I remind them that he is a guest. We hope, and we even pray, that God will give enlightenment to his mind, so that what he sees here will enable him to appreciate the glories of liberty, because it has been well said that obedience without law is chaos, but obedience without liberty is tyranny.

There is no question about the fact that we want Mr. Khrushchev to know one thing; that the Vice-President's visit to Russia, the coming visit of the President to Russia and his invitation here does not mean the abandonment of the millions of souls from those countries taken over by Russia. We do not intend and we will not tolerate the abandonment of these people to their fate. If it be interpreted that this move of neighborliness, by permitting him to come and visit among us, is the abandonment of these people to the fate of Communism and communist tyranny, we will be no part of it, because when Nixon was greeted in Europe, it was well described that 1,000,000 people pushed forward wide with fear. "Is there no hope. no chance of right?" A million lips implored. So it is with these people who are hoping, and placing their hope in this great Country for a deliverance from the bondage, the bondage of the Hammer and the Sickle.

Let no one interpret the visit, the kindness and courtesies we show here to Mr. Khrushchev as being abandonment of these people.

SENATE RESOLUTION

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE ENACTMENT OF LEGISLATION REGULATING ADVERTISING DEVICES ON THE NATIONAL SYSTEM OF INTERSTATE AND DEFENSE HIGHWAYS

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. WADE, BERGER, WAGNER and STEVENSON offered the following resolution (Serial No. 70), which was read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, September 23, 1959.

Considerable controversy and confusion has arisen over 1959 House Bill No. 317, entitled "An act prohibiting the erection and maintenance of certain advertising devices along highways on the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways; providing for the acquisition of such devices and property used in connection with such devices by the Secretary of Highways; and providing penalties for violations."

It is imperative that a thorough study be made of this proposed legislation in order to determine whether or not its enactment would be in the best interests of our Commonwealth, as a whole. Briefly stated, some of the questions which must be resolved and facts which should be investigated as a prerequisite to action upon this bill are as follows:

One of the major arguments advanced by the proponents of this measure is that its passage would entitle Pennsylvania to bonus money for highway use. It is true that the 1956 Federal Highway Act, as amended, provides for a stated bonus payable over a period of many years to be paid to States which comply with Federal standards designed to ban outdoor advertising. The payment of such a bonus, however, is dependent upon the appropriation of funds by Congress for that purpose and, to date, no such appropriation has been made. Such a payment would also be dependent upon the wording of our act. The Bureau of Public Roads in Washington has recently stated that the language of the second proviso of Section 2, as it is now drawn, may raise serious doubt as to the ability of Pennsylvania to control advertising in accordance with the scheme established by the Federal law and as further defined by the national standards promulgated by the Secretary of Commerce. Specifically, the meaning of the clause "in the area in which such business activity is carried on" is rather vague and appears to be open to many possible constructions. In view of the provisions of Section 5 (3) of the bill, it appears that the category proposed to be established by the language of Section 2 is something other than one relating to "on premise signs."

If this is so, then House Bill No. 317 will not conform to the national standards.

Furthermore, it has been stated that the additional cost to the Commonwealth of constructing information sites, as authorized in the bill, would surpass the receivable bonus. The situation is further complicated by the provision of Section 6 of the bill which would authorize the establishment of informational sites. While the standards do not require that such sites be established, once the State has made the determination to construct them, under the language of the Federal standards, Class 3 and Class 4 signs must be placed in informational sites if they are available. In addition, even if there were no informational sites available, the 12-mile limitation of the Federal law and standards will still have to be met along with the "frequency and location" requirements of Section 20.7 of the Federal standards. The Secretary of Highways would also have to be endowed with authority to implement the general restrictions with regard to lighting and the like provided for in Section 20.8 of the Federal standards.

An additional complication arises from the fact that the Federal standards will be subject to further revision by the Secretary of Commerce of the United States by reason of the recently enacted Federal Highway Aid Act of 1959 which makes far-reaching changes to the bonus provisions of the 1956 Federal Highway Act.

Another fact which should be investigated is how many other States have passed similar legislation and their reasons for accepting or rejecting it. It is reported that only two States have adopted qualifying legislation to date, while numerous others have either rejected the bonus or adopted a "wait and see" attitude.

The prevention of accidents is another reason given for favorable consideration of this bill. Yet, a recent three-year study made by the Michigan State Highway Department in cooperation with the United States Bureau of Public Roads found no relationship whatsoever between accidents and highway signs. Leading insurance companies have conducted similar studies and arrived at the same conclusion.

It is also contended that billboards mar the beauty of the countryside, yet nothing is said of the numerous unsightly objects such as junkyards, hogpens, garbage dumps, automobile graveyards, dilapidated buildings and other eyesores along such rights-of-way.

The limitations which such legislation would place upon adjacent property owners is also a major factor to be considered. The loss of income to such property owners who would be deprived of such use of their own property, would probably result in reduced land values and in reduced tax moneys received by municipalities in which the land is situate. Serious consideration should be given to the sizeable legal claims which may be asserted against the Commonwealth as a result of this measure.

Moreover, the impact of this legislation on labor should be investigated. The jobs of those engaged directly and indirectly in the outdoor advertising industry are involved. In addition, there is to be considered the presently unknown potential damage to the sale of advertised products and services, and the resulting indirect impact on labor.

The resultant loss to the outdoor advertising industry, an industry which has contributed generously in free displays for many worthy causes, also should not be overlooked; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and thoroughly investigate the advantages and disadvantages to our Commonwealth of enacting legislation similar to 1959 House Bill No. 317, regulating advertising devices on the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE CHAIR CONCERNING LENGTH OF SESSION FOR THE WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 28, 1959

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair would like to emphasize for the benefit of the few Senators who are here and would ask you to tell your friends—although a notice will be sent from the Chief Clerk's Office—that it is planned to have a five day Session next week.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, in that connection and in connection with the motion I am about to make, the date of September 28, 1959 will figure prominently. The reason it is significant is because that date was set in the Senate Concurrent Resolution for the time we hoped to adjourn this Session of 1959. However, Mr. President, it now appears that we may miss it by four or five days, but we will do the best we can to drive on to adjournment.

Therefore, Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, September 28, 1959, at 2:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. WOLFE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 4:11 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time, until Monday, September 28, 1959, at 2:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

SENATE

MONDAY, September 28, 1959.

The Senate met at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Father EDWARD J. KRETZ, Assistant Pastor of St. Mary's R. C. Church, Ford City, offered the following prayer:

We are come, O God the Holy Spirit, we are come before Thee hindered by our many and grievous failings, but especially gathered together in Thy Name. Come unto us and be with us; vouchsafe to enter our hearts; teach us what we are to do and whiter we ought to tend. Sow us what we must accomplish in order that, with Thy help, we may be able to please Thee in all things. Be Thou alone the Author and Finisher of our judgments, Who alone with God, the Father, and His Son dost possess a glorious Name.

O God, Who didst teach the hearts of Thy faithful people by sending them the light of Thy Holy Spirit, grant us by the same Spirit to have a right judgment in all things and evermore to rejoice in His consolation, through Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BERGER and Mr. BLASS, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor, which were read as follows:

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. FLEMING, WADE, RUTH and BARR read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1200, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1959 (Act No. 78), entitled "State Employees' Retirement Code of 1959," requiring contributions and providing comparable benefits in the case of certain former members of the General Assembly.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

The PRESIDENT. I believe that with this bill, Senate Bill No. 1200, we have set a record, at least for this Session.

Messrs. DONOLOW and SCOTT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1201, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 24, 1945 (P. L. 967), entitled "Fictitious Name Act," prohibiting assumed or fictitious names, styles or designations from being deceptively similar to other names, styles, or designations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. WALKER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1202, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 22, 1931 (P. L. 594), entitled "Rural State Highway Law," adding a new route in Cambria County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. WHALLEY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1203, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," changing the provisions relating to the reading of the Bible in public schools.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

Messrs. VAN SANT and SARRAF read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1204, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code," providing for testing of brakes by means of a brake testing device.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. ROONEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, several weeks ago, I introduced a bill on the floor of this Senate, Senate Bill No. 1127, which would give the steel strikers in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a minimum unemployment compensation check in the amount of $35 per week.

Last week, I was very surprised and overjoyed to see that a very influential Member of the Republican Party has agreed to give support to this bill. I read an article in the McKeesport newspaper whereby Senator Koprivier had stated that because of the curtailment and because of the need for money for the striking steelworker's family, he would support this bill. I am sure there are many other Republicans in the Senate of Pennsylvania who will also support this bill, if it is ever reported from committee. I am earnestly and honestly pleading with my fellow colleagues on the other side of the aisle, in the Rules Committee, to see whether or not they can report Senate Bill No. 1127 out of committee.

Today, in Pennsylvania, Mr. President, it is the seventy-sixth day of the steel strike. For seventy-six days, people have been standing in line in the city of Bethlehem, and in Pittsburgh, receiving powdered milk, powdered eggs, butter and cheese. Last week, I went over to the Department of Property and Supplies and found that the Federal surplus food distribution on cheese and butter is even going to be relinquished. They do not know when they can ever expect anything more.

While the same strikers, striking for the same benefits and working for the same companies, in the State of New York are receiving $45 per week, the poor strikers in Pennsylvania are getting absolutely nothing. I feel that now, we, in government, must take every course we can possibly take in order to alleviate this condition.

This resolution, Mr. President, which I am about to introduce, is asking the Senate of Pennsylvania to call on the President of the United States to see whether or not we can solve this terrible disaster which confronts the 125,000 steelworkers in Pennsylvania.

SENATE RESOLUTION

URGING THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES TO USE THE FULL POWER AND AUTHORITY OF HIS OFFICE TO ACCOMPLISH A JUST AND FAIR SETTLEMENT OF THE STEEL STRIKE

Mr. ROONEY offered the following resolution (Serial No. 71), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, September 28, 1959.

The current strike which has paralyzed the American Steel Industry has had a catastrophic effect upon the entire American economy.

In Pennsylvania alone, 125,000 steel workers are idle, and 75,000 workers in allied industries are losing their wages as a direct result.

The result of the steel strike will be a serious injury to our total economy, a dangerous delay in our defense efforts, and a needless reduction in the standard of living of millions of Americans, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania respectfully urge the President of the United States to use the full power and authority of his office, including the lawful power of intervention, to accomplish a just and fair settlement of the steel strike and command such action at the earliest possible time, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to President Dwight D. Eisenhower at the White House.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I ask for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the intent of this resolution is certainly very laudable. However, I believe it should be considered before the full Rules Committee, to which I am sure it will be referred. I wish to tell the Senator that we expect to have a meeting of that committee tomorrow, if he will permit the resolution to be referred, at which time we can act on it.

The PRESIDENT. There has been an objection, Senator Rooney, which automatically would send the resolution to committee. Are you willing that it be sent to committee?

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, taking into consideration that the Rules Committee is going to meet tomorrow, I sincerely hope that it will give serious consideration to this resolution.

Now that Mr. Krushchev has returned to Russia, I think we, in the United States, can come back and sit down and think what we are going to do for our own people. Pennsylvania is the hardest hit State in the Nation today.

Mr. BERGER. I am certain of that, Mr. President. I can assure the gentleman that this resolution will be considered at the meeting.

The PRESIDENT. There being objection to the immediate consideration of this resolution, it is referred to the Committee on Rules.

CONSIDERATION OF EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent for immediate consideration of the nominations reported at today's Session.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

A motion was made by Mr. FLEMING and Mr. WATKINS, That the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon the nominations reported at today's Session.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 660, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1889 (P. L. 420), entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation,' approved the seventh day of June, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred seventy-nine," continuing in effect the rate of tax of fourteen mills heretofore imposed upon the gross receipts of certain companies, limited partnerships, associations, joint-stock associations, copartnerships and persons, and imposing the tax upon the gross receipts of gas companies.

failed of passage on final passage on September 22, 1959.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. CAMIEL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. CAMIEL. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that this bill appear on tomorrow's Final Passage Calendar.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request a fifteen minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a Democratic Caucus, to be held in the Conference Room at the rear of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a fifteen minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. MALLERY, BARR and WAGNER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1205, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," providing for payment to joint boards under certain conditions by the Commonwealth for the acceptance of non-resident pupils and providing for installment payments.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. MALLERY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1206, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1933 (P. L. 103), entitled "The Second Class Township Code," further providing for the attendance of supervisors or employees at road meetings and conventions.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

CALENDAR

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 1032, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 27, 1947 (P. L. 1046) entitled "State Tax Equalization Board Law" requiring the board to consult with the Joint State Government Commission regarding certain contemplated certifications.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 1032

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which this bill passed third reading on August 25, 1959.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent, on behalf of Senator Berger and myself, to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 1, last line of Title, by inserting after the word "tifications" the following: "and imposing certain duties upon the Joint State Government Commission"; Amend Bill, page 2, by inserting between lines 17 and 18 the following: "Section 2. The act is amended by adding after section 10 a new section to read: "Section 10.1. Evaluation and Report by Joint State Government Commission.—The Joint State Government Commission shall evaluate the effect of the annual certifications of the board upon differently circumstanced school districts and report its findings and recommendations to the General Assembly"; Amend Section 2, page 2, line 18, by striking out "2" and inserting: "3."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I object to these amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

REVENUE BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following revenue bills, on third reading, go over in their order:

Senate Bill No. 1105, Printer's No. 1426; and

Senate Bill No. 1112, Printer's No. 1427.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 10, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872) entitled "The Penal Code" changing the method for determining the penalty to be imposed for the crime of murder of the first degree.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 1, last line of Title, by inserting after "imposed": "and changing the penalties"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 701), page 2, lines 14 and 15, by inserting a bracket before "suffer" in line 14 and after "law" in line 15, and inserting immediately thereafter: "undergo imprisonment for the period of his natural life with no parole or abatement of sentence"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 701), page 4, line 11, by striking out "death" and inserting: "imprisonment for the period of his natural life with no parole or abatement of sentence"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 701), page 4, lines 11 to 15, by striking out "where" in line 11, all of lines 12 to 15, and inserting: "Whoever is sentenced to imprisonment for the period of his natural life with no parole or abatement of sentence shall serve the remainder of his natural life in prison."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, the purpose of these amendments is to remove from the Act the death penalty and to substitute therefor, as an alternative to life imprisonment, the stricter sentence of life imprisonment without parole. This would not, of course, remove the Governor's constitutional authority for pardon or commutation. However, it would remove the parole possibilities for a person who was convicted of first degree murder, if the jury recommended a stricter penalty.

I believe the amendments are worth-while, Mr. President. I will not mention the argument to humanity or to morality, although I think these are applicable. However, I would just like to mention two reasons why I think these amendments have merit. In the first place, Mr. President, there are other States which have eliminated the death penalty. The statistics, which we have after many years of experience, indicate that there is no greater incidence as a result of the removal of the death penalty in those States than there is in Pennsylvania or the States which have retained the death penalty. Therefore, Mr. President, it is not true to say—at least, there is no evidence to support the view—that the death penalty acts as a deterrent.

Secondly, Mr. President, there have been a number of cases, within recent years, where a person who has been convicted and sentenced and executed, and later it has been found that there have been errors made. There have been cases where persons have been convicted erroneously. Of course, if there is a death penalty and that penalty has been carried out, there is, of course, no opportunity to rectify that mistake.

For these reasons, Mr. President, I hope that my colleagues will support these amendments. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, there should be one proviso which might enable some of us to be in favor of these amendments. There should be a proviso that at no time should there be a case before the Board of Pardons, whereby a man is sentenced to life imprisonment and then, fifteen or sixteen years later, he gets out. Once a person receives a sentence for life, for murder, he should stay in prison and die there. This would be the proviso I would see fit to support with these amendments. However, without it, I cannot vote for the amendments.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I do not like to find myself in continuous disagreement with the gentleman from York. However, I would like to ask all Members of this Senate to vote against these amendments which have been offered.

I do not want to go into the merits of the amendments because I do not think they are germane here.

The amendments, of course, as Senator Seyler so aptly pointed out, are on capital punishment. This bill has a great deal to do with procedure. Our present procedure has been criticized by not only the Federal Courts, but I am sure by many other judges. Senator Mullin did introduce Senate Bill No. 109, concerning capital punishment. Senator Seyler co-sponsored a resolution, Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 120, directing the Joint State Government Commission to study this whole subject of capital punishment. I think that is the proper way to do it, instead of tacking on an amendment to this bill.

For that reason, Mr. President, I would request all Members of the Senate to vote against these amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SEYLER and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—12

DiSilvestro,	Lane,	Mullin,	Ruth,
Donolow,	McGinnis,	Murray,	Seyler,
Hays,	McMenamin,	Ripp,	Weiner,

NAYS—34

Barr,	Harney,	McCreesh,	Stiefel,
Berger,	Kalman,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Blass,	Keller,	Rooney,	Van Sant,
Camiel,	Kessler,	Sarraf,	Wade,
Chapman,	Koprivier, Jr.,	Scott,	Wagner,
Confair,	Kromer,	Shafer,	Walker,
Ehrgood,	Madigan,	Silvert,	Whalley,
Elliott,	Mahady,	Stevenson,	Wolfe,
Flack,	Mallery,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to say one word on behalf of this legislation.

It is a rather progressive piece of legislation, and I think a little bit different than the average run of matter that we have before us. This would take a criminal trial, especially those cases dealing with murder in the first degree, and divide it into two parts. The first part would be that the jury would decide whether a man were guilty or not guilty of the crime. Once having decided on his guilt, the jury would return to the courtroom and then they would hear matters in regard to sentence. They would hear such matters as the man's character. They might even hear such matters as in mitigation, which is usually a matter that is taken at that time.

I think this is good legislation. It has, in the opinion of some, a shortcoming in that you are asking a jury to do what you expect a judge to do. Barring that, I think this is good legislation. It is the type of thing that is forward-looking and for that reason, we should support it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—31

Barr,	Kalman,	McMenamin,	Silvert,
Camiel,	Koprivier, Jr.,	Mullin,	Stiefel,

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 995, entitled:

An Act conferring the right on the Commissioner of the Pennsylvania State Police to enter into contracts for the sale of stories about the Pennsylvania State Police and limiting the use of the moneys received from such contracts.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to inform the Members of the Senate that I have had a communication from the State Police, and they are opposed to this legislation. They are opposed to it not of what it does,—it would allow the State Police to enter into contracts to film a series on the activities of the State Police and case histories—but they felt this legislation might be an extra burden for them or burdensome to them to involve themselves in private contracts for this type of activity. They feel this might take up the time of the State Police which could be used to conduct State business.

It is for that reason that they are opposed to this legislation. They feel further study should be made and it should be looked into, to determine whether this could be done by some department other than the State Police, themselves, even though they are the beneficiaries under this fund.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am sure there are enough votes here to pass this bill. However, I would like it to go over.

To be very candid with you, I did not know it was on Third Reading. I thought it was on Second Reading. I would like the bill to go over and perhaps tomorrow if we are not too busy, I would like to show you the virtues of this bill because it is a pistol, or I would not have introduced it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no objection. However, I think the term "pistol" was used advisedly in this type of legislation. I have no objection.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, on behalf of Broderick Crawford and others who might be interested, I want to thank Doctor Pechan.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that this bill, Senate Bill No. 995, on final passage go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1001, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949" requiring the Auditor General to perform audits of school districts to verify rights to reimbursements and imposing duties on the Department of Public Instruction.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President the Department of Public Instruction is against this bill for the following reasons:

It would greatly increase the cost to the Commonwealth of auditing and verifying reimbursements since these audits would be conducted in conjunction with the Auditor General's field audits.

It also would require a larger field staff. The bill fails to state how often the audits are to be conducted, and, also, the bill fails to provide that the Department of Public Instruction may continue such audits as require verification of compliance with the departmental regulations and accuracy and adequacy of attendance records and other records and accounts, and to verify the need for special aid grants.

The Department states that they favor House Bill No. 1543, which has passed the House and is over here now. They feel that the discretionary power to make these special audits being removed from the comptroller to the Department of Public Instruction to the Auditor General might be a loose way of handling this matter, where the responsibility basically is in the Department of Public Instruction in the area of reimbursements and the handling of these funds. They feel this would leave them without ability to handle a problem that is primarily theirs, and it would divide their function in two at a great increase in cost to the Commonwealth.

I, therefore, on behalf of the Department of Public Instruction, ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this legislation.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I believe this bill came out of the Education Committee, and I know of no expression from anyone in the Department of Public Instruction, with whose chief personnel I have had numerous discussions about school legislation, concerning their opposition to this bill.

I think it impedes the progress of legislation when a department allows a bill to go to committee, allows it to be considered and allows it to roll, and then when it is ready for Final Passage, through other devious ways, expresses opposition to it.

It seems to me that the bill does what most of us have long since wanted. It provides for the Auditor General to really make sure that our vast millions of dollars expended on schools are expended properly, and it provides for the proper co-operation of the Department of Instruction in getting the necessary statistics from the schools on which the Auditor General can operate.

Personally, I have no rabid feeling about it, but I am hopeful that this bill will pass.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the communique which I have here is dated August 13, 1959. I was under the impression, and perhaps I am under a misapprehension here, that this communique which was sent to me was also sent to Senator Wagner. If he has not received this communication, it is the fault of the department in not getting it to him. However, I do have an official communication here which deals with this matter. If the Senator would like to see it, I would be most happy to show it to him and bring to his attention the part of the bill which they feel is bad.

If the parties who are interested in this legislation and the department can come to some understanding, I would not stand in the way. I will ask that this measure go over, if that would be helpful. If there is no area for that type of agreement, I would just as soon leave this matter and dispose of it today.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, reviewing this legislation, I am wondering if there is any money in the budget allocated to the Department of Public Instruction to pay for these additional services by the Auditor General's Department.

If I am in order, I would like to interrogate Senator Kessler, Chairman of the Finance Committee, who is an expert of our budgetary problems.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Kessler, will you permit yourself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Kessler, do you recall if there was any money allocated in our budget to the Department of Public Instruction for the purpose of paying the Auditor General for these additional services?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I can answer that question specifically. The budget calls for an appropriation to the Auditor General of $1,200,000 to audit the Department of Public Instruction. It seems to me that would be adequate to cover these school audits, because I am sure that they have included that in their estimate.

Mr. LANE. If I understand you correctly, Senator Kessler, in the event this legislation passes and becomes law, you will, therefore, oppose any additional appropriation to the Auditor General for these services? Is that correct?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, sir.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, without prolonging this matter unduly, Senator Weiner has been kind enough to give me this communication from the Governor's Office. The last paragraph, as he indicated, states:

The Department of Public Instruction strongly favors another bill, House Bill No. 1543, which amends this section and several others to provide a more co-ordinated program."

Be that as it may, I presume that the House has been alerted to this. Inasmuch as this is a Senate Bill, which has to go to the House, it seems to me it would be more expeditious for those of us who want to favor this program to vote for it and pass it, and we will have to let the final determination between the two bills to the other house.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I sent that communication over to Senator Wagner, as the Chairman of the Education Committee, and I was not aware that he had not had a copy of it, for which I will apologize for the people who were supposed to send him a copy for not doing so.

I think primarily we should get some agreement here rather than send this bill over there and ask them to bring it out, when we already have the legislation here.

Perhaps our problems would be solved if we compared the two pieces of legislation while they are both here, and perhaps we could get the best out of them, if that is the purpose we are trying to accomplish.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1036, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article three of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing that each county city borough incorporated town and township shall have the exclusive power to provide for all matters relating to the wages and hours of its employees.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am taking my position on this bill as I did heretofore on several other constitutional amendments. I believe, and respectfully submit to the Senate, that as long as we continue in this manner of patchwork amending of the Constitution, we will never have what we need in Pennsylvania; namely, a real, brand-new Constitution, adopted in a Constitutional Convention.

For this reason, Mr. President, casting a vote for an amendment like this one is simply detracting from the importance of the main issue.

Mr. MAHANDY. Mr. President, I want to point out to this group that should this become part of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, you would need an amendment to the Constitution to change the wages of the police in the future. It is inherently defective; it really should go back to committee or be defeated.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this bill has not as yet passed Third Reading, is that correct?

The PRESIDENT. No, Senator, it has not.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1036, Printer's No. 1340, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1047, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (Act No. 32) entitled "The Vehicle Code" changing provisions relating to and providing for the revocation and suspension of operators' licenses and operating privileges on the basis of a point system.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments to Senate Bill No. 1047, Printer's No. 1423.

For the information of the Membership, Mr. President, I will try to report to you as to the subject matter contained in these amendments. Most of you know that the Governor appointed a committee to work out some highway safety legislation. We met not too long ago and he made some other recommendations which I assured him I would attempt to follow through with.

What this legislation actually does is delete from Senate Bill No. 1047 the limited license feature which is contained in that bill. It also increases the period in which you acquire your points, from two to three years. You will now experience a suspension of operating privileges in the event you acquire seven points in any three year period. The way it is set up as far as speeding is concerned, I am informed that in the event you are driving in a fifty-mile zone, you must travel sixteen miles faster before you can be tagged with a suspension. In other words, if you are going fifty miles an hour, you must go sixty-six miles an hour before you are subject to a suspension of your operating privileges. The minimum, as I understand it, is fifteen days.

I might also say, Mr. President, that there is a feature in there whereby it does protect, in a way, the operators of commercial vehicles. They have advised me that any points acquired by a commercial operator, in the operation of his pleasure car, will not be applicable against the operation of his commercial vehicle. However, I asked the question—relative to an individual driving his pleasure car, who exceeded the speed limit and had his license suspended for fifteen days, which is the minimum, and I was advised that the suspension would also apply against his commercial privileges.

That is just about the gist of the legislation. I might say that it is rather strict. However, I respect the Governor in his thinking along this particular line because I believe that highway safety is one of the major problems not only confronting Pennsylvania, but confronting the entire Nation. I might also say that I am a firm believer in the point system. Each and every operator of every vehicle on our highways is familiar, from day to day, with what he is confronted with. He must realize that in the event he acquires seven points in any three year period, he will lose his operating privileges.

That is just about the gist of the amendments and the completion of my statement.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the offering of these amendments? The Chair hears none.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out "clauses (2) and" and inserting: "clause". Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 2, by striking out "and clause (2) of section 619"; Amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 4 and 5, by striking out "clauses (2) and" and inserting: "clause"; Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 5, by striking out "and clause (2) of section 619"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 618), page 3, lines 1, 2 and 3, by striking out all of said lines; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 619), page 3, lines 11 to 20, by striking out all of said lines. On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. VAN SANT. Point of personal privilege, Mr. President. Going into the last half of the ninth inning, the score stands, Los Angeles, 3; Milwaukee, 2.

The PRESIDENT. That, at least, is helpful information, Senator Van Sant.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I would request the Members of this Senate to vote against these amendments. As you know, I, along with Senator Lane and two Members of the House, am a member of a special Governor's Committee on Highway Safety.

Ordinarily, I would not ask that these proposed amendments be defeated except for the fact that this bill was on First Reading on August 10. Then it was on Second Reading on August 25; it was amended on September 9, and then amended on September 14. I am sure that we can possibly continue to work out matters in this point system bill with the Members of the House, after this bill has passed here in the Senate and goes over to the House.

Therefore, Mr. President, for that reason, I think these amendments should be defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.

An the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, in recent years, most everyone I know in government has been concerned very much with the number of accidents and deaths on our highways. While driving down here today, I was giving the thought of voting for this bill a good deal of consideration. When I arrived at the intersection of Routes 22 and 122, in Berks County, I came upon the scene of an accident which happened some time before. There was a tractor-trailer lying on its side. I could not help but wonder how the people who have as much right and have as much concern about highway safety as anyone in the Commonwealth, the professional drivers, feel about this legislation.

Therefore, Mr. President, I was very happy to have on my desk today, when I got here, a letter from Mr. Joseph A. McDonough, President, and Mr. Earl C. Bohr, Secretary-Treasurer, of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, speaking on behalf of the members of the Teamsters Unions around Pennsylvania, and other unions which are concerned directly with highway safety. I think it might not be inappropriate to read one or two passages from the letter in support of this legislation. They start the letter as follows:

"No one can be more concerned with the carnage on our public highways than are the working men and women of this Commonwealth. They are not only the bread-winners upon whose livelihood their families rely—they are parents of children whose tomorrow they wish to secure in whose very future depends upon maximum highway safety.

"It is, therefore, natural that we should be vitally interested in legislative proposals whose objective it is to bring about that maximum highway safety.

"Such a Bill is S. B. 1047, Printer's No. 1423—sponsored by Messrs. Lane, Wade, Ehrgood, Ruth, Mullin, Scott and Mallery. We have examined this Bill carefully and considered its detailed proposals. In light of what it seeks to accomplish—maximum highway safety through a practical and effective enforcement program."

It goes on further to say the following:

"We note that this Bill does not impinge upon, curtail or affect the prerogative of the Secretary of Revenue in dealing with such matters as drunken driving, hit-and-run driving, transporting narcotics and others, not specifically provided for in the Bill.

"We are pleased to note that amendments to this Bill make it possible to deal most severely with the irresponsible driver who would jeopardize the safety of school age children by passing school buses, and speeding through school zones, in violation of the law.

"We are also gratified that other amendments permit, for the first time, equally severe treatment of those drivers who engage in drag racing, or in other unlawful and reckless contests on our public highways.

"In short, we find that S. B. 1047, Printer's No. 1423, offers effective, durable and just enforcement of the code."

Mr. President and fellow Senators, this is an expression of opinion from the men who drive the most; the men who drive trucks, tractors, trailers and taxicabs for a living. On behalf of them and all citizens of Pennsylvania, I urge your support of this legislation.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am delighted, indeed, to hear Senator McMenamin make a very eloquent plea on behalf of this bill.

A point system, in my judgment, is the most practical, fairest, most impartial and most scientific approach to highway safety. As I have explained to the Members of this Senate on previous occasions, four years ago, I sponsored, with others, a point system bill. At that time, the then Secretary of Revenue called a conference of several of us and requested that we not write that bill into law, hoping that the department, clothed with proper or sufficient authority at that time, would install a point system for an experiment.

Two years later, Mr. President, they asked for an extension of two years time before the point system be written into law.

I have come to the place, Mr. President, where I seriously question the Administration in its high sounding phrases regarding highway safety. Everybody agrees that a point system is a proper approach to that subject. Everybody is dedicated to highway safety on the roads. However, for the sake of the record, just let me point out some of the things that have happened to the point system. The point system, as developed over the four years, is as follows:

Senate Bill No. 351 is now on page 11 of our current Third Reading Postponed Calendar. It was the result, I repeat, of a four year study. It was introduced on March 2; reported, as amended, on May 4; amended on May 11; again it was amended on May 12; was read for the Second Time on May 18; it went over in its order on May 25; it went over in its order on May 26, June 1, June 2, June 8, June 9, June 15 and June 18. Then, on June 22, it was placed on the Postponed Calendar, where it has remained ever since.

On May 13, Senate Bill No. 762 was introduced by Senator Lane and Senator Ehrgood. The Governor had taken it upon himself to appoint a committee on highways and selected from the Senate two distinguished gentlemen, neither one of whom was on the Committee on Highways.

On August 4, we introduced the bill which we are about to act on now. The sponsors were Senator Lane, Senator Ehrgood, Senator Ruth, Senator Mullin, Senator Scott, Senator Mallery and myself. It was introduced, I repeat, on August 4; reported, as committed, on August 10 and received First Reading on August 10. It was approved by the Republican Caucus on August 11 for First Passage. It went over in order on August 11 and August 12; over in order on August 17, 18 and 19; over in order on August 24; Second Reading on August 25; went over in order August 31, again on September 1 and September 2. Again, it went over in order on September 7 and September 8; it was amended on September 9; amended on September 14; over in order on September 15 and September 16, and over in order again on September 21 and September 22.

That, Mr. President, is the history of this bill.

Is it any wonder that any Member of this Senate would question the sincerity of the Governor's Office in adopting a fair and impartial point system. Today, amendments are again offered to change the bill entirely. Therefore, Mr. President, we have every right to go ahead with this bill now and approve it in its present form. We should no longer tolerate the kicking of this bill around because we all know that a good point system, such as is contained in this bill, is endorsed by many organizations, as was pointed out by Senator McMenamin.

Therefore, Mr. President, I request that my fellow Members, on both sides of the aisle, vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, Senator Wade is very correct when he says that I am not a member of his particular committee, and I am not so sure but I thought Senator Ehrgood was a member. However, I wish to remind the gentleman that I served on the Highways Committee when Senator Snowden was the Chairman, back in 1947.

I wish also to say, Mr. President, that the sponsors of this measure have co-operated, and I wish to publicly thank them for their co-operation and to pay tribute to the House Members for the work they have done in getting this bill together.

A point system, or a new venture on highway safety in the form of legislation, is a very difficult task, Mr. President. This bill has been on the Calendar a long, long time and has been amended many times. That I admit. However, when we are confronted with a population of approximately 11,000,000 people in Pennsylvania, and the hundreds of thousands of operators in the State, you must be doubly sure as to what you are doing in regard to new legislation.

This point system was patterned after the States of Illinois, New Jersey and New York. I did not know until about three weeks ago that the point system which is in effect in the state of New York was put into effect by Executive Order. It is not legislation in the State of New York.

Senator Wade appears to be a little critical of the front office. Let me say to the gentleman that I have known Governor Lawrence as long as any Member of this Senate, and I know his family. I know that back in 1942, the Governor suffered a terrible loss. He lost two sons at one time in a highway accident and, naturally, he has more than a passing interest in highway safety, not only from the executive point of view but also from a personal point of view, just as I, too, have more than a passing interest in research as far as cancer is concerned because I lost my only son not too long ago.

Adding all these things up, I believe that I must defend the Governor of Pennsylvania because he is trying to do a good job, and he realizes the problems that we have. He realizes the problems of traffic in Pennsylvania. I have said on the floor of this Senate many times that we have a very difficult problem in controlling speeding on our highways.

I drive on the Turnpike every Sunday and I go back perhaps every Thursday. I travel between sixty and sixty-five miles an hour. Ninety-five percent of the drivers pass me, including the trucks, if you please.

Therefore, on the over-all, I think the Governor is doing a pretty decent job, and I admire him for his efforts. I offered the amendments because, in my conversation with him, he requested the amendments. I offered to do the job and I did it. Had the amendments passed, I would have voted for the bill. The bill, in its present form, is good legislation. I feel that it answers the need of the people of Pennsylvania.

As Senator McMenamin has said, it sets up severe penalties for violations of the Motor Code. It does not affect any mandatory revocations. The Secretary of Revenue has the right, under the present law, to proceed and revoke licenses for misdemeanors and felonies. What this legislation actually does is that it sets up two categories of points covering moving violations and covering speeding.

I hope that the Members of the Senate will vote for this legislation, because it certainly is a step forward.

I want to apologize to Senator Wade. I hope next Session someone will appoint me to his committee. I like to work with him.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

REPRESENTATIVES OF TEAMSTERS UNION LOCAL 312, CHESTER, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I would like to ask unanimous consent to make an introduction at this time, and permission to say a few brief words about this bill.

Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I take great pride today in introducing to the Senate of Pennsylvania Mr. N. Daniels and his assistant, Mr. Charles Freakas, from Local 312, Teamsters Union, of the City of Chester.

I would like these gentlemen to stand up and let the good Senators take a look at them.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is very happy to welcome you gentlemen, on behalf of the Senate.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, it is not often that Mr. Daniels calls upon me in reference to legislation. I might say that for thirty-two years, I have had the pleasure of doing business with this gentleman, and it just proves that Republicans have friends in the labor movement as well as our friends on the other side, the Democrats. For the thirty-two years that I have been in business and have had the pleasure of doing business with him from the standpoint of labor, I have never had a strike in my company. We have always been able to settle our differences. Sometimes it was pretty hot and then we cooled off, but we were always able to make an honest and a good working contract for our people. I want to say that I think Mr. Daniels is an authority on this type of legislation.

Today, I hold in my pocket a letter regarding a driver of a commercial vehicle who has worked for a trucker for some twenty-odd years. Somehow, in the State of New Jersey, he was picked up, if I might say, by radar. Today he has a suspension of five months before him, handed out by the Department of Revenue.

I say to you, Mr. President, that I have no hopes of having this suspension rescinded due to the law that is on the books and the strict enforcement of it by our Administration. However, I can say to you that if this man is discharged from his duties for five months, he loses his job and five children go on public assistance.

It is high time that we people here in the Senate of Pennsylvania, and the Administration here on Capitol Hill, start thinking a little bit about the working man and stop trying to kid him. This thing has been going on and it has been an injury to the Teamster employees and the employees of other companies for too long.

Mr. Daniels tells me, after going over this bill for one hour in my office, and I say, too, Mr. President, that from our good Senator Weiner, we hear what the Department of Public Instruction has to say about a bill, and I take this man's word as an authority—that this is the bill that the Teamsters want. Therefore, I ask all of my colleagues on this side and the other side to vote for this bill because I think he is an authority, even much better than myself.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I am going to vote for this bill. However, I think it is still very strict and very stringent.

A taxicab driver, and some other drivers, will drive over 50,000 miles a year, and under this bill, they can gather points for one or two violations, enough to take their livelihood away from them. I think this bill is not the final answer. However, I do think it is a step in the right direction, because it is very stringent punishment. Anyone, for any violation of the law, can have his livelihood taken away from him.

MR. CHARLES PIROLI, PRESIDENT OF THE PHILADELPHIA TAXICAB DRIVERS UNION, LOCAL
156, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I would like to further comment that I think Senator Watkins did a very nice thing in introducing the two gentlemen from Chester, but I also think we have a man here who has this bill vitally at heart. I would like to present to the Senate, Mr. Charles Pirollo, who is head of the Taxicab Drivers Union of Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the Senate, I welcome you, Mr. Pirollo.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, this is the first time this Session that Bob Watkins has made a real good speech.

I was going to ask him whether or not he is in favor of radar, but in view of the fact that it may not be germane to the subject on the floor at this particular time, I will not do so.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I did not intend to make a speech on this matter, but I just want to point out that I think all of us should bear in mind that the Governor has stated on many occasions, and in many discussions on this very subject, that he is interested in saving the lives of the people who live in this Commonwealth and others who come into the Commonwealth.

We should also bear in mind that driving an automobile is not a right but a privilege, and if we abuse that privilege, at that point, the government must take some action to protect all of the citizens. People who drink or engage in any activity which may endanger the lives of any one of us or our families are a direct menace, and some action should be taken against them.

The Governor's position has been, and always has been, that the people who inhabit this Commonwealth are those whom we have to bear in mind. We are more interested in taking care of those people than we are about who can drive, who cannot drive or whether they have committed some sort of a violation. I do not say that we have to punish these people or unduly cause them economic harm, because that is irreparable once it has been done to anyone. By the same token, let us bear in mind the many, many people are killed on our highways or maimed for the rest of their lives, when all they did was cross a street or take a drive with their families.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. DiSilvestro, will state it.

Mr. DiSilvestro. Mr. President, Senator Lane said that my good friend, Senator Watkins, made his best speech when he spoke about this bill. I say that Senator Watkins made the best speech when he talked to many of his colleagues in this Senate and asked them to pass the horse bill in Pennsylvania. That would have helped us in our tax problems, and it would have helped us in many other ways.

I would like to point out to my friend that in presenting the heads of the Union from his county, he prevented me from presenting my "paesano," because I yielded to an Irishman. I wanted to bring out the point that Philadelphia is lucky to have a fellow like Charlie Pirollo, who is a perfect example of a Union leader. He has been re-elected time and time again because he shows the qualities of integrity and honesty.

Again, I say to Senator Lane that if we had more men like Senator Watkins in this Senate, we would have a horse bill. We would have those horses racing around the tracks in Pennsylvania, and we would get the money that other States now get.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I just wish to make this comment. It is very seldom that we hear such wonderful oratory on a bill in this Chamber to which there appears to be no opposition.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I have in my hand here a clipping from yesterday's Philadelphia Bulletin. It is headed: "Taylor Backs $58 Million Cut in Budget." Underneath, it says: "No More Gravy For Davy."

I think that the Governor is a very dignified man and I do not think the Governor would say, "No More Gravy for Harvey." I believe the Governor is entitled to a lot of respect for the dignified way he is conducting his office.

The cynicism which is implied in this remark certainly is borne out by the fact that the so-called gravy happens to be items for the retarded, the mentally ill and for various programs for people who cannot help themselves. If that is what is intended to be "gravy for Davy," I know that Davy will not get anything from it, but I do know that a lot of worthy people in this Commonwealth will be given some benefits if these cuts do not take place.

However, Mr. President, I want to point out that Republican deficits for twenty years strained the credit of the Commonwealth to the breaking point by overestimating the tax returns, and the fat Republican budgetary appropriations make this "gravy" remark appear to be a defensive complex. It is dangerous because it is intended to be misleading. To attribute the Republican budget fakery to the Democrats is a false premise upon which the sincere and honest work of the Democrats cannot be based. Such remarks are intolerable, and I want to say that the "gravy" was gone by the time the Democrats came into power.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. LANE read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1207, entitled:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SCHAAF asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, for the past several bienniums the state of Pennsylvania has appropriated vast sums of money going into the millions of dollars for use in Erie County. I speak specifically, of course, of the port development work which has been going on at Erie; I speak also of the rehabilitation of our peninsular area, and I speak, of course, of a program which is common throughout the state of Pennsylvania, the redevelopment of blighted areas.

One of Erie's major problems has been a geographical problem. We are remote, to say the least, from the rest of the state. The only railroad that connects us with the balance of the state for the better part is, of course, the Pennsylvania Railroad, and any of you gentlemen or ladies who have been unfortunate enough, and I use the term advisedly, to ride the "puncher," as we sometimes call it, up over the mountains into Erie, will realize our problem.

We here in the House, and I speak of my colleagues, Mr. O'Dell and Mr. Blair on the minority side of the House, and Mr. Polaski and myself on this side of the House, on an average it takes us approximately seven hours to travel from Erie down to here. It is three hundred miles over the hills, and three hundred and fifty miles if you go by way of the Turnpike.

I had a very interesting conversation with the Senator of the Majority party last Wednesday night, which happened to be over a glass of beer. We were speaking of the possibility of passage of the so-called one cent gas tax. Whether you gentlemen of this House, or you ladies, realize this or not but in all probability the sole possibility of making Erie less remote from the rest of the state rests with the passage of that one cent gas tax. This Senator in the Majority party advised us that it would take a miracle to pass this particular tax in that House. This being the case, I wonder if he has any appreciation, and I wonder, for that matter, whether the Senator from Erie County has any appreciation of where this will leave Erie. There is only one place it can leave Erie—high and dry—and that is where we have been for many a year.

I verified the need for this money, the need for passage of this bill with the Secretary of Highways not ten minutes ago.

I urge every Member of this House, if they have any influence whatsoever, and in consideration of Erie's particular position and its remoteness and the poor, the basically poor, state highways system which exists into and out of that city in comparison with other parts of this state, I urge every Member of this House to attempt to induce support of this particular piece of legislation in the other Chamber.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. GIBB. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BIBB. Mr. Speaker, there appeared in the September 23 issue of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, and the Pittsburgh Press the following news article:

Transit Bill Passed, Sent to Lawrence. 4 G O P Members Change Vote Over Fleming on Authority.

"The Allegheny County Mass Transit Bill finally cleared the Legislature late this afternoon and was sent to Governor Lawrence for his signature.

The House concurred in Senate amendments by a vote of 136 to 57.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to inquire if the gentleman's name is mentioned in the article he is reading?

Mr. GIBB. It is.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. GIBB.

The House concurred in Senate amendments by a vote of 136 to 57, but it was a vote which brought four Allegheny County Republicans into revolt against the measure. One county Democrat also voted against it.

All Blame Fleming.

Votes against concurrence were cast by Republican representatives Willard F. Agnew, of Aspinwall, Edwin C. Ewing, of Mt. Lebanon, Laurence V. Gibb, of Sewickley and Dennis D. Stevens, of East Pittsburgh.

All had voted for the bill when it went through the House, and all blamed Senator Robert D. Fleming, a fellow Republican from Aspinwall, for their change in attitude.

Senator Fleming was primarily responsible, among Senate Republicans, for acceptance of the measure by the Senate.

He also was responsible, the House Republicans claimed for an amendment which will permit the County Commissioners—

The SPEAKER. What is the question of personal privilege to which the gentleman addresses himself?

Mr. GIBB. It is in reference to my vote in this article.

The SPEAKER. Is the gentleman aggrieved? Is the gentleman hurt? Does he protest?

Mr. GIBB. I protest against the article, yes, sir.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. GIBB.

As the House passed the bill their compensation was limited to $50 a meeting, with a maximum of $2,400 a year. This was an amendment insisted upon by Representative Maurice Goldstein, of Squirrel Hill.

"The way this bill is written now the salaries can go anywhere $15,000 a year, and Fleming is the man who made that change, Representative Ewing said angrily. 'He's on the Port Authority'."

I'm against this salary Grab, Representative Agnew said bluntly.

"Representatives Stevens and Gibb said that was their reason also for voting no."

Now Mr. Speaker, I did not make such a statement. I did not authorize anyone to make such a statement for me. The so-called Fleming amendment was unimportant in my consideration of this bill. It is blank-check legislation, and I opposed it in its entirety, just as many people in my district opposed it.

It is true that I voted for this bill when it passed the House on June 23. I did so on the assumption that it would be amended in the Senate to require a public referendum. When such amendment failed I had no other course but to oppose it, which I did by voting against concurrence in the Senate amendments.

I regret that it has been made to appear that I voted against concurrence because of the Fleming amendment and I desire that the record clearly show my reason for voting against concurrence.

Senator Fleming and I have been close personal friends and political associates for more than 20 years. Even though we sometimes find ourselves differing in our political views, I resent any attempt by anyone to interfere with our long-time friendship.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to state that if the point of order had been raised the Chair would have been compelled to rule that all of the gentleman's remarks were not included properly under a question of personal privilege.

PERMISSION GRANTED TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. BRETH asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Game and Conservation to meet during the session of the House.

INTERROGATION

Mr. HELM asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate Mr. POLEN.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire from the gentleman—I know he is an expert on appropriations—if it is at all possible for a Governor of this Commonwealth to spend more money than this Legislature appropriates for his entire budget.

Mr. POLEN. It is not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HELM. I would ask the gentleman to be more specific. If we, for example, appropriate $1,760 billion by direct appropriations to the Governor, could he conceivably spend $1,860 billion?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, he could not.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if, in his opinion, the Governor has authority to transfer money from one bureau or one department to another without action of the Legislature.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, he does not.

Mr. HELM. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I heard the reference that I was an expert on appropriations. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I have no doubt in my mind that the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, is an expert on matters of appropriations, and that is the reason I asked to interrogate him.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HELM asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the reason for this interrogation is that I read with some slight upset an article over the weekend which said the Governor had said, and I believe he is perhaps correctly quoted, that he has served notice that, even though he is short changed following the disclosure of the Senate budget cut, he does not intend to withhold vital state help to the schools, to those on relief and to the sick. If his Legislature does not give him the money for these purposes, he warns, the next Legislature will have to, because the money is going to be spent anyway.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I say that any Governor of this Commonwealth, regardless of politics, does not have that authority, and that is why I tried to get into the interrogation that point that the Governor cannot expend more money than this Legislature appropriates.

When the day arrives that this Governor or any Governor has that authority, then the need for a Legislature no longer exists.

INTERROGATION

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate Mr. Helm.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell us, when there exists on the books the laws dealing with mandatory expenditures, first we will take Public Instruction, and if the appropriation was for $580 million, and the teaching units certified to by the respective boards exceeded this amount—if he would consider that an expenditure above the amount the Governor was allowed to spend?

Mr. HELM. I certainly would, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman from Armstrong then inform us, if all the school districts had a rightful amount of money coming to them which was not appropriated by the General Assembly, if this is deficit spending or a debt.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I would say to the gentleman that the Commonwealth, the Governor's Office and the Department of Public Instruction, would not have the power to spend the money without an appropriation for that amount of money.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman inform the House, then, if the appropriation was not sufficient to cover that which is mandated by law, would there be a deficit in that particular department?

Mr. HELM. As the gentleman well knows what has happened on many occasions when we have come into Session on January 1st of the odd-numbered years is that the department has been able to foresee they are going to have a deficit one of the first bills introduced, not only in the past biennium, but in other bienniums, has been a deficiency appropriation bill. We have never failed, I believe, to provide that amount of money when it was necessary. But I do not believe the Governor has the authority to spend the money without an appropriation to cover the amount.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman inform us if this would not be a legal deficiency if the appropriation was not sufficient to meet that?

Mr. HELM. It may be perfectly legal, Mr. Speaker, but I do not believe the Governor has the authority to go ahead and spend the money.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman inform us if in other cases—transportation, for example, in the Department of Public Instruction—the appropriation were not sufficient to meet the mandatory payments, would there be a deficiency again in that department?

Mr. HELM. Certainly, there would be. There is no question about it.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentlemen then inform us if the Governor, who cannot spend the money because it has not been appropriated, would not have a deficiency built in by the fact that the appropriation was not sufficient to pay mandated requirements by law?

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I think I can answer the gentleman's question in its entirety by reading to him Article III, Section 16 and Section 17.

Section 16 says:

"No money shall be paid out of the treasury, except upon appropriations made by law, and on warrant drawn by the proper officers in pursuance thereof."

Now under Section 17, charitable and educational appropriations:

"No appropriations shall be made to any charitable or educational institution not under the absolute control of the Commonwealth, other than normal schools established by law for the professional training of teachers for the public schools of the State, except by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each House.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, there is no question about what the gentleman from Armstrong has read. Will he tell us, in the case of the Department of Public Welfare, dealing with public assistance, if the money appropriated is not sufficient to carry the case load as estimated and appropriated if the Governor would be able to grant any public assistance if the funds had expired, or all had been used?

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I will answer the gentleman. I think there are two solutions to that problem.

Number one, if the Department sees that its funds are going to be expended, and knows we are going to be in Session come January 1, it still has three or four months of the biennium left, and can ask for a deficiency, and we of the Legislature can grant that deficiency in the early weeks of the session.

Now if the funds are going to be expended previous to that date, the Governor has the authority to call a special session of the General Assembly.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman then admitting that these deficiencies have existed in the past and will exist in the future and this is how you solve them?

Mr. HELM. The gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, knows full well how they have been solved in the past. The departments have foreseen a deficiency and have asked us in the early weeks of the session to pass a deficiency appropriation, which we have done.

Mr. McCANN. Could the gentleman inform the House if that is his recommendation as to how it should be solved at the present time?

Mr. HELM. I am not entering into the present argument except to point out that the Governor does not have the authority to say that he is going to spend the money whether we appropriate it or whether we do not.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman inform the House under occupational disease, if the appropriation is not sufficient to pay the occupational disease recipients their money allowances and they ran out of money, would there be a deficiency or would the payments stop to all those recipients?

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, the same answer applies there except that I can point to a precedent that was handled by a former Governor. Whether it was right or wrong is beside the point. I do not believe it was ever tested in the courts. But a former Governor required lapses to be earmarked for the occupational disease fund. Now I question whether that was done legally. I believe he possibly should have called a special session to solve the problem. In spite of that he solved it the way he wanted to solve it.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would you clarify the answer again, if the funds are not sufficient for the occupational disease fund to take care of the payments to the recipients of that fund, would they continue to receive their payments, in your opinion, or would they stop since the appropriation was not sufficient to insure the payments for the biennium?

Mr. HELM. The answer is apparent. If the funds are depleted, there are no funds available in the appropriation; there is only one legal way to solve the problem and that is for the Governor of this Commonwealth to call a special session for the sole purpose of solving that problem.

He cannot spend funds that do not exist.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman very kindly.

STATEMENT BY THE MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, there is no question that the situation that is going to confront us in the next few days or few weeks here in the General Assembly clearly indicates deficiencies are being built in the appropriation bill in which the present Governor would certainly have a deficiency at the end of the biennium.

Department of Public Instruction funds later will be debated here in this House, and I am confident that you will agree that the deficiency is there, will be there, at the end of the present biennium.

According to the remarks of the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, the Governor does not have any authority to spend money not appropriated, but the Legislature is responsible to appropriate the amounts of money mandated by law in each of those cases in which you and I passed the law to make these payments possible. If, in our wisdom, we do not appropriate sufficient money and we have mandated by law these expenditures, we are building in a deficiency and building it in very nicely because these payments will be due and will have to be met.

I would like to bring to the attention of the House that at a later date we will debate each of these items in the appropriation bill when it arrives here, not at the present time, but I am confident that you and I can basically agree that this is building in a deficiency in certain sections without a question of doubt.

The SPEAKER. Because certain questions might arise on which the Chair might conceivably be asked to rule, the Chair seeks information.

Does the Chair understand from the Chairman of the Appropriation Committee and the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, that some agency, the administrative council for instance, cannot transfer funds after the General Assembly adjourns and do so under the administrative code?

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I am not an expert on the appropriations, but I was not raising that point. I was only raising the point that a Governor cannot spend money exceeding the amount of money appropriated by the General Assembly. Now, whether or not a Governor has authority to transfer money from one department or from one bureau to another is a point that I am not even prepared to talk about or to debate, because I am not a lawyer and I think that is a thing that must be decided, as it has been in the past, by the Attorney General. The Attorney General has ruled, I believe in some instances, that they could transfer funds from one bureau to another.

The SPEAKER. Does that coincide with the view of the Chairman of the Appropriation Committee?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would agree with the gentleman's remarks.

The SPEAKER. He agrees with the gentleman from Armstrong.

One further question: A Governor receives a two-year appropriation, can his departments proceed to spend that appropriation within one year if they are so motivated?

Mr. HELM. I will permit the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee to answer that question. My personal belief is that if he wanted to do it he could go ahead and do it, but I think he would have a pretty tough time through the next year of the biennium.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentlemen. The Chair has secured the information desired.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, to preside temporarily.

Mr. LOPRESTI IN THE CHAIR.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1971, entitled:

An Act amending the "Liquor Code" approved April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90) authorizing the sale of liquor and malt or brewed beverage during certain hours on Sunday in certain hotels in cities of the first and second class under certain conditions.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. PETROSKY asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 2, last two lines of Title, by striking out "in cities of the first and second class" and inserting: "and restaurants."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 406), page 3, lines 10 and 11, by striking out "located in hotels in cities of the first and second class."

Amend Sec. 2, page 8, line 17, by striking out "of the first or second class" and inserting: "boroughs, towns or township."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, in presenting these amendments to the House, I can categorically say that in only two ways do they change the provision that is before us. No. 1, it broadens the scope of the proposal in House Bill 1971, and, No. 2, it adds other establishments besides the handful of establishments that would be covered by the proposal before us.

It does not change in any way whatsoever the right of each and every municipality to have their local referendum to decide the question. I cannot conceive how we can pass upon a proposal that would concern a handful of establishments and enhance their position to vie for the convention trade inasmuch as there are other establishments that are highly qualified and would qualify under the provisions contained within the proposal to carry on their business similar to what the hotels would do so, provided the people pass favorably a referendum allowing them to sell liquor on Sunday between the hours of 1:00 in the afternoon and 10:00 o'clock at night.

It does not in any way affect the mechanics in the proposal petitioning for a request for a referendum which, in effect, is a logical and a sound manner in which to accomplish this purpose. I believe it strengthens the legislation to the degree that in those areas where this is necessary to maintain our position to vie for the tourist and convention business, it strengthens us in those other areas that would not be covered under the proposals as it is written without the amendments.

I believe the amendments are fair. The amendments offer all the safeguards that are necessary for the respective municipalities that would want to have such a referendum held or that would not want to open up the sale of alcoholic and brewed beverages on Sunday. I do believe that we must be fair with those areas through out our state that want to be competitive with the other areas, and we must be fair to those establishments that with the provisions contained in House Bill 1971 to be able to do business on an equal basis with the others located in their communities.

You know as well as I know that there are many restaurants that qualify to cater to the convention and tourist trade that are just as well set up to take care of that trade. Therefore, I ask the Membership of the House to vote for the amendments so we can make a good proposal much better.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, this bill was introduced and designed to correct one deficiency which the two metropolitan areas of this great Commonwealth have been facing for many years, and that is the loss of convention business which amounts to some $22 million per convention day.

This bill was designed to meet this problem. It was carefully drawn and amended to provide for a petition of 25 percent of the voters and was limited to hotel establishments where the sales of food and nonalcoholic beverages are equal to 55 percent or more of the combined gross, and it further limited the sale of liquor to those rooms in hotels customarily used for the serving of food.

These amendments are designed to cripple the bill. They are designed to make this statewide, to make it apply to restaurants as well as hotels. Philadelphia and Pittsburgh in this Commonwealth will lose about 20,000 man-hours of work if this bill is not passed. The Pennsylvania hotels of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh purchase over $45 million worth of agricultural supplies in the state. This bill is needed. These amendments will do this bill great harm, and I ask all the Members of the House to defeat these amendments.

Mr. Speaker, I ask for a division.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to these amendments and I do so with hesitation. I can sympathize with the position of Mr. Petrosky, and I understand why he has introduced the amendments. I do not believe he has introduced them to cripple the bill.

I think he feels that the entire Commonwealth should be given the same opportunity as the hotels in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, and, as I say, I am sympathetic with that view.

However, indirectly, the amendments would have the effect of lessening the likelihood of this bill becoming law. It is for that reason that I must oppose the amendments.

There is a valid reason as expressed by the gentleman from Philadelphia for the enactment of this legislation, primarily to prevent the city of Philadelphia and the city of Pittsburgh from being so-called ghost cities on the week-end and especially on Sunday. It is this reputation that has lost millions of dollars for the two largest cities in the Commonwealth in convention trade and business. Instead those conventions have been going to other states, such as New Jersey, New York. We, therefore, need this type of legislation and I think it would be a mistake to impinge upon this bill by attempting to add to it all the other hotels throughout the Commonwealth as well as restaurants. The time may come in the not too distant future when we can by enactment include those other establishments, but this is not the time.

I therefore suggest to the Membership of this House, in order to aid a business which needs aid, which contributes to the economy of our Commonwealth, which would generate additional tax revenues, create additional jobs, which will find its way through the entire economy, that we vote down these amendments and vote for the bill in its present form.

Mr. AGNEW. Thank you, Mr. Speaker, I wish to comment briefly in opposition to the amendments offered by the gentleman from Westmoreland. I know that he is sincere in his attempt to broaden both the scope and the base of this bill.

In discussing this legislation and the amendments that are offered here today, may I point out that it is paradoxical that Pennsylvania's citizens are the butts of nationwide jokes about our liquor laws. I personally think most of them are pretty good, but I do not believe that they are sacrosanct and that we should not change some of them to comply with the changing times. I believe it is simply a matter of this, Mr. Speaker, and this is why I oppose the amendments.

The measure, House Bill 1971, as introduced in its present form is a measure of moderation. In substance it merely permits a man or a man and his family to enjoy a drink with his Sunday meal in certain hotels. It is not a barroom bill at all. That is why I call it a measure of moderation. But, Mr. Speaker, we must remember in dealing with liquor legislation that the old prayer is very much apropos and I refer to that prayer which says "Lord, grant me the courage to change that which can be changed and which ought to be changed; Lord, grant me the patience to accept that which cannot be changed, and Oh Lord, grant me the wisdom to know the difference."

I believe the Members of this House realize that House Bill 1971 embodies a principle which should be changed in our liquor laws and that the amendments offered by the gentleman from Westmoreland are something which cannot be changed and therefore ought not to be changed, and we therefore ought to have the patience to accept it. I believe that the Members of the House do have the wisdom to know the difference and will therefore vote against the amendments.

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I join my colleagues in opposition to the introduced amendments by Mr. Petrosky and to further emphasize what my colleagues have very well explained.

I fear that the amendments to this bill would destroy the original and primary purpose of this bill. The purpose of this bill is not to extend the liquor sales to Sunday. The main purpose of this particular piece of legislation is more for economic reasons, as has been very well explained by my colleagues. So I ask that the House vote against these amendments.

Mr. PETROSKY. Very briefly, Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, of course, we have listened to the gentlemen who are in opposition to the amendments and if I may say it, I know you feel as I do, I don't believe we have had one solid, valid reason for voting against the amendments by the gentlemen who have risen in opposition to the amendments.

As it was stated, this is a bill of moderation. It continues to be a bill of moderation. It is not a barroom bill, because every proviso preventing this that is incorporated in proposal No. 1971 still remains the same. The fact that the economy is concerned is my concern in the offering of these amendments.

What are we to do in convention cities such as Erie, Reading, Williamsport, York and the like? I believe it is good, and I believe it is good to extend it to those areas. I believe that it is good to extend it to every establishment that qualifies under this bill which prevents the possibility of having a barroom bill, and there is no change in that whatsoever.

I submit to the Membership of the House that the bill is strengthened rather than hurt by the amendments if they are placed into the bill, and as I indicated earlier. I reiterate now, the mechanics of the bill prevent any open sales or barroom sales of liquor on Sunday, and its mere extension to the other areas is one of an economic nature. If it is so that the provisions here applying to Pittsburgh and Philadelphia alone would enhance the position economically of agriculture and what have you in the state, it will be multiplied ten-fold by extending the provisions of the bill to those areas that need them for economic reasons.

Mr. DOUGHERTY. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I rise to oppose these amendments. If these amendments were enacted they would just kill a mighty good bill.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PETROSKY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, if he were a drinking man could he get a drink on Sunday?

Mr. PETROSKY. I am, and I can get a drink on Sunday.

Mr. FILO. I beg your pardon?

Mr. PETROSKY. I say I am a drinking man and I can get a drink on Sunday.

Mr. FILO. Well, by the same token, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman's amendments would tend to destroy this piece of legislation, because most of the people that we are inducing—

Mr. PETROSKY. Is the gentleman through interrogating me, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. FILO. I am through with the interrogation and I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, this bill is an inducement to members from out of the state to attend conventions in the state of Pennsylvania, in the city of Pittsburgh primarily and also Philadelphia. These people who come from out of the state cannot do as Mr. Petrosky stated, go and get a drink on Sunday if they want such.

Of course, anyone here in the state, if they belong to a club can very easily cross the street from the hotel and go to a club to which they belong and get their drink. The main purpose of this bill is for those people from out of state who come into Pennsylvania with these conventions to be able to have a moderate drink whenever they want it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

A division was called for, less than a majority of the Members having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Speaker, and Members of the House, I purposely kept quiet on the last bill because I thought we would have plenty of time to think it over, but on this bill I am going to say just a few things regarding the outcome of it.

There is one thing I cannot reconcile myself to and I also do not see how some of the rest of you can. Some little time ago we passed Senate Bill No. 405 which prohibited the sale of many things on Sunday, some things that might even be called necessities. I refer, for instance, to a roof that might be blown off the house on Saturday night. You cannot go and buy material on Sunday to patch your roof. There are many other cases like that. By no stretch of imagination could we call the sale of alcoholic drinks on Sunday a necessity.

As one speaker has already said in speaking of the amendment, if this bill goes through and is signed by the Governor, sooner or later all the drinking places of the state will come in for the same kind of treatment. Then we have a wide-open Sunday.

Mr. Speaker, I think it would be to the interest of the state as a whole, not only in its economy, which is only one consideration, but for the good of the entire population of this state, to not broaden our liquor laws any further. Therefore, I ask everyone in this House to vote this bill down.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to briefly speak in favor of this bill with the knowledge that I was one of the foremost exponents of the bill recently passed, Senate Bill No. 405, prohibiting the sale of certain items on Sunday.

I believe that I can partly reconcile what appears to be an inconsistent position by saying, most of the things that were prohibited from being sold on Sunday are things that the family could go out and buy the other six days of the week. But, it is rather difficult when I want to go out to Sunday dinner and have a cocktail in a hotel to make an advance order on a Thursday or Friday. For that reason I think the positions are reconcilable.

Now the bill was really debated on the amendments that were introduced by the gentleman from Westmoreland, and most of the arguments in favor of this bill were of an economic nature, but I submit that we are really giving equality in the state, if we pass this bill, to a lot of people who are afforded an opportunity to go out for supper one day a week to have a drink with their meal.

I, for one, have patronized, and probably most of the other drinking Members of the House, have patronized the so-called one-man clubs, and I think it is rather unfair that they should be permitted to open all hours of the day, seven days a week, and the hotels which have a much greater mark of respectability are denied the privilege of serving on Sundays. I think that would provide the average working man an opportunity that most of the people in the higher class income brackets now are afforded, and for that reason, I think in the interest of fairness, we ought to support this bill.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I certainly can take the floor and say that I am being consistent in speaking in favor of this particular bill even in relation to Senate Bill 405.

In answer to the gentleman from Tioga, if the gentleman will read this bill very carefully he will see that the bill is indeed very skillfully and carefully drawn. If you read the bill you see the adequate protection. First of all, liquor and malt beverages can only be sold in a hotel in which at least 55 percent of their revenue comes from the sale of food. That is the first protection.

The second protection, there must be a referendum first by the people in the community and before you can get to that referendum you must have petitions signed by at least 25 percent of the voting public, 25 percent of the highest vote cast for any one candidate. So that the gentleman's remarks, I think, do not sit well when you analyze the various protections drawn in this particular bill. This will not lead to widespread selling of liquor as he would lead the Members of this House to believe.

Remember again that this will only permit, after the petition is filed and after the electorate votes upon it, sales between the hours of one and ten in the evening. We have football games, we have basketball games, we have all kinds of things which we have permitted by law and which have been permitted by referendum of the people. I have no fear in allowing the people of this Commonwealth to express themselves by referendum in the ballot if, in fact, they desire to permit liquor and malt beverages to be sold between those hours in legitimate hotels. I have full confidence in the electorate of this Commonwealth. I think we should support this legislation.

Mr. JUMP. Mr. Speaker, first, I would like to get the record straight. As Al Smith would say, "Let's look at the record." For some of the Members of this House who do not know it, during my 59 years of livelihood the strongest drink I ever took was a cup of coffee, but in going over this blue pamphlet from which I noticed my colleague, Mr. Schwartz, read, I thought I would look it over very carefully.

Mr. Schwartz says, this bill calls for a referendum in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh on whether or not qualified hotels may serve alcoholic beverages on Sundays between the hours of one and ten p. m. Only hotels whose percentage of food sales equals 55 percent of total sales of food and beverages may qualify. Sales of alcoholic beverages are limited to rooms that customarily sell food. Before the referendum may be held, petitions calling for it must be signed by a number of electors equal at least to 25 percent of the highest vote cast for any one office in the last general election. It will bring many millions of dollars of additional convention business into Pennsylvania. There is not any question about that. I am very much convinced of that.

This will aid many segments of our economy, including all forms of transportation, gas, oil, bus and train travel. It will create many new jobs. It permits the people to express themselves directly. It will keep Pennsylvania's earned dollars in the state and not drive them to surrounding areas for recreation and relaxation. It will partially correct inequities in present Liquor Control Laws.

Only reputable, well conducted hotels can qualify under House Bill 1971. Now hotels are required to be open seven days each week. They are a "home away from home" for the transient traveler who should be permitted the same privileges and pleasures he would enjoy at home. Hotels have a legal responsibility to provide "rooms, food and entertainment" for their guests. Entertainment generally includes beverages. A yes vote for House Bill 1971 is a vote, in my opinion, for progress.

Mr. Speaker and Members of this House, this is good legislation and I urge all Members to vote yes.

Mr. P. E. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, I will not take much time of the Members. I have just a few remarks.

Economically this bill is good. It puts Philadelphia and Pittsburgh in a better competitive condition to attract conventions. Further, there is no moral wrong in this legislation, and certainly there is no religious wrong.

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Speaker, I will not delay the vote on this but by just a couple of minutes, but I would like to answer Mr. McCormack because I have heard this so many times.

It is true the clubs have been given a preference over regular licensed places because of what they have been given on Sunday, but I would like to call your attention to the fact that two wrongs do not make a right.

Also one other factor in regard to that Mr. Light from Lebanon, who is not here this afternoon but who sits in this seat next to me, and I have a bill in committee House Bill 856, which would do that very thing, but in the opposite direction. It would stop the sale of all drink at 12 midnight on Saturday night, and, in my humble opinion, that is when it should stop.

One other thing, if this bill is passed, how long will these provisions that my colleague, Mr. Jump, spoke of in such glowing terms, how long will they remain? These can be amended at our very next Session or can be amended later in this Session to change them all around, once granted. Of course, they can hardly beat this Session because they would have to be voted on. I am not so much in favor, sometimes, of a referendum. We are sent here to decide things on our own. Are we always to submit these questions for a referendum to the people of Pennsylvania or are we to represent the people and vote fearlessly yes or no.

Again I say, economics is not the only consideration here. Who would say the question of crime in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh would be aided by the passing of this bill this afternoon? I am sure it would not be.

There is a moral side to it too. I will not call that any more to your attention at this time. I ask every Member of this House to vote no on this bill.

Mr. HEAVEY. Mr. Speaker, I am just wondering how much the hotel people in Philadelphia are interested in liquor selling on Sunday.

The Hotel Sheridan has not been opened very long. It was built at an investment of $4 million dollars, and I am sure when they invested $4 million in that hotel there was no assurance they could sell liquor on Sunday. So, I was just wondering what this is all about.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. McCANN.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1542, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 29, 1956 (P. L. 1804) entitled "An act providing for the establishment of police pension funds or pension annuities in certain boroughs, towns and townships and the regulation and maintenance thereof * * *" changing the age at which a member of the police force may retire.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, I just want to make a few comments on this particular bill. It has been on the calendar long enough, and I think it is about time we did something about it, but I would like to explain a little about it.

There are two things it does. First, it brings on the one and two member force, that is all. Then it gives the supervisors or the councilmen the right, at no less than 55 or no more than 65, to retire these particular policemen after they have had twenty years of service.

I would like to take this opportunity to ask everybody to vote for this, and put these one and two men where they belong.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair welcomes to the Hall of the House a former Member of the House, the gentleman from Fulton, Mr. Kerlin.

RESOLUTION
CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. SCHWARTZ and DOUGHERTY offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 28, 1959.

Thirty-seven years ago, today Thomas J. McCormack was born in Philadelphia, the son of the late Patrick and Mary J. McCormack.

Educated in Philadelphia and a graduate of Temple University School of Law, he is presently a practicing attorney in Philadelphia.

A member of this House since 1952. He was first elected at the age of twenty-nine, a tribute and proof of this young man's determination and ability; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House extend their congratulations to the Honorable Thomas J. McCormack on this his birthday and express the hope that he will be with us for many years to lend his oratorical talent and expression for the betterment of mankind.

The Members joined with Mr. Dengler in singing "Happy Birthday."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, for the first time since 1953 I am speechless. Thanks very much.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair returns the gavel to the Speaker.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

No. 98.

SENATE

TUESDAY, September 29, 1959.

The Senate met at 12:30 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Father EDWARD J. KRETZ, Assistant Pastor of St. Mary's R. C. Church, Ford City, offered the following prayer:

O God, Creator of us all, direct our hearts and minds in every undertaking today.

We concern ourselves here with the law. Recollection is made of the inspiring protection which Thou didst render Thy tablets of Law on Mt. Sinai in days of old, so that men might progress to spiritual maturity. Grant us now that same protection in interpreting the laws of the Commonwealth for the material well-being and integrity of the citizens living within her borders. The task is difficult, O Lord, and without Thy help, staggering. We are grateful that our state acknowledges Thee as the source of all law, for there are those who are victims of the confusion in a godless government.

Come, Holy Spirit, fill the hearts of Thy faithful people and enkindle in them the fire of Thy love, through Christ our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. PECHAN and Mr. BLASS, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

An Act amending the act of May 5, 1933 P. L. 457), entitled "Building and Loan Code," permitting investment in notes and bonds of the Pennsylvania Housing Agency.

He also, from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1172, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 15, 1933 (P. L. 624), entitled, as amended, "Banking Code," permitting purchase or investment in bonds and notes of Pennsylvania Housing Agency.

He also, from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1180, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 13, 1925 (P. L. 644), entitled "An act relating to and regulating the solicitation of moneys and property for charitable, religious, benevolent, humane, and patriotic purposes," exempting associations of firemen.

He also, from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1181, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code," further regulating the driving over fire hose and prescribing penalties.

He also, from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1182, entitled:

An Act providing for the carrying out of the directions of any person with respect to the disposition of any part of his remains to an eye bank.

He also, from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1200, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1959 (Act No. 78), entitled "State Employees' Retirement Code of 1959," requiring contributions and providing comparable benefits in the case of certain former members of the General Assembly.

He also, from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1205, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," providing for payment to joint boards under certain conditions by the Commonwealth for the acceptance of non-resident pupils and providing for installment payments.

He also, from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1993, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 26, 1878 (P. L. 48), entitled "An act authorizing the supreme court of Pennsylvania and the various courts in and for the city and county of Philadelphia, to appoint stenographers as commissioners to administer oaths and take depositions," extending provisions of the act to various courts.

He also, from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Bill No. 2353, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 12, 1919 (P. L. 476), entitled, as amended, "An act to regulate and establish the fees to be charged and collected by the recorder of deeds, in counties of the second class," fixing fees to be charged, collected and paid by counties for exemplification of certain military or naval discharges and certificates of service.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 59
REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. RUTH, from the Committee on Rules, to which was referred on September 15, 1959, the following resolution from the House of Representatives, reported the same without amendments as follows, viz:

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY
LAWS RELATING TO THE EXERCISE TO CON-
DEMN PROPERTY FOR PUBLIC PURPOSES

In the House of Representatives, April 20, 1959.

There is widespread dissatisfaction in this Commonwealth with the present laws relating to the condemnation of private property for public purposes and with the procedure in effect thereunder for determining the amount of damages to be awarded in connection with such takings. This dissatisfaction is increasing because of highway extension programs, suburban expansion, urban redevelopment, municipal growth and public authority activities. It has been heightened further because of the lack of uniformity in law and procedure as evidenced in the multifarious laws under which the various condemnors in this State must now act. The courts have been handicapped in developing satisfactory procedures to aid in arriving at substantial justice between the parties involved because of these statutory variances and because of judicial precedents which originated largely during the agrarian period of the Commonwealth's history and which fail to take into consideration the problems created by a changing economy, the expanding population and a revised concept of what constitutes public use.

A thorough and exhaustive study of all statutes on the subject of eminent domain now in force in this Commonwealth should be made, and, in addition, comparable legislation of other states should be examined, for the purposes of:

(1) Developing a single procedure, if possible, to provide for a determination of compensation to be paid in all cases regardless of the identity of the condemnor;

(2) Providing for the use of court-appointed appraisers, but permitting the parties to offer additional testimony if they so desire;

(3) Providing for payment to condemnors and other interested parties of a percentage of the value of the property taken, as determined by the court-appointed appraisers, within a definite period of time following the filing of their appraisal report in court;

(4) Developing a more workable and modern definition of "just compensation" which shall be applicable to all condemnors alike;

(5) Defining "time of taking" so that it shall be uniform in practice for all condemnors;

(6) Requiring condemnors to institute proceedings for determination of damages payable within a definite period of time following the taking;

(7) Requiring such damage proceedings to be instituted against the owners of all of the property taken;

(8) Requiring that notice be given to all owners of property taken within a definite period of time after the taking;

(9) Requiring that personal or mailed notice of taking be given to tenants, mortgagees and other lienholders of record of the property taken;

(10) Giving tenants, mortgagees and other lienholders the statutory right to intervene and participate in damage proceedings to protect their respective interests in the damages to be paid;

(11) Requiring that a description of the property taken be recorded in the Recorder of Deed's office;

(12) Requiring that a notice of taking be filed in the Recorder of Deed's office, indexing the condemnee's name in the grantor index and the condemnee in the grantee index;

(13) Requiring that the Commonwealth be made liable, as other condemnors are, for consequential damages;

(14) Prohibiting condemnors from acquiring base fee interests in the property taken; and

(15) For making such other improvements in the law and procedure pertaining to this subject as may after such study prove to be equitable and just; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate exhaustively the law and procedure relating to the exercise of the right to condemn property for public purposes in Pennsylvania and for the payment of damages therefor, with a view toward proposing a complete revision and codification thereof into one statute in order to eliminate present inconsistencies, produce uniformity in practice and procedure, assure just and equitable treatment between all interested parties and in general improve the administration of justice in this field of law; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations and submit thereto a draft of codifying legislation which carries into effect such recommendations.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 82
REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. RUTH, from the Committee on Rules, to which was referred on September 15, 1959, the following resolutions from the House of Representatives, reported the same without amendments as follows, viz.

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE A STUDY OF THE "FIRE AND PANIC ACT"

In the House of Representatives, June 9, 1959.

The laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating to the safety of persons employed, housed or assembled in public buildings and other buildings and structures which accommodate a number of persons are in many instances obsolete and badly in need of revision.

Due to the advances which have been made throughout the years in the design and construction of buildings and the means of protecting such buildings and the persons therein, the same cannot be adequately governed by an act adopted over thirty years ago; therefore, be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring) That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a thorough study of the act of April 27, 1927 (P. L. 465), sometimes referred to as the "Fire and Panic Act," and the amendments thereto, and related laws, for the purpose of recommending [an extensive] a revision and modernization thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislators necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

STUDENTS FROM ST. MARGARET MARY PAROCHIAL SCHOOL, PENBROOK, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, the children of the eighth grade of St. Margaret Mary Parochial School in Penbrook, under the direction of Sisters Benedict and Mercine, are in the balcony. They are here today to study Pennsylvania government. This is Father Kirchner's parish. They are in the gallery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the students please rise?

On behalf of the Senate, I am very happy to welcome you lovely children from the eighth grade of St. Margaret Mary Parochial School in Penbrook. I understand that Mr. Wambach has three children in your group, and I bumped into Mr. Sludden on the way in, who has one member of his family in your nice group. We are very glad to have you with us.

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE ALLEGHENY COUNTY SANITARY AUTHORITY, PURSUANT TO SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 27

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, the investigation of the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority by a committee of this Senate has resulted in many important recommendations.

I realize that our report is being submitted at a comparatively late hour in this Session, and that it therefore, cannot be given the thorough and proper consideration it deserves.

I have, accordingly, prepared a resolution which I shall offer. It will direct that the Local Government Commission conduct a complete study of the Authority method of financing at the local level, and that the commission's report and its findings be submitted to the 1961 Session of the General Assembly.

Mr. President, I might add that I have placed on each Member's desk a copy of the Special Committee's Report.

The PRESIDENT. The report will be printed in the Legislative Journal.

Senate of Pennsylvania

REPORT of THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE the ALLEGHENY COUNTY SANITARY AUTHORITY

Submitted to the Senate on September 29, 1959

Senate of Pennsylvania
1959

The Special Committee to Investigate the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority

Frank Koprivier, Jr. Chairman

Severino Stefanon, Executive Secretary
Louis C. Glasso, Esq. Counsel

On May 4, 1959, a resolution was offered to the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by Senator Koprivier for the appointment of five members of the Senate to investigate the rate making policy and the past and proposed expenditures of the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority. Said resolution was adopted June 22, 1959 and the Committee was appointed and consisted of Senator Koprivier, Chairman, and Senator's Kromer, Ripp, Sarraf and Walker. Senator Blass was appointed to the committee on August 4, 1959 upon the resignation from the Committee of Senator Walker.

In conformance with said resolution, hearings were conducted in the Governor's Conference Room in the State Office Building in the City of Pittsburgh on August 6, 7 and 14 and on September 4 of 1959. Numerous witnesses were called by the Committee and interrogated by Committee Counsel, Louis C. Glasso, and by members of the Committee with reference to matters contained in the resolution, to wit: alleged excessiveness of rates, alleged discriminatory rates and alleged wasteful expenditures. Representing the Authority was Leon Wald, Esq., of the City of Pittsburgh, who is permanent counsel for said Authority.

Among the witnesses called before the Committee were John F. Laboon, Executive Director and Chief Engineer of the Authority; Charles W.

Gordon, an employee of Combustion Engineering of Chicago, Illinois; Edwin B. Cobb, a Sanitary Engineer representing Metcalf and Eddy of Boston, Massachusetts, which company designed the plant, and Leon Wald, Esquire. The testimony of these witnesses explained the total cost of the plant and sewers, the specifications contained in the contracts with the Authority with reference to the design of the disposal plant itself, the incinerators used in disposing of waste products and other details dealing generally with the operation of the plant. Also called before the Committee were several lay witnesses who personally voiced complaints about excessive rates, inability to procure information requested of the Authority, odors emanating from the plant which were offensive to residents of the North Side section of Pittsburgh and the communities immediately below the plant site near the McKees Rocks Bridge.

BRIEF SUMMARY OF PERTINENT TESTIMONY

The testimony establishes that the Authority was created in March of 1946 under the Municipal Authorities Act of 1945; that the County Commissioners appointed a board consisting of five persons to prepare a report for a county-wide sewerage collection and treatment project and that 102 municipalities and some 30 industries were approached for the purpose of effecting a county-wide project. It appears that said project failed because many municipalities were unwilling to join for want of specific information with reference to rates and costs. Those municipalities which were willing to and did enter the county-wide project were the City of Pittsburgh and the Boroughs of Mt. Lebanon, Ben Avon, Pitcairn and Tarentum. Outlying areas such as Oakmont, Elizabeth, New Kensington, Duquesne, McKeesport and others are not now a part of the present system. When the county-wide project collapsed, Project Z was formed, comprising the City of Pittsburgh and 43 surrounding municipalities and was extended to include 70 municipalities. The City of Pittsburgh granted the Authority a loan of $2 million to proceed with Project Z. Project Z was later extended to include 13 more municipalities in the Turtle Creek Valley and extensions were run to serve these communities at a cost of $100,000, $70,000 of which was paid by Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

On February 1, 1952, the Boroughs of Blawnox and Verona and the Townships of O'Hara and Penn, together with the Allegheny County Workhouse, signed an agreement for a sewer extension to serve those communities. The cost of said extension was approximately $900,000 which was paid for by separate bond issues. The residents of these four communities are required to pay rates higher than those in Project Z; said rates will be referred to in the Findings which follow herein.

The testimony also establishes that since McKeesport, which was to be the collection center of surrounding communities, refused to join with the Authority, the City of Duquesne was unable to take advantage of the Authority's lines without assuming the burden and cost of constructing a river crossing and sewer to intercept the Authority's lines.

The testimony also establishes that since McKeesport, which was to be the collection center of surrounding communities, refused to join with the Authority, the City of Duquesne was unable to take advantage of the Authority's lines without assuming the burden and cost of constructing a river crossing and sewer to intercept the Authority's lines.

The Allegheny County Sanitary Authority, by charter change, is now a joint authority, three of its five members representing the City of Pittsburgh and the other two representing the County. The Authority entered into an agreement with the City of Pittsburgh when Project Z was formed guaranteeing to the City that services to any other community would in no way increase the rates to the City of Pittsburgh. It appears from the testimony that the City extracted this agreement because of the $2 million loan which has since been repaid. Other municipalities who have entered Project Z were required to pay costs of extension lines, as in the case of Monroeville and the Turtle Creek Valley, or had to construct its own lines to connect with interceptors belong to the Authority as in the case of Ross Township.

It appears from the testimony that the county-wide sewerage collection and treatment plan could not be effected on a voluntary basis and as a result the aforementioned Project Z was formed to serve a smaller number of communities. It further appears that other municipalities not now being served by the Authority will be required to construct their own plants because the present system is designed to meet future needs solely of those municipalities which now belong to the system.

A visual inspection of the plant by certain members of the Committee found a well constructed plant and from the testimony it appears that, some minor exceptions, the Authority is to be commended, and particularly Mr. Laboon, for securing top quality construction of sewers and plant, and there was no evidence found of extravagance or waste in the construction of the sewer lines and plant.

Considerable testimony was taken with reference to the process in the treatment of sewage. It definitely was established that the sewage treatment plant of the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority is not a conventional one; that it eliminates, for the purpose of saving costs in the treatment and disposal of sludge, some steps, notably the digester process. The process now being used calls for the burning of concentrated sludge containing some 78-84 percent moisture in specially constructed incinerators having a heat value per pound ranging from 10,000 to 12,000 B.T.U. The contract specifications call for incinerator units that will not emit offensive odors or gases, and such offensive odors and gasses under the contract are to be subjected to temperatures of at least 1250°F for a sufficient period of time to provide adequate opportunity for deodorization.

After hearing the testimony and reviewing the same, the Committee makes the following

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. The Allegheny County Sanitary Authority was formed in 1946 under and pursuant to the Municipal Authorities Act of 1945 requiring the establishment of reasonable and uniform rates.
2. The said Authority communicated with 102 municipalities for the purpose of forming a county-wide project on a voluntary basis.
3. The voluntary county-wide project failed and the City of Pittsburgh induced said Authority to create a smaller project comprising the City of Pittsburgh and some 43 municipalities.
4. The City of Pittsburgh loaned the Authority $2,000,000.00 for the purpose of making plans and drawing up specifications for the creation of what later came into being as Project Z.
5. That the said Authority is in truth and in fact a joint Authority controlled by the City of Pittsburgh since said City appoints three of the five members of said Authority.
6. The rate set for Project Z is thirty cents per 1,000 gallons of water per metered premises.

7. The City of Pittsburgh has a firm agreement with the said Authority under which the said City has the right to accept or reject any municipality which requests to join the system.

8. The City of Pittsburgh is a necessary contracting party with any municipality outside of those municipalities now embraced in Project Z.

9. Under an agreement between the Authority and the City of Pittsburgh service to those municipalities outside of Project Z shall in no way increase the rates to the City of Pittsburgh.

10. That the upper Allegheny system, comprising the Townships of Penn and O'Hara and the Boroughs of Blawnox and Verona was erected at a cost to be borne by the users in said system by the payment of rates ranging from fifty to seventy cents per 1,000 gallons of water used.

11. That the Borough of Monroeville was required to pay the sum of $450,000.00 for extension of lines to service residents of that Borough and the Turtle Creek Valley was required to expand the sum of $100,000.00 for extension of lines to service Pitcairn and Trafford.

12. All users throughout the system have a uniform rate of thirty cents per 1,000 gallons of water consumed by meter with the exception of the Upper Allegheny System referred to above.

13. A rate of $44.00 per year has been set for unmetered consumers throughout Project Z without regard to actual water used.

14. No allowances are made for purely water consumption on metered and unmetered users completely unrelated and unconnected with sewage facilities, such as swimming pools, lawn sprinkling, cooling, etc.

15. The sludge treatment and disposal process is an unconventional one and is a purely experimental system and considerable difficulties are being encountered in the incinerating process because of inability to control moisture content.

16. There have been repeated plant failures due to inexperienced help.

17. The incinerators are not operating according to specifications and as a result nauseous, foul and offensive odors daily emanate from the plant to such an extent that the property values have been affected and living in the North Side section of the City of Pittsburgh, the McKees Rocks section and in small communities along the Ohio River has at times become unbearable.

18. Repeated attempts to correct the emanation of foul and offensive odors have failed.

19. Engineers for the incinerator company are unable to guarantee that said odors will eventually be eliminated but have expressed a hope that in due time they may be eliminated.

20. Metcalf and Eddy, designers of the system, will accept no responsibility for the failure of the process now being used.

21. The difference in rates between Project Z and the Upper Allegheny System are arbitrary and violate the provisions of the Municipal Authorities Act requiring the establishment of reasonable and uniform rates.

22. There is no evidence of waste or extravagance in the erection and construction of the sewers and disposal and treatment plant.

23. There exists just cause for many municipalities not joining the Authority inasmuch as the Authority will not and cannot, because of the Authority's agreement with the City of Pittsburgh guarantee a uniform rate.

24. Funds of the Authority were used in experimental pilot plants under the direction of John F. Laboon, now Director of the Authority, on a process of sludge concentration and treatment.

25. The process used in the pilot plants is a process known as the Laboon Process, and said process, in substance, was patented in the name of John F. Laboon on May 14, 1957.

The Committee therefore makes the following

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. The Legislature appoint a Committee to make an investigation of all Authorities and to make recommendations to the Legislature for legislation requiring uniform rates to all users within a feasible area, similar to the uniform rating now being used by utilities such as telephone, electric power, transit, water companies, etc.

2. The Legislature enact into law legislation requiring representation of all municipalities on any Authority created for the purpose of providing service to the residents of such municipalities so as to guarantee to said municipalities a voice in the establishment of rates.

3. That the Legislature amend the Municipal Authorities Act and all other Acts relating to the creation of Authorities to require appointment to said Authorities of only those persons who are duly qualified elected representatives of the governing body of said municipality, borough, township, etc. so that the same may be responsible to the electors.

4. That the Legislature enact legislation requiring each Authority to submit all plans, together with costs of proposed expenditures, rates, etc., to the Secretary of the Commonwealth or some state department head for final approval.

5. That the Legislature enact legislation requiring the establishment of rates and any changes therein to be approved by the Public Utilities Commission and/or requiring the setting of said rates by the Public Utilities Commission after the presentation to said Commission of all pertinent data upon which said rates may be predicated, similar to the procedure now used with respect to public utilities, inasmuch as the disposal of sewage, although not for profit, is a public function affecting the lives of all the citizens and inhabitants of this Commonwealth.

6. That the contracts entered into by the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority with the City of Pittsburgh, with Metcalf and Eddy and with Combustion Engineering be submitted for study and recommendations of the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the purpose of passing upon the legality of all said contracts and the legal obligations of the parties thereto.

7. That the Legislature enact appropriate legislation requiring the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority to extend service to all municipalities within Allegheny County which may wish to use the services at reasonable and uniform rates throughout said County so as to avoid excessive and needless expenditures by numerous municipalities within the County which are financially unable to erect their own disposal plants but which must do so in order to comply with the provisions of the Pure Streams Act inasmuch as the disposal plant of the said Authority has sufficient facilities and ample land for expansion to care for the needs of all municipalities within Allegheny County.

8. That the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be requested to bring any and all legal proceedings for and on behalf of the Upper Allegheny communities to have declared unenforceable and invalid the contract dated February 1, 1952 requiring the payment of higher rates than those of Project Z by the residents of said communities and that the Attorney General further be requested to take any and all necessary legal steps and to institute all necessary legal proceedings to

A. Have declared unenforceable as against public policy the contract existing between the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority and the City of Pittsburgh;

B. Require the Authority to accept any municipality wishing to avail itself of the facilities of the Authority on an equal basis with members of Project Z at no cost to said municipalities for construction of extension lines to serve said municipalities and at no increased rates;

C. Eliminate Project Z and require that any increased costs of construction to serve any municipality in the future be borne proportionately by all municipalities within the County now being served or to be served in the future.

9. That the Attorney General be requested to make a thorough and complete investigation into the operational process and design of the Authority's disposal plant to determine whether or not the expenditure of millions of dollars was justified in what the Committee feels to be an experimental sludge disposal treatment process.

10. That the Attorney General be requested to investigate the process used in the pilot plants and the expenditures of funds of the Authority used therefor to determine whether or not the process patented in the name of John F. Laboon is the same process used in the experimental pilot plants and incorporated in the disposal plant of the Authority and to determine whether or not Authority funds were used for private purposes.

ALTERNATIVE RECOMMENDATIONS

1. The Municipal Authorities Act be repealed and in its stead a constitutional revision removing the constitutional debt limit so as to afford municipalities through their duly elected representatives the right to build the necessary facilities and provide the necessary services for their citizens and in this manner return responsible government where it belongs, or

2. The Legislature enact legislation requiring the public election of all Authority members for definite terms at definite salaries to be set by statute.

SENATE RESOLUTION

DIRECTING THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE THE FINANCING OF MUNICIPAL IMPROVEMENTS

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. offered the following resolution (Serial No. 72), which was read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, September 29, 1959.

The practice of financing municipal improvements through the creation of authorities has grown widespread throughout the State, and has brought with it problems and difficulties which were not foreseen and are daily becoming more complex.

The investigation of the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority by a committee of this Senate points up clearly that a thorough and complete study of the entire practice at the local level is urgently needed, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Local Government Commission be directed to make a thorough and complete investigation into all of the facts, matters and things connected with the financing of municipal improvements through the creation of authorities and to the operation, maintenance, production and delivery of municipal, governmental and public utility services by such authorities, giving particular attention to the full cost of such financing, the necessity, adequacy, and effectiveness of the services rendered, the efficiency of operation, the uniformity and reasonableness of rates and charges, and any other matters or facts or knowledge of which would assist the General Assembly in enacting legislation concerning the problem, and be it further

Resolved, That the Local Government Commission shall have the power to issue subpoenas under its hand requiring and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into and to produce such books, papers and documents as the Local Government Commission may deem necessary. Such subpoenas shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. The Local Government Commission shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before them. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before the Local Government Commission or to produce books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further

Resolved, That the Local Government Commission make a report of its findings together with its recommendations to the next General Assembly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, regarding the last resolution relating to the Report on the Sanitary Authority of Allegheny County, which resolution was referred to the Rules Committee as I understand it, and a copy of which Report has been placed on the desks of the Senators, I think the record should be complete and state that this is a Majority Report.

The Minority Members, on whose behalf I am speaking, have advised me that they will file a Minority Report. There are certain parts of this report with which they are not in accord and they will cover this material in their own Minority Report to be submitted before the Legislature adjourns.

The PRESIDENT. The reporter will make note that the Minority Report will be submitted later.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Silvert, will state it.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I want to take this opportunity to thank our popular Senate Librarian, Charlie Lathero, for the wonderful lunch which he served to the Members of the Senate and employees.

I want to tell you, Charlie, that we not only enjoyed your lunch, but we enjoyed your always pleasant association. Thank you very much.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Silvert. I know that you spoke for all of the Senators, including the President, when you made that very nice speech.

MEMBERS OF THE LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS OF NEWTOWN, BUCKS COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. KELLER. Mr. President, it is my pleasure this afternoon to introduce to the Senate, five ladies from my own home town of Newtown, Bucks County, who are members of the League of Women Voters. I hope that you will welcome them here and that their stay here in Harrisburg is a pleasant one.

The PRESIDENT. Will the ladies rise, please?

On behalf of the Senate, I am very happy to have the members of the League of Women Voters here with us this afternoon. I enjoyed being in your town not very long ago when, on the stage of the Newtown High School, there was enacted a very historic history of your town. I enjoyed it very much, as did Mrs. Davis. We are glad to have you with us today.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. BARR and FLEMING read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1208, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 29, 1953 (P. L. 1034), entitled "Public Auditorium Authorities Law," increasing the number of members of the governing body of Authorities.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

Messrs. KESSLER and WAGNER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1209, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," extending the time for the auditing of accounts of school districts of the second, third and fourth classes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, this is another phase in that refreshing debate which we had last week regarding a suitable poem for Pennsylvania. At that time, I promised to introduce this week the immortal and world famous poem about Pennsylvania, which belongs to the trenchant pen of Rudyard Kipling.

Although Kipling was not a resident of Pennsylvania, I believe that he belongs to the entire civilized world, especially to the English-speaking world. For that reason, there should be no scruples regarding his domicile or his citizenship.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. STIEFEL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1210, entitled:

An Act declaring and adopting an excerpt from Rudyard Kiplings' poem "Philadelphia" that could be entitled "All in Pennsylvania" as the official poem of Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

Messrs. DONOLOW, McCREESH and MULLIN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1211, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 30, 1937 (P. L. 115), entitled "The First Class City Permanent Registration Act," increasing compensation of the chairman and other members of the registration commission.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

Messrs. WHALLEY and WALKER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1212, entitled:

An Act directing the Department of Highways to conduct a study and survey to determine the advisability of widening state route 219 and making it a part of the federal interstate highway system.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request a ten minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a Democratic Caucus, to be held in the Democratic Caucus Room on the Fourth Floor.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not wish to make any acid comments on this request for a recess, but yesterday they held their Caucus in the Conference Room at the rear of the Senate when the ball game started early. Now today they are holding it upstairs, on the fourth floor, when the game begins at five o'clock.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the Chair declares a ten minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER (William Z. Scott) in the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

MRS. TILLIE SALKIND, HEAD OF CENTER CITY WOMEN'S DEMOCRATIC ORGANIZATION OF PHILADELPHIA, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it gives me a great deal of pleasure to introduce to this group today one of the outstanding women in Philadelphia, who heads the Center City Women's Democratic Organization and who is the wife of our Registration Commissioner, Mrs. Tillie Salkind.

RECESS

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request a fifteen minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a Republican Caucus, to be held in the Republican Caucus Room.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, there is only one thing that I would like to mention, and that is if the game does start, would you please bring us back a score from the Republican Caucus?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, if the game does start, the Caucus will be adjourned to the Conference Room at the rear of the Senate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the Chair declares a fifteen minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

HOUSE BILL No. 2326 CALLED UP

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I call up, from page 9 of today's Second Reading Calendar, House Bill No. 2326, Printer's No. 1704.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

APPROPRIATION BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2326, entitled:

An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31 1959.

The first section was read and agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, there are a number of amendments to be offered to this bill and we will try to do this in an orderly fashion. However, before doing so, there are a few things I would like to call to the attention of the Members of the Senate in order to apprise them of a situation which possibly, due to the time we have been here and the complexity of the work we have been doing, may have escaped some of the people here. If what I have to say is incorrect or in any way does not cover the ground about which we are talking, I am certain someone on the other side will correct me. As a matter of fact, I hope someone does and I hope that I am incorrect in some of the things that were said here and done here up to this point.

With the help of Senator Mahady, I have had the opportunity to add up the items that we have passed in the House and the Senate which have been non-budgeted. The total sum is $27,861,200, which we have passed in legislation that was not in the Governor's Budget and for which there is no money, as allocated in the budget itself.

Almost all of these bills have passed here and some have been passed over in the House. Those which have gone through are based on areas which have covered different little projects and things that persons here have been interested in, but for which there is no money to accomplish them.

Despite all that, I read in the Philadelphia Bulletin the other day a statement which was attributed to Senator Kessler. I would like the gentleman to advise me, if he would, as to the correctness of this remark or whether the remark was ever made by him. He stated that after the cuts were made in the budget,—and I assume he was referring to the general bill here, House Bill No. 2326—he was advised by members of the Administration that the cuts were not only fair, but that they were adequate and that the money which was left to the departments was more than adequate for them to carry on their business.

Mr. President, I read this article in last night's newspaper. Since I read it, I had the benefit today of calling in the Budget Department and the department heads. I asked them, point blank, "Did they ever make this statement to Senator Kessler or anyone else, including any agent or assistant of his who might have called them?" The silence was less than deafening because nobody had anything to say. I very honestly would like to know where these statements came from or who made them and on what basis they were made.

I would just like to point out here for a moment that in the budget the Governor has allocated to the Auditor General $578,250 to run that department for the coming biennium, and in the Senate, this was raised to $719,250. This is almost a $200,000 increase, I do not want it to appear that this is a political maneuver, but I think I should point out that the Auditor General is of a different political party than that of the Governor or the Administration. I do not understand how this came about. I would also like an explanation of this type of activity.

Some of the cuts which have been made in the budget, I think, are directly against some of the areas in which some of the gentlemen on the other side live. Before we are through with this bill and finished offering our amendments, I would like some of those gentlemen to possibly explain how they are going to live under this type of a setup, when the deficit is actually built right into the budget. I think the Governor has stated this a number of times. In looking over these figures, unless I see them wrong, I cannot understand how we can do otherwise than have this deficit when we return.

For one moment, I would just like to point out something to the gentlemen who represent the areas surrounding Philadelphia. There was a cut made, which I will talk about a little later, that not only affects the people living in our area, but it affects the people who live in the surrounding areas. I would be very happy to hear from Senator Probert, Senator Watkins and the gentleman from Bucks, Senator Keller, on how they expect their people to receive any services in our area with this cut being made. I hope that this was an oversight, and that this was something they did not actually intend to happen. They will suffer as badly, if not worse, as the people living in the Philadelphia area. However, I will address myself to that a little later on.

I would also like to point out to you that this $58,000,000 which you have cut from the budget is not an insignificant figure. It is one which I think will hurt all of us. There are other areas, for example, which will affect some of the Senators who are sitting on the other side. I believe you all well remember that I have called upon you a number of times and asked you to please let us know where these cuts could be made. For some reason or another, until this very day, we have received no answer to those questions or to those pleas, other than to finally give us this bill with the cuts already included in it.

I believe some of the Democratic Members sat with the Subcommittee of the Committee on Appropriations. I believe Senator Stevenson headed that committee. We asked him here on a number of occasions whether he would please advise us where these cuts were going to be made, and in what departments or what areas. We never received an answer to any of these questions. I think the record will bear me out that for the past three or four weeks, Senator Lane and I, and other Members from this side, pleaded with him to let us sit down with him and discuss this matter in order to find out where we are going. We never got so much as the courtesy of a reply. If this cut in the appropriations bill is the answer, and the cuts you have made in other areas such as the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority or redevelopment, I do not understand it. I hope before we leave here today, you will explain it to us to our satisfaction.

I assure you that the Members on this side are as much economy-minded as anyone in this Body. We have voted for the taxes which will supply the money for this. Many of these taxes were obnoxious to us and have never been a part of our program. However, there was no other place to go and there was no other choice on our part. Therefore, we have gone along with it.

Having provided some of these funds to do this job, I think to just summarily cut some of these areas and departments which are backing these programs comes in ill grace. I hope there is some good and logical reason for it. If there is not, I think the only thing we can possibly do to correct what is a bad situation here is to restore the cuts and admit that the error was made on your part. It was made probably by looking at this matter from a one-sided point of view and one which was not all-encompassing or covering the areas which should have been covered.

Before I yield to the next speaker, Mr. President, I would just like to say that you cannot equate human beings or human problems in dollars and cents. The best we can do to take care of some of this human misery is to try to allocate some money that will relieve some of the suffering and some of the pain that some of these people have. To summarily cut some of these programs and to summarily remove some of the problems that we have had in this Commonwealth and correct them by not taking into consideration the over-all picture, I think is doing this in a rather brutal and hardhearted manner.

To get back to the original department about which we were talking, the Auditor General's Department, when you have cut the department of Welfare as badly as you have cut it, and when you have cut the Department of Public Instruction almost twenty odd millions of dollars, and then to increase Auditor General's Department $200,000 when it does not deal with people and does not deal with particular service, it certainly is not in keeping with the economy that you have stated.

Of course, there have been those who have said, on other taxes, that they would pass them over their dead body. I hope that this is newspaper talk and not particularly what they have said. If they have been quoted correctly, I think the willingness to die in order not to pass a tax on people is a rather interesting phase. It is one which kind of escapes me a little bit, but maybe there is a reason for it. I certainly hope you can make it known here. The other aspect of it—to die in order to try to help people or go all out to do all you can for them—I think is certainly in keeping with helping people who, actually, are our greatest asset in this Commonwealth, far beyond anything that we know. This certainly would be more in line, rather than dying for a tax.

I think we have laid the burden pretty heavily on the consumer. The least we can do for the consumer and the little people in this Commonwealth, the average working guy and the people who are unable to take care of themselves, is to at least give them what measure we can of relief through the amount of money the Governor has asked for.

I would like to just point out one other thing to you before some of the other people here take up the amendments which they have to offer to this measure. The Governor, himself, cut everyone of these departments before he even set the amount down. The House has also cut some of these amounts and, therefore, there was no fat to begin with. The area in which you are cutting, I think, are tendencies to hurt people. I am sure you do not want to do this. If you do, I would like to know the reason for it in order for use to at least have on the record the purpose of these cuts and the areas they are taking in.

Mr. President, I would like to now yield to Senator Lane.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner, yields to the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, and Members of the Senate, I do not believe this is the place for demagoguery because we are at the crucial portion of this Session since we have come to the time when we must vote upon appropriation bills. I have never been satisfactorily informed by the Majority Party in regard to the increases in the Auditor General's budget. The members worked hard and diligently on this special subcommittee. We Democratic Members were ignored and excluded from the executive sessions.

I feel that the people of Pennsylvania are entitled to an explanation in regard to the increase in the Auditor General's budget.

Mr. President, I would like to interrogate some Member on the other side. I imagine Senator Kessler would like to answer my question. If so, I would be very happy to interrogate Senator Kessler.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Kessler, do you have your budget?

Mr. KESSLER. Yes, sir.

Mr. LANE. You will note that the Administration gave the Auditor General the sum of $578,250. In addition to that, on page 21, they allocated $3,199,051 for the operation. Could you explain to me, Senator Kessler, why the Senate increased the original allocation to $719,250, including the $3,199,051 on top of that?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, at the start, may I say the following, not in direct answer to Senator Lane's question, but to understand the whole problem of the Auditor General's Department:

There was an agreement, I believe, between the Administration and the Auditor General's Department early this year that the Auditor General, in doing the auditing work, would bill each department only for the actual amount of work performed, and when those bills are submitted they are reviewed by the Executive Board, which is made up, I believe, of the Governor and some of his staff, and only such amounts as they deemed valid would be approved. Consequently, the budget for the Auditor General, if you take the total, is in many cases very much of an estimate, the best estimate that they could arrive at. You will find the costs of the Auditor General's work scattered through the entire budget.

There are some costs that they could not allocate to specific departments, and that lump sum is shown in the budget, I believe as $578.20.

Just recently, we received word from the Auditor General that he would need $141,000 additional in order to do the remaining work in auditing the Firemen's Relief Association Funds. I understand that the total cost of that job is well over $250,000, and the practice in the past has been to charge that to what is known as a fund called County 68. It is the two per cent commission or premium on certain types of insurance which cannot be allocated to a specific county. The auditing costs were removed from that particular fund before the balance left was distributed to the various Firemen's Association Relief Funds. There is some question, I believe, as to the legality of doing that, and the Auditor General requested this additional amount for that purpose.

That is about all I can say on that subject.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, just to inform the public, I wish to advise that the auditing costs are charged against the budgets of the various departments in government. In other words, a portion of their budget will be paid over to the Auditor General of Pennsylvania.

In the 1957-1959 biennium, the Auditor General of Pennsylvania had a budget of $2,702,354. As of right now, and not counting the $141,000 additional which they add to this budget, the Auditor General now has a budget of $3,771,301.

Mr. President, I am speaking to the people of Pennsylvania. I believe you realize right here that although they have cut $58,000,000 from the administration of government, the Republicans have made doubly sure that the Auditor General is well supplied with additional funds. I believe it is political, Mr. President. As a matter of fact, all of us must think a little politically now and then. The Republican Party in Pennsylvania has gained many a major victory on the floor of this Senate. I believe, in all fairness, that the people of Pennsylvania should be given some consideration. Therefore, I say to you that I want to call to the attention of the public, as a whole, the problem that we have and the lush budget that the Auditor General of Pennsylvania has.

Mr. President, on behalf of the Members of this Senate on the Democratic side, I offer the following amendment and move its adoption.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment to Section 2.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2, page 4, line 5, by striking out "$719,250" and inserting: "$578,250."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. KESSLER. Speaking on the amendment, Mr. President, I would like to refresh the minds of the Members of the Senate who were here in 1957. The total budgeted amount requested by the Auditor General for the biennium of 1957-1959 was $4,626,000. Governor Leader cut that budget by $900,000, with the result that for the past two years, and I believe even up to the present time, you will find that employees of the Auditor General's Department are among the lowest paid employees of the State. They did not have the funds to make increases which were granted to other employees here on Capitol Hill.

If we are going to base this year's appropriation to the department on the ground that they had so much money in the previous biennium, regardless of what took place in the preceding biennium, then we are going to make a grievous error.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise us that if the amount in the budget, $578,250, was the exact amount that the Auditor General requested and which the Governor gave him, would he then agree that this is the figure that we should use, and not the other figure?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I have tried to explain that we have increased that amount by $141,000 to take care of the auditing of the Firemen's Association Relief Funds, which are now being taken from what is known as "Fund County 68," I believe.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise the Members of the Senate if he was present at the time the Auditor General appeared before the Senate Subcommittee on Appropriations?

Mr. KESSLER. I think I was present; yes sir.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise us whether at the time the Auditor General appeared before the subcommittee, he asked for this additional fund?

Mr. KESSLER. He did not, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman.

Mr. President, I believe by the gentleman's own admission, as a member of the subcommittee and also as Chairman of the Finance Committee and his great regard for the economies that the State might make, that it seems a little ill-advised to add on additional funds at a time when the gentleman who runs the department is not even asking for them. There appears to be no justification for this, when the head of the department does not ask for money and you give him additional money and he just so happens by coincidence to be a member of the same party as you are, and I think this certainly should be looked up with askance. I think if we truly want to have economy in government and the gentleman is sincere,—and I have no question that he is—he will vote for this amendment to restore it to the amount the head of the department, Mr. Smith, asked for, rather than give him this additional amount of money, which almost amounts to $200,000 which we can use in some other areas, such as our hospitals and our mental institutions.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler. I just have two questions.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Kessler, on this additional allocation which was requested by the Auditor General, could you advise the Members of the Senate as to whether or not the Governor's Office or the Office of Administration approved this additional appropriation?

Mr. KESSLER. I do not know whether they did or not. I cannot say.

Mr. LANE. Did the Auditor General approach you on this increased allocation?

Mr. KESSLER. One of his deputies did, yes.

Mr. LANE. I see. Thank you very much, Senator.

Mr. President, it is quite indicative to me that the Auditor General of Pennsylvania has no difficulty with the Budget Committee when it comes to additional funds. However, this same Budget Committee would cut $10,000,000 from Public Assistance without discussing the problem at all with that particular department.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LANE and Mr. DONOLOW and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—22

Barr,	Lane,	Mullin,	Sarraf,
Camel,	Mahady,	Murray,	Seyler,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Silver,
Donolow,	McGinnis,	Rooney,	Stiefel,
Hays,	McMenamin,	Ruth,	Weiner,
Kalman,	Miller,

NAYS—28

Berger,	Fleming,	Mallery,	Van Sant,
Blass,	Harney,	Pechan,	Wade,
Chapman,	Keller,	Probert,	Wagner,
Confair,	Kessler,	Scott,	Walker,
Ehrgood,	Koprivier, Jr.,	Shafer,	Watkins,
Elliott,	Kromer,	Stevenson,	Whalley,
Flack,	Madigan,	Taylor,	Wolfe,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I offer the following amendment, and ask that it be adopted.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment to Section 2.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2, page 45, line 9, by striking out "$7,004,272" and inserting: "$7,257,272".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, this amendment will restore to the State Police the $253,000 that was cut off in the General Fund, which cut-off will automatically take another $897,000 from the State Police that would come out of the Motor License Fund, making their actual cut $1,150,000.

On March 10, 1959, we voted with great gusto to give the State Police a $300 a year salary increase, and a one dollar a day subsistence increase.

We are actually giving them an increase of $4,272 a month more than they received two years ago. They spend less because they have 132 vacancies due to the austerity program and, because of that, they lapsed almost $1,900,000. On that figure, this Budget Committee wants to appropriate $7,004,272. However, at the same time, we offered and promised these men in our Platforms, both Parties, that we would give them a salary increase and an increase in their subsistence. The subsistence increase alone amounts to $1,400,000, and the additional 200 State Police that they are voting for would amount to another $1,350,000. Therefore, we are just simply shortchanging one of the strongest arms that we have in our State Government.

Just this week, we passed a bill which will require a great deal more work on their part. We have promised them a salary increase, and we are not appropriating the money. For that reason, I ask that this restoration be made, this additional $253,000, which would bring another $897,000 because twenty-two per cent of their money is allocated from the General Fund and seventy-eight per cent from the Motor License Fund. If we cut off $253,000 from the General Fund, we automatically cut off another $897,000 from the Motor License Fund.

I plead to restore this cut to the strongest arm of the State Government.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, when the Commissioner of the State Police and his assistant appeared before our subcommittee, they gave us a detailed outline as to the salaries of the members of the State Police.

Probably the people of Pennsylvania would like to know that a trooper receives, as base pay, $136.50 bi-monthly. In his second year, he receives $140.50; the third year, $144.50; the fourth year, $148.50; the fifth year, $152.50; and in his twenty-fifth year, if you please, a member of the State Police receives bi-monthly $183, plus the sum of $38.50 as subsistence.

When these gentlemen were before our committee, everyone on the committee had the greatest respect for the State Police of Pennsylvania and the job that they are attempting to do. At the same time, after they left and the executive meetings were held, they forgot about the State Police and their responsibilities, and they cut this budget to the bone. How in the world are we going to give them a raise? How are we going to increase the number of State Police with such a budget as this?

It seems to me that some of the gentlemen on the other side should take the floor and inform the people how they plan to do this.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentlemen from Clinton, Senator Stevenson.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Clinton, Mr. Stevenson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEVENSON. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise us, the the Chairman of the Subcommittee which sat in with the Appropriations Committee and heard the State Police, how they can give any raises by cutting the budget $253,000 from the amount which they asked for originally?

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, the State Police are given, out of the General Budget, an increase of $470,602 which will attract from the Department of Highways another seventy-eight per cent. That will be sufficient to give them their increased subsistence, and to carry on the State Police salary schedule as in the past.

This budget is predicated on the idea that there is no legislation, at the present time, that has been adopted which will increase the State Police by 200. If they are increased by 100, the budget will be so much, and if they are increased by 200, it will be that much more. However, this will bring the complement up to 1,900, and there will be ample money for them to carry on and to get their increases as requested by the State Police themselves.

The only question in abeyance here is as to whether or not the number of State Police shall be increased. Until that particular matter is settled by an Act of the General Assembly, these figures should stand.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise the Members of the Senate how he voted on that bill that came before us—I hope he will forgive me as I do not know the exact number and I do not have it at the moment—which increased the salary and subsistence for the present members of the State Police?

Mr. STEVENSON. I voted “aye,” as far as I can recall, and the money is here to take care of that.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, can the gentleman explain to us, in view of the statement made by the person who appeared on behalf of the State Police before the Appropriations Committee, where he feels we will get enough money, after having cut two hundred and some thousand dollars out of the budget, to provide for the salary increases? I believe the statement was made by the Commissioner and those people who were with him at the time, who had the statistics with them, that this was the exact amount of money they needed to meet this raise and to meet the general operating expenses of the State Police. Now having cut two hundred and some thousand dollars out of the budget, $253,000 to be exact, how are we going to meet this increase?

We have here the problem of this compensation increase bill passing the Senate, Senator, and, if you please, you voted for this. By the same token, at a later date, you cut out the very heart or part of this program by cutting out the money that will be necessary to do this job. I cannot follow this reasoning. I wish you would explain it to me and other Members of the Senate who may have the same difficulty that I am experiencing.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, this is a question of policy. The State Police stated at that hearing that they were short seventy-five police under the complement. They had fifty of them in Hershey who were prepared to go into service, and they had another twenty-five whom they planned to train. That has all been taken into consideration. Their increased subsistence has been taken into consideration and, also, their salary schedule. There is ample money in this bill to take care of them.

I still contend that the question has not been resolved by the Legislature as to the increase in the number of State Policemen and, perhaps, that is the argument that you are advancing.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentlemen please advise us regarding Senate Bill No. 118, sponsored by Senator Kromer and Senator Walker in February of this year, which is, as of September 14, 1959, in the Appropriations Committee of the House, having passed this Body? On page 4 of this bill, it is stated that the minimum subsistence allowance shall be $3.75, and that there shall also be an increase for everybody below the rank of major of $300 per annum over compensation received on the effective date of this amendment. When the Commissioner of Police appeared before the Appropriations Committee, I believe he very clearly stated that this was the minimum amount of money with which he could operate, and he was not taking this Senate Bill No. 118 into consideration because it had not been passed as yet.

You, sir, having voted for this measure which will become law when the money is provided for it,—it is over in the House now and it probably needs just one more reading because it passed First Reading on September 10, 1959, and was referred to the Appropriations Committee—how can you justify taking away the basic revenue they need to operate on the old basis and yet vote to give an increase to the people on the force now and not provide the money to do so?

My question to you, and to the rest of the members who have cut this budget, is how do you intend to do these two things and all of the inconsistent things?

Mr. STEVENSON. I still repeat, Mr. President, that this increase of $470,00, which is the General Fund portion of this budget, will attract sufficient money from the Motor License Fund to take care of these items. I have no fear that they will not have enough money. I repeat, again, that the one question involved here is as to whether we are going to increase the number of State Police.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman. I would like to state, in closing, that I think the answer to this question is a very simple one. It is, if you cannot meet the obligations you have now with the present personnel, how can you possibly add any more to it when the people who run it and who apparently know quite a good deal about it say they do not have enough money now to operate? You give them an increase, then cut money out so that you cannot even meet this increase, and then you would like to know if there are going to be more people on the force.

There is something about this type of reasoning that I do not quite follow, and it does not make sense to me. I feel that the inconsistency of taking away the basic money they need and then giving them an increase is so basic that I do not think we can even discuss whether there will be more or less State Police. My own impression would be that there should be fewer police in order to meet the payroll.

Mr. STEVENSON. I think you are absolutely wrong.

Mr. President, I think there is plenty of money here. However, if the General Assembly increases the number of State Police by 100 or 200, then some adjustment will have to be made. This allocation here is based primarily on the number of State Police, 1,900, and to take care of the seventy-five who were not on the force last year.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to delay this matter unduly. However, I would like to suggest to the gentleman, and other Members who might have the same line of thinking in regard to this subject, that I cannot see how we are going to adjust this matter, because this matter is now before us and I believe the fond hope is to pass this bill today and tomorrow and try to do what we can with it. Now if the force is increased, we may not be in Session to take care of this situation. I do not believe, Senator,—and I am sure that you are an advocate of running the State's business as you would any other kind of business—in hiring additional people whom you cannot pay if you cannot take care of the State Police who are now on the force in a proper manner.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, if the number of State Police is increased 100 or 200, that will have to be a supplement to the budget. We do not know whether the General Assembly is going to increase this number by 100 or 200. If it does, then there will have to be some adjustment made. However, you cannot sit here today and decide that the Legislature is going to add 200 more State Police and put the money in here today. We do not know what the General Assembly is going to do.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would just like to point out to the gentleman that there are now seventy-five vacancies. I believe that was testified to by the Commissioner of the State Police when he appeared before the Appropriations Committee. For the 1,825 men whom he had on his force at that time, he said this was not enough money.

I just fail to follow this specious argument. I do not understand it.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, may I add just a few more figures to the many that are floating around?

In the 1957-1959 biennium, the State Police lapsed a total of $2,627,813.36 in the Motor License Fund as well as the General Fund. At the present time, the State Police are under their complement by 166 men, thirty-three of whom are in military service. There was a real question in the minds of many of us who went over this budget as to whether it would be possible to recruit and train the number of men which had been indicated in the budget. That may be feasible, but we doubted it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I agree with the gentleman that there has been a lapse, but there was also a lapse in the Department of Health during the last biennium, because they did not have enough money to do the job nor to man all of the bureaus. As people who run a department properly, if they cannot do the job, the thing they must do is return the money. You can have even a greater lapse and get more money back if you cut down the number of people and they could not recruit any more. However, that does not mean that the Commonwealth's business is being accomplished or done in an efficient or an effective manner.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. KESSLER. I would like to ask the Minority Leader whether the $250,000, roughly, that we are taking out of the General Fund will result in a total cut for the State Police of about $1,000,000.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am not prepared to answer that question at this time. I would have to look at these figures. I do not want to just throw figures promiscuously around here without having given them some thought and some careful consideration.

If the gentleman is telling us that as a statement, I would like to say that I will agree on the statement as he makes it. I do not know whether it is true or not, unless he is prepared to tell us that.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, on page 139 of the Budget, under the Pennsylvania State Police, there is shown an item for Traffic Control proposed for 1959-1961 in the amount of $25,000,000. Last year, the amount allocated was $20,500,000.

I would like to ask the Minority Leader whether he agrees that this represents about a $5,000,000 increase for this biennium.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I think the arithmetic would indicate that that is correct.

Mr. KESSLER. Thank you very much.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LANE and Mr. DONOLOW and were as follows, viz:

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, on behalf of the Democratic Members of the Senate, I offer the following amendment, restoring the cuts to the Department of Internal Affairs. After the amendment is read, I would like to speak on this particular subject.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment to Section 2.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2, page 8, line 16, by striking out "$2,-092,285" and inserting: "$2,907,739".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am wondering just what the Majority Party does not want this department to do. They arbitrarily cut this budget a little over $800,000. Perhaps Senator Kessler can advise me, if he will, what they do not want the Department of Internal Affairs to do.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Kessler, in regard to these budget cuts, could you tell the people of Pennsylvania just what you do not want the Department of Internal Affairs to do?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, we would like to have the department carry on in the work which is being done there. I believe the budget, even with the reduction, will show an increase over the previous biennium of $223,358. Therefore, there should be money there to carry on the existing work.

Mr. LANE. Senator Kessler, at the time Miss Blatt appeared before our committee, do you recall that she had a number of programs which she would like to put over, especially this survey which, I think is partially completed? Did you cut that out of the budget?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, there were many new or expanded programs which were proposed. It was the feeling of most of us that since we had to make up a deficit of $141,000,000, this was no time to embark on new and expanded programs. Which ones they might be, specifically, I cannot say at this time.

Mr. LANE. Senator Kessler, I worked with you a long time and I know you pretty well. You surely went over this budget with a fine-tooth comb. There were certain phases in this budget which you cut to arrive at this figure. There is no question about that. I believe, in all fairness to Miss Blatt and to us and to the people of Pennsylvania, you should tell us where the cuts were made. That is all we want to know.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, the Budget Office preferred not to have line budgets, but rather total lump sum appropriations for departments. I am quite sure that for the Department of Internal Affairs, there is only one lump sum budget. I will have to check that in the appropriations bill. What the Department of Internal Affairs does with that money is up to Miss Blatt, I suppose, with advice from the Governor.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, that may be entirely true. However, you just do not go into a meeting to review fiscal affairs unless you review all phases of the operation of a department. At that time, you go over that budget and where you feel there is excess spending, you generally cut. I agree that Miss Blatt should have a lump sum with which to operate. However, what all of us would like to know is where these cuts came from. They must have come out of the sky. In looking at the appropriations bill, it says as follows:

"To the Department of Internal Affairs

"For the salaries wages and all necessary expenses for the proper administration of the Department of Internal Affairs as provided"—by certain acts—"and The Administrative Code of 1929 including maintenance of land records publicity and information statistical services municipal affairs and bond issues performance of duties," and so forth.

There are a number of functions which Miss Blatt operates in her department. Certainly some of these operations were cut in order to arrive at this total figure. All we want to know is what is wrong. What is it they do not want Miss Blatt to do? I still have not received an answer.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Erie, Senator Blass.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Blass, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BLASS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I wonder whether the gentleman would advise us, if I were to tell him that the Secretary of Internal Affairs, if she were allowed to make this Airborne Magnetometer Survey of the northwestern part of Pennsylvania,—and there is some indication that they now have—and if that survey dictates that there might be new deposits of gas, oil and other minerals of great value buried there, would he vote for this cut in this department?

Mr. BLASS. I am going to look into a matter pretty carefully before I vote on anything. I am not familiar with it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, from what the gentleman just told us, am I to assume then that he has not had an opportunity to look into this matter very carefully before he voted for the cuts?

If the gentleman would like to confer with his solicitor, Senator Ehrgood, I will be very happy to allow him the time to do so.

Mr. BLASS. Private industry, in my opinion, is doing that at the present time. I think it is probably doing a very satisfactory job. I do not see any reason for any governmental interference, if that is the case.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I wish to inform the gentleman that the Secretary has information that this job is not being done by private industry; that they will not undertake it or begin to consider it because of the vast amounts involved and of the nebulousness of the ability for them to obtain possession of this land after they discover the mineral wealth which might be there. For that reason, they have decided not to undertake this type of a program. If I were to advise the gentleman that there are such deposits and they could be very easily brought to the attention of the people living in his area, to provide new industry, would he then vote against the Secretary receiving the money for which she has asked?

Mr. BLASS. I would want to be very sure that I had such information before doing so.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise us how he is going to go about obtaining further assurances or further edification on this subject? The cuts are now in the budget and they will not be restored unless he, as one of the advocates for restoring them, particularly as it refers to his area, votes for it.

Mr. BLASS. I would not want to take the word of one individual before forming in my mind what is the right course to pursue. I would want to be satisfied that the facts were such that would warrant any government expenditure, when private industry would be amply sufficient to take care of the problem involved.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise the Members of this Senate what he did in this area before he went along on these cuts in the budget?

Mr. BLASS. I have not done anything individually. However, I have taken the assumption that those cuts were sufficient, under the circumstances, until such time as the facts warrant to do otherwise.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have too much regard for this gentleman as a lawyer, and a man who has dealt only with facts, to even believe that he would just take an assumption, without getting the facts. I would very respectfully suggest to him that he advise us if he is going to take any action to that we will know what action we have to take in getting the facts before us that we know how to properly vote, since it affects his area and his county.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President. However, I did not realize that this was the answer to the question I asked. If this is what the answer is, however, I will be glad to allow myself to be interrogated.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, will the Minority Leader inform me just what amount he plans that we could save by government expenditure, in the form of deposits?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would be very happy to advise the gentleman. If there are such deposits under the ground, you will not save any money, but you will gain money for your area by providing new industry and also by finding more and richer minerals. I believe this has been the very essence of our government.

I think one of the things we have been celebrating in this Commonwealth is the bicentennial of the founding of oil. I think that is not too far from where the gentleman lives. Therefore, I do not think it would be amiss to assume that maybe somewhere along the line, there might be some more of these deposits. Private industry has not seen fit to do anything about it and I feel this might be an area for the government to point the way, as we do in redevelopment, housing, and in our Authorities which we have set up to bring in new industry to Pennsylvania.

Mr. BLASS. Will you kindly inform me in what portion of my area these deposits are located, if you have that information?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to advise the gentleman that this is what I have been pleading with him to do. The Commonwealth will be very happy to point them out to him if he would only provide the money for it to do so. They already have the lead on some of this, but they lack the necessary funds to finish the job.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, would the Minority Leader inform us as to what these deposits contain and what the nature of the deposits is in this specific area?

Mr. WEINER. I will answer the gentleman's question by stating, as has been stated by the Secretary of Internal Affairs when she appeared before the Committee of Appropriations that the purpose of this is to spur further explorations for new deposits of oil, gas and other valuable minerals which now exist in that area, and which are available, if only the people had the proper guides to go by, which are these maps and these surveys and which no one has seen fit to make. They exist right in the gentleman's area.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, from what I have gathered, I have no specific information as to any deposits being there so far, neither oil, gas nor minerals. Until such time as some concrete evidence is produced I would be very loathe to authorize the expenditure of State funds for the purpose of exploration.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out to the gentleman that we are not asking to explore this or have explorations. We just want to give spur to these explorations. I think that the gentleman has heard of Colonel Drake, who was not a colonel until we made him a colonel. It was said there was no oil in the area of the county from which Senator Shafer comes until this gentleman drilled, and most people thought he was foolish to do so. This was the first finding of oil, which has made this State a great State as far as that mineral is concerned.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I have frequently said on the floor of this Senate that I do not believe the field of private enterprise should be invaded anymore than necessary by the government or by the State, and I stand on that premise.

The minute we become engaged in business that is purely the doctrine of private enterprise, we cease to be a democracy, and we don the robes of socialism. I am a very strong adherent of the Republican system of government, and upon that rock I will build my church.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I think the gentleman speaks very well, and I would like to ask him whether he would suggest, as a result of his speech, that we now tear down the port of Erie and the work done by the Federal Government in building up this great port.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I am very strongly an advocate of port development. I believe that the Port of Erie is destined to become one of the great ports along the St. Lawrence Seaway. I do not think we are going to suffer by any proposed cut. I think that is amply covered by the general increase to the Department of Forests and Waters of $7,000,000 over the preceding biennium. If the department is sufficiently interested and the State and the Governor are sufficiently interested, this port development will continue.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, might I remind the gentleman that it was the Federal Government which helped build this seaway that has made the Port of Erie a great port, and not any individual money, nor any private enterprise, but by general enterprise. May I point out to this gentleman one other thing? I did not mean to get into this area, and I am going to conclude with this.

I believe the Senator from Erie also voted for the bill that was properly known in this Senate as the "Development of Coal Bill." I think it was $150,000 that we allocated for the development of coal research, to be used for topping for roads. If this is not counter to the principles that he just advocated a few minutes ago, I may not have been listening very carefully to him. If he feels that we can do away with State-aid to different areas, I would be very happy to join him in striking out his area, if he thinks that is an improper place for State-aid to go.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I am always in favor of the appropriation of money for scientific research. I think the benefit of scientific research, and the knowledge gained therefrom, is going to be of great aid to private enterprise, because that is the answer.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, is the gentleman then telling us that he is in favor of State-aid to private enterprise? If that is the case, then why should he be opposed to the State making any kind of geodetic surveys, or any kind of surveys, that will bring industry into his or other areas of this State?

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I can answer that. I am certainly in favor of State-aid to private enterprise. However, I do not intend the State to go ahead and substitute itself for private enterprise and eliminate private enterprise from its proper operation.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LANE and Mr. DONOLOW, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—22

Barr,	Lane,	Mullin,	Sarraf,
Camiel,	Mahady,	Murray,	Seyler,

Elliott,	Kromer,	Stevenson,	Whalley,
Flack,	Madigan,	Taylor,	Wolfe,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. HAYS, Mr. President, before I offer my amendments, I am sure that the Dodger fans will be unhappy to know that the score is now 3-1, in favor of Milwaukee.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. We thank the Senator for that most discouraging news.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I now offer an amendment to House Bill No. 2326, Printer's No. 1704, and ask for its immediate consideration and adoption. I would then like to speak on the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2, page 9, line 12, by striking out "$6,337,600" and inserting: "$6,660,381".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, as a former farm boy, I must remind Senators Blass and Weiner that the real wealth of Pennsylvania is in the farms of Pennsylvania. Therefore, whenever we slice and cut the budget to direct and improve the lot of the farmer in Pennsylvania, we are not only adversely affecting those who work directly on the farm, but also indirectly affecting every citizen of the Commonwealth.

I rise to defend this amendment to restore in the budget the amount from $6,337,600 to $6,660,381. The difference between those figures was deducted by the Senate Appropriations Committee, a total of $462,250, which just happens to be, I believe, the identical amounts of two programs that it has been necessary for the State Government to take over from the Federal Government in August of this year. It seems like a strange coincidence, perhaps, that the exact deduction from this particular phase of the budget was the amount of these two additional programs.

I urge all of my colleagues to vote for the amendment.

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, I find on the sheet where the Republican Caucus has increased the Department of Agriculture by $924,190. I do not see where they find that we have not given them enough money.

I, too, am a farmer, raised with the corn stalks, of course. However, I do not see any place throughout the State of Pennsylvania where the farmers have winced to any extent. I think they have been very well taken care of, I know that the Republican Party has always stood behind them. Again, I say, we have given them that increase and I would like, at this time, to ask my colleagues to vote down this amendment.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not understand the increase of which the gentleman speaks. My understanding of an increase is when a bill has been passed by both Houses and is available to be enacted by the Governor and the money provided. The increases you speak of, Senator, I believe, are those that deal primarily with bills that have passed the Senate and which were not requested or asked for by the department in its original amount of money.

If I state this problem incorrectly, I am sure you will correct me. However, you originally cut the budget by approximately three hundred and some thousand dollars on administrative expenses. Then you added fees for veterinarians for certain tests of $170,000. You also added for maintenance of the calfhood vaccination program in the control and eradication of brucellosis the amount of $292,250. By the same token, you cut the $150,000 for emergency projects in connection with hoof and mouth disease, grasshopper control or any other thing that might come up, by half, down to $75,000.

You gentlemen well know if the money that you provide is not used, if there is no emergency—and we hope that it is never used in this Commonwealth—it is always returned and lapsed.

You have also cut out the $50,000 for making grants to agricultural organizations for promotion of Pennsylvania products, which was in both the Democratic and the Republican Platforms. I will say, if you will forgive me for adding a note of politics here, that it was a little bit more specific in our Platform than it was in yours. You have given no money at all for that. There was $50,000 allocated, and you cut that out completely.

How you have added money to the budget by this type of addition and subtraction escapes me completely. I think this is sort of a form of sophistry when you try to make logical the increases you have made when, actually, you have cut the amount that is due.

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, we have taken out the marketing of farm products. We realize that. The farmers do not want it. We have taken that out. We realize that. We also have reduced, perhaps, in other places. We feel that we have still given them plenty of money in the Department of Agriculture to carry out the necessary programs, over and above what they had in the last biennium. I can see no reason why, as money is today, we should go above the amount that we have stated in the budget.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson, Senator Kromer.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Kromer, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KROMER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Senator Kromer, would you please advise the Members of the Senate which farmer it was who came and stated to the committee, the Senate, either one of the Houses or to the Governor, if such is the fact, that they did not want any money to promote Pennsylvania agricultural products?

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, I was not at a meeting where a farmer came by and asked that particular question. However, I have letters here stating that.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise us who these letters are from, and what their purpose is in not advertising Pennsylvania agricultural products?

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, the letters are from the Pennsylvania Farmers Association and many other organizations throughout the State.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, did the gentleman contact the people who wrote him these letters? Can he tell us, from his own knowledge, other than these letters which any organization or group might decide to print for purposes best known to themselves, why they did not want Pennsylvania products advertised or at least set up in such a vein that most people across this Nation—not only in the Commonwealth—would know of their existence and the part they play in our economy?

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, I did not contact anyone after I received, in writing, statements such as I have here.

Mr. WEINER. I want to thank the gentleman, Mr. President.

I would like to point out that it certainly is in bad taste I think, and forgive me for using this term in connection with apples. However, when you go across Pennsylvania, you find Washington apples and right down in Adams County, I think we have some of the finest apples grown in this country. with little or no recognition being given to that product.

I think Maryland turkeys have become as well known. Washington State apples have also received the same type of commendation because of the money spent in advertising their products. I do not understand why we, as Pennsylvanians, feel that we must hide some of the better points that we can make, and also some of our products that are available to the general public.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Will you tell the Senate how much more has been appropriated to the Department of Agriculture in this bill, including the reductions made by the Senate over the amount appropriated and spent in the 1957-1959 biennium?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the amount requested by the Department of Agriculture was $6,660,381, that amount being just administrative expenses. This was reduced by the Senate to $6,337,600. If my arithmetic is somewhat correct, that is a cut of close to $300,000.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, is the gentleman's answer responsive to the question which I gave as to how much money is represented in the figure in this appropriation bill that was appropriated to and spent by the Department of Agriculture in the 1957-1959 biennium?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if I did not answer the gentleman's question correctly, I did not do it deliberately.

In the 1957-1959 biennium, the appropriation was $7,131,000. I believe that is the correct amount. The Governor, for the 1959-1961 biennium, has recommended $7,778,381.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, to put it more simply, will the gentleman agree that the amount stated in the appropriation to the Department of Agriculture for general purposes—animal industry, food regulation, testing milk sanitation, marketing activities, farm show operations, plant industries, soil conservation and Auditor General's cost—aggregates $924,190 more than was appropriated and spent by the department in the previous biennium?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, before I can answer the question, would the gentleman clarify it for me?

Mr. BERGER. Very simply, Mr. President. I asked how much more was represented in the appropriations to the Department of Agriculture, as stated in House Bill No. 2326, Printer's No. 1704. How much more is made available to the department for all its activities, including marketing activities, farm show, et cetera, than was appropriated and spent by that department in the 1957-1959 biennium?

Mr. WEINER. I would say approximately $72,000. However, I would like to answer that in this vein: Is the gentleman also including in that the money which was actually cut out, the $50,000 which was allocated in the original request for promotion of our farm products?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, is that the gentleman's answer?

Mr. WEINER. Yes, sir.

Mr. BERGER. I thank the gentleman, Mr. President. And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAYS and Mr. WEINER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—22

Barr,	Lane,	Mullin,	Sarra,
Camel,	Mahady,	Murray,	Seyler,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Silver,
Donolow,	McGinnis,	Rooney,	Stiefel,
Hays,	McMenamin,	Ruth,	Weiner,
Kalman,	Miller,

NAYS—28

Berger,	Fleming,	Mallery,	Van Sant,
Blass,	Harney,	Pechan,	Wade,

Ehrgood,	Koprivier, Jr.,	Shafer,	Watkins,
Elliott,	Kromer,	Stevenson,	Whalley,
Flack,	Madigan,	Taylor,	Wolfe,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I offer a second amendment to House Bill No. 2326, and ask for its immediate consideration and adoption.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment to Section 2.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2, page 10, line 5, by striking out "$75,000" and inserting: "$150,000".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, this has been fairly well discussed in the general discussion of the first amendment. However, I just want to point out that it was the judgment of the Secretary of Agriculture that $150,000 was necessary for an emergency fund, to take care of emergencies in animal diseases and plant diseases which might strike this Commonwealth. This amount has now been cut exactly in half.

I, therefore, urge my colleagues to vote for this amendment.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to make one thing clear regarding the questions and answers posed by Senator Berger and myself.

It is true that $72,000 has been added over the amount requested in the last biennium. However, in the over-all picture, which was sort of a job that could not be done in the vein which they were hoping for, the actual cut that has been made on the amount requested is over $300,000. Therefore, I think the record should be clear on that aspect. In the exchange, that may have been lost.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would not want the record to be at all obscure.

Therefore, Mr. President, I wish to state for the record that the amount of the appropriation, as put into the bill by the Senate Committee, is $924,190 more than was appropriated to the department in the 1957-1959 biennium.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAYS and Mr. WEINER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—22

Barr,	Lane,	Mullin,	Sarra,
Camel,	Mahady,	Murray,	Seyler,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Silvert,
Donolow,	McGinnis,	Rooney,	Stiefel,

Elliott,	Kromer,	Stevenson,	Whalley,
Flack,	Madigan,	Taylor,	Wolfe,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I offer an amendment to House Bill No. 2326, and ask for its immediate consideration and adoption.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment to Section 2.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2, page 10, by inserting after line 17: "For making grants to agricultural organizations for promotion of Pennsylvania agricultural products50,000".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, this also has been discussed briefly. This is the proposed marketing promotion program.

I was not a member of the Platform Committee of either of the political parties last fall. However, I believe that representative farmers and farm groups did appear before the Platform Committees of both political parties and urged this kind of a plank in the Party Platforms. I believe such a plank did appear in both Party Platforms.

I urge my colleagues to vote for this amendment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAYS and Mr. WEINER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—22

Barr,	Lane,	Mullin,	Sarra,
Camel,	Mahady,	Murray,	Seyler,

Elliott,	Kromer,	Stevenson,	Whalley,
Flack,	Madigan,	Taylor,	Wolfe,

So the question was determined in the negative.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I wonder, at this time, whether the Chair might request one of the more athletically inclined Senators to make a report as to the result or the progress of the baseball game.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, the score stands at 3-1.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I might say that this is the final amendment in this series, in case people are getting uneasy. It has to do with the agricultural section.

Mr. President, I offer the following amendment to House Bill No. 2326 and ask for its immediate consideration and adoption.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2, page 11, line 19, by striking out "30,000" and inserting: "40,000."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, you can see that this is a cut of $10,000 and has to do with the important barberry eradication program in the Commonwealth. In effect, this cut of $10,000 will impede this important work in the grain-growing counties much more than it appears on the surface. In addition to the $10,000 which the Commonwealth provides, I understand county governments provide another $10,000 and the Federal Government provides about $20,000. Therefore, you can see that the deletion of this $10,000 has the net effect of deleting about $40,000 to a program which, I am sure, men who represent grain-growing counties will admit is an important program.

Mr. President. I urge my colleagues to vote for this amendment.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I might point out to the Members of the Senate on this item that the request in the Governor's budget was only $30,000 for this program.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, would the gentleman please repeat his statement?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, my statement was that the request of the Governor, in the budget for this item was only $30,000, if I am not mistaken.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAYS and Mr. WEINER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—22

Barr,	Lane,	Mullin,	Sarra,

Elliott,	Kromer,	Stevenson,	Whalley,
Flack,	Madigan,	Taylor,	Wolfe,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. MURRAY. Mr. President, I desire to offer an amendment to House Bill No. 2326, and ask for its immediate consideration and adoption.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment to Section 2.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 2, page 23, line 18, by striking out "3,513,229" and inserting: "3,616,935."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. MURRAY. Mr. President, this amendment deals with the abandoned coal mine services which amount has been reduced by $103,706. The use of this fund has been expanded so that it now includes three separate items; namely, the sealing of abandoned coal mines, extinguishing of fires in abandoned coal mines and flushing the mine voids in abandoned coal mines where danger of subsidence may be eminent.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, just today, several homes have been damaged by subsidence in the city of Wilkes-Barre. A member of the House, from the Seventh Legislative District of Luzerne County, came over to see me this afternoon and met with Senator Flack and myself. This is a very dangerous situation in Luzerne County. It not only applies to my Senatorial District, but it also is a very serious problem in Senator Flack's District.

The Department of Mines and Mineral Industries has requested $1,203,706 to perform services in the anthracite and bituminous coal regions, under the above-described categories. This is very limited in comparison to the amount which could actually be spent to offer assistance in all areas where abandoned coal mines should be sealed or dewatered.

Mr. President and Member of the Senate, this is a very serious problem. It affects schools, churches and many buildings in the anthracite area. It is more serious there than in the bituminous area. The coal regions are depressed areas and the residents need assistance to prevent their homes from being caved-in by subsidence. Fires from mines undermine homes. Injurious effects from obnoxious gases from banks or mine fires, unemployment caused by flooded mines, and water supplies and streams being polluted by acid mine water are all serious problems. The Department of Mines and Mineral Industries, during the last two years, has advertised all of these projects in newspapers. Sealed bid proposals were received and the contract was then awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. The records in the department prove conclusively that we obtained proper value for each dollar of State funds expended.

Therefore, Mr. President, I strongly recommend for your consideration the approval of this amendment and ask the Members on both sides of the aisle to vote "aye" on it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne, Senator Murray.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Murray, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MURRAY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, will the gentleman inform the senate of the amount of the increase in the present appropriation bill over the amount appropriated to and spent by the department in the 1957-1959 biennium?

Mr. MURRAY. Mr. President, $679,522.

Mr. BERGER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. President, I would like to point out, very briefly, that the remarks of the gentleman as to the necessity of taking care of this mine program in his area and in other areas of the State is well apparent. I also want to further point out that there is nothing in this appropriation bill that designates any specific sum for that activity, or any other activity in the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries, excepting the grants for research in the department by the Coal Research Board.

Mr. President, there is no reason in the world why this additional amount of money appropriated to the department, of $679,000 and upward, may not and should not allow the department to conduct a very excellent program to take care of that very, very serious situation in those areas.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to advise the gentleman who just spoke, the Majority Leader, that I have been advised by the head of the department, the Secretary of Mines and Mineral Industries, who was before our Caucus today when we went over these figures, that this cut in the amount that he is asking will mean that he will have to curtail, if not completely wipe out, these activities.

Also regarding these figures that we keep hearing are larger than the last biennium, might I respectfully point out to the gentleman that the reason for them is twofold? No one stands still. Even a business continues to have overhead. Even though there are lapses by these departments, it is because the deficit has been growing. You are now punishing these departments for trying to run their business on a basis where there are no deficits, when they are trying to meet some of the enactments of the Legislature and keep within their budgets at the same time.

We have always heard speeches here that the department heads—and this is true regardless of the Administration that has been in power—always overstep themselves or overreach themselves and, for that reason, we must keep a close eye on them. There is no question in my mind that I wish we could cut down on the amount of money that we are allocating to these different departments. However, that is just not possible. You and I cannot purchase the same services, the same goods, or anything that is equal to the same amount as in the past. All these things go up. The value of the dollar is not what it was. These departments are just as hard hit as we are personally. I think the fact that we are giving them a little bit more than they received last biennium certainly is no indication that they are getting what is adequate to carry out their programs because, perhaps, they may have to undertake other programs which they never envisioned at one time.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I think it is obvious that it was recognized that these departments and their activities should go forward when the committee saw fit to increase the amount of the appropriation by over $600,000.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I draw to the attention of the Majority Leader the fact that every department is divided into subdivisions, and in some subdivisions they press each of those subdivisions to save money. At the end of the year, some subdivisions have money left.

I do not know much about figures and I do not pretend to be, shall I say, a magician of figures such as I have heard here this afternoon. Many of the magicians have played with these figures as they would play an organ. All I know is that these are human beings and human people.

I want to say this to you. One hour before this Session began, one of Senator Flack's Representatives came to the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries and then he came down to talk to several of us here. He said, "Two houses have subsided into the mines. This happened in my District and when there is no money left to take care of them, what can be done? Can you put it into the budget for us?" The answer is that we are trying to do so.

This man is a Republican Representative and we do not look at people as Republicans or Democrats. We look at them for their needs.

I asked for the record as to what this money was used for and they showed me a picture of a schoolyard where a hole existed for children to fall into. I take the record and read from it:

Here is a project in Fayette County. It is a danger to children. They filled in one in Mercer County. They filled one in in Butler County. They filled in another in Fayette County. Here is one in Somerset County. Here is one in Armstrong County. Here is another in Somerset. Here is another in Fayette County. Here is another in Somerset County. Here is one in Cambria County. Here is one in Centre County. Here is one in Westmoreland County, and one in Indiana County. Here is one in Clearfield County. Here is another in Cambria County. Here is one in Washington County. All of these projects were for the protection of children.

Now I say to you Senators who come from the areas where coal mines exist, this appropriation is necessary for the safety of not only the children, but the houses and for the reconstruction that is done and even for the safety of the highways. Where these mines and strip mines are abandoned, they are often adjacent to highways and endanger the life and limbs of those using the highways.

One of the Senators from the other side of the Chamber said the other day that where people are concerned, we should not count the cost. I would draw his attention to this and ask him to vote for this bill.

I would say to you, on the amendments to this bill, that in this specific instance we are not talking about what was not done by one of the other arms of the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries. I say to you that money is necessary for this program. When Jimmie Jump, a Republican Representative, says, "We need money and more money in our District," I will take his word for it. He is not only my colleague but he is a Member of the Republican Party.

I know that you hold caucuses and decide ahead of time how you are going to vote but, for once in your lives, listen to an appeal, vote differently, and vote your conscience.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, yesterday I received a telegram from one of the outstanding men in my county, Mr. John Ghizzoni, President of District No. 2, United Mine Workers of America, informing me that the Senate of Pennsylvania took action cutting the appropriation for the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries by $253,706, which included $150,000 for coal research and $103,706 for mine sealing. This is a very important matter to me and I was immediately disturbed, as were several other Senators from our soft coal regions.

We went up to see Mr. Kennedy, for whom I entertain the highest regard and I think he is one of the finest Cabinet Members we have ever had on Capitol Hill. We talked to Mr. Kennedy about this matter and he said that was it. We came down and had quite a round in our Caucus about it. We went over the bill we are discussing now, to which an amendment has been offered. We found that this is not a line budget, setting up so much for this and so much for that, but that it is a lump budget. Furthermore, we found that the $150,000, allegedly taken from coal research, certainly was not taken by the Senate but by joint action of the House and Senate some months ago when we met with leaders of both houses and discussed the utilization of coal as a road building material. At that meeting, it was agreed that the $150,000 which they needed for a pilot plant was to come from this fund in the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries.

If any cutting was done, it was not done now or recently. It was cut months ago. However, the argument gets back to this. Coal is one of the important industries in Pennsylvania and in my county of Cambria, it is one of the most important industries. Therefore, I am always quick to comment upon anything which interferes with or prevents the exploitation of this coal with the greatest amount of safety to those wonderful people who go into the pits and produce this valued mineral.

Nevertheless, we have got to be realistic. The fact remains, and we cannot duck out of it, that the appropriation suggested does give the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries $679,522 more than they were able to spend in the last biennium.

All of these things, of course, are good things. It would be fine if we could give them many more. I believe if we were to remember the $141,000,000 deficit and if we did not have that to begin with, many things could be done. Many taxes could be relieved. This is a time of austerity. This is a time when we have got to tighten our belts. I do not think anyone is being hurt when they are given over one-half million dollars more than they were able to spend in the biennium just concluded.

I think that it is high time we begin to be realistic in these problems and not be dogmatic. We ought to think of Pennsylvania as a whole. For that reason, my position changed materially when I examined the bill and found that it was not a line budget bill. It is a lump budget bill, brought on, I am told, by an opinion of the Attorney General that the departments in Pennsylvania do not need to follow a line budget. They can transfer these funds from one fund to another. If that is true, then, of course, there is no reason for having a line budget. If you had a line budget, there might be some screaming when you are taking from this or you are taking from that, or there is no taking at all.

The Secretary of Mines and Mineral Industries has over $600,000 more to operate in the next two years than he had in the last. Certainly, no one can scream when we have that picture presented fairly and truthfully.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to correct this gentleman's misimpression and point out one of the reasons why we have this deficit. In the line of deficits,—or perhaps I should say out of line—this was a lot less than most of the other deficits experienced. The Federal Government experienced a deficit of almost $12,000,000,000.

in this same year. I would respectfully suggest to this gentleman that if he will study the budget of the previous biennium, he will find that these drastic cuts, which were made here in the same manner these are being made, caused an imbalance of the budget then.

The fact that you are giving X number of dollars more than you did last biennium is saying that you gave nothing the last time and we are now going to give you two cents more than you got before. That sounds all right when you say it real quickly, the way you are saying it, but that is why this imbalance is resulting. However, suppose we took this imbalance and proportioned it into your area, Senator, and some of the other areas. I think you would be a little unhappy with the final result. I think, also, Senator, coming from the area that you do, where some of these problems are really serious, and being partially depressed, this might hurt you more seriously than it would some of the other areas in the State.

This may sound good when you speak at meetings and things of that type, but it is not borne out by the facts.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, we are not talking about pennies when we are speaking of these figures. I call to the attention of all Members of the Senate, and those gathered here today, that we have increased the money available to operate the government by $171,666,801. If that is not a considerable sum of money, I just do not know what it would be.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I am sorry to disagree with my good friend, Senator Walker, but, unfortunately, I do not think he read this budget or he would know that coal research is a line item, and I am going to amend it next. The amendment under consideration does not take in anything about which he is speaking. We are talking about mine sealing, the putting out of fires and the protection of schools and highways where people's homes have gone into the mines.

Let me say to you that the figure he gave on the amount they increased the budget did not include the twenty-seven and one-half million dollars that he voted for here in this Senate, and which passed this Senate. Add that to it, Senator Walker, and you will have the real figure. If we are going to talk facts, let us talk facts.

The reason we can allay and say this amount was taken out, despite a line budget, is that it equals that program. It is the only place it could come from. I think the secret meetings that were held, not bipartisan or in committee but by yourselves, for weeks, failed to have you say, "We cut it this much for this reason." When I deal with men, I usually say to them, "I did this, and this is the reason I did it." I never got arrogant enough to say, "I did it, you will like it and I will not tell you why." I have never met the arrogance that I have seen here today, where they say, "We cut it and we will not tell you what we cut. We just cut it." Either they are taking it out of thin air or they are afraid to say. If you are men, you will stand up and say, "This is what we cut out of your budget. This is from where we expect to take it."

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I assume that my esteemed colleague from Westmoreland County is referring to page 24 of House Bill No. 2326, Printer's No. 1704, which does contain a line of $525,000.

Mr. MAHADY. I beg your pardon, that is what I intend to increase it to. It is $375,000.

Mr. WALKER. I thought I had made it crystal clear at the meeting attended by the leaders of both parties in the office of the Majority Leader of the Senate, at which I am sure both parties were amply represented. The discussion was, "What shall we do to help the sick coal industry?" We reasoned together. The Curtiss-Wright people wanted us to give them some money. We would not give money to any individual corporation. We said that we would go along on any worth-while effort to increase the use of coal. In fact, there was a—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman yield for just a moment, please?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, the next amendment has to do with research, not this one.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Mahady, will state it.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, the point of order is that the argument is not germane to the question.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair must agree with the gentleman from Westmoreland that we are not discussing, at the present time, an amendment dealing with coal research, but we are dealing with the other situation.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I have listened quite attentively to what the gentleman from Cambria had to say. However, if he will look on page 23 in regard to the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries, the budget provides for the following, and I would like the gentleman to listen to what I say:

"For salaries wages and all necessary expenses for the proper administration of the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries as provided in the acts" and so on and so forth, "and The Administrative Code of 1929 including regulation of bituminous open-pit mining care of injured mine workers abandoned coal mine services anthracite mine drainage administration regulation of gas operations and well drilling and Auditor General's costs", too, if you please.

That budget was cut, and no matter how he talks on this floor, he is voting against the injured coal miner in the bituminous areas of western Pennsylvania. I am surprised that he takes that position, because I, too, come from the coal mining area. I realize the seriousness of this operation. I realize that we must have a very efficient men in charge of the operation of the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries.

As a matter of fact, in our Caucus just yesterday, I fought for and had approved the increase in salaries for mine inspectors. However, I must say that the sponsor of the legislation has repeatedly voted against all of these amendments here today.

This is serious business. This means the lives of men who go down into the bowels of the earth to bring out this bituminous coal. I have seen many, many explosions in my time. I visited them. A few years ago, there was a terrible explosion in Mather. It was due to the fact that there was not proper inspection.

Not long ago, we had the same thing in Marianna. I would never vote against a cut in the administration of the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries to take care of the lives of those men who go down there and earn their living in the coal mines.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAYS and Mr. LANE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—22

Barr,	Lane,	Mullin,	Sarra,
Camel,	Mahady,	Murray,	Seyler,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Silvert,
Donolow,	McGinnis,	Rooney,	Stiefel,
Hays,	McMenamin,	Ruth,	Weiner,
Kalman,	Miller,

NAYS—28

Berger,	Fleming,	Mallery,	Van Sant,
Blass,	Harney,	Pechan,	Wade,
Chapman,	Keller,	Propert,	Wagner,

Ehrgood,	Koprivier, Jr.,	Shafer,	Watkins,
Elliott,	Kromer,	Stevenson,	Whalley,
Flack,	Madigan,	Taylor,	Wolfe,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I rise to present the following agreement to House Bill No. 2326, and ask that it be adopted.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment to Section 2.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 2, page 24, line 3, by striking out "$375,000" and inserting: "$525,000."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, this amendment affects the matter on which Senator Walker has already talked. This amendment has to do with the line item on the coal research program.

As everyone who is familiar with coal knows, it has seen dark days. Some people have the attitude that coal is a thing of yesterday. There are 5,000,000,000 tons of anthracite coal in the ground in Pennsylvania, and 30,000,000,000 tons of bituminous coal. Let us take it at $10 per ton. Let us assume the market fell out from under and it went down to $10. That would give you $50,000,000,000 of anthracite that you are talking about and $300,000,000,000 of bituminous.

We are saying to you that the maximum of research must be done in order that this Commonwealth may again grow great. This Commonwealth grew great on coal. It has not fallen to second place, but to third place in the United States. For this coal research program, in order to find other uses for coal and to provide more jobs—yes, even to provide more taxes, which is important—we say to you this amendment on research for coal should be adopted.

If we look over the many types of research that are now going on, we realize there are some twelve of them, where staffs have been assembled, and these staffs are hard to get because they are trained, technical people.

If you decrease these staffs, you have indeed lost something. You cut right into the middle of research that has been done, and all that has been spent before is again lost.

I draw your attention to the fact that Pennsylvania State University, Carnegie Tech, the institute in the east and the institute in the west, are both doing great work. However, without a full complement of the total amount of this money, coal in the future will not be the great asset that it might be. Its future lies in your hands.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I guess we are now back in order and on the beam.

I will repeat what I said before. The original $525,000 was not cut by the Senate Appropriations Committee or even suggested. It was taken out months ago at a meeting, in which both the Democrats and the Republicans agreed that the money should be used for coal research. It was so applied and the bill passed. It is not a matter of cutting now. The money they had, we agreed, should be used in this fashion for research. I am for research in any fashion. That is why I specifically came in early to attend the meeting. I am vitally interested in finding new uses for coal, as is I believe every other Senator from coal producing areas. Certainly, this is the wrong slant to place on a bill. The bill has $525,000 less than was previously appropriated for coal research.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I draw to the gentleman's attention that the $150,000 bill was another business entirely. That is research for roads. I am talking about research on coal ignitability, the aromatic fractions, the sulfonation, the sulfur reduction, the atomic radiation and the various other coal blendings, and grindability; the anthracite minerology experiment, the ash reduction experiment, the anthracite particle behavior experiment, the anthracite decrepitation and the powdered fuels, which are considered the fuels of the future, and the fuel cells. They say that the by-products of coal are limitless. We think we have many today, but with atomic power and the breaking down of the fuel cells, as we break down an item, this millions and billions of dollars that we have in the ground will become prosperity for our people.

Why should we limit the fact and say to our people, "We are experimenting with roads.?"

As I recall, I voted for that bill. However, If I thought, by voting for that bill, I was cutting off all the rest of the research, I would not have voted for it. I wanted that it addition to what we have already been doing and which must be pursued.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LANE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I just have one question to ask of Senator Lane.

Senator Lane, was it your opinion, when you voted and I voted for the bill which appropriated the $150,000 to the Coal Research Board for the purpose of determining a new use for coal as a road building material, that you were not voting for coal research?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, we were voting for experimental purposes on the use of a by-product which was already produced by Curtiss-Wright. That is not coal research. As I define research, it is trying to do something with a product which has not been done before, or something along that particular line. In this particular case, Curtiss-Wright had completed the research. As a matter of fact, it is in operation now down in Kentucky. This was given to the Department of Highways for the purpose of experimenting with the road material. It was not research.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am sure the gentleman did not mean that the money was appropriated or given to the Department of Highways. I know that he recalls it was specifically appropriated to the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries for use by the Coal Research Board.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, that was for the Department of Highways.

Mr. BERGER. No.

Mr. LANE. Yes, Mr. President. It was given to the Department of Mines, but—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman yield for a minute? The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

Does the gentleman wish to further interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane?

Mr. BERGER. No, Mr. President. I believe the gentleman has answered my question. I do, however, wish to be recognized after he has completed his answer.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. You may proceed, Senator Berger.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I call attention to the title of House Bill No. 1723, which is as follows:

"An Act

"Making an appropriation to the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries to be used by the Coal Research Board for research and development of a process for the use of coal for road building material and other uses and purposes."

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would say a rose is a rose by any name. As a matter of fact, if we needed so much research, then the people in Kentucky would not have already signed a contract. That is quite obvious.

I believe that the cutting of this research budget is going to hamstring the operations of Penn State. As a matter of fact, when we had the budget hearings—and I believe the Members here who attended the hearings will bear me out in what I say—the Secretary of Mines was quite emphatic when he said that they needed this money in order to continue on. If they did not have the money, it would certainly retard the work that has already been done. I might also say that I was just a little critical and said that I wanted to see something tangible. I believe the Secretary of Mines said that in all probability there would be something tangible within the very near future. However, he did not have the facts.

Getting back to Senator Berger's statement, Mr. President, it seems to me that we do not need too much research on a by-product which has already been produced and already in operation in another State.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MAHADY and Mr. SEYLER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—22

Barr,	Lane,	Mullin,	Sarraf,
Camiel,	Mahady,	Murray,	Seyler,

DiSilvestro,
Donolow,
Hays,
Kalman,

McCreesh,
McGinnis,
McMenamin,
Miller,

Ripp,
Rooney,

Mallery,
Pechan,
Probert,
Scott,
Shafer,
Stevenson,
Taylor,

Van Sant,
Wade,
Wagner,
Walker,
Watkins,
Whalley,
Wolfe,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, it has been agreed by the Democratic Minority and the Republican Majority that amendments to this bill under discussion may be offered on Third Reading. Therefore, if the bill passes here on Second Reading and is moved up to Third Reading, it will be in position to be sent over to the House and we may continue this tomorrow.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth sections and title were read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LAMB asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, on behalf of the members of my family and myself I wish to thank the Members of the House, and especially the Allegheny County Democratic delegation, for the very wonderful tribute that was paid to my father, and thank you for the very fine floral tribute sent by the House and also by the Members of the Allegheny County delegation. It was quite wonderful of the Members, and I appreciate it and my family does also.

Thank you very much.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mrs. VARALLO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, as Chairman of the Columbus Day celebrations for Pennsylvania, to which I was appointed by Governor David L. Lawrence upon his signing of the Proclamation for its observance on October 12, I am working with the National Citizens' Committee for Columbus Day Activities. This committee is composed of United States senators, representatives, governors and important officials in radio, television and press throughout our fifty states.

The objective of the National Citizens' Committee for Columbus Day is to promote year around inter-American friendship projects, to build a massive program of communication between Americans and the citizens of other lands; to establish lasting two-way relationships from which international friendship and understanding grow.

This continent has been an inspiration to the peoples of the world since the discovery of America over 460 years ago. This new world has offered from the beginning an opportunity for all peoples to seek and achieve a more useful life because our country was founded on the belief that spiritual faith, initiative, courage, and the rights of the individuals are supreme.

During the last fifty years, people have realized that the destiny of the world was in America's hands; that America was composed of men from the mold of Columbus; men who questioned, dared, and dreamed; men who had the courage to translate their dreams into noble action for the benefit of all mankind. With the advance of modern technology moving forward with stunning rapidity, human relations are struggling to keep pace with the times, and the jet age is bringing nations closer together and demanding increased communications between people.

Because there is so much unrest in the world today, especially in the Latin Americas, where our neighbors feel so strongly the surge for freedom, it is my hope that the symbol of Columbus and the theme "Americans All Working Together," may be a significant factor in establishing closer ties between the peoples of the Americas.

May I call your attention to the state-wide Columbus Day observances in Pennsylvania.

The 1958 Columbus Day celebrations were, in my opinion, the most magnificent, collective effort commemorating the discovery of the Americas in the history of the state, if not in the entire nation. The success of the Pennsylvania Committee, which was composed of all mayors throughout the state, was due to the efforts and work put forth by many Italo-American and patriotic societies which have helped to keep alive the name of that great navigator, Christopher Columbus. There were parades, luncheons, dinners, statue unveilings, and other types of ceremonies held across the state. Philadelphia and Pittsburgh had two of the largest celebrations. Philadelphia had a five-hour parade, crowning of Queen of the Day, awarding of scholarships, dinners and other ceremonies. All of these festivities throughout the state were climaxed by an essay contest conducted in over 2,000 public, private and parochial schools. The subject was "What Columbus Day means to Me." More than 5,000 essays were submitted. Judge Alessandrone, Philadelphia, was Chairman of the panel of judges, which consisted of the following other distinguished members: Robert M. Urbani, Trustee of West Chester State Teachers College; Nolan F. Ziegler, Mayor of the city of Harrisburg; Dr. Robert A. Lodge, Department of English, University of Scranton, and Charles N. Caputo, prominent Pittsburgh attorney and assistant city solicitor. Three typewriters were given as awards for the best essays and ten certificates of achievement for the runners-up. Presentation was made by the Honorable George M. Leader, then Governor of Pennsylvania.

Columbus Day has many advantages. It gives us an opportunity we should not miss. It unites people of varying races, religions, and national origins as no declaration of any government or national official can do. It is our common heritage, and in observing it we have a great opportunity to stress and emphasize the many other privileges we share. This realization has prompted thousands throughout the Nation to participate in these Columbus Day ceremonies.

The 1958 Report submitted by me as Chairman of Columbus Day Activities is printed, a copy of which is in the mail boxes of the Members.

I hope you will find this report of interest and an incentive to you to participate in the 1959 Columbus Day Celebrations throughout our Commonwealth.

It has been my honor and privilege to be serving my third term this year of 1959 as State Chairman of Columbus Day Activities.

Mr. Speaker, I request consent of the House to have the Columbus Day Report printed in the Legislative Journal.

The SPEAKER. The report will be spread upon the pages of the Journal.

The following report was submitted for the Journal by Mrs. Varallo.

REPORT OF COLUMBUS DAY CELEBRATIONS IN THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, SUBMITTED BY HONORABLE MARY A. VARALLO, STATE CHAIRMAN BY APPOINTMENT OF THE GOVERNOR, GEORGE M. LEADER, AND DEAN OF THE WOMEN MEMBERS OF THE PENNSYLVANIA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

It was my great privilege to serve, for the second successive time, as State Chairman of Columbus Day Celebrations in Pennsylvania at the request and appointment of His Excellency, George M. Leader, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. His confidence in my ability to undertake and successfully conduct this program was deeply appreciated and stimulating.

In concert with the National Citizens Committee for Columbus Day, my task was to alert the mayors and burgesses of Pennsylvania communities to the imminence of Columbus Day and to urge the participation of all citizens in commemoration of the discoverer and discovery of the Americas. Governor Leader took the first step by issuing his Proclamation declaring October 12, 1958, as Columbus Day, noting that it was on that day "The Genoese navigator aid sailor, Christopher Columbus, discovered the New World," 466 years ago.

The Governor noted that October 12 has since become a national holiday dedicated to the memory of this brave and determined explorer whose dream led the way to a new world. He gave recognition to the mutual esteem, interest, common hopes and ideals which have bound the nations of the new world together and stated that this was an appropriate occasion for official expression of these sentiments.

The intense interest of Governor Leader in this project, coupled with my own, inspired me to go beyond normal concepts in my efforts. My initial effort resulted in obtaining the cooperation and support of a public relations agency in Philadelphia which, under my direction, immediately placed the program on a high level.

Governor Leader's enthusiastic leadership remained constant in our program and, in addition to placing at our disposal every facility that the Commonwealth could offer, he made himself personally available for participation in every activity. He was particularly effective in personally awarding essay contest prizes (reported in greater detail on following pages) to the winners in his offices. Hundreds of pictures of the events were taken by the press, proud parents and friends.

Subsequently, and immediately, I sent personal letters to the mayors of Pennsylvania in which I asked their fullest cooperation in making Columbus Day in 1958 noteworthy. Included with the letter was an actual reproduction of the Governor's Proclamation with the suggestion that it be used as a guide in the issuance of local proclamations, and I am delighted to report that this was done in many instances.

In addition, I sent a page of suggestions for the use of mayors and community Columbus Day chairmen by which they could obtain the greatest possible attention from communications media for their local programs. The result was, as demonstrated later, that Columbus Day Celebrations in the Commonwealth received much more press, radio and television coverage than every before.

Among the suggestions were references to placing local Columbus Celebrations on a year-around basis by the launching of "sister-city" projects with cities in Latin America, and by honoring Latin American officials, students and visitors in the community. Where interest along these lines was stimulated I followed through by providing mayors and chairmen with copies of the publications of the National Citizens Committee for Columbus Day, such as "You and Your Latin American Neighbors" and the "Leaders Guide for 1958 Columbus Day Observances."

The response to these efforts was tremendous. I received many replies from mayors and local chairmen advising me of their plans as well as providing me with copies of local Proclamations and evidences of their preliminary public relations approaches.

Almost every newspaper in the Commonwealth carried editorial material on Columbus and the significance of Columbus Day. Much of it was bolstered by beautifully done editorial cartoons. Many periodicals carried special articles on the feats and accomplishments of Columbus. Much time on radio and television was given to mentions of Columbus Day and community plans for its observance.

Perhaps the most personally gratifying aspect of my efforts in this program was the tremendous success of an essay contest which I sponsored and conducted through over 2,000 public, private and parochial high schools in the Commonwealth. With the cooperation of Governor Leader and the Commonwealth's Department of Public Instruction, notices of the contest were sent to the schools. Principals were advised that the best of brief essays from qualified students on the subject, "What Columbus Day Means to Me," would be recognized by awards of type-writers and certificates of commendation.

Publicity notices on the contest were given splendid attention by the Legislative Correspondents Association (State Capitol press corps) and, as a result, almost every newspaper, television and radio station in Pennsylvania reported it. This was only one of the many instances in which the press supported the Columbus Day program and, at this point, I want to express the appreciation of both myself and my committee.

In the interim, while waiting for the return of essay contest entries, I prevailed on a group of distinguished citizens to act as a panel of judges in selecting winners. I was most pleased when my invitations were accepted by the Honorable Eugene V. Alessandrini, president Judge of Common Pleas Court No. 4 in Philadelphia and Grand Venerable of the Pennsylvania Sons of Italy in America, who accepted the chairmanship of the group; the Honorable Charles N. Caputo, attorney and civic leader of Pittsburgh; Robert M. Urbani, educator and trustee of West Chester State Teachers College; Dr. Robert A. Lodge, assistant professor in the Department of English at the University of Scranton; and the Honorable Nolan F. Ziegler, mayor of the City of Harrisburg.

A debt of gratitude is owed to these men. They served this committee well and generously, taking of their valuable time to travel and meet in Harrisburg without compensation. I am glad to report that Governor Leader was fully conscious of their contribution and was host to them at a luncheon at the Harrisburger Hotel on October 13, 1958, at which time he commended them, coupling his expression of appreciation with my own.

The contest resulted in an inundation of our desks with over 5,000 entries, creating a tremendous job of classification and selection. This was overcome to a large degree by the assistance of experts in the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction who reduced the entries to an amount that could be managed by the panel of judges.

The judges finally selected 13 winners on, appropriately, October 13, and the first four were awarded typewriters and beautifully engraved certificates. They are:

Margaret E. Monahan, St. Hubert's Catholic Girls School, Philadelphia; Catherine O'Donohue, Notre Dame Academy, Philadelphia; Marie Anne Moxie, Mt. St. Macrina Academy, Uniontown; Sandor Legrady, Bishop Shanahan High School, West Chester.

Other winners were:

Mary Ann Suatoni, Arnold Sr. High School, Arnold; Margaret Martin, Pittsburgh; Mary Helen O'Toole, St. Bernard's School, Bradford; Lorna Ranck, Milton Sr. High School, Milton; Andy Borland, Cowanesque Valley Jr. High School, Westfield; Carolyn Hilsdon, St. Justin High School, Pittsburgh; Frances Pavilaipis, St. Mary's School, McKees Rocks; William Lawn, Altoona Catholic High School, Altoona; Evelyn Hopkins, St. Patrick's High School, Olyphant.

It gives me great pleasure, at this point, to express my profound appreciation to the donors of the typewriters in this program. They are:

The Honorable Eugene V. Alessandrone, who presented a typewriter provided by the Columbus Day Celebration Committee of Philadelphia; Philips Equipment Company, 2nd & Locust Streets, Harrisburg; Olivetti Company of America, 375 Park Avenue, New York.

The publicity generated by the awards was magnificent and added much lustre to the Columbus Day Celebrations in Pennsylvania. Every newspaper wire service and many radio and television stations were on hand at the ceremonies to duly record the events, most of them stimulated by direct requests for coverage by hometown media of the winners.

Governor Leader, with many State and city officials, marched in the Philadelphia Columbus Day parade on October 11th, a distance of about five miles. He also participated in many other activities and exercises too numerous to mention here but which added much to the overall appreciation of the occasion.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh led the way in the organization of fully planned, highly detailed and well publicized Columbus Day Celebrations.

PHILADELPHIA

Directed by Judge Eugene V. Alessandrone, president, and Nicholas Cipriani, Esq., executive chairman, of The Columbus Day Committee of Philadelphia, the city's celebration was magnificently planned and perfectly executed.

The schedule of events was as follows:

October 11th: Flag raising at Columbus Square at 9 A.M. Games, sports, other competitions. Placing of wreath at Independence Hall at 11 A.M. Parade, beginning at Noon, with over 10,000 marchers in line, including the Governor of Pennsylvania and the Mayor of Philadelphia, and approximately 75 divisions of String Bands in full regalia, Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Police and Fire units, high school bands and marching groups from public, private and parochial schools, other groups too numerous to mention, and thousands of children.

October 12th: Memorial Mass at St. Rita's Church at 10 A.M. Exercises at Benjamin Franklin Memorial Hall at 11 A.M. Exercises at Columbus Monument at 12 Noon. Reception honoring Admiral E. McLean, Jr., with hundreds of guests in attendance at 5:30 P.M. Banquet and coronation of Columbus Day Queen at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel at 7 P.M. (This was the most heavily attended such function in the history of the Columbus Day Committee in Philadelphia.)

Many other activities were included, including scholarship awards, award of a prize for an essay contest in the Commonwealth schools, and the assignment of many prominent Philadelphia speakers to other communities for participation in Columbus Day Celebrations.

PITTSBURGH

Over 5,000 people crowded into Schenley Park to hear Monsignor Renao Luisi, special envoy from the Vatican, read the words of the late Pope Pius XII, illuminated on a scroll and brought by him from Rome for the dedication of the Christopher Columbus monument. The exercises took place at the base of the $100,000 statue sculptured by Frank Vittor and erected by the Federation Sons of Columbus.

Speeches by distinguished Pittsburgh citizens, special masses, concerts by famous Pittsburgh bands, parades, luncheons and a heavily attended banquet at the Penn Sheraton Hotel were features of the day.

Following the Schenley Park exercises there was a transatlantic exchange of greetings via telephone and radio between Pittsburgh and Genoa, Italy.

Among those who participated in the extensive Pittsburgh celebration were Mayor David L. Lawrence, newly-elected Governor of Pennsylvania; Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno; Charles G. Notari, national president of the Federation Sons of Columbus; and Charles N. Caputo, attorney and civic leader.

Among the many communities in Pennsylvania which had organized Columbus Day celebrations were:

ALTOONA

The Christopher Columbus Society concluded a three day celebration with a dinner at the society home. Principal speaker was Eugene J. Ianuzzi, Esq., with Joseph A. Landolfi acting as toastmaster, and the general program being conducted by Angelo R. Palombi.

Nearby Cresson had 200 persons attending a Columbus Day dinner-dance sponsored by St. Ann's Council of the Knights of Columbus. Dr. George W. Katter of Johnstown was the principal speaker.

ALLENTOWN

The Sixth Annual Columbus Day Banquet, entertainment and dance, sponsored by the Allentown Council of Italian-American Organizations was held at the Frolics Ballroom with several hundreds of persons in attendance. Net proceeds of the function are fully applied to scholarship funds. Mayor Donald V. Hock was a feature speaker.

AMBRIDGE

Three hundred citizens attended the community's 6th Annual Columbus Day banquet of District 18, Sons of Italy, and heard Philadelphia attorney James Inannucci make the principal address.

BLAIRSVILLE

Approximately 175 members, their wives and guests of the Blairsville Council 3264, Knights of Columbus, attended the annual Columbus Day dinner in the Italian Athletic Club. Al DeLuca, head coach at St. Vincent College, spoke on the topic, "Molding the Character of American Youth."

BRADFORD

A family communion breakfast sponsored by the Knights of Columbus at their hall in Bradford heard Reverend Frederick Reilly, Chaplain, extol the accomplishments of Columbus.

Nearby Johnsonburg featured a Columbus Day dance sponsored by the Piedmont Lodge 210 of the Sons of Italy.

BROWNSVILLE

Lt. Governor Roy E. Furman was the principal speaker when 350 persons attended a dinner sponsored by 15 lodges of the Sons of Italy, and attended by a host of distinguished guests prominent in civic and political life.

CHESTER

The Trinity Chapter of the Knights of Columbus, comprising councils in the tri-county area (Chester, Montgomery and Delaware Counties) held public evercises and a recitation of the American Living Rosary in the Public Square in Chester, preceded by a special Columbus Day program broadcast by radio station WVCH.

COATESVILLE

John J. Teti, Director of Finance in Coatesville, reported that the Sons of Italy in the Community sponsored a dinner at which he was the principal speaker. Over three hundred persons attended. The Coatesville Knights of Columbus sponsored a dinner-dance which was heavily attended and at which Philadelphia Sheriff, William M. Lennox, spoke.

DUQUESNE

The annual Columbus Day Celebration sponsored by the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Knights of Columbus was marred when its dinner had to be canceled due to a hotel employes strike, but other activities took place and observance of the occasion obtained.

HARRISBURG

Mayor Nolan F. Ziegler reported that dinner-dances were held by both the Sons of Italy and the Knights of Columbus, with both events being well attended. Radio, television and press coverage of the events were good, the Mayor reported, while many of the city's service clubs observed the occasion by special luncheons.

HAZLETON

Hazleton newspapers noted that the "most spectacular observance of Columbus Day in 25 years" was staged in that city this year. Special masses, parades, various ceremonies, and a widely-attended dinner were part of the program brilliantly directed by chairman Anthony C. Stanziola and given every possible cooperation by Mayor S. Thomas Capparell. Judge Adrian Bonnelly of Philadelphia was the feature speaker at the dinner while Attorney James P. Costello, former mayor of Hazleton, made the major address at Hazleton's Memorial Park where the city's statue of Columbus is located.

Commanding special attention in Pennsylvania is the fact that Hazleton, under the leadership of Chairman Stanziola and enthusiastically supported by his associates, may be the very first city in the Commonwealth to initiate a "sister-city" project. I have been advised by Mr. John T. O'Brien, Executive Chairman of the National Citizens Committee for Columbus Day, that the Pan American Union is working out the arrangements with Mr. Stanziola and the Hazleton Committee.

HOUTZDALE & PHILIPSBURG

The Moshannon Valley Council of the Knights of Columbus attended a banquet at the Hotel Philips to do honor to Columbus on Columbus Day. On the preceding evening a dance was held at the Green Gables Inn with J. A. Redding, Past Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus in Pennsylvania delivering an accolade to Columbus.

JEANETTE

Three hundred persons attended the first annual Columbus Day charity dinner of Greensburg Diocesan Chapter, Knights of Columbus, at William Penn Terrace, with proceeds going to the Newman Club at Indiana State Teachers College. Rt. Rev. Msgr. Alphonse G. Mihm was toastmaster.

JIM THORPE

A heavily attended Columbus Day dinner was sponsored by the Panther Valley UNICO at the Hotel Aquila in Lansford. Addresses were made by Rev. A. J. Angelini and Rev. Francis Mealey.

JOHNSTOWN

Directed by Samuel A. Marrocco, the annual Columbus Day banquet was held in the Sons of Italy Hall, with the principal address being given by Representative John P. Saylor. Representative Philip Lopresti acted as Toastmaster for the occasion.

The Knights of Columbus sponsored a mass and communion breakfast in honor of Columbus at St. Clement's Church with Rev. Father Patrick Fleming giving the principal address.

LEECHBURG

Members of the Giovanna D'Arco Lodge No. 1086,

Daughters of Italy, were sponsors of a Columbus Day Dinner at the Old Mansion which was widely attended by many leading citizens of the community. Mrs. Lucy Bono, president of the organization was in charge of the successful affair.

MASONTOWN

More than 300 persons attended the annual Columbus Day Banquet sponsored by the Italo-American Citizens Club. Dr. F. J. Holter was the principal speaker and George A. Franks was the general banquet chairman.

NEW CASTLE

An all-day celebration of Columbus Day was conducted by the Christopher Columbus Society which also marked the 45th anniversary of the club's founding. A high mass, flag raising ceremony and a large parade were features of the day, with Congressmen John H. Dent and Frank Clark as honored guests. Club president Charles L. Dominick was general chairman of the day's events.

NORRISTOWN

Norristown's Lodge Antonio Meucci No. 306, largest unit in the Order Sons of Italy in America, held an open house program and dance for its annual Columbus Day Observance program. Members of the Plymouth Township Knights of Columbus Day Observance program. Members of the Plymouth Township Knights of Columbus and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Council attended a communion breakfast in honor of Columbus.

OSCEOLA MILLS

The 466th Anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus was commemorated by the Knights of Columbus at a dinner which was attended by almost 200 knights and their wives. John Redding of Osceola Mills was the principal speaker.

PATTON

The Union Press of Patton reported that there were many Columbus Day Celebrations in the Northern Cambria County area. One was a gala event sponsored by the Barnesboro Council, Knights of Columbus, at the Polish Legion Home, with 150 Knights and their ladies reported in attendance.

POTTSTOWN

Children participated in a quiz on the history of Columbus conducted by the Father Bally Council, Knights of Columbus, in the lodge hall, while a Columbus Day dinner-dance was conducted at the Brookside Country Club.

POTTSVILLE

Mayor Michael A. Close reported that a dinner-dance was held at the Necho Allen Hotel under the sponsorship of the Sons of Italy and co-chaired by Charles DiCello and Gaspar Messina. The welcoming address was made by the Mayor and the principal remarks were delivered by the Hon. Vincent J. Dalton, Judge of the Schuylkill County Courts.

In concert with groups, the Sons of Italy in Pottsville spurred the "Wearing of the Purple" on Columbus Day and is seeking to have Columbus Day proclaimed a national holiday.

PITTSTON

The name of Railroad Street in Pittston was changed to Columbus Avenue, a project of the Pittston Council, Knights of Columbus, by city council and Mayor Patrick O'Brien, at ceremonies attended also by representatives of many Italian societies in the area.

Later, 550 persons attended the 12th annual banquet of the Luzerne County Columbus League at the Mayfair Supper Club, where Judge Frank Pinola acted as toastmaster. Major General Ralph A. Palladino and Congressman Daniel J. Flood were principal speakers.

SHARON

Two hundred persons attended the annual banquet of the 56-year old Christopher Columbus Benevolent Society where Charles N. Caputo, Pittsburgh, delivered the principal address.

Nearby Sharpsville held a largely attended dinner-dance at the Sharpsville Italian Home where Alvin Capozzi, Pittsburgh, delivered the main address.

TITUSVILLE

The Knights of Columbus, in one of the largest gatherings in recent years, attended a communion breakfast in honor of Columbus. Sir Noel J. Poux, Knight of St. Gregory, one of the few Catholic laymen bestowed that honor, delivered the principal address.

UNIONTOWN

Uniontown participated in Fayette County exercises and Columbus Day Dinner which was held at nearby Brownsville, where Lt. Governor Roy E. Furman was the guest of honor and delivered the major address of the day. Over 400 citizens of the several communities attended the dinner.

WILKES-BARRE

Wilkes-Barre citizens groups comprised a large part of the great 12th annual dinner-dance of the Columbus League, & Luzerne County Columbus League held at the Malfair Supper Club, reported in connection with the Pittston activities. There was also a parade in Wilkes-Barre with over 1,000 persons in the line of march, many bands and school groups.

WILLIAMSPORT

Mr. Keith N. Waltz, Mayor H. Levering's appointee as Columbus Day Chairman, reported considerable success in obtaining an organized observance of Columbus Day. Area newspapers and radio stations gave considerable coverage to appeals to display the flag, decorate store windows, and obtain special observance in all the schools. Many of the fraternal groups in Williamsport sent notices to their members on the occasion, asking them to assist in fullest possible observance.

Worthy of special note is the fact that the "entire committee," Mr. Waltz adds, "has agreed to recommend to you that all efforts to observe Columbus Day in 1959 should be started in the Spring of that year in order to give more time for organization and plans."

This, then is my report of Columbus Day Celebrations in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for 1958. It is not as complete as I would wish it because, at the time of writing, there were many reports from cities and towns which had not been received, although I am aware that they had festivities planned.

In my opinion, however, I believe that Columbus Day in Pennsylvania this year was one of the most remarkable demonstrations of good citizenship, community cooperation and civic leadership that we have ever experienced. The honor that was paid Columbus was no greater than the honor attributable to a people from all walks of life who gave recognition to a world hero as their own. The paeans of praise we heard for Columbus this year are a splendid example of awakened civic consciousness, giving promise that future years will bring even greater realization of the accomplishments of the Genoese Explorer and appreciation of his legacy of indomitable courage and vision.

It is my hope that we in Pennsylvania shall continue to stimulate and support Columbus Day Celebrations. The wonderful beginning we have seen during these past two years of Governor George M. Leader's Administration will, I believe, be expanded tremendously by the enlightened leadership of our new Governor, David L. Lawrence.

Mary A. Varallo, State Chairman.

(Addendum)

READING

"We need the faith and courage of the discoverer of America to keep America free," were the inspiring words of Mayor Daniel F. McDevitt before 3,000 celebrants of Columbus Day. Under the leadership of Chairman Natale C. Carbello and co-chairman Charles Cocuzza, the city conducted one of the most well-rounded programs in the Commonwealth. Religious services began a day which included a wreath-laying at the statue of Columbus, a five-section parade, the award of a plaque to Miss Corinne Roth for a winning essay, and concluded with various social affairs. The successful occasion had the complete cooperation of the city's newspapers. It's most intelligently conceived planning was a pleasure to observe.

BUTLER

The Knights of Columbus, Butler Council #866, led by Grand Knight John Lamb, sponsored a communion breakfast for Columbus Day at St. Michaels Greek Catholic Church, the Celebrant being Reverend Father Oleksiw. At the breakfast, toastmaster John O'Brien introduced attorney Robert Stock who spoke compellingly on "Columbus and the Present Day."

SHAMOKIN

Judge William I. Troutman capped a day of celebration sponsored by the city and several groups from nearby communities by declaring Columbus as a man of courage, strength and conviction, "who was not afraid to be called a fool in a cause he thought was right." Victor Cannistra, the Columbus Day Committee chairman, appointed by Mayor Lester W. Weller, reported that his committee had planned the day well and was pleased with the attendance at a banquet in the evening which had several well-informed and interesting speakers. It was the Stella D'Italia Lodge's twenty-fifth annual event, one growing in importance in this coal region community.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. DAVIS, VARNER, WILT, DONALDSON, DENNISON and GRAMLICH.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 117.

In the House of Representatives, September 28, 1959. Pollution in the Clarion River has been a problem for many decades. Since World War II, industrial refuse, especially from the manufacture of paper, has been reduced. However, during this period, acids from open-pit mining have been reported in the upper waters.

All in all, to a considerable degree, the Clarion River remains a polluted stream; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission study and investigate the problem of pollution in the Clarion River with a view of (1) determining whether or not reasonable progress is being made in the direction of total elimination, and (2) outlining any corrective steps deemed essential to maintaining a reasonable rate of progress; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. CURWOOD asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Fisheries to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WORLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, today Adams County stands in the position of being first in three different ways. They are as follows: first, Adams County is first in the alphabet and therefore should always head the list of Pennsylvania's 67 counties; second, Adams County is first in the production of apples for all of the counties in the Commonwealth; and third, Adams County has the first man of the Nation, President Dwight D. Eisenhower as one of its voters and residents.

Mr. Speaker, the first one of these firsts is by reason of the alphabet, and I am giving you, herewith, a sample of the second, Adams County's Red Delicious apples. And for the third first, I am giving you a picture, an explanation of which appears on the back of each picture.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker, for recognizing me at this time.
The SPEAKER pro tempore. On the part of the House the Chair thanks the gentleman from Adams for the apples.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inform the Members of the House regarding our timetable schedule here today and our tentative proposed timetable for tomorrow.

We hope to work until approximately 1:30, no later than a quarter to two, and take a forty-five minute break for lunch; no caucuses, come back here and we can finish by approximately 5:00, no later than 5:30 p. m., we believe, with today's work.

Tomorrow, on Wednesday, the House will be in session, but the timetable as to the hours we will not be able to announce at the present time. The Floor Leaders and the respective Leaders in the Senate informed me, both yesterday and today, that they hope to send to the House tomorrow the General Appropriations Bill and two companion appropriation bills.

We intend to make a move to non-concur in the appropriation bills that will come to the House. Senator Berger, the Floor Leader of the Senate, in our discussions last night and this morning, indicated that it was impossible to determine the time when the bills would arrive in the House tomorrow. The debate may last one hour, two hours, three hours or four hours, but when it is completed they hope to send to the House those bills, so that I ask everyone be here. We will be working on a full calendar and caucus tomorrow, then we may take a recess for a matter of one or two or maybe three hours if necessary and then come back here to complete the work.

I have no way of knowing what time we will do this, except to say that it is hoped that it can be done by mid-afternoon, but there is no assurance that it can be done prior to five or six o'clock, or seven in the evening. So, I ask that all Members please stay here. Tomorrow will be a full working day, a controversial day in which I will make motions to nonconcur in the General Appropriation Bills that the Senate expects to send to the House sometime on Wednesday. With that in mind, Mr. Speaker, we hope that we can break no later than a quarter to two for lunch and finish up here today. To those who are driving home this evening, who drive every evening, tomorrow will be a full day's schedule and we hope that the House will not have to be here Thursday. The Senate is cooperating very kindly in trying to complete the debate by Wednesday night or Wednesday afternoon.

INTERROGATION

Mr. HELM asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate Mr. McCANN.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if I heard correctly when he said that the move tomorrow would be to nonconcur in the Appropriation bills that come from the Senate.

Mr. McCANN. I think the gentleman heard very distinctly that I will make a motion to nonconcur in the amendments placed in the bill by the Senate.

Mr. HELM. Is the gentleman presupposing what the Senate is going to do with the Appropriation bill?

Mr. McCANN. They have told me, confidentially, that they are not going to restore all of the money.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, since we are given advance notice as to what we are going to do, I would like to recommend to the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, if it is to be the motion tomorrow that we nonconcur, that he had better make sure that he has all of his Members in attendance at tomorrow's Session.

Mr. McCANN. I am sure, Mr. Speaker, that our membership is quite aware that the Republicans would certainly support the position of the Senate, and if we nonconcur, they are agreed that they will establish a Conference Committee Wednesday night, and which we would also establish here. The week that we would be in recess the Conference Committee would work every single day, Monday right on through.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 2173, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) further providing for the building or rebuilding of schools and the preparation of drawings for such schools and repealing certain provisions concerning heating and ventilating standards.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. This bill at the present time is back in its original form after being amended three times.

This is a bill on which a sub-committee of the State Public School Building Authority composed of the Speaker of this House, the Auditor General of the Commonwealth and two other members, worked, and which they believe will be of great assistance to the school districts which will be constructing schools in the future. This proposed piece of legislation will certainly standardize some of the plans and specifications for the various school districts that will build schools in the future.

Mr. Speaker, I believe this bill carries the unanimous support of all the Members of this House, and I ask that they do support House Bill No. 2173, Printer's No. 1730.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

MEMBERS OF LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair at this time welcomes to the Hall of the House a delegation from the League of Women Voters of Newton, Bucks County, who are the guests of the lady from Bucks, Mrs. Kooker, and the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair at this time returns the gavel to the Speaker.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

CANDIDATES WELCOMED

We have in the House today two men who are seeking positions in our appellate courts. The one man we have with us part of the time, the gentleman from McKean. He is present today, and we are fortunate in having in the Hall of the House Judge Blair Gunther.

I am sure you would like to have a look at the judge's genial smile, and so we would ask the gentleman from McKean, to escort Judge Gunther to the rostrum to say a word of greeting to this splendid Assembly.

ADDRESS BY JUDGE BLAIR GUNTHER

JUDGE BLAIR GUNTHER. Mr. Andrews, I did not expect this formality.

It is really a pleasant surprise, although I should have been here many months ago to thank you for what you have done not only for me, but for many of our judges in the state of Pennsylvania. You can rest assured that what you did in improving the pensions for the judges will never be forgotten, even if I am on the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

I know your time is precious. I know you would like to get away from here, and would especially like to get back home, but I cannot help but say something about my friend because he comes from the same county where I was born, Cambria county. We may have our differences, we have our different views, he is a Democrat and I am a Republican, but we all love Cambria County, and I am sure I wish Mr. Andrews many, many years of fruitful life, happiness and health.

Thank you ever so much.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to make a brief statement. We are approaching, some of us hope, the closing days or months of the Session. It is very important that when committees are called there be quorums present. The Chair had a very disagreeable surprise this morning. A Committee meeting was called off the floor. Why? Because a previous attempt to hold a committee meeting failed to develop a quorum. Believe it or not, the Committee meeting called off the floor did not initially assemble with a quorum, and the Chairman of that Committee, an important committee of this House, had difficulty in securing a quorum.

I want to say to the Members of this House that you know how at the beginning of the Session the various Members insist upon appointment to this Committee or an appointment to some other Committee, say how interested they are, and once they get their name on the letterhead, sometimes that is the last activity they have as far as serving on a committee is concerned.

The time approaches, if not at this Session, at future sessions, when this Assembly in my opinion must authorize the Chair to drop from active Committees habitual absentees.

CONSULTANT MEMBERS OF COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the Speaker appoints as consultant members to the committee to evaluate electric roll call equipment and procedure, the Majority Leader, the Minority Leader and the Speaker, consultants at the pleasure of the committee which may or may not at the time desire to call them.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 375, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 6, 1951 (P. L. 69) entitled "The Landlord and Tenant Act of 1951" exempting additional property from execution by landlord for non-payment of rent.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am referring to the last amendment put in, and I presume it was put in by Mr. Tompkins. Am I correct?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes, I inserted that amendment.

Mr. SHERMAN. On page 3, line 11, has the gentleman read it within the last hour or two?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes, I have it before me.

Mr. SHERMAN. Now would you explain the meaning of that term "all construction industrial and mining machinery and equipment"?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes.

Mr. SHERMAN. Will you explain to me the meaning of that amendment?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That amendment is for the purpose of exempting from your distress warrants machinery and equipment of that nature.

Mr. SHERMAN. Let us take the words, Mr. Speaker, "all construction". Does it include an extra room constructed on the property?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I did not get that, I am sorry.

Mr. SHERMAN. Let us consider the first few words of that amendment "all construction". Does that not necessarily include a room constructed, an additional room?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Oh, I believe you are distorting this by not taking the entire clause in because it does not refer to construction, but to construction machinery and equipment.

Mr. SHERMAN. "All construction machinery"; does that refer to any machinery, no matter how attached to the real estate?

Mr. TOMPKINS. It is not intended to apply to anything that is attached to a part of the realty, no.

Mr. SHERMAN. Does the gentleman not believe that it should be limited to refer only to personal property which is not constructed or put on in such a way as to be attached to the realty?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, I do not see any difference between the interpretation you are trying to put on this and what you are putting on restaurant bar furniture and equipment. Some of that equipment could be attached to the realty. Meat market equipment could be attached to the realty, as well as the construction equipment. If you want to carry that interpretation into this particular clause we can go back and re-amend the whole thing to conform.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would not object to the man's interpretation if he had stated all construction machinery and all construction equipment, referring specifically to equipment. Here you are eliminating the word "equipment" and you are just using the word "machinery." Equipment is referred to subsequently in your amendment, am I not correct?

Mr. TOMPKINS. We use the words "machinery" and "equipment" here, yes.

Mr. SHERMAN. But equipment is referred to as a separate category. Here you are using all construction, industrial and mining machinery and equipment?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Machinery and equipment, construction machinery and equipment, yes, sir.

Mr. SHERMAN. Therefore you can take separately all construction machinery, and no matter how it is constructed, as far as the real estate is concerned, it can be removed by the party who places that construction machinery on the premises?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes, the same as the equipment could. I do not see any relation between the two, machinery or equipment. Either one of them might be attached to the realty if you really want to carry it that far.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, do you not consider equipment more in the nature of personal property, and machinery, especially of an industrial nature to be so attached to the realty, as part of the real estate at times?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, if the gentleman wants to press that point, which I think is distorting the situation, I will certainly be glad to further amend it to make it "construction machinery and equipment not attached to the realty," because that is the thing we are trying to accomplish.

Mr. SHERMAN. I would appreciate an amendment of that kind.

Mr. TOMPKINS. All right, I will do that.

Mr. SHERMAN. Thank you.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, is going to further amend the bill?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia. Mr. Sherman?

The SPEAKER. The gentlemen from Cameron will proceed.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, going to page 2 of the bill, line 5, it says "the following personal property loaned to or leased or hired by any person, or conditionally sold to any such person under a contract of sale, reserving title in the vendor until paid for shall be exempt from levy or distress." Does that not sufficiently cover the gentleman's objection?

Mr. SHERMAN. No, Mr. Speaker. I read those lines, but I felt that when you are referring to construction machinery or any other equipment, it refers more or less to things of a realty nature rather than personal property.

MR. HELM IN THE CHAIR

Mr. SHERMAN. I also felt that your amendment which you want to refer to personal property, could by its nature be classified as real estate, and that no matter how you attach it to the real estate, you could always remove it no matter what damage was caused thereby. For that reason I thought some clarity was necessary.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, it has always been my understanding as an attorney that personalty referred to personal property which was not a part of the real estate, and that realty referred to real estate. Now we specifically said that this refers only to personalty, and how we can stretch the definitions of personalty into a definition of realty is just beyond me.

Mr. SHERMAN. I presume the gentleman is through with the interrogation, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The title must remain in the original owner until paid for, therefor, it cannot be a part of the realty.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Are the gentlemen through with their interrogation?

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I didn't know if Mr. Tompkins was asking me a question or making a brief statement.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman, desire to be recognized?

Mr. SHERMAN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, very briefly.

Mr. Speaker, unless this amendment is clarified, I feel that a general statement "the following personal property" does not make all construction machinery or industrial or mining machinery personal property, and there should be some clarity indicating, in the event of real damage to the real estate to which this personal property is attached, as to what should happen in those cases; not that there should be thousands of dollars damage to real estate and then this heavy machinery, which no doubt can be very heavy, removed even though it may be considered in a good many cases real estate and not personal property.

Mr. TOMPKINS. If the gentleman wants it clarified by writing in to this amendment, even though it says, permanently, we will do that. We will also write it into the bar equipment and the meat market equipment so that there will not be any misunderstanding as to whether or not it is attached to the real estate.

I therefore ask the bill to go over for those amendments.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 380, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 15, 1933 (P. L. 624) entitled as amended "Banking Code" further regulating the making of installment loans.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call the attention of the Members of the House to the particular bill that is now before us because I think it has, perhaps, an impact which may not easily be seen at first.

This is a bill affecting the amount of money which banks may lend on an installment basis. Most of us think that when you go to a bank to borrow money that you pay six percent interest, that is all the law allows. Well that is not the case. The present law allows a borrower on an installment plan, from a bank, allows the bank to charge six dollars per hundred, collected in advance. Not interest paid out over the year, that is collected in advance, and what that amounts to in effect, is twelve percent on the money that you borrow.

Now, what does this bill do? Presently the law allows the borrower to borrow up to a maximum of $3,500. This bill increases the amount which a borrower may borrow under the installment plan to $5,000. Last week we had a bill on this calendar raising interest rates on small loans. I think quite a bit of furor was raised in the House because of it. I suggest to the Members of this House that this bill which we have before us now is equally as injurious to the people who have to borrow money from our banking institutions.

What is the reason for allowing a bank to charge interest at a greater rate than six percent? Why should they be allowed to charge twelve? Well, the answer is, obviously, that on this kind of a loan they figure they are running a greater risk, that is why they are allowed to charge a greater rate of interest. Let us look at this bill a little bit. If they are going to raise it from $3,500 to $5,000, one would assume that they have to run greater risks that it would be all right to allow them to charge twelve percent on $5,000, just as well as twelve per cent on $3,500, but, and here is where the hitch comes in in this bill you may only borrow $5,000, more than $3,500 under three specific cases. First, where real property is to be improved, second, where a motor vehicle or vehicles is to be acquired; or third, for the acquisition of equipment where the sales value of such equipment is in excess of $1,500. Why do they have to be worth at least $1,500? Well that is obviously to bring the unsecured part of the loan down to the $3,500 which you were able to borrow before. In each of these cases the bank has security. If real estate is to be improved they obviously have the security of filing a lien against the real estate. If a motor vehicle is to be purchased they can lien the title. If equipment is to be purchased they can secure it by some sort of security agreement. So that in each of these cases where the amount borrowed is over $3,500, is between $3,500 and $5,000, the bank has its security to secure it at least to the extent of $1,500. If that is the case I suggest to you that the original reason for allowing the banks to charge twelve percent, in other words the risk they are running, the original reason vanishes. This bill allows banks to charge a full twelve percent of interest on $1,500 worth of money which is fully secured to the bank by virtue of some property which the borrower owns. Under the present circumstances there is nothing whatsoever to prevent a bank from lending someone $5,000. They can lend $3,500 at twelve percent and they can lend the remaining $1,500 at six percent as the law now allows.

I suggest to you that this bill is just as unconscionable and is just as much a raid on the pocketbook of the people who have to borrow as the small loan bill which the House, so properly, saw fit to amend last week. I ask all the Members on both sides of the aisle to vote against this injurious legislation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REASON FOR VOTE

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS filed the following reasons for his vote on Senate Bill No. 868:

I opposed this bill in the original form which would have increased the interest on the last $500 of an $800 loan from 12 per cent to 18 per cent per year. Although this provision has been amended out of the bill, I fear that when a Conference Committee concludes its deliberations we will find that rates have been increased. This I oppose and for that reason I believe it to be the better course of action to vote against this bill.

Rather than raising the interest rates I would like to see the 36 per cent presently allowed on the small, under $150 loans reduced.

The customers of these lenders are those least able to pay, those least able to calculate the actual interest being paid. If the Legislature does not protect their rights no one will.

I salute the small loan companies for pioneering this field which our banking institutions were slow to enter, but now that the banks make similar loans at 11.5 per cent it would seem that these small loan companies should be reducing their rates to compete rather than pushing for an increase in rates.

This is not a dying industry in need of subsidy. New small loan companies and branch offices are opening in many of our communities. I see no reason for this legislation and many reasons to oppose it.

In my county many steelworkers are borrowing from these companies and have trouble enough with the present rate of interest. Far too many people do not understand the true rate of interest they are paying and would be amazed to know that the actual interest rate is 22 per cent to 24 per cent on most loans.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,
The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. McCANN.
The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1376, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 29, 1956 (P. L. 1803) entitled "An act providing for the establishment of forestry conservation camps * * * and for the rehabilitation and training of male youth * * * authorizing the acceptance and return of certain juveniles as campers and providing for the imbursement by the county for expenses.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. McCANN.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1702, entitled:

An Act relating to State highways roads and bridges and certain use thereof amending consolidating and changing the laws administered by the Secretary of Highways and by the Department of Highways relating thereto * * *.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COMER. I rise to ask the support of this House for House Bill 1702.

This bill, as you remember, was under consideration by the House last week, and at that time, the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, pinpointed seven or eight sections of this new State Highway Code and raised certain doubts as to the desirability of certain provisions contained therein.

I need not call to your attention the fact how difficult it is to defend so broad and all-encompassing a bill when it is attacked profusely on seven or eight specific points.

There are certain points, however, that the gentleman from Armstrong raised, and there was not sufficient time and reflection to answer them fully. Therefore, I intend to cover very briefly some of the points the gentleman from Armstrong queried me on last Wednesday.

First, Section 404, on page 23. Under Section 404, the "Secretary has exclusive authority and jurisdiction as imposed or conferred by this act over all the facilities of the State Highway System."

The gentleman from Armstrong asked how this would affect the present powers of the Department of Forests and Waters as to highways that exist in state forests and parks today.

The answer to that question, is that this section would have no effect on the powers of Forests and Waters as related to highways that exist in state forests and parks.

Another Section was Section 301 on page 20. It defines the word "highway" to mean all state highways or roads. Any roads in state forests and parks not under the jurisdiction of the State Highway Department are "roads" and are not part of the State Highway System. Since Section 404 merely gives the Secretary jurisdiction over highways, meaning state roads, there is no infringement on the powers of Forests and Waters. Only those roads which are state highways come under the control of the State Highway Department and those roads maintained by Forests and Waters would remain under the Department of Forests and Waters.

Secondly, the gentleman from Armstrong queried as to what became of the power of the Public Utility Commission with regard to highway railroad crossings.

I answer this question by saying they would remain with the Public Utility Commission. The Secretary of Highways is given exclusive jurisdiction over highways as conferred by this act. There is nothing in this new Highway Code which takes away the power of the Public Utility Commission or which in any way interferes with the powers of the Public Utility Commission. In other words, there is no positive law in this entire act that infringes on the Public Utility Commission's jurisdiction.

Section 806. The gentleman from Armstrong raised the question in the case of a farmer who would be injured by the provisions of Section 806 requiring that damages be paid only where physical entry is made in condemnation cases. This is merely a codification of existing case law in Pennsylvania. The courts of Pennsylvania have unanimously held that unless there is physical entry there is no taking and consequently there can be no payment of damages.

There is, however, a very important reason why the courts have uniformly adopted this rule and why it is set forth in Section 806 and that is, occasionally after a road has been plotted and the Governor has signed the plan of condemnation, many factors such as soil conditions, grade conditions, drainage conditions and other factors cause a change in the original plan. In other words the road engineers discover these new factors and the originally planned route has to be altered because of the physical terrain. Therefore, the Highway Department has to retain some flexibility in the actual construction of roads. May I add that the likelihood of an individual being injured in the manner in which the gentleman from Armstrong has indicated would be extremely rare.

The gentleman from Armstrong raised a further question with regard to Section 863 which provides for partial payment up to 75 percent of the lowest appraisal. The gentleman from Armstrong objected to the fact that the Secretary may pay this amount. The reason that this word "may" was placed in this section was that very frequently there is a diversity of interests with regard to the title of the property being condemned. For example, there may be a freehold interest or a leasehold interest in the property being condemned. If the Secretary were required to pay 75 percent to the property owner, it would be impossible for the Department to determine the proper proportion to the various interested parties. Another reason is that detention damages begin to run from the time the Governor signs the plan and it is to the best interest of the Department to pay this 75 percent as soon as they can or else they will be paying detention charges.

Section 1003. Mr. Helm raised a question in regard to this section which provides for prequalification of bidders. The words the gentleman objected to were that the Secretary would not be limited to the five factors enumerated in the act. This is a necessary catch-all phrase in Section 1003. The Secretary, by those words, may eliminate a bidder from consideration for a just cause or reason. If the Secretary would attempt to disqualify a bidder for an unreasonable cause the bidder would, of course, have the remedy of bringing an action of mandamus against the Secretary.

I am sure the gentleman from Armstrong is well aware that the actions of a public official may be tested in our courts by actions of mandamus and equity procedure. There can be little doubt, therefore, that the bidder would have compensable remedy in cases of this nature and could, in fact, enjoin the Secretary from commencing any construction until the particular question was resolved.

One other Section. The weight of the gentleman's from Armstrong attack on this new Highway Code seems to be placed on the Public Utility Section. With regard to Section 1502, which provides that the Secretary issue permits, the gentleman from Armstrong once again raised the question that the Secretary could control the placing of public utility facilities on state highways.

Once again I will stress the fact that the Secretary of Highways cannot act without just cause or reason since he would immediately subject himself to an action of mandamus or an equity action. In other words, any action of the Secretary could be prevented by these proceedings.

The reason for making utility companies obtain permits for placing their facilities in, on, over or under state highways is the safety factor. The Secretary of Highways must have the power to protect the state highway system from being barricaded or made dangerous by the construction or servicing of utility facilities located on our state highways. There can be no question that they are dangerous enough as they are, without the creation of new hazards, by closing off lanes and causing traffic congestion.

The Secretary must know what roads are being serviced so that traffic may be rerouted. If the utility companies could merely put up barricades and start work on state highways our entire system would be jeopardized and the lives of our citizens would be gravely endangered. This is a reasonable regulation for the sole purpose of protecting the citizens of Pennsylvania. After all, the ones who pay the taxes to support these roads are our motorists and not the utilities. Public utility companies may obtain the necessary permits and can construct and service their facilities. By the very nature of the modern concept of highways high speed traffic should not be impeded. These permit provisions give the Secretary some control over the protection of our state highway system. This policy of requiring permits is not solely a concept of the Pennsylvania Highway Department; it is strongly recommended by the American Association of State Highway Officials and the Bureau of Public Roads. The primary purpose of these provisions regarding permits is to insure public safety of the traveling public.

The gentleman from Armstrong raised a point concerning a telephone wire being placed across the state highway where the poles were not within the highway right of way. Of course, the provisions in our new Highway Code covering this is a recodification of the provisions found in the Highway Code that we abide by today, of 1945.

But I would call your attention to the fact that no permit is required in cases of this nature and no permit has been required since 1934 when the Department of Justice in an informal opinion, No. 478, dated October 27, 1934, ruled that no permit would be necessary in cases of that nature. This opinion of the Attorney General is still in full force and effect and no permit would be needed today for an aerial crossing as proposed by the gentleman from Armstrong.

One other Section, Mr. Speaker, Section 1901. The gentleman from Armstrong questioned Section 1901 which has assents to Federal-aid and to the Act of Congress of July 11, 1916, and all its amendments. The gentleman's question was, would Pennsylvania then be bound to the advertising restrictions contained in the Federal Act. The answer to this question is, of course, no. Section 1901 is designed to cover the Commonwealth's assent for acts pertaining to construction agreements where the Federal Government pays 50 percent for primary, secondary or urban roads and 90 percent on interstate highways. This gives the Highway Department a basis for entering into agreements.

The mere fact that the Commonwealth assents to the Federal Acts does not mean that the provisions contained in the Federal Acts become, automatically, a part of the requirements of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It would be impossible to have any court in the land stretch statutory construction to that extent. In order to place the Federal requirement as positive Pennsylvania law it would be necessary to include them specifically by reference. This section merely establishes a tacit consent by the Commonwealth to the Federal-aid law. It merely provides a basis for the Secretary to enter into the necessary agreements with the Federal Government with regard to Federal participation in our interstate and Federal-Aid highway system.

In conclusion I have covered most of the questions which the gentleman from Armstrong raised last Wednesday, and I hope it has cleared up some of the doubts that may have arisen since then. But, as I said the other day, when we consider a bill of this size and the many complex sections in this bill, which, incidentally, are 176 sections, you can appreciate the fact that it is one tough job.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to debate this bill at any length because I believe we have spent a sufficient amount of time on it.

I have the greatest admiration for the Chairman of the Highways Committee. I think, as I have said before, he has tried to give this bill very serious study. I think the gentleman has given, in all sincerity, his answers today which he did not have on our previous interrogation. However, I believe the gentleman is only giving what is his opinion, and that it does not actually bear out the wording in the bill. I do not believe we, as Members of this Legislature, can accept what the gentleman from Philadelphia thinks is in the bill as legislative intent. I think we have to go by the wording in the bill, and as I read the bill the words have not been changed one iota since the interrogation that I carried on on those two previous times.

I would like to call to the attention of the Members of this House that House Bill No. 1702, Printer's No. 1634, is in exactly the same shape that it was in on the 15th of September when we voted against the bill. And once again I ask the Members on this side of the House to vote against the bill.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak very briefly in support of the bill. I think the Members have had ample time both on the former occasion when this bill was debated and today to arrive at their own conclusion as to the specific questions which the gentleman from Armstrong raised in his prior interrogation.

I would like, however, to speak for just a moment on the total impact of this new Highway Code. I do not know whether the Members are aware of it or not, but this is the first new Highway Code we have had at any time here in the Commonwealth, the first time our highway laws have been given a thorough going over and revamped to bring them up to meet the tenor of modern times. The so-called Highway Code of 1945 was nothing more than a compilation of previous laws with regard to highways, some of them stretching back, of course, into the 19th Century. I do not think there is a Member of this House who can deny that our system of road building and our entire concept of modern high speed transportation has changed enormously in the years since 1945. There has been more progress made in the method of getting an automobile safely and rapidly from one point to another since 1945 to this time than there was in the 45 years preceding the Highway Code of 1945. Not only that it has become one of the biggest, if not the biggest, single expenditure of our state government.

In order to deal not only with the problem of getting highway transportation moving rapidly and safely in order not only to meet that problem, but also in order to see that our highway funds are spent wisely, it is absolutely imperative that we have a highway code which meets our modern concept of this program.

I think probably the Members are aware that this code represents not just the work of a House committee spent over this term, although certainly the members of the Highway Committee will be able to tell you the amount of time they have spent on this code, it also represents the work of not only of the Highway Department but of other competent, professional people who have volunteered their services to the state, some of them on the staffs of our great universities here in the Commonwealth, in order to give us this modern up-to-date code. I say to you that we cannot afford to wait for another Session in order to give the Secretary of Highways the proper tools, in order to give the government the proper tools it needs to cope with this situation.

I ask all the Members of the House on both sides to consider this apart from a party ranker, to consider it not as a partisan issue, but to consider it as a primary need of the people of Pennsylvania, and to vote for this bill.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker and Members, very briefly, to add to Mr. Gailey's remarks, a great many of the sections of this code are taken almost word for word from the Act of 1945. There are some new provisions in this act, but I am sure you can realize, with the changing times, progress, there must be some changes made in order to take care of the new conditions that exist today. It is a shame to make this a partisan bill, because it is not that at all. We have had other codifications of laws here this Session. We did not have the tumult and excitement that give us this modern up-to-date code. I say to you that we cannot afford to wait for another Session in order to we have had with this particular code. We had a Motor Vehicle Code, a Commercial Code. For some reason I cannot put my finger on, this sort of exudes an air of partisanship, and it should not, at all.

I made a study particularly of the condemnation sections of this bill, some ten pages. I say they are eminently fair, they are well drafted and the citizenry is adequately protected in the event of condemnation.

I urge that the Members on both sides of the aisle vote for this bill.

Mr. HEAVY. Mr. Speaker, I thoroughly agree with Mr. Gailey and Mr. Schwartz. I think they have done a very good job of covering the bill, but I would also like to add that we have a Secretary of Highways now, Mr. Martin, who, with the aid of the Mellon people and Governor Lawrence, has rebuilt the city of Pittsburgh. He was the architect, the engineer, and we have a wonderful man today as Secretary of Highways. He has gone to great length with all his staff to revise all of this highway data and put it all in shape so that it all came together in this bill. I think we should all support it and support it without partisanship.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 3, entitled:

An Act providing for and regulating horse racing, other than harness racing with pari-mutuel wagering on the results thereof creating the State Horse Racing Commission as a departmental administrative commission within the Department of Agriculture and defining its powers and duties providing for the establishment and operation of horse racing plants subject to local option imposing taxes on revenues of such plants disposing of all moneys received by the commission and all moneys collected from the taxes authorizing penalties and making appropriations.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, we have not had an opportunity to caucus on this bill in its amended form, and I therefore ask the Majority Leader to put it over until tomorrow when we will have a chance to caucus on it.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this is a "no action" bill in either Party. There is no question about the bill. I will not pass it over for purposes of caucus. They can vote as they please. This bill is not for party action.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been amended since it was on the calendar the previous time, and I think we are entitled to be able to caucus on it.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, and Members of the House, for the gentleman's information and for the information of the other Members of the House, this bill is identical to the bill that passed this House last week by 107 votes. There are two changes. One, where it said "harness racing" on the other bill, it says "horse racing" on this bill. The other change is it says "or a special election." That is the only change, "or a special election," which means that you vote on the bill at a time when not a Member of this House will be running. Therefore, I see no reason, if you voted for last week's bill, why you can't vote for this bill because they are identical. Does that explain it?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, if this bill got 107 votes some other time, how come it is on the calendar?

Mr. Speaker, the Members on this side tell me this bill has been amended since it was on the calendar the previous time, and I think that we are entitled to caucus on this bill. Now whether we will take Party position or not I do not know and cannot tell you unless we take a caucus on it.

The SPEAKER. The only matter before the House is House Bill No. 3. The question is, shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOMPKINS. We are having a caucus tomorrow morning, and I think it a matter of right that we should be able to caucus on this bill.

The SPEAKER. There is no motion before the House to delay action. The question is, shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO POSTPONE BILL

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the final passage postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I oppose the motion. As you quite well know, I explained before, if we were to go to a caucus on House Bill 3, our entire caucus says this is a "no-action" bill, you vote as you please, you vote individually.

The bill is just as Dr. Maxwell explained. I rise to oppose the motion and let the bill go to a vote. Those who feel like voting for the bill may vote for it, those who feel like voting against it may vote against it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. TOMPKINS and DAVIS and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

MR. HELM IN THE CHAIR.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, now that this motion has been defeated, I would just like to say that my understanding has been that if this side or the other side wants to caucus on a bill, the right should be given to caucus on such a bill.

I would like to say to the sponsor of this bill that we from Delaware County voted in favor of the Harness Racing Bill and we from Delaware County are in favor of this bill. However, if the bill is rolled today, we will not vote for it. We believe in supporting our leadership on this point.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, Members of the House, in answer to the gentleman, I do not wish to impose upon anyone in this House. However, time and again for some reason or the other I have held this bill up.

I have been openly accused to trying to defeat my own bill. That is why I oppose any delay in voting on this bill. If the Republican side of the House will assure me that they will give this bill a fair shake in their caucus, under those conditions I will be only too glad to hold the bill up. But, I do not want to be accused of deliberately trying to defeat my own bill which I have been accused of, and I want to make it plain on the floor of this House and to the press that I have done everything humanly possible to pass this bill without any help from anyone.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, had this bill been in the form in which it appeared on the calendar previously we would never have made the request to caucus on it. I will assure the gentleman that the Republican caucus will give this the fair treatment that it gives to all bills in its caucuses.

Mr. Speaker, if they insist on rolling the bill this afternoon, I merely want to point out something on page 17 for your consideration. Section 5—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield? The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell.

BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, due to consideration of the Members of the other side of the House, I move to lay this bill on the table, for only a little while.

The motion was agreed to.

THE SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. AUKER. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, in the way of interrogation of either the Majority Floor Leader or Dr. Maxwell, the sponsor of the last bill, for information regarding the last bill.

The SPEAKER. Will Dr. Maxwell permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WAXWELL. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman when the motion will be made to take this bill off the table, since it is on the table?

Mr. MAXWELL. I would like to make it tomorrow.

Mr. AUKER. I did not ask him what he would like to do, I asked him and I would like to know when the motion is going to be made. I think everyone in the House is entitled to that notice.

Mr. MAXWELL. As far as I am concerned, the motion will be made tomorrow. Does that answer the gentleman's question? Does that give you time to caucus on it?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, I am not the Republican party caucus; I am only an insignificant member of it.

The SPEAKER. The confession now ends.

Mr. AUKER. Spoken from the heart too, Mr. Speaker. Humility is a great asset you know, if you have guts enough to own up to it.

Mr. Speaker, Am I in order to make a brief remark as to the bill being laid on the table as it has been laid on the table?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order to ask unanimous consent to address the House on any subject that occurs to him and if the House consents the gentleman will proceed.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. AUKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, in regard to the motion previously made on this particular bill, to lay on the table, I think this bill is of such importance and has such wide repercussions upon our society in Pennsylvania and our problem of juvenile delinquency in Pennsylvania that this bill at least ought to go over until next week. I hope it goes over until next week or the following week.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, to answer the gentleman on juvenile delinquency. I will have to answer the gentleman's question by putting a question. Can you tell me what effect it will have on, as the gentleman said, juvenile delinquency, whether a horse pulls a cart or whether a man rides on his back.

Mr. AUKER. I agree with the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, it is not a point to be brought up at this time. I shall be glad to answer the gentleman if the bill goes over until the proper time, not tomorrow, so that we can give it thorough study and prepare a debate on this bill, and not until then.

I think I can assure the gentleman and point out to him and point out to the Members of this House where it will have an impact upon juvenile delinquency and the juvenile population of our state.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BELL. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, if tomorrow this bill is taken off the table by sufficient votes, it does not then appear on the calendar because the calendar will be printed and on our desks. When a bill is taken off the table in this manner, not being on the calendar, it is then in a position to be voted upon on that date?

The SPEAKER. When a bill is taken from the table it comes immediately before the House for its consideration and decision.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. ODORISO for the remainder of today.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 1572 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. McCANN offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

In the House of Representatives, September 28, 1959.
Resolved (if the Senate concur) that House Bill No. 1572, Printers' No. 1299, entitled "An act amending the act of July 28, 1953 (P. L. 723) entitled 'An act relating to counties of the second class amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto' further regulating reinstatement and requirements for credit for previous service AND THE RETIREMENT ALLOWANCES OF CERTAIN REEMPLOYMENT PERSONS," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 2347 on page 3 of today's calendar, bill on second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2347, entitled:

An Act amending "The Administrative Code of 1929" approved April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) creating the Bureau of Consumer Protection defining its powers and duties and making an appropriation.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Messrs. GOLDSTEIN and McCANN offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 918), page 3, lines 5 and 6, by striking out "including but not limited" and inserting: "relating."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 918), page 3, line 7, by inserting out "or commodities" and inserting: "in public utility matters."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 918), page 3, lines 11 to 19; page 4, lines 1 to 11, by striking out all of lines 11 to 19, page 3; all of lines 1 to 10 and "(7)" in line 11, page 4 and inserting: "(2)."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 920), page 4, line 20; page 5, lines 1 and 2, by striking out "or the" in line 20, page 4; all of line 1 and "guard the consumer" in line 2, page 5.

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second and third sections inclusive and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be laid aside for third reading.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, September 30, 1959.

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock, a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (William Z. Scott) in the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair wishes to state that he is presiding at the request of the President pro tempore, M. Harvey Taylor.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Father EDWARD J. KRETZ, assistant Pastor of St. Mary's R. C. Church, Ford City, offered the following prayer:

With Thy assistance, O Lord, we shall finish with wisdom that which we came to do. Mindful of the blessings given those who hope and trust in Thee, we confidently ask for the help to discharge the Legislative duties before us.

O Father of us all, hear our prayer for determination of purpose, tempered, of course, with prudence. O God, who didst teach the hearts of Thy faithful people by sending them the light of Thy Holy Spirit, grant us by the same Spirit to have a right judgment in all things, and evermore to rejoice in His consolation Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk preceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BERGER and Mr. PECHAN, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE BILL No. 2326 CALLED UP

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I call up, out of order, from page 3 of today's Third Reading Calendar, House Bill No. 2326, Printer's No. 1704.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

APPROPRIATION BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2326, entitled:

An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Department of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1959 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1959.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. For the information of the Members, this bill has been called up and before the the Clerk reads the bill is the time for the offering of amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the Chair for bringing us up-to-date because we were not following.

Mr. President, I would like to ask unanimous consent—I believe we had an agreement as of the record yesterday—to offer amendments to House Bill No. 2326, as stated by the Chair.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would suggest that unanimous consent to offer amendments on Third Reading be recognized by the Chair for all amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair hears no objection, and it will be understood that the request for unanimous consent will not be necessary to offer amendments to this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, before we offer any amendments, there were some points brought up here yesterday that I do not think were gone into very clearly.

I believe that one of the things that we have to clear up here today, as we go into this legislation, is that most people think of the budget as being a maze of figures, too complicated to understand, too difficult for any kind of comprehension or any sense, and I think we should dispel that and not work in this miasma, but get into the area where we can see exactly what is taking place and what is going on so that we understand this situation.

I believe yesterday the Majority Leader, Senator Berger, as we went through this bill department by department, went on at great length to point out that there were actually increases being made in the budget. This, on its face, is true. However, let us examine that just for one minute. If you take the 1957-1959 budget and you take the increases given by the Senate in the 1959-1961 budget, you actually do have an increase. Suppose we begin with the premise that the 1957-1959 budget was cut very badly. You do not have to take my word for that. Let us look at the deficit we had when we came back here in January. It was somewhere in the neighborhood of $177,000,000. This, in turn, was reduced to $141,000,000, due to two facts; the Governor's austerity program and lapses by the departments as a result of the austerity program, and also the bettering of our economy.

What has taken place since that time? It is true, as the Republicans say, that they have increased the budget by $171,000,000. Let us take a look at these figures for a moment, and I think everyone will agree that the figures as stated or cut are the figures. Let us take that for the moment as being the correct situation.

We have $115,348,000 in over-all mandated budget items. These are items that have to be enacted whether the Democrats are in control of the Senate, or the Republicans are in control of the Senate, and no matter who might be the Governor. These are items that we have to deal with, and they include such items in the Department of Public Instruction as G. S. A. Rentals, support of the public schools, special education for the blind and the deaf and the Public School Employees Retirement Fund. In the Department of Health, we have the county health units, school health examination and the clean streams program. In Labor and Industry, we have Social Security and Occupational Disease. In the Treasury Department, we have interest on sinking fund requirements and assistance in grants to individuals. This comes to $115,348,362. We have to do that as a legislative body or else we are violating the Constitution of this State.

When you add to that the item of $57,080,999 for items that come about as a result of legislative policy, laid down by previous Legislatures—and will enact the same ones unless we decide not to give any aid to the colleges and universities, not to carry on the rehabilitation program in Labor and Industry, to cut out the aid to medical hospitals and services for children and youth—and you add these two figures together, you will see that $115,000,000 and $57,000,000 comes out to $172,000,000.

The Republicans have increased the budget, by their own statement, only $171,000,000, so that they are shy the amount they are talking about now.

In discussing this problem, I am going to take the figures released by the Members of the Appropriations Committee, which led by Senator Stevenson as the committee chairman, heading this special project, and, thereafter, I do not know who served on this committee. I have tried to ascertain which was the small group that made up the budget cuts or increases, and I have been unable to ascertain that. However, I am taking these figures as were released by the Members of the Republican Party, and, even taking those figures as they have them here and the deficiency that has resulted therefrom, I find that there are errors in that.

A little later on, I would like Senator Berger to explain some of these, or Senator Stevenson or anyone else who might want to volunteer to explain it to us.

These figures that have been presented to us and the cuts that have been made, if you will add the amounts taken—they are very short and are not very difficult. In occupational disease, for example, the cut in the present budget is $3,000,000. In the 1957-1959 budget, it was $3,200,000.

Take the teaching units in the formula method; in this budget, a cut has been made of $3,166,350. In the 1957-1959 budget, this same figure was cut $3,500,000.

Let us take such items as the closed school program. In this budget, you are cutting it $144,900. In the 1957-1959 budget, you cut it $140,300. Education for the deaf and the blind is being cut this year by $25,000. These items I am reading to you are mandated items.

In the extension of education to these different people, you are cutting $500,000 this biennium. Last biennium, you cut it $772,000. Public Assistance was cut in the 1957-1959 budget $12,500,000. In this budget, you are cutting it $10,000,000.

You are merely repeating here the same cuts that you made before of mandated items, and I do not understand how you can do this under the law.

When you add to that the fact that Senator Kessler—I am sorry I do not see him in the room; I am sure he must be here some place—has asked that the estimates be increased by $337,000,000, plus the cuts that you have made in the mandated items, I do not see how you can come out with anything but a deficit.

This has not only happened to Governor Lawrence, but it has happened to Governor Duff, Governor Fine and Governor Leader. Each Session of the Legislature seems to inherit the same type of deficit every single time.

To me, this is nothing more than budget trickery, and I do not think you are going to fool anyone. I do not even think this is political hay. It is an absolutely gross error and a gross mistake that you are making. This is the type of thing that will come back to haunt us in the next Session of the Legislature that meets to discuss these very problems.

Why are we being unrealistic and not looking the facts in the face, especially in view of the steel strike which is lasting far beyond what anyone anticipated when it first began? This will also drain the State's money. You are not providing for the present needs in the economic situation as it existed before this strike nor for any kind of emergency which may arise, and I am sure there is no one on the other side who can tell me that there will be no emergency between now and the end of the year. I certainly hope there is not. However, if there is, what are we doing to provide for it?

I do not think you can say that people who are in mental institutions and children in the schools are going to be cut because this is a way of saving money.

Mr. President, I now desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. I hope he will forgive me for using his own figures.

Mr. BERGER. I will not.

Mr. WEINER. I hope you have in front of you, Senator Berger, the figures released by the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. BERGER. Yes.

Mr. WEINER. May I draw your attention to page 2 of that statement, Item D. There is a statement there which says: "Does not include $3,000,000 for Jan., 1959 flood damage."

Mr. BERGER. Yes, I see it.

Mr. WEINER. All right. Now would you come down to Item F, please, on that same page. It says: "Includes $74,263,221 in deficiencies." Is that correct?

Mr. BERGER. That is correct.

Mr. WEINER. All right, sir. Would you answer for me if the $74,263,221 figure, which I just read to you, includes the $3,000,000 in Item D?

Mr. BERGER. No, I would say that it does not.

Mr. WEINER. You say it does not include that?

Mr. BERGER. Apparently not.

Mr. WEINER. Then should that figure be $77,000,000?

Mr. BERGER. No, I would not say so.

Mr. WEINER. Then should it be $71,000,000, if we deduct the $3,000,000?

Mr. BERGER. Item D, referred to, is under the State Council of Civil Defense. Is that correct?

Mr. WEINER. That is right, sir.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease. (The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am informed that the $74,263,221 does include the $3,000,000 for deficiencies, which was supplied by an Act of Assembly providing for the deficiency in that appropriation for that purpose.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman.

I would like to point out that in these figures, when you look them through, this $3,000,000, plus the $74,000,000, gives you the impression there is $77,000,000. If this is the kind of loose handling of funds, or loose explanation of funds, I certainly would like to recommend to the gentlemen on the other side that they very carefully go over some of the budget cuts they did make, and go over some of the items in the budget to make sure they are not in the same category as this.

Mr. President, at this time I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Senator Kessler, did you write a letter, if you remember, in June of this year, the date I have is June 25, 1959, but the date is not important and I would not expect you or anyone else to remember a date unless there were something significant tied to it—addressed to The Honorable Charles M. Dougherty, Secretary of Revenue? Do you recall that letter at all, Senator?

Mr. KESSLER. Yes, sir.

Mr. WEINER. I believe the nature of the letter or the general terms of the letter—if I am stating it incorrectly, please correct me—were that you were trying to ascertain how much we could raise the estimates in regard to corporate net income. Is that correct, sir?

Mr. KESSLER. That is correct.

Mr. WEINER. I hope you will forgive me for reading this, but I would like to read it so that we can be clear on what we are talking about.

This is on the second page of your letter to Mr. Dougherty, and you stated in that letter:

“My chief reason for raising these questions”—and you are talking about some of the other problems—“is that I have had, from three different groups, estimates of corporate net income for the 1959-61 biennium of $320 million, $330 million and $347 million. I honestly believe that the latter figure is way too high,”—speaking of the $347,000,000 figure—“but I am wondering whether the $330 million is not a reasonable expectation.”

Is that correct, as you remember it, Senator?

Mr. KESSLER. That is correct as I remember it.

Mr. WEINER. Now, sir, I believe at a later stage of the game, probably about a week or so ago—and if you were misquoted, I wish you would tell me—you stated that you felt the estimate on this should be $337,000,000. I believe you used the Joint State Government Commission figure as a figure. Is that correct, sir?

Mr. KESSLER. That is not correct. I used the Joint State Government Commission figure as one of a number, but I felt that $300,000,000 was still the figure that we could expect in Pennsylvania.

Mr. WEINER. Then, sir, is it your answer to my question that you feel now the raising of the estimate should be $330,000,000 and not $337,000,000?

Mr. KESSLER. I still think that is the proper estimate of revenue for this particular tax, yes sir.

Mr. WEINER. Would you say to us, Senator Kessler, now that we have this steel strike and the offshoots of it and the surrounding economy drop that we will have if it continues on for a longer period of time, that you still feel this $330,000,000 as an estimate is a fair amount, based on the economic situation as it exists at this moment?

Mr. KESSLER. Yes, sir. Unless the steel strike continues for a much longer period than we expect, we will still obtain, I believe, $300,000,000 from the corporate net income tax.

Mr. WEINER. Senator Kessler, would you further advise the Members of this Senate, should the steel strike continue for another month, and we may not be in Session then, would you say the $330,000,000 estimate is a fair estimate?

Mr. KESSLER. For the biennium, Mr. President, I think $330,000,000 is a good estimate even though the steel strike continues to the end of October.

Mr. WEINER. Senator Kessler, could you advise us, or do you have any knowledge at all when the steel strike might end so that we can use this as a fair figure?

Mr. KESSLER. I cannot prophesy, Mr. President. I can give you some observations, if they would be of any value to you. However, I doubt whether they would be worth any more than you read in the newspapers.

Mr. WEINER. I want to thank the gentleman. He was very kind in answering my questions.

Mr. President, I believe the gentleman answered the question by saying he cannot prophesy too well how long the strike is going to last, and neither can I.

I would like to also apply that some type of prophesying to a figure that we are going to have to depend upon for operating the Commonwealth, its many institutions and some of our other problems. If we cannot prophesy very well how long the strike is going to last or what our economic situation is going to be thirty days from today, it is a little bit difficult to ask us to raise our revenue estimates based on the facts as we now have them. They may or may not get better. We have to deal with the realities of the situation, not the probabilities of them.

Mr. President, I direct this question to no one in particular, unless one of the gentlemen on the other side would like to answer the question of the cuts made in the mandated items which I read earlier, and how this can come about or how we can do this after we have mandated them by previous Sessions of the Legislature and we have no legislation that I know of which would curtail these services. If some one on the other side would answer this question, either now or at some time during the day, I would be very happy to know it, and I am sure my colleagues would also because perhaps there is something we do not know about this situation. If someone would inform us, we would be very happy to have that knowledge.

I now yield to Senator Silvert.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, at this time, I offer an amendment to House Bill No. 2326, Printer's No. 1704, and ask for its immediate consideration and adoption.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Sec. 2, page 25, line 8, by striking out “$15,122,603” and inserting: “$15,825,178”.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, this amendment is intended to restore the cut of some $702,575 to the Department of Property and Supplies, which is one of the most vital departments in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I might say at the outset that the original estimate made by the Secretary and given to the Governor was some $17,281,544. The Governor's Office reduced this estimate by about $1,500,000. It was admitted at the time the Governor's Office cut this amount that at least half of it, or about $750,000, was unjustified and was done simply to comply with the austerity program and also to stay within the $400,000,000 increase in taxes.

Mr. President, unfortunately, the people of Pennsylvania do not realize the great responsibilities of the Commonwealth, nor do they understand them. The same goes for even some of our editors. May I read to you—I would like Senator Confair to listen to this; he looks like he is not interested—an editorial from the Williamsport Sun-Gazette, dated June 19, 1959? It is headed: "Efficiency Is Important Form of Economy." I will not read it all, but I will read one or two paragraphs, as follows:

"State Senator Z. H. Confair, of this city, talked recently about the vast operations of the State Department of Property and Supplies. The Commonwealth, he says, makes annual purchases in excess of"—and please note this figure—" $800-million through this single agency.

"Senator Confair says 'the men who are in charge of this buying do not have the big buying qualifications and experience that a yearly expenditure of $800-million demands.

"A saving of $80-million in the Department of Property and Supplies would go far in erasing the $100-million deficit."

This article appeared on June 19. You might think that Senator Confair and the Williamsport Sun-Gazette, by September 26, would realize what a terrific exaggeration it made in this calculation in its editorial on June 19. However, getting down to September 26, 1959, an editorial appeared in the newspaper which, for the sake of brevity, I will read in part as follows:

"Our own Senator Z. H. Confair has said the Department of Property and Supplies could save the state about $80-million a year through a different and more efficient method of purchases."

Now, Mr. President, for the facts. The Department of Property and Supplies not only does not spend annually $800,000,000, but it has not spent that much in ten years. Its total expenditures, as of 1958, I believe are $80,000,000. How are you going to save $80,000,000 on annual purchases, when the total amounts to $80,000,000?

This cut of $702,575 does not sound like a great deal from a budget of some $15,000,000. However, Mr. President, let me tell you what this cut will do to the department. As one of its objectives, the department has the commodity catalogue. This program would help pinpoint department material needs, and take the guesswork out of central procurement. More accurate procurement will affect program economy and efficiency in terms of funds needed to supply the material needs, and so on.

On the Stock Control Program, this is the establishment of codes to identify, by single items and categories, approximately 5,000 items procured by the Commonwealth. This permits planned procurement. It would permit the department to take advantage of seasonal market fluctuations and would permit more accurate estimates of total needs for a given commodity, thereby enabling the department to obtain more attractive prices because of larger requirements.

Mr. President, these two projects will have to be abandoned because of a cut of $100,000 out of that $700,000.

The next thing to be affected is that the department, under the law, is required to conduct a survey of all buildings, equipment, land and improvements connected with and comprising each State institution. This survey is to be made every two years. Reports emanating from it are to serve as a basis for budgeting, for alterations and repairs for future bienniums. Personnel has proven insufficient for many years to allow the Department of Property and Supplies to accurately conduct such a survey. A cut of $100,000, to make up that $702,000, will cause this survey to be abandoned.

Recently, Mr. President, the General State Authority constructed a $3,000,000 underground garage. With the reduction of this appropriation, the Department of Property and Supplies will not have the necessary funds to operate the new 750 car underground garage facility, because at least $126,000 is needed to operate this facility. It is needed to pay the salaries and wages of the employees in the new underground garage and also for necessary materials and supplies that are required to operate it for the remainder of the biennium. There will have to be a cut here of another $126,000 toward that $702,000.

The next item is the maintenance and repair of State-owned buildings. New buildings in Harrisburg, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia increased the floor space, a responsibility of this Department, from 1,934,241 square feet, in 1955, to a current figure of 3,998,225 square feet. Parking spaces also doubled during the same period. Custodial and maintenance costs did not increase in any proportion to the more than 100 per cent increase in physical management of this responsibility. The reduction made in the budget allotment will reduce custodial, janitorial, maintenance and repair, and elevator service to the State office buildings in Harrisburg, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. It also will be necessary to drastically curtail elevator maintenance contracts, as well as much need repair to the Capitol area buildings and the paving of parking lots to the rear of the Main Capitol Building. This cut, toward that $702,000, is $176,575.

One other important responsibility of the Department of Property and Supplies is the acquisition and disposition of surplus Federal property. Early in 1945, the Federal Government made available to all educational institutions a great variety of surplus Federal property. Since then, the program has extended to health, welfare and civil defense organizations. Since 1952, the program has increased tenfold. A recent announcement by the Federal Government stated that future surpluses shall continue to increase and that serviceable and scientific equipment, suitable for educational use, will be available.

The Department of Property and Supplies has operated this program from a single warehouse in Harrisburg. However, with the great increase in variety and quantity, combined with the increase in the number of eligibles, it has become exceedingly difficult to render the type of service appropriate for a State that is so wide in area and so densely populated as Pennsylvania.

There was under contemplation the construction of two additional warehouses, one in Pittsburgh and the other in Philadelphia, at a cost of $100,000. This project will also have to be abandoned.

Mr. President, another responsibility of the Department is the formulation of building standards. Section 2403.1, added to the Administrative Code in 1956, specifically charges the Department of Property and Supplies to work with other government units and outside consultants in the formulation of standards to be applied to all construction and alteration projects to be conducted by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. A start was made in this regard, but activity was canceled due to lack of further funds. Here, another cut of $100,000 finally brings the total cuts to $702,575.

Mr. President, I say to you that even though the amount here is less than five per cent, you are cutting into a budget that has already been overcut. The end result will be that you will save pennies. We will be penny-wise and pound-foolish.

Mr. President, I urge this Senate to act favorably on the amendments to restore the $702,575 to the Department of Property and Supplies.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, Senator Silvert mentioned that in a newspaper article in Williamsport, I said this department could save $80,000,000. I do not intend to go into that today, but I will later. I still contend the Department can save $80,000,000. Later, I think I can bring proof. However, I will not do it today because we are on the budget.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Silvert.

Th PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Silvert, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SILVERT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. CONFAIR. How much does this Department purchase in one year?

Mr. SILVERT. Eighty million dollars worth.

Mr. CONFAIR. Your figures are wrong.

Mr. SILVERT. If you want figures, you can get them downstairs. It is $50,000,000 for the various departments and, I think, it is $30,000,000 for the Department of Highways. They are figures which you can establish by just going down there. They have the books for you.

Mr. CONFAIR. I have established those figures. Your Secretary of Property and Supplies purchases $800,000,000 worth of goods a year for all these other departments. He is the purchasing agent for everybody on Capitol Hill.

Mr. SILVERT. I assume we are permitted to interrogate one another, Senator Confair.

Mr. CONFAIR. That is right; go ahead.

Mr. SILVERT. Do you realize that the entire annual budget for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is somewhere around $900,000,000, even for the years 1959-1961?

Of this sum, approximately one-half goes for public education. How this department is going to spend $800,000,000, a year is rather hard to figure out.

Mr. CONFAIR. Have you included the Department of Highways in that figure?

Mr. SILVERT. The purchases for the Department of Highways amount to $30,000,000 annually.

Mr. CONFAIR. I think your figures are wrong, Senator Silvert. Your first figure was wrong because our budget is $300,000,000 for the biennium. Is that right?

Mr. SILVERT. Yes. However, we are talking about the part that the Department of Property and Supplies purchases. Those figures are on the books and the amount is $30,000,000 per annum.

Mr. CONFAIR. I have a letter, which I do not have with me, that I sent to the Secretary of Property and Supplies on May 14, after a conversation with him. He told me—and I believe him—that his total purchases amounted to $800,000,000. I have to take the word of the Secretary of Property and Supplies.

Mr. SILVERT. Senator Confair, if you will read the statement which the Secretary read before the Appropriations Committee early this year, you will find a definite statement, as I read it this morning, that the annual purchases for department amount to $50,000,000 and that the purchases for the Department of Highways amount to $30,000,000. You will find that in the statement of record, made by the Secretary of the Department.

Mr. CONFAIR. The only man's word I can take is the Secretary of Property and Supplies, who gave it to me. I wrote him a letter and he did not reply to it in order to correct the amount. However, let us move on to something else, anyway.

How much more money, net amount, are we going to give that department this year?

Mr. SILVERT. I understand that the department is getting something like $10,800,000 more than they did in the last biennium. However, Senator remember this. Included in this are rentals paid to the General State Authority. The increased rentals, alone, will more than make up for this increase of $10,000,000. I understand the increase in rentals will be $12,500,000.

Mr. CONFAIR. That is almost correct. However, you have in the budget $43,500,000 for rentals. I have a letter here, written by Mr. Caruso and sent to Senator George B. Stevenson, Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, stating that all they need for the next biennium is $42,450,000.

Mr. SILVERT. I should like to comment on that, Senator Confair. It is too bad that Mr. Caruso communicates with your department and fails to furnish that information to the Governor and to the Budget Secretary. Otherwise, the figure would not have been $1,000,000 more.

I might say to you that I had another amendment ready to restore that $1,000,000. However, in view of the fact that Mr. Caruso went to you and told you it can be done for $1,000,000 less, we are going to accept that and I will withhold that amendment and not offer it.

Mr. CONFAIR. Thank you. I am glad you do accept that amendment.

How much do you figure that net increase is to the operation of this Department?

Mr. SILVERT. I am not familiar with that figure.

Mr. CONFAIR. I will give it to you. The figure is $1,581,755, as the net increase to the Department. There is no doubt that this Department can operate and do all the things they want or should do on that kind of an increase.

When the Department requested their budget from the Governor, do you remember how many additional men they wanted to hire?

Mr. SILVERT. I have no figures on that.

Mr. CONFAIR. The number was 211 additional employees.

Mr. SILVERT. It might very well be that inasmuch as the space now occupied by State buildings has doubled from some 1,800,000 to 3,900,000, they need additional personnel to take care of the property. That is how you preserve property.

Mr. CONFAIR. At the beginning of this past biennium, in 1957, 1,014 was the total number of employees in that Department. Now, in 1959, we have 1,215 employees. We have gained 201 employees in the last two years in that Department.

Mr. SILVERT. We have also gained a couple of buildings. There is a new building in Philadelphia that is saving the Commonwealth money—I do not know just what amount—in rentals. It needs personnel. Pittsburgh has a new building that needs personnel. The Department of Labor and Industry has a new building which needs personnel, and the same applies to the Departments of Health and Public Welfare. You must have people to maintain these buildings. Otherwise, your rate of depreciation would be so rapid and there would be a terrific waste of money.

Mr. CONFAIR. What was the total State employment in 1954?

Mr. SILVERT. I cannot carry those figures in my mind.

Mr. CONFAIR. Does 50,000 State employees sound reasonable?

Mr. SILVERT. Sixty thousand sounds like a reasonable figure.

Mr. CONFAIR. Do you know how many we have today?

Mr. SILVERT. I do not know.

Mr. CONFAIR. Does 75,000 seem reasonable?

Mr. SILVERT. I am advised that it does not seem reasonable.

Mr. CONFAIR. Does 76,000 sound more like it? Anyway, do you know of any department in the State Government that has reduced employment by one man?

Mr. SILVERT. The State Police, I understand, have seventy-five vacancies at the present time.

Mr. CONFAIR. They did not have them before and, therefore, they have not reduced their employment.

What I am trying to bring out here, Mr. President, is that we talk about increasing the budget, but not in one place have we heard the Governor or anybody in this Senate say that we are going to reduce expenses. Instead of raising the budget and raising the taxes, Governor Ribicoff, of Connecticut, reduced his employees in State Government by 23,000 people. How many have we reduced in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania? We have not reduced the number by one man. We are not for economy. This budget is loaded. Let us think about economy for once. That is the reason why we should not put anymore money in this department. This department is loaded with money.

Let us admit that they did try to do one thing. They installed a Univac. Is that correct?

Mr. SILVERT. That is correct.

Mr. CONFAIR. They tried to save money. Is that right?

Mr. SILVERT. That is correct.

Mr. CONFAIR. Do you know how much they spent for the Univac?

Mr. SILVERT. I do not know.

Mr. CONFAIR. It cost them $153,326 for the installation. I understand the cost of operating that Univac is $25,000 a month. If it saves money, that is all right. On top of that, we pay so much a day for every hour it is operated. That means $300,000 a year for the use of the Univac. It should save money.

The Department of Property and Supplies charges the other departments for the use of that Univac. For instance, I will cite the Department of Highways. This is supposed to be a means of saving money. They are charged $66,000 for the use of the Univac. However, how much do they use it. They have an I.B.M. machine for which they pay $11,000 a month. They do not use this Univac one bit. I can cite all these other departments which are supposed to use the Univac, but do not use it. They could use it to save money. Instead of that, they do not use it and a report on the Univac shows that they should take in $339,000 a year by charges to other departments. Actually, they only take in $202,000 a year. Therefore, this Univac is a waste. I think we can do a lot in this Department to save some money, especially in this Univac deal. This department is full of waste. I think Senator Silvert and I could go down there and really clean house. We could save the Commonwealth a lot of money.

Regarding Senator Silvert's question about the $80,000,000, I will have information on that later, but I do not want to bring it out today.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I should like to yield to Senator Weiner at this time.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. CONFAIR. Senator, how many Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries do we have at the present time in the Department of Property and Supplies?

Mr. WEINER. I think you well know, as I do, that there is one Secretary and there are a number of Deputies who handle certain bureaus. If you are speaking of Deputies, as such, who are directly in charge of the department, or Assistant Deputies, I do not think such things exist. We do have bureau heads whom we happen to call Deputies. I believe the number is three.

Mr. CONFAIR. Right. Do you know how many there were in 1954?

Mr. WEINER. No sir, I do not have that information this morning.

Mr. CONFAIR. May I inform you, please?

Mr. WEINER. Yes, please do.

Mr. CONFAIR. In 1954, there was one Secretary at $15,000 a year, one Deputy Secretary at $12,000 and one Purchasing Agent at $8,200 a year, or a total for that department of $40,200 a year as the cost to operate that department.

Now would you like to be informed what we have today?

Mr. WEINER. Yes, please. I hope it is little more accurate than the $800,000,000 figure that you gave the newspaper.

Mr. CONFAIR. That $800,000 figure is O.K. I will explain it to you someday.

Mr. WEINER. Do you still feel the $800,000,000 figure is correct?

Mr. CONFAIR. That is right. There is nothing wrong with that $800,000 figure.

Mr. WEINER. I am referring to the $800,000,000 figure.

Mr. CONFAIR. Eight hundred million, that is right. Thanks for the correction.

Today, you have one Secretary at $20,000 a year instead of one at $15,000. You have three Deputy Secretaries at $13,933 a year. You have one Purchasing Agent, with five men under him. The one Purchasing Agent gets $10,953, and each of the five men under him receives $6,900, or a total of $107,000 plus, against $40,000 four years ago. That is where I think we can save some money in that department. That is probably the reason we cut them a little bit.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to interrupt the gentleman, but if he is finished, there are one or two questions I would like him to answer for me and, perhaps, we can get this debate on a level where we can discuss State finances in a realistic vein rather than casting and hurling accusations at different people in the Administration.

Mr. CONFAIR. The only thing I am trying to do, Senator, is to show where we are wasting this money, rather than spending it. I would like to find the place where we are wasting it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lycoming, Senator Confair.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Confair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CONFAIR. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman advise the Members of the Senate how many less employees there were on the State payroll in June of this year as compared to January of the same?

Mr. CONFAIR. June and January?

Mr. WEINER. Of this year, sir.

Mr. CONFAIR. That is when the austerity program was in effect. Is that right?

Mr. WEINER. Yes sir.

Mr. CONFAIR. I would like to be informed by the Senator.

Mr. WEINER. If I were to tell you that the number was 2,300 less, would that impress you?

Mr. CONFAIR. Yes, it would.

Mr. WEINER. All right. That happens to be a fact. Might I also point out to the gentleman that the total amount of money spent, and in the budget for the Department of Property and Supplies, is $80,000,000?

I would just like to point out to the gentleman, also that if you are going to write an article for a newspaper, you must have the correct figures. You used the figure of $80,000,000 in the Williamsport paper, and you said if ten percent were saved, it would be $80,000,000. I think that was erroneous. I would like to feel that the error was that of the newspaper in printing the story or that you gave them the wrong figure, rather than that this is something you have decided upon.

Half of our budget, sir, is spent on education, which runs $800,000,000. If you are saying to the Members of this Senate that one-half of the budget again is spent on the purchase of property and supplies, I think that would bring us out to $1.6 billion. The total of the Governor's Budget is $1.7 billion or $1.8 billion, depending on the items that you are putting into it. We would have education and the purchasing of property and supplies, and that would be the end of the budget. We would not have to do anything further. We would not have to worry about institutions, welfare or anything else.

Senator, can you tell me, and I wish you would allow yourself to be interrogated on this point, how much the population of this State has increased in the past year? I will not take 1954. Let us take this past year. Do you have any idea?

Mr. CONFAIR. I am not informed on that, sir.

Mr. WEINER. All right, sir, May I say to you that there has been a three per cent increase.

Mr. CONFAIR. How many is that, please?

Mr. WEINER. There were ten million people in the Commonwealth at that time, and if you will take three per cent of that, you will see what the total increase is.

Mr. CONFAIR. Well, I—

Mr. WEINER. Might I also ask you, sir, whether you, in your own business, have increased the salaries of the people employed by you? I know that you run a very successful business.

Mr. CONFAIR. Yes, I have.

Mr. WEINER. Have you increased the number of personnel working for you?

Mr. CONFAIR. No, not consistently; only when it was necessary.

Mr. WEINER. Have you added even a single person?

Mr. CONFAIR. Oh yes, yes.

Mr. WEINER. Have you added more than two persons to your payroll?

Mr. CONFAIR. Yes.

Mr. WEINER. Percentage-wise, how many would you say that you have added in your business?

Mr. CONFAIR. Two per cent, the man said; two per cent.

Mr. WEINER. I am asking you. The man does not run your business. Would you tell us how many people you have added?

Mr. CONFAIR. I would say two per cent, yes.

Mr. WEINER. Just two per cent?

Mr. CONFAIR. Yes.

Mr. WEINER. How many people have you working for you, sir?

Mr. CONFAIR. Fifty-two or fifty-three.

Mr. WEINER. How many people have you added?

Mr. CONFAIR. About two or three.

Mr. WEINER. Just two or three. Now if you have a fifty-man business and you add two or three people, I think you will find that is a little bit more than two per cent.

You are one of the exponents and I think one of the platforms on which you ran for office was the proposed Keystone Shortway. I think you have advocated this, and I admire your courage and your skill in going after this thing. Where are we going to get the money to do this if the Department of Property and Supplies alone spends $800,000,000 and if education costs $800,000,000? We will not have any money at all to do this job. Would you introduce legislation to take care of this?

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, may I answer his question? I am only taking the word of the Secretary of Property and Supplies. You are talking about the budget which is $80,000,000. It could not be $800,000,000. He purchases—

Mr. WEINER. Excuse me, did you say it could not be $800,000,000?

Mr. CONFAIR. That is what you said.

Mr. WEINER. No sir, you said it.

Mr. CONFAIR. All right.

Mr. WEINER. You stated $800,000,000. Now are you saying it could not be $800,000,000, or are you saying it is $800,000,000?

Mr. CONFAIR. May I start all over again, please. I say that your Secretary of Property and Supplies said that he purchases for all departments. He purchases for every department—Highways and every department on this Hill—and his total was $800,000,000. Am I one to question him? He is an honest man. Would you question him?

Mr. WEINER. Yes sir, Mr. Confair. I not only questioned him, but I brought this to his attention yesterday about the article in the Williamsport paper, and he advised me that he was not only going to write a letter to the paper, but he was going to write you a letter advising you how wrong you could be about the situation. He also stated to me that he had not had any conversation with you along that line, whether the amount was $800,000,000 or any amount.

I am not saying that you had no conversation with him. However, I would like to know if you would tell us—and I am sure that you are a businessman and a thinking man—if the total Governors' budget is only one billion six or seven, how the Department of Property and Supplies could spend $800,000,000?

Mr. CONFAIR. How about the General State Authority? He buys for them.

Mr. WEINER. Does he buy for the General State Authority?

Mr. CONFAIR. Not much.

Mr. WEINER. Oh.

Mr. CONFAIR. However, he does buy for the Highways Department. You are just talking about the general budget. Take all of the budgets together, all of the different departments he buys for which are not in the general budget, and add those together. I have seen the man. He told me that. Listen—
